BOSTON.—A discovery that will make radium out of common table salt, the first practical transmution of elements that man may use in daily life, was announced to-day in the "Physical Review". This salt radium remains common table salt except that it gives off rays even more powerful than those ordinarily used by physicians from pure radium.

PERFECT START MADE BY PILOTS OF 20 AIRPLANES

One Forced Down in France But Continues When Fog Clears.

16 MINUTES TO GETAWAY.

Green Machine of Colonel Fitzmaurice is Only One Not to Start Race.

MILDENHALL AIRDROME, England, Oct. 20 (CP-AP)—Into the cold-grey east just ahead of the rising sun, 20 planes roared away to-day to a perfect start in the England to Australia Air Derby.

16 Minutes to Start

Sixeen minutes after Mr. and Mrs. James A. Mollison had cleared the field the last of the entrants soared away leaving only the withdrawn craft of Col. James C. Fitzmaurice to emphasize the emptiness of the hangars.

All planes were believed to have cleared the English Coast in scheduled time and as far as is known crossed the Channel. But one of them, the fleet craft of Capt. T. Melville Stack, was forced down in a fog bank at Abbeville, France, a couple of hours after the takeoff. His plane is not damaged and he plans to continue the flight with clearing weather.

While the fast machines heading straight for Baghdad shot out on a southeasterly course and were soon lost to view, better track was kept of those speeding by way of the Channel route. The first of these was sighted leaving English shores at 7.15 a.m., 45 minutes after the getaway.

The pilots of all machines quickly climbed to a considerable height, doubtless on account of menacing fog banks drifting in from the sea.

Visibility Quite Good

Visibility at the time, however, was quite good, with only a few fog patches. Word from the French side was that all machines carrying wireless reported they crossed the Channel safely.

Over Northern France conditions were less favorable. Fog, low clouds and occasional rain or drizzle were reported. Le Bourget airdrome communicated with Croydon requesting it be furnished with planes' registration marks and the approximate time they might be expected over Le Bourget in order that all aircraft in the vicinity might be warned to keep a sharp lookout to avoid collisions.

The Dutch plane, piloted by K. D. Parmentier, apparently penetrated the French fog without much difficulty. At 9 a.m. Parmentier reported he was flying midway between Paris and Nancy.

LABOR COUNCIL ENTERS PROTEST

FAIR DEAL TO FARMER.

OTTAWA, October 20 (C.P.). — Strong protests against the action of the Ontario Milk Board in prohibiting co-operative dairies from distributing profits in the form of lower prices to the consumer was made last night at a meeting of the Allied Trades and Labor Council. A co-operative dairy operated by labor in the city of Hamilton was given particular reference.

A letter of protest was forwarded to the Attorney-General's Department some time ago. Last night the following letter from Hon. Duncan Marshall, Minister of Agriculture, was read:

"The Milk Control Board has no authority to fix the price or spread with regard to milk yet, but we hope they will have it after the session.

Want Fair Deal.

"In the meantime they are endeavoring to see that no drawbacks or rebates or reductions are made in order to break up the price of milk and cause a milk war and so leave the farmer holding the bag as has always been the case. Now,

Mollisons Favored to Win $75,000 Derby

James A. Mollison, premier aviator of Great Britain, photographed with his extremely air-minded wife, Amy Mollison, standing in front of their de Havilland comet aeroplane which they have entered in the speed and handicap sections of the great London-to-Melbourne air race for $75,000 in prizes. The Mollisons, veterans of transoceanic and transcontinent air travel, are British favorites to win this greatest of all air races. The airline distance between Mildenhall, England, and Melbourne, Australia, is 11,300 miles. The present record for this flight is six days, 17 hours.

MIRACLE MAN IS ACCLAIMED IN WINNIPEG

MODE OF CURE UNKNOWN.

The Deaf, the Blind, the Diseased, the Crippled All Acclaim Simple Farmer.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 20. (CP)—The deaf and blind, the diseased and crippled and others with just "stomach aches" have acclaimed in the simple personage of a mysterious farmer the spirit and accomplishments of a "miracle worker."

Within the last few days the farmland district of Cloverdale, 25 miles northwest of here, has witnessed thousands of persons—some afflicted, some just curious—going to and from a simple whitewashed log farmhouse where they have sought aid from John Love.

Faith and scepticis are at odds over the slightly-built man who claims to be only "The Word". Mystery shrouds his beliefs and doctrine and his mode of cure is as unknown as his part.

Whether his power be psychological, spiritual or even sorcery is just now debated in all kinds of places by all manner of people. local newspapers publish interviews with those who have been "cured." Thus:

W. Stevenson, Selkirk, says his sight and hearing were restored after two treatments.

Mrs. A. G. Johnston, Selkirk, glories at walking up and down stairs and dropping her "stick" after 12 years a partial paralytic.

James Duncan, former school caretaker at Selkirk, has overcome the ravages of sleeping-sickness and says he is generally improved.

William McRae, Clandeboye, states his crippled hand is almost as good as the other and Thomas Norquay, Selkirk, claims his eyesight no longer troubles him.

A Mr. "M"—A Winnipeg second hand dealer—tells his friends he had lost his stomach trouble and now they've joined the pilgrimage.

LIQUOR PROBLEM PEOPLE'S HANDS

Deputation of Prohibitionists From Three Counties Visit Premier Hepburn.

CAN PROMOTE VOTE.

TORONTO, October 20 (C.P.) — Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn of Ontario to-day told the Rev. Ben Spence and a deputation of prohibitionists from Peel, Perth, and Huron Counties they had the solution of the liquor problem of those counties in their own hands.

The delegation had sought the Premier's co-operation in a move to prohibit sale of beer and wine in those areas, but Mr. Hepburn said it could promote a vote in the three counties that would prohibit granting authorities under terms of the Ontario Control Act.

He also agreed the counties might petition the Dominion Government to have the Canada Temperance Act introduced in the counties.

He assured the delegation his Government intended to abide by the principle of local option and "the will of the people."

ROBINSON SEEN IN FORT ERIE BUFFALO AREA

Canadian Hotelman Says He Believed Robinson Stopped at Fort Erie.

TWO COMPANIONS.

Police Keeping Close Watch at Border for Kidnapper of Mrs. Stoll.

FORT ERIE, Ont., Oct. 20.—(CP)—A Fort Erie hotelman said today he had identified a man who visited his hotel last night as Thomas Robinson, Jr., wanted in connection with the kidnapping of Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll, young society matron of Louisville, Ky.

He said the man he believed was Robinson was accompanied by two male companions and appeared intensely nervous. He made his tentative identification today from photographs of Robinson.

The party, he declared, said they had left Kingston, Ont., yesterday but did not reveal their destination. Their automobile was damaged, he added.

The hotel-keeper, Howard Rung said the man he believed was Robinson visited his establishment early last night. He described his companions as a short and taciturn man and a talkative young man, about 27 years old, who told him his home was in Flint, Mich.

Visited Beverage Room

He added the three men had several drinks in the beverage room of his hotel and that the man he identified as Robinson asked where he could obtain repairs to his car.

Rung said the men were in three separate automobiles. That driven by the man resembling Robinson, he added, was a yellow coach with

Real Bona Fide Monster In Captivity Looks Like Seal, Has Head Like Horse

By HENRY LESESNE.

ELIZABETH CITY, N.C., Oct. 20. —(A.P.)—At last it has come to pass.

A sea monster, a bona fide one—a 2,000 pound denizen that looks something like a seal, and has a head like a horse—is in captivity.

It was caught, beached and dry-docked—lock, stock and barrel—by a group of Seine fishermen and today it flipped around in an improvised pool.

And just to keep it from venturing away too far, a 50-pound sea anchor Gusa on one of its two flippers.

When the monster was brought up from the sea the surprised fishermen tied ropes around it and, aided by two automobiles, hauled it up on the beach. Then it was dragged to the pool.

How does this honest-to-goodness specimen look?

It weighs — by estimation — between 1,500 and 2,000 pounds.

Its body is 10 feet long.

DUTCH LEADING THOSE REPORTED WEATHER IS BAD

MOLLISONS NOT REPORTED.

Rome and Athens Reached by Many Teams in First Few Hours.

(C. P. and A. P. Cables)

The three crack British comet machines—one of them piloted by the Flying Mollisons — were the only entries on which no report had been received at 2 p.m., E.S.T., 12 nours after the great air race from London to Melbourne had got under way. In the absence of reports to the contrary it was presumed this trio of machines, especialy built for the arduous journey were winging their way along to Baghdad non-stop, a flight of 2,500 miles from London.

Seen Over Bucharest

It was unofficially reported a plane identified as that of the Mollisons flew over Bucharest early in the afternoon.

Of the reporting planes, two Dutch teams were in the van, taking off from Athens eastward late this afternoon, with an American team landing in Athens behind them. K. D. Parmentier and J. J. Moll of Holland left Athens at 3.52 P.M. for the second time, having returned after an earlier take-off. D. J. Asjes and G. J. Geysendorfer took off an hour and 23 minutes later. Roscoe Turner and Clyde Pangborn of the United States reached Athens non-stop from London at 4.25 p.m.

C. W. A. Scott and S. L. Turner are flying a second British comet, and Cathcart Jones and Ken Waller the third.

Drop Out of Race

One of the best flights to date was that of the New York entry, Jacqueline Logan and Wesley Smith, who made Bucharest from London in under 10 hours for the 1,300 mile journey, but announced on landing that they were withdrawing because their machine was not up to scratch.

J. W. Hewett and C. E. Kay, New Zealand team, reached Rome still a half hour later, at 3.05 p.m. At this time Parmentier and Moll were nearing Athens.

Fourth team to reach Rome was the New Zealand pair, Squadron-Leader Malcolm MacGregor and Henry Waller, landing at 2.55 p.m.

Among the teams that had reached Marseille and checked out again in the wake of the three leaders

Protestant Church Split In Germany

BERLIN, Oct. 20 (AP)—Secession split the Protestant Church of Germany to-day with a resolution of the Confessional Synod, claiming 80 per cent of Protestant churchgoers, ordering all church councils to refuse obedience to Reichs church authorities and to follow the synod's orders alone.

The Synod, chief opposition to Hitler's German Christian Church, adopted the resolution virtually unanimously, climaxing a year and a half of bitter opposition to a Reichschurch distatorship.

The document asserted that "We communicate this statement to the Reichs Government and demand that it shall also recognize that in ecclesiastical affairs the church has sole jurisdiction under the supervisory powers of the State."

SLAGHT IS COUNSEL.

One Old Commissioner Resigns While Two Others Are Fired.

TORONTO, Oct. 20.—(CP)— The Ontario government today appointed a commission of five members to administer the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway, Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn will act as chairman pending reorganization recommended in the report of Armand Racine, Windsor lawyer, who conducted an investigation into the operation of the road.

The Commissioner

Names of the four commissioners who will act with Mr. Hepburn are:

Arthur G. Slaght, Toronto lawyer; Charles Gallagher, Mayor of Schumacher, Ont., and an engineer and land surveyor; Armand Racine and Col. Malcolm Lang of Haileybury, former member of the Ontario legislature for Temiskaming.

One of the first tasks of the new commission will be to find a very competent man for general manager, the premier stated.

The government has accepted the resignation of Lt. Co. L. T. Martin of Ottawa, a member of the old commission, and revoked the order-in-council which appointed the other two commissioners, George W. Lee of North Bay, Chairman, and Col. J. I. McLaren, Hamilton, the premier announced.

Mr. Hepburn said he and Mr. Slaght would resign as soon as the re-organization of the commission has been brought sufficiently underway. Mr. Slaght will act as counsel for the body.

Mr. Hepburn explained his aim in acting on the commission was to familiarize himself with the operation of the railway because he will be called upon to answer for it in the legislature.

$40,000 Mansion Is Destroyed By Fire

OJIBWAY, Ont., Oct. 2 0(CP)— The home of W. H. Blatzell on the property of the Canadian Steel Corporation, was razed by fire today with loss estimated at between $40,000 and $50,000.

Situated less than 100 feet from the Detroit River, the house and its valuable possessions were consumed by the flames while firemen from Sandwich stood by unable to assist. The steepness of the rive bank prevented them from getting their fire truck to the water's edge in order to suck water with the pumper.

Mrs. Baltzell lost furs, a fur coat and valuable jewellry, while her husband's library which contained many books that cannot be replaced was also destroyed. The loss of their personal belongings, could not be estimated because of their irreplacable nature, said Mr. Baltzell.

TANK EXPLODES WRECKING BOAT ONE SURVIVOR

Ten Persons Hurriedly Climbed Into Rowboat on Lake Winnipegosis.

BOAT FOUNDERED.

Party Was Going on Winter Fishing Expedition—Cause of Explosion Unknown.

WINNIPEGOSIS, Man., Oct. 20.—(CP)—Chill waters of Lake Winnipegosis today counted nine lives as the toll of the sinking of a gas boat and the swamping of the small rowboat in which 10 persons sought to escape death.

Only One Survives

The dead: Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Goodman and their three children under 10 years of age, Oliver, Rolla and Vera; Oliver Johnson, 20; Mary Harrison, Gisli Arnson and May Bickell. William Johnston, rescued by Donald Morrin in a nearby boat, was the only survivor.

Setting out from Winnipegosis, 175 miles northwest of Winnipeg, yesterday on a 65-mile-trip to Papoose Island to make their winter fishing headquarters, the gas boat was wrecked by fire when a gasoline tank exploded.

Climbed Into Rowboat

Hurriedly the 10 persons clambered into the rowboat. Overloaded in the heavy lake and pummelled by high waves, it floundered several hundred yards off shore. Pitched into the icy water, the children and some of the adults sank while Johnston, Arnson and Miss Bickell attempted to aid them.

Last to keep from sinking, Johnston, Arnson and Miss Bickell struck out for shore. All three were swimming strongly with Johnston in the lead. Morrin put out from shore in a rowboat and reached Johnston, hauling him into the boat. Arnson and Miss Mickell sank before he could reach them. Johnston, suffering from shock, was brought here for medical treatment.

All 10 were resident of Winnipegosis district and they had planned a quick trip to Papoose Island for winter fishing operations. Cause of the gasoline explosion aboard the boat, which sank quickly was unknown. A search for the bodies is being made.

Another Arrest Made In Blackmail Drive

LONDON, Ont., Oct. 20 (CP) — Still another arrest was made today in London's anti-blackmail drive.

Harry Taylor, 526 Picadilly street, no relation of the three Taylors under arrest or sentenced, was taken into custody last night on two charges:

"That on July, 1934, with menace did obtain from Mr. "A" $2,100 with intent to steal the same.

"That he did unlafully steal $2,100, the property of Mr. —."

The alleged offense is linked with the same case in which Mrs. Mae Turnbull was originally involved and which eventually brought a conviction for conversion.

Police allege that Harry Taylor, who is 42 years of age and is a salesman, posed as a detective.

CONTINUE WORK NEW GOLD CAMP DURING WINTER

Two Million Dollars Will Be Spent During Winter Months.

EQUIPMENT MOVING IN.

Plenty of Money Available to Rush Discovery Work.

(By Leslie Roberts.)

JELLICOE, Ont., October 20 (C. P.). — Diamond drills moving by air from Long Lac on the east and explosive and supplies by boat from the west into the mouth of the Sturgeon River mark the beginning of the final phase of the pre-freeze-up rush into this new gold camp.

The drilling outfit is on the way to the Coniagas strike at the eastern end of the discovery area, while the material moving forward by the fleet of power craft across Lake Nipigon are destined for the Kenbro Sturgeon Mid-Canada Exploration Company and the Springer Sturgeon showing near the river's estuary.

Continue During Winter.

As freezing weather begins to descend on the gold rush area, it is estimated that hundreds of men have arrived on the various properties on which work will continue during the winter. Work is proceeding on all the major finds, and mining operations will continue throughout the winter months.

A conservative estimate of the winter's work is that payrolls along the river will exceed $100,000 a month on the leading properties alone. Figures of at least equal size may be applied to supplies with the result it is safe to say present plans for the senior prospects of the district alone call for expenditure of at least $2,000,000 between November 1 and the spring break.

Favorable results from diamond drilling and the decision of only one or two companies to start shaft sinking would double these figures overnight. Already millions of dollars have been made available and guaranteed to Sturgeon River Company treasuries despite the fact only a few weeks have elapsed since the furore of the gold rush began.

Directly and indirectly an impetus has been given employment in North-western Ontario by the rush and it is also interesting to note the speed with which money for development becomes available when rich discoveries are made.

CHICAGO WHEAT.

CHICAGO, October 20. — Uncertainties connected with approach of November elections received some of the blame for stop-loss selling yesterday that tumbled wheat prices down almost 2 cents.

Pronounced weakness of the Liverpool wheat market, together with failure of speculative demand to broaden in Chicago, did much to start the selling movement. As a result, the dollar sign was eliminated from wheat quotations here, and the market reached the lowest level since October 10.

With something of a rally in evidence at the last, wheat closed nervous ⅝c to 1¼c under Thursday's finish. May, 99c to 99¼c; corn, ⅝c to 1¼c off; May, 79¾c to 79½c; oats, ⅝c to 1c down, and provisions exactly the same as Thursday's latest figures.

WINNIPEG WHEAT.

WINNIPEG, October 20. — Influenced again by weakness in outside markets, wheat futures prices dipped sharply on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange yesterday.

Moderate export sale of Canadian wheat failed ot halt the decline, and values closed ⅞c to 1⅛c lower. October at 77¼c, December 77⅝c to 77⅜c, and May 82c. Weary wheat holders dumped their holdings overboard, prices "breaking" more than a cent at one period.

Effect of export sales amounting to 500,000 bushels and other good buying brought out on the scale-down failed to do more than lift prices fractionally from the session's low points.

Bullishness of private crop estimates forecasting a Canadian wheat crop of 240,000,000 bushels, 25,000,000 bushels under the Government estimate, had but little effect on the market.

Top grades of wheat again were in demand in cash grains, but lightness of offerings restricted sales. Coarse grains futures eased in sympathy with wheat.

BAD HEADACHES, NEURITIS AND RHEUMATIC PAINS EASED ALMOST AT ONCE

Remember the pictures below when you want fast relief from pain. Aspirin eases even a bad headache or neuralgia often in a few minutes!

An Aspirin tablet begins "taking hold" of your pain practically as soon as you swallow it. And Aspirin is safe. For Aspirin does not harm the heart.

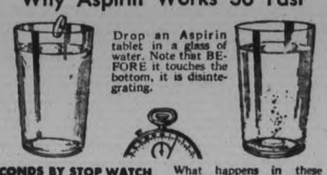
Remember these two points: Aspirin Speed and Aspirin Safety. And, see that you get ASPIRIN, the method doctors prescribe. It is made in Canada, and all druggists have it. Look for the name Bayer in the form of a cross on every Aspirin tablet. Get tin of 12 tablets or economical bottle of 24 or 100 tablets.

Why Aspirin Works So Fast



Drop an Aspirin tablet in a glass of water. Note that BEFORE it touches the bottom, it is disintegrating.

IN 2 SECONDS BY STOP WATCH An Aspirin tablet starts to disintegrate and go to work.

What happens in these glasses happens in your stomach—ASPIRIN tablets start "taking hold" of pain a few minutes after taking.

WOMAN IS KILLED BY STREET CAR

CIVIL SERVANT.

OTTAWA, Oct. 20.—(C.P.)—Mutilated beyond recognition the body of Miss Reta Payeau, civil servant, employed in the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, was found last night between the westbound rails on the street car right of way in the experimental Farm. When found, the body was already cold, death evidently having taken place some time before.

Discovery of the body was made by Samuel Burnett, street car operator.

While they felt that the unfortunate woman was undoubtedly killed by a street car, officials of the Ottawa Electric Railway up to a late hour had not determined what car had caused her death. A watch found among her other belongings had stopped at 6.10 p.m. A street car passed the spot where the body was found about 6.09 p.m., but the operator reported having noticed nothing.

if any organization under the guise of co-operation is trying to make any rebate to destroy any definite arrangements about the price of milk, we will certainly prohibit them from doing so by cancelling their license. The fact that it is done under the guise of co-operation does not make it any better.

"These things are ruinous to the farmer who milks the cows and nobody ought to know this better than a Trade and Labor man. What would a Trade and Labor Association do with their membership if some of the members, in order to gain favor with the company employing them, started to make rebates because they considered their wages too large for the necessity of their household?"

A letter from Humphrey Mitchell, M.P., secretary of the Hamilton Co-operative Dairy, was also read. Mr. Mitchell stated in part: "I believe we now have the solution of the milk problem from the viewpoint of the producer and consumer. Without form of organization milk boards would become unnecessary. The recent decision of the Ontario Milk Board means in effect that we may operate as long as we are not successful. They are endeavoring to cut the jugular vein of the principal of co-operative enterprises and we are surely going to use our influence to see that they do not succeed."

Your Health

By DR LOGAN CLENDENING

Here are four plans each for an adequate diet, but at four different economic levels, as worked out by Dr. Hazel K. Stiebeling and Medora M. Ward, of the department of agriculture.

PLAN 1 is minimal in cost, but adequate in nutrition, for a moderately active man: $62 a year, $1.19 a week, $0.69 a day.

Or for a family of father, mother, boy 13 years old, girl 10 years old, the cost of Plan 1 is $245 a year, $4.72 a week, $0.67 a day.

PLAN 2 furnishes a more liberal supply of food and more of the protective foods—vegetables, fruits, milk. There is more protein (for body building) and enough minerals and vitamins not only to meet rock-bottom needs, but to provide a margin of safety.

PLAN 2 for one person costs $86 a year; $1.66 a week; $0.236 a day. For the family, $335 a year; $6.44 a week; $0.92 a day.

PLAN 3 is a plentiful diet at $152 a year, $2.91 a week, $0.415 a day For the family, $565 a year, $10.83 a week, $1 545 a day.

PLAN 4 is a liberal diet—$185 a year, $3.56 a week, $0.508 a day. For the family, $667 a year, $12.83 a week, $1.83 a day.

In detail these plans divide the food dollar between five classes of food stuffs:

Milk and cheese
Fruits and vegetables
Lean meat, fish and eggs
Bread, flour, cereals
Fats, sugars, accessories.

Note in the diagram appended (from Gove Hambridge's book, "Your Meals and Your Money"), the way the food dollar is spent in different items. For instance, in the bread column observe that in Plan 1, 20 cents is spent on bread, while in Plan 4 this is reduced 7½ cents, while the proportions are just reversed for meat—Plan 4 spends 25 cents on meat, Plan 1 10 cents.

The plan is a scientific one, the prices estimated from such sources as retail prices from 51 cities during one year: prices of cash and carry stores in 14 cities.

The plans are fully described in a circular of the department of agriculture called, "Diets at Four Levels of Nutritive Content and Costs." This circular is, however, too technical for the average reader.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Six pamphlets by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

Construction in Nicaragua is increasing.

"Jean, I'm afraid I can't leave Helen today either. No — she's not exactly SICK — but she's been poking around the house all week. She says she's had a headache——"

"So sorry, Edith. Perhaps it's constipation that's been making her so miserable lately. I've had experience with those symptoms in my own family. Give her Castoria tonight."

"We've come for you to go for a walk, Jean. Yes, I took your advice and gave Helen some Castoria last night. — Like it? — She LOVED it!"

"Children all love Castoria, Edith. It's made especially for them, taste and all. Then, it hasn't any of the strong drugs in it that are so hard on little systems. That's why it's so splendid for the kind of diarrhea that's due to improper diet — and, as you and I both know, that kind of diarrhea requires careful treatment."

Loss of Sleep

Due to Inability to Relax

Fears and worries are bad bed fellows.
They sap the nervous system of the vital nerve force.
They make it impossible to relax,
And sleep does not come without relaxation.
Persistent loss of sleep is fatal
To both mind and body.
Ten days without sleep is the longest on record.
Health and beauty are destroyed by sleepless nights.
The use of narcotics to produce sleep
Only further exhausts the nervous system.
Lasting relief comes
With the restoration of nerve force to the body.
Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is recommended
Because it restores the richness of the blood,
And nourishes the nerves back to health.
A few days use of this restorative treatment
Will convince you of its merits.

The Golden Text

Romans 12: 12—"Continuing steadfastly in prayer."

Sabbath Message For The Shut-Ins

Written for The Examiner by the Ministers of the City and District.

THE POWER WITHIN.

"Rejoice in the Lord always, and again I say, Rejoice."—Phil 4:4.

By REV. A. L. SISCO, of Millbrook.

My dear friends, shut in from the outside world, from your business and your social pleasures, do you marvel over that wonderful man Paul? Listen to his words, "Rejoice in the Lord always, and again I say, Rejoice!" Do you know they were written when he was in a Roman prison? He was a shut-in.

He had seen many a prison, too. Once for a kindly deed, Paul and Silas were thrown into a prison. Previously they had received many lashes upon their bare backs, and thrust into the inner prison. They were in a dark room, and to keep them more securely the jailor placed their feet in the stocks. There they were lying upon those sore, bleeding bare backs, singing praises unto the Lord and offering prayers of thanksgiving—and the prisoners heard them.

They thanked God that in the sacrament of suffering they had been brought into closer fellowship with Him. So his spirit like that could sing, "Rejoice, and again I say, Rejoice!" He had much to be thankful for, too; he was not alone, His Master was with him, yea in him. "I live yet, not I, but Christ liveth in me."

My dear shut-in, you are in your prison, chained perhaps by some physical weakness. Need you be discouraged? Have a merry heart, have faith, be thankful, believe, believe God is good! You are rendering a service to those that call on you. There are those who are not chained to the prison wall—they are out in the world, out in God's sunlight, yet they fail to see it—they are bound down with cares, worries and sorrows. They may, some of them, enter your prison from a sense of duty to cheer you up. Lo! they see your cheery, serene countenance and they are the ones that are cheered and encouraged.

But you say, what have I to be thankful for? And how can I possess the secret of the power within? There are compensations. Be thankful you are not alone in your suffering or in your prison. God is there. God helps people to bear pain; He helps them to rejoice; He enables you, if you will let Him, to face your thorn in the flesh with fortitude and courage; He can take away the spirit of heaviness and in its place give you the garment of peace.

Secondly, should we not be thankful for our friends? Are we not surprised to find so many and so much kindness and thoughtfulness? I am not a shut-in, but I was a couple of years ago for about four weeks. I worried about my work and my services, but my officials and friends came to me in numbers, in kindnesses and remembrances. They said, "Do not worry, we will look after the work. Just stay in and get well." Yes, when we are shut in we often discover that we are missed. We are so busy when we are well that our friendships often get out of repair. We struggle along with our burdens and cares when our friends are around us ready to help, and if not able to carry part of the load, are ready to sympathize. Yet we are unmindful of them. When we are shut in we can get acquainted with our friends.

Thirdly, should we not give thanks for our opportunity to get acquainted with God and with the Master? Many people in their sorrow and perplexity called upon God to speak, but God is always speaking. It is we who are to blame if He is not heard. His voice is drowned out by other calls, and His presence is crowded out.

Do you remember what happened when Jesus was born in Bethlehem? He was crowded out. There was no room in the inn. No doubt there were the usual guests as at such places. Busy farmers up to pay their taxes, a centurian or two with their cohorts displaying their insolence and brutality, officials and lawyers proud of position or rank, a few travelling priests and the idlers hanging about the doorway, occupying the inn. And they crowded out the Son of God.

This is not the only time He has been thrust out, and it is not that men and women are opposed to divine things. It is simpply because they are too busy with trivial affairs that the really great and abiding things of life are ignored. So in this hour of quiet life you have opportunity of acquaintance with God. In that acquaintanceship there may come faith, hope, love, joy and peace; and when that is so, of course you can sing, "Rejoice, again I say, Rejoice!"

Now, what is the secret of this power within, to throw off despair and disappointment?

In the olden days when there were many castles in England one was invincible from attack. It was surrounded with thick walls and battlements and a wide moat full of water. One day an enemy appeared and the commander did everything in his power to seize it. Still it withheld, and finally he even poisoned the water supply, but still the defenders fought on. What was its secret? In the very centre of the fortress there was a spring of bubbling water ever flowing.

Do you remember the words of Jesus, "The water I shall give him shall be in him, a well of water springing up into everlasting life." Prayer is that secret spring, it is the source of power. It is the way to get strength to the soil. It brings the soul in touch with God.

Prayer is the secret spring of peace and happiness. Nothing so steadies life as faithfulness in private prayer. It gives a calm and a force, too, that nothing else can give.

You know this, dear shut-in, so help those who come to you so you are able to sing like Paul from your prison, "Rejoice in the Lord always, again I say, Rejoice!"

MID-WEEK SERVICE ON WEDNESDAY AT 8 O'CLOCK

Creeping Intellectual Paralysis

By DEAN O'SULLIVAN

Last week I discussed the faculty of thought. May I be permitted to interrupt my series to call attention to the danger of not making use of this faculty.

No one of ordinary discernment can be ignorant of the fact that many of the present generation are not using their brains. Now a faculty which is not used soon becomes incapable of being used. If one ties his arm up in a sling for some months he will experience difficulty for considerable time afterwards in using it. The same is true of the intellect. If it is not kept reasonably active, it sinks into a comotose state and the animal instincts and faculties in man dominate his whole being. Moreover, as the intellect is man's highest faculty, the pleasures of the intellect are the highest in the natural order. It follows that a man who does not exercise this faculty is depriving himself of some of the sweetest joys of life. A large percentage of our people, to-day, would be positively bored if they were left alone with their own thoughts. They are continually trying to get away from themselves. What is the week-end motor trip to nowhere in particular, the soporific of the Sunday supplement, sport news and the movies but a means to that end. I have no fault to find with reasonable recreation. But as the manner in which we spend our spare time has more influence upon our characters than have our daily occupations, I contend that one who spends the whole of that time in amusements that call for no exercise of gray matter is in danger of mental paralysis. Nowadays, the life of the ordinary young man or woman, apart from his or her daily tasks, is wholly taken up with physical exercise, amusement and idle gossip. There is no faculty brought into play that the ordinary hen does not possess—and the hen has a proverbially small amount of gray matter. The hen scratches for exercise; the boy hustles a puck and the girl a basket-ball for the same purpose. The hens perched up in the gallery of the underbarn theatre take a great deal of fun out of watching the dog chasing the cat, the gobbler fighting with the ram or the housemaid trying to milk a kicking cow. Our movieites are diverted in the same way. The hen does a lot of boasting when she lays an egg, and like some of her intellectual fellow creatures even boasts when she hasn't laid an egg. She loves to gossip about the little doings of the hen coop, the superior airs of some of her companions, the appearance, manners and fighting qualities of the young cockerels, and the ridiculously inefficient manner in which the mother hen is caring for and rearing her young brood. Some of the human chatter that one must listen to occasionally is pretty much on a par with this, only a little more malicious.

Now that I have diagnosed this malady, it might be a propitious time, since "the frost is on the pumpkin and the corn is in the shock" to suggest a remedy. Professor Leacock once stated—and he affirmed that he stated it in all seriousness—that if he were establishing a university, the first thing he would erect would be a smoking-room, the next a dormitory, and then if he had any money left he would build some class-rooms, buy some books and engage a professor or two. Along the same lines, I would suggest that in every diocese or municipality there be purchased a full set of theatrical costumes, which could be loaned out to the various churches or clubs for a reasonable sum which would soon defray the initial expense. Then, I would have a dramatic club established to reproduce the classic productions of our language. I am sure, that the Governor-General would approve of this plan.

To establish such a club would be an easy matter for every young man or woman is a potential actor or actress. While it requires a professional to make a success of a mediocre play, an amateur can succeed with one that possesses intrinsic merit. In this way, we can occupy the minds of our young people with what is worth while, stimulate them to further efforts and develop in them the habit of reading what will exercise their mental faculties and keep them from becoming dormant. The people, too, old and young, will derive more pleasure and instruction from these amateur performances than from attendance at the commercial theatre.

Morally and socially, these plays have a negative and positive value. In a negative way they help to keep the young people away from places that would be a danger to them. In the country they will help to keep the young people on the farm by relieving monotony. Then, like the smoking room in the university, they develop the spirit of sociability. Just as students who reside in separate boarding houses and meet only to listen to a lecture, are deprived of the value of that very potent educative factor, the personal contact and interchange of ideas with one another, so those who use their parish hall only to hear some stranger orate are not making the best use of their parish university.

The frequent rehearsals which must be held bring the young people together in an informal way, break down that aloofness and banish that shyness that mark so often the reciprocal relations of the young people of the same congregation. The timid Bassanio, Orlando or Silvius must perforce speak his fervid lines to the blushing Portia, Rosalind or Phoebe. Thus the ice is broken. Young couples who had grown up together and who no doubt would have gone their separate ways, perhaps not too happily, have through those literary evenings been initiated into a companionship which proved by no means irksome, and which not unfrequently found its joyful culmination at the foot of the altar.

Slow work produces fine goods.

Trade both reveals and tests character.

Your Problems

Religious and Social Questions Answered By DR WYLIE CLARK

Should we not lower the standard of our Christian faith and make it easier to be a Christian?—B.R.T.

There are certain standards which cannot be lowered. To lower them would destroy them. Their very life and power lie in their highness.

Dr. Wylie Clark

The standard of Christianity is Jesus Christ. He must remain. We cannot substitute for Him any human no matter how perfect he may have been or what position he may have occupied; neither can we make Christ less than He was.

Can you see any connection between the plagues mentioned in Joel, Matthew 24 and Revelations?—L.K.N.

In Joel, the reference is to the conditions of the Jews about 400 B.C. There was a plague of locusts and a long period of very dry weather. The land was in great distress.

Jewish boys and girls were being sold into Greece by the slave dealers of Philistia. Things seemed hopeless, yet Joel encouraged the people to still have faith in God and there would be deliverance.

As in this case, so in the others, the references are to certain times and conditions with really no connection.

What is meant by the expression: "He will be all right, for he has still the root of the matter in him?—A.R.T.

This has reference to the early training of a boy. For a time he may break away from home and religious influences and seem as if nothing worth while counted. Then these old forgotten roots begin to assert themselves, send up shoots, push into the life and gradually overcome.

We often see this happen in a broken tree or one that has been cut down. The trouble is it does not always happen—even the roots are killed.

What is meant by saying, that we endure as seeing Him who is invisible?—E.D.

The writer of the Epistle of the Hebrews in writing about Moses and his choice of the slave people instead of remaining in the court of Pharaoh, says, he did it like one who saw the King Invisible and he never flinched. That is, he was so absolutely sure of God and what God wanted that he accepted the commission and never doubted. He had a faith which laid hold on the invisible.

Yes. Matthew 18:25; "But forasmuch as he had not to pay, his lord commanded him to be sold, and his wife and children, and all that he had, and payment to be made."

Scripture—Matt. 5:5-15; Eph. 3:14-21

By the Rev. Alvin E. Bell And Alfred J. Buescher

When Jesus' disciples found him praying in a lonely spot they said, "Lord teach us to pray". In response he gave them "the Lord's Prayer", which he had earlier embodied in his "Sermon on the Mount", and which might be regarded as an ideal "table of contents" for our prayers.

Here are set forth successively the relationships of father—child, soverdign—subject, master—servant, benefactor—beggar, banker—bankrupt, saviour—sinner. Here are adoration, petition, intercession, confession or all the elements prayers should include.

The Lord's Prayer calls for faith as we say "Father", for hope as we say "Who art in heaven", and for love as we think of all mankind and pray for everybody, saying always "our", "we" and "us" instead of "I", and "me" and "my"

If the Lord's Prayer is the Master's precept on prayer, Paul's prison prayer for his Ephesian friends is the Christian's practice of prayer. Here he prays "that they may be filled unto all the fullness of God". We cannot imagine a larger, richer blessing for which to pray. (GOLDEN TEXT—Rom. 12:12)

LOSE THEIR IDENTITY.

An unusual feature has developed in connection with the preparation of the new voters' lists by the enumerators this week in as much as the customary practice of listing married women by their Christian names has been departed from on orders from the Dominion Franchise Commissioner, and these women are designated simply by the names of their husbands.

There have been some protests from various quarters over this change, one of the most vehement coming from that well-known Conservative politician, Dr. T. E. Kaiser, of Oshawa, who argues that women are required to sign legal documents with their Christian names and that to use any other signature would be wrong.

Up to the present married women have always been listed as "Smith, Mrs. Kate," etc., whether in federal, provincial or municipal voters' lists, and this is the first occasion upon which the usual plan has not been followed.

It is presumed that the new method has been adopted with the idea that there will be less possibility of mistakes at election time, it being considered easier to identify a married woman by her husband's name than by her own.

In any event, protest or no protest, the system has been followed in all parts of Canada, and no Christian names of married women voters will appear on the next election list.

PREMIER GARDINER'S COMPLAINTS.

Complaints voiced by Premier Gardiner of Saskatchewan, apparently intended to convey the impression that the Dominion Government is not sympathetic in its attitude toward the relief situation in his province, will not elicit much support in other parts of Canada.

There is a general feeling that Saskatchewan, whose need has admittedly been greater, owing to the unusual conditions, has been adequately looked after, and a statement issued by Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Minister of Finance, will go far to confirm that impression.

Mr. Rhodes makes it clear that Saskatchewan has not done so badly in the way of relief.

Although it only contains nine per cent. of the population of Canada, the western province has received 28 per cent. of all the relief expenditure made by the Federal Government in the last four years. To be exact, Saskatchewan has been paid $53,771,000 out of the Dominion's total relief bill of $188,000,000. And on top of that she has borrowed from the federal treasury $33,699,287, while all the other provinces seeking loans have borrowed $37,956,757.

Furthermore, the Dominion Government has offered to take over the whole cost of relief and relief administration in the drought areas of Saskatchewan, but that proosal has been rejected; evidently Premier Gardiner, while willing to let Ottawa put up the money, wants to have the control of the expenditures in his own hands.

In the face of these facts it does not look as if Mr. Gardiner had a great deal to complain about.

SHOULD HAVE CONSIDERATION.

With the recommendation of the gathering of Ontario mayors at Hamilton this week that in plans for providing relief work consideration should be given to citizens who are unemployed but not on the relief lists, The Examiner is in hearty accord.

Hitherto this class has received little or no consideration, yet many of them must be in serious straits by this time, inasmuch as they have long been out of gainful employment and have been depleting their reserves in order to keep off the relief list.

It is only simple justice that when relief works are provided these men should have the same chance for employment as the others who have been fed and clothed and sheltered out of the public purse.

They should not be penalized because they have by a heroic struggle succeeded in taking care of themselves through the long months of the depression period, and the municipal heads who gathered at Hamilton are to be congratulated upon realizing that fact and upon taking steps to see that proper consideration is given to citizens who have shown backbone and independence in the face of a harassing situation.

Incidentally that relief conference developed some other worth-while ideas, one of which took the form of a move to prevent the practice of young couples marrying and immediately going "on relief."

There has been too much of that kind of thing, and the conference was well advised in recommending a change in the regulations to prevent newly married couples from being eligible for relief until three months after the ceremony.

CANADA FORGES AHEAD.

Cheerful figures as to the progress of Canada's economic recovery continue to make their appearance.

Indices of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics covering the first eight months of this year show that steady and reasonably rapid progress has been made.

For example, the index of physical volume of trade, based on 45 factors, averaged 93.6 for the eight months, as compared with 75.7 for the same period of 1933.

The index of wholesale prices, based on 567 commodities, averaged 71.7, as against 66.4, and farm product prices made an average gain of 16 per cent.

For common stock prices the index showed an average of 86, compared with 64.6 in the first eight months of last year, while mining stocks gained nearly 50 per cent. in market value, their particular index moving from 86.7 during the first eight months of 1933 to 129.4.

For bond prices the index averaged 113.6, as against 101.6, and the mineral production index, 134.2, compared with 1.049. Manufacturing production gained 23.4 per cent., the output of steel ingots rose 131 per cent. and of pig iron 129 per cent. The automobile production was more than doubled, the construction industry on the record of new contracts showed an increase of 55.6 per cent., car loadings made an average gain of 19 per cent., exports at $405,000,000 for the period and imports at $335,000,000 registered increases of 32.6 per cent and 38.2 per cent., respectively, and the general index of employment registered 17.5 per cent. higher than last year.

These authentic figures cannot be disregarded; they tell a convincing story of a steady march toward recovery, for they reveal beyond a doubt that there are more Canadians at work, that the spending power of the people has increased, that the farmers are getting better prices for their products, that our trade markets have been bettered, and that there has been a marked improvement all along the line.

ELECTION DEPOSITS.

Another agitation has arisen for the abolition of the present statute which says that every candidate for election to the House of Commons must make a deposit of $200 to be forfeited by him in the event of his failure to secure a certain percentage of the vote in the riding in which he runs.

There may be some sympathy with this demand where it affects the candidature of responsible people lacking sufficient ready money to meet the deposit charges, but there can be no doubt whatever that the existence of this regulation prevents a large number of irresponsible candidates being inflicted upon the people.

The recent campaign in Ontario was marked by the presence of a host of independent candidates not affiliated with any particular party or even organization who had no possible chance of attaining success. If they had been required to make a deposit, their names would not have been on the ballot-papers and the field would have been restricted to candidates with at least a chance of winning.

As a matter of fact, the deposit requirement does not impose a heavy handicap upon candidates. It is forfeited only in the event of a candidate failing to poll half the number of votes received by the winning man. Really serious contenders are not, therefore, eliminated.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

WHO WAS RUNNING THE T. & N. O.?

Armand Racine, K.C., has submitted his report to Premier Hepburn dealing with the Timiskaming & Northern Ontario Railway. People in this district may not be much interested in this road as they never see any of its equipment nor do they ride on its trains. But they own it, or part of it, by reason of being citizens of Ontario. Mr. Racine says it is possible to save operating costs to the extent of $500,000 per year, but that, of course, is a figure which could be verified only by auditing the books at the end of the year.

It does look as though there had been poor practice. There was, for instance, a special ledger in which was kept a record of the bonuses paid to officials, and these bonuses were being paid at a time when the wages of men working on the road were being reduced. The paying of bonuses, it is said, had been authorized by former premiers, and bonuses to lesser officials were evidently paid without any authority and purely for the purpose, as the report indicates, "of keeping peace in the family." It will be recalled that similar looseness existed in the upper branches of the management of the C.N.R. before they were cleared of excessive spending.

Mr. Racine deals at length with the extension of the T. & N. O. line from Cochrane to James Bay. The railway was seized with the same disease which attacked other railways. It decided it was necessary to build an inn at Moosonee, and it has been a dead loss. It was fitted and equipped and staffed to cater to the travelling and touring public, but the travelling and touring public never came.

Mr. Racine tried to find out who ordered the building of the extension from Cochrane to Moosonee, involving an outlay of something like $7,000,000, and in this questioning there comes a nice point regarding the powers of the Government and the powers of the Commission. It was known from reports of surveyors and engineers that the territory to be crossed was muskeg, that it was not good land, and that it would not produce revenue from operating a railway service. From the Racine report on this point we quote:

"The only justification given in evidence by the members of the Commission is that the final decision to commence construction was made by the Government of the day. In my opinion the commissioners failed in their duty by not opposing this construction."

That is indeed a brave statement, but it does not tell what would have happened to the Commission. We recall that it was not many weeks ago when the Police Commission in Toronto held views which did not coincide with those of the Government at Queen's Park, and the membership of that Commission was changed to bring it in line with Government opinion and desire. We doubt very much whether any Government would countenance opposition from one of its appointed commissions. The only way to clarify such a situation is to have it definitely stated whether a commission is an executive or an administrative body. If it is to be an executive body then it must have the power to make decisions and frame policies; if it is to carry out what the Government decides on as policy then it is but an administrative body and has actually little reason for existing. The only reasonable method is that the road should be operated by experienced railroaders as a business property and the politicians should be told to keep out of the way.

Mr. Racine suggests that new commissioners be appointed and that they serve without salary. Why should they? It would mean that the selection of commissioners would have to be narrowed down to those who could spend their own time to become acquainted with the affairs of the T. & N. O. They would have to be men of means and a certain amount of leisure, and their knowledge of railroading would be a secondary consideration. We believe it would be advisable for a straight decision to be made first regarding what a commissioner is going to do. If he is going to do what railroading experience tells him should be done, then the position is of importance. If he is to do what the Government wants done then it does not matter much who is appointed.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Commissioner Odette says there will be headaches and heartaches when the new beer authorities are issued. There have been plenty of both since the present licenses went into effect, it may be pointed out in passing.

P. D. Ross, of Ottawa, suggests that Premier Hepburn has been guilty of terminalogical inexactitudes, which, it must be admitted, is a nice way to put it.

The England to Australia air race will be a real test both of the machines and the pilots competing for the richest prize in aviation history.

Young couples who marry for the purpose of going on relief will have to live on love for the first three months if the municipalities have their way.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS

By H. W. L. MAHODO

Emma Goldman—Refugees Entirely Outside Law

Emma Goldman lights up the whole world refugee scene. When once embodied, ideas or theories, though mistaken, are tenacious. There are thousands of men, and women because of what they believe, gladly suffer hand.h.ps and exile and fearlessly face death.

After the massacre of the Czar and his family, and when the revolution had quieted expatriated Russians were given some protection by the efforts of the League of Nations. A passport bearing the title of the Nansen, was given to all who might apply. Many Russians found it expedient to leave Russia because of their Communism. The doctrine was quite new. Some leading Russian thinkers scattered abroad through Russia, literature packed with this violent theory. Hatred was awakened against every form of dictatorship. The whole outside world was alarmed. Instantly, the doors were closed against Russians tainted with Bolshevism. Within Russia the believer in this new political and economic theory was as brutally treated as if he were a criminal. For him there was no escape. He had to stand and take it. He did. In the midst of the fire, he became strong and fearless, and wedded to what he believed. The more opposition and mistreatment the more heroic and the more numerous the movement became.

For political exiles to find an abode is difficult. When they do the permit seldom carries with it the right to work. Should an attempt be made to earn a little money by teaching, or translating, or by manual labor, the refugee must conceal what he does. Should a discovery bring to light that he has earned some money, expulsion would drive him from the country.

Viola Lima—The Future of Central Bureau

It is one thing to organize. To carry on is another. Roosevelt has found that the Carry on of the NR A is not as popular as its initiation. The Central Bureau's future became Viola Lima's future. As planned by her The First American Youth Congress was an ambitious adventure. To create an impetus with the strength to assemble a representative gathering of American youth was not a small undertaking. To select, to meet the expense of long travel of many of the delegates, to have a worth while program, to guide the Congress in constructive thinking, was daring. The result was the making of Viola Lima.

Visualize if you will the courage and wisdom of a young slip of a girl like Miss Lima. Instead of assuming authority over the others, she became the willing instrument of larger forces. This is one of the secrets of effective leadership. To put one's self as did Viola Lima into the hands of strong forces and to retain one's own convictions and ideals attracts and confirms. Would you know the Man of Galilee? He put Himself completely into the hands of our humanity, with all its strength and weakness, and yet retained His own Divine Individuality. Gladstone and Lincoln were as much others, as they were themselves. To see Viola Lima in this light is to see the what she is.

Watch her procedure as arrangements are developed for the First American Youth Congress. Accommodations for the Congress she procured at Washington Square College, New York University. One morning a young lady rapped at the door of Professor Harvey Zorbaugh of the Sociology department. "I am Miss Viola Lima. Can you spare me a few moments of your precious time?" "Well, yes."

Emma Goldman—Tells of Friend Refugee

Expelled from his own country this friend had found a refuge in another. Refugees do not forget those, who may be in prison in the home land, charged with treasonable teachings and activities. Many have been imprisoned for long time without semblance of a trial. This friend edited a bulletin in English to raise funds for Russian political prisoners in other countries. She writes of one man who was released. The funds were sufficient to pay his passage back home to Russia. The discovery was made of the bulletin and the author Emma Goldman had a hand in this coup. When the facts were out, this friend was ordered once more, to seek an asylum elsewhere. But back he came again, assisted by friends. Three times he was expelled. But back he came. Finally he was permitted to remain, conditionally.

A permit was issued by the authorities on condition that the permit be renewed every three months. His behavior to be the determinant, how long. For days and often for weeks he had to remain near the police station and waste time asking and waiting for the permit to be renewed. While without the renewal he could not leave the city where registerd. Would you my friend bear such treatment? He did. He did for the sake of a theory of political and economic theory. Would you for the sake of a religious conviction? Nothing less than a superior religion will ever uproot Communism, and other dangerous isms.

If men and women are led to give themselves utterly to Fascism, and Nazism, and other theories the effect is a challenge to modern church Christianity. Emma Goldman, mistaken as she is, in many ways, is a challenge to the leadership of the church. She has gathered about her a strong group who with her are treading the path of the, uttermost consecration. The movement is a challenge to the church and cannot be ignored.

$200 Fine Imposed On Reckless Driver

LONDON, Ont., October 19 (C. P.). — Broad W. Dickinson of Swansea, convicted of manslaughter for the death of Mrs. Helen Hueston of Seaforth, was fined $200 by Justice S. C. Makins at the Assizes to-day. He was also ordered to pay $100 towards costs of the trial. The judge gave him the alternative of serving six months in the Reformatory, but Dickinson said he would pay the fine.

Dickinson was the driver of a car that collided with another at Calamity Corner, north of London, on July 30. Mrs. Hueston was riding in the other machine which was driven by Thomas Hodgert of Seaforth.

Windsor Population Is Greatly Increased

WINDSOR—Compilation of voters' list for the next municipal election has uncovered the fact many families have moved into Winisor during the past three months, the majority of whom are receiving relief. Some have come from as far east as Halifax while others hail from as far west as Fort William. Figures in two wards show 71 families for a total of 213 persons have taken up residence recently.

ON THIS DATE

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

A GREAT JOURNAL'S JUBILEE.

On this date, in 1884, the first number of a new newspaper, La Presse, was issued at Montreal, then a very small city, but just beginning that wonderful growth which has made it in half a century the second French speaking city of the world. The new paper made a hit at once, because it was a newspaper and not merely a political journal with news as a side issue as had been most of the newspapers of Montreal up to that time. La Presse featured news with a capital N; of course it had to have political views also, but, save in crises, these were generally of an independent character, though leaning in a majority of cases towards the Liberal side.

La Presse was one of the first journals in Canada to realize the value of illustrations as an aid to news; its management gathered around it a group of young and brilliant writers; it taught the French Canadian merchant and industrialist the value of advertising; it was the first French language paper in Canada to see the potentiality of small classified advertising, and it reaped a fortune thereby, for most of that advertising is cash over the counter.

La Presse has grown with Montreal. It is now recognized as the leading French daily of Canada, if not of all America, and I am sure that when I extend greetings to it on its fiftieth birthday I shall be voicing the sentiments of all the editors of the English Canadian press, who recognize in La Presse one of the great nation-building assets of the Dominion.

MERCY OF MONOPOLY.

To the Editor of The Examiner,

Sir,—Once more an effort is being made to force Britain back on the gold standard. If it is successful then all values and therefore all prices will be at the beck and call of those who control the gold. That is the curse of a single standard of any kind. It puts the world at the mercy of that monopoly.

DEWART ACTION

To the Editor of The Examiner,

Dear Sir,—I notice that in an account of the action of Dewart vs. Payne in your issue of October 15th I am described as a plaintiff against Mrs. Addie E. Payne. I wish to state that I was added a plaintiff only as one of the executors of Miss Lavinia Payne and did not know that I was added until after it was done, and I at no time sued for any of the monies in question in this action for my own benefit and in fact immediately after the death of my brother surrendered to Mrs. Payne any interest that I might be entitled to in his estate, and was at all times opposed to this action being brought, believing that Mrs. Payne was justly entitled to the whole estate.

Yours truly,
Uriah Payne.

FACTS ABOUT C.C.F.

Editor of The Examiner,

Sir,—In your note and comments of a recent issue you claim the C. C.F. platform would find no friends in the British Labor party which by an overwhelming majority recently rejected socialist proposals made by a minority radical group.

When the British Labor party was founded by a conference of trades unions and socialist bodies in the Memorial Hall, London, 1900, the purpose of the party was declared by the conference to establish a distinct labor group in Parliament who would co-operate with any party engaged in promoting legislation in the direct interests of labor. If the labor party has departed from the fundamental basis in which it was intended to advance there should be no exceptions to any party or group of parties for adhering to and enforcing the aims and objects in which it was enlisted for. In regard to the C.C.F. it is a foregone conclusion that its growth since its inception two years ago is far from being pleasant news for The Examiner In British Columbia the C.C.F. is the oficial opposition having polled 43 per cent of the total votes (90,000 votes). In Alberta the C.C.F. is the official government, the C.C.F. being affiliated with the United Farmers of Alberta. Manitoba has had no election. There the Independent Labor Party is affiliated with the C.C.F.

At the last election in Ontario the C.C.F. polled over 100,000 votes. It has one representative in Parliament. In Canada the C.C.F. has a club membership of over 1,000,000 members while I have not acquainted you with the C.C.F. policy I thank you in anticipation for the space I have used in giving fact and figures concerning its growth and affiliations.

Alex Murray.

What's in The NAME

of Canadian Cities and Towns?

By FRANK H. WILLIAMS

WALKERVILLE, ONTARIO

Back in the 1880's a progressive farmer named Hiram Walker became tired of the cramped position of a tiller of the soil and transferred his activities to distilling. In the course of time a small settlement grew up around his distillery, mostly the homes of his workmen. The settlement grew so rapidly that in 1890 the provincial legislature was asked for an act to incorporate the town under the name of Walkerville, for the man who was the town's leading citizen.

Today the town has a population of 10,000 and is one of the centres of automobile manufacturing in Canada.

ALL OF US

(By Marshall Maslin.)

NOT JUST A HEAP OF SHAVINGS.

One, perhaps, that you'd like to read and remember.

He said that once, while he was waiting at a railroad station, he saw a man sitting on a bench whittling on a piece of wood' The man was working carefully, almost painstakingly. He was carving something on the wood, but the watcher was too distant to see what was being made. . . . He assumed however, that it was to be something very fine . . . The carver was patient, tireless, deeply intent on his occupation. He'd cut and cut and then he'd scrape away what he'd done and start all over again. Little by little, however, the stick became smaller and smaller with those alternated carvings and scrapings, until at last there was nothing left at all . . . And then, after half an hour of work, the whittler stood up, closed his knife, put it in his pocket, yawned, filled his pipe and sauntered away, leaving nothing where he had been working so long but a heap of shavings for the wind to blow upon and scatter across the street.

The man who told me about that said the incident made him sort of melancholy, but it set him to thinking and to wondering about his own life . . . Wondering if HE was doing anything more with his days than just making a heap of shavings for the wind to blow away. And he decided that before he left this place he'd get one thing done that might last. It might not be anything big, that would make him famous. But he would do something he could look back upon and say: "Well, at least I did something more than eat and drink and smoke and earn a bit of money and leave nothing behind but a heap of shavings."

He'll find something worth while, something real—that man. He's looking for it now. And when he finds it, there'll be a happy look in his eyes. There'll be a lift to his chin. There'll be a lift to his whole life, a greater joy in living, a peace in his heart, a warming, comforting glow at the center of his existence . . . He'll be for all the rest of his days a contented man . . . Just because he will know that when the golden bowl is broken and the silver cord of this life is loosened, he will be leaving something more than a meaningless heap of shavings.

POSSIBLITY OF U.S. AND CHINA SILVER AGREEMENT CHILLS RISE

MARKET UNCERTAIN.

BY ALEX PRINGLE
Canadian Press Financial Writer

TORONTO, Oct. 20. — Canadian stock markets passed another week of wandering in a maze of hopes and uncertainties and growing less robust as the sessions passed. Both industrial and mining shares closed yesterday under the level of a week ago, duplicating faithfully the loss of position on the New York market.

Since the end of the summer holiday season there have been alternating periods of bullish and bearish sentiment with spasmodic buying and selling on a moderate scale but actually prices are lower on Canadian and New York markets now than they were at the end of August. Last week's note of buoyancy on the New York board proved to be lack ing in significance and has been succeeded by a week of narrow declines.

Metal Issues Sag

Of especial concern to Canadian interests has been the sag on the "big board" of metal share listings, the results perhaps, of declines of prices for gold, silver and base metals. The possibility of an agreement between the United State and China providing for an exchange of gold for silver has enough of probability in it to give speculators for the rise a chill and prices have dropped in New York and London. Only buying in the world markets will send the price of silver up and as China is very anxious to prevent a further rise because of the danger of high silver to her export trade, she may be able to persuade the U. S. administration to achieve a 25 percent silver backing for her currency by means of a private deal such as China proposes.

Silvers Drift Lower.

Canadian silver stocks drifted lower under the new uncertainty, but there was no dumping of stocks at sacrifice prices. Eldorado lost 23 cents, and Bear Exploration, White Eagle and Castle Trethewey sagged a few cents each.

Base metal stocks have practically retired to the wings to await better times. The drop in the price of copper to around 6 cents in European markets or within about a cent of the depression low level has been highly discouraging to holders of such copper stocks as Noranda, Hudson Bay, Sherritt-Gordon and Sudbury Basin. Gold production by Noranda and Hudson Bay has kept those issues from nose-diving, though Noranda recorded a loss of $2 this week. Re-opening of the Sherritt-Gordon mine has been pushed still further into the future by the drop in copper.

The big gold stocks all took losses this week ranging up to $2, including Dome, Hollinger, Lake Shore, Bralorne, McIntyre, Teck Hughes, and Wright Hargreaves.

Teck Hughes Probe.

The investigation by the Ontario Securities Commissioner into the decline of Teck Hughes and the alleged short-selling in the week prior to the official announcement of a dividend cut, brought out the fact that directors were heavy sellers of the stock and that this selling was known to others, including brokers. Street reports suggest that an outgrowth of the enquiry may be restrictions of some kind to prevent professional traders from depressing stocks by short-selling or "raiding."

Industrial stocks lost ground narrowly with the interlisted shares leading the decline. Trading continued in heavy volume in the oil shares without effecting any price adjustments of importance. Steel issues made up the only definitely strong group, substantial advances having been recorded for Steel of Canada, Dominion Bridge, Page Hersey and some others.

PRICES HOLD FIRM FARMERS' MARKET

The sunny autumn weather brought one of the largest crowds in weeks to the Farmers' Market this morning. Buying was brisk and prices remained firm throughout the morning without the usual sell-off in the last half hour.

Snow apples were to be had in minor quantities from 20 and 25 cents a small basket. Russets and several other common varieties from local orchards and the lake front retailed around 40 cents a peck. Applemen from the Port Hope and Cobourg district said the crop will be decidedly short on account of the destruction wrought by last winter's cold.

A few tomatoes were available at 25 cents for a 6-quart basket. Greenhouse leaf lettuce sold at 5 cents a bunch and the recently harvested roots in general were plentiful at low prices. Between 60 and 65 cents a bag was being paid for potatoes.

One farmer was doing a fair business in apple cider, offering it at 30 cents a gallon.

In the crowded indoor market, butter ranged from 20 to 23 cents in price and eggs from 32 to 36 cents. With Thanksgiving past, turkeys were scarce but there were plenty of chickens to be had around 18 cents a pound.

BOROTRA DEFEATED

LONNDON, Oct. 20.—(AP)—H. W. (Bunny) Austin, England's Davis Cup player, today defeated Jean Borotra, the French veteran, 6-2, 4-6, 6-0, 6-8, 6-2 in the final match of the Queen's Club indoor tennis tournament.

Andrea del Sarton, a Florentine painter of the high Renaissance, was the greatest colorist of the school.

WINNIPEG WHEAT SHOWS DROP FOLLOWING EXPORT FAILURE

FAVORABLE AUSSIE REPORT

WINNIPEG, Oct. 20.— (C.P.) — Canada's wheat trade, which last week promised to develop into the freest movement in months, failed to come up to expectations this week As a result, wheat futures prices on the Winnipeg grain exchange just before trading started to-day were 2⅝ to 3½ cents lower for the six-day period.

But to offset the disappointing European export situation, the new market now being opened up in the United States promised to bring an increasingly important influence to bear on Canadian wheat prices.

European importers this week appeared to be following a "hand-to-mouth" policy, apparently satisfied with the current movement of wheat in trade channels. Prices here declined steadily, the October future to 77⅛, December 77 ⅝-¾ and May 82 cents. Exports were the smallest in weeks. Though no figures were available, unofficial sources claimed millions of bushels of hard red spring wheat have been shipped to Buffalo for United States' consumption. Canadian Durum wheat is also finding a ready market there. American mills have purchased in the Winnipeg cash-grain market.

Bearish Reports.

The increase in estimates of the Australian wheat crop and generally favorable growing conditions in the Argentine, was construed as bearish. However, wheat exports from these countries this week dropped sharply from those of the previous week, a total decline of 3,000,000 bushels being reported.

Domestic news also took a place in the grain-trade gossip. Crops in the northern areas of the prairie provinces were said to be showing the effect of frost and weathering, much more than was expected. Private crop estimates placed the new crop at 240,000,000 bushels, 25,000,000 under the government estimate.

EIGHT BRIDESMAIDS TO ATTEND PRINCES

Three Processions to Westminster Abbey Are Planned by Royal Families.

LONDON, Oct. 20 (C.P.).—Eight bridesmaids will attend the Princess Marina of Greece on the occasion of her wedding to the Duke of Kent, youngest son of the King and Queen, in Westminster Abbey, on Nov. 29.

The bridesmaids are as follows: The Crown Princess Juliana of the Netherlands, Princess Irene and Princess Katharine of Greece, the Grand Duchess Kiara of Russia; Princess Elizabeth, daughter of the Duke and Duchess of York; Princess Eugenie of Greece, Lady Iris Mountbatten and Lady Mary Cambridge.

It is anticipated there will be three processions, namely, Their Majesties, the bride and her parents and the bridegroom. Their Majesties, it is expected, will drive in full State from Buckingham Palace to the Abbey, with an escort of the Household Cavalry.

At a short interval they will be followed by the bride and her parents, who will be staying at Buckingham Palace as the guests of King George and Queen Mary. The Duke of Kent, better known as Prince George, will drive to the Abbey from his own residence, York House, probably accompanied by the Prince of Wales, who is expected to act as groomsman for his brother.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

TORONTO MINING

TORONTO, Oct. 20. (CP). —The mining section of the Toronto Stock Exchange concluded the week with a thoroughly sluggish session Four of the low-priced gold issues supplied the bulk of the business. Three of them, Siscoe, God's Lake and Manitoba and Eastern were firm to strong while heavy selling appeared in Read Authier on a price drop of 12 cents to 91.

Volume leadership went to Manitoba and Eastern which pushed up 3½ cents to 30. In the Senior group Hollinger sagged further to 20.15, Wright Hargreaves lost 10 cents while Dome was up 50 and Teck Hughes 3 cents to 3.96. Pickle Crow was up a few cents.

TORONTO INDUSTRIALS.

TORONTO, Oct. 20 (CP).—Trading tapered off sharply in to-day's short session of the industrial share section of the Toronto Exchange with prices barely steady. Imperial Oil and International Petroleum carried the burden of the turnover, the former at a narrow price advance and Pete as a slight decline.

Receiving no encouragement from the New York market, interlisted stocks were content to hold their ground. Ford "A" achieved a gain of ¼ to 22⅝, Brazilian and C.P.R. closed unchanged, while International Nickel eased down ⅛ to 23⅜. The distillery issues boarded only a few sales, holding at unchanged prices.

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, October 20 (A.P.).—The stock market merely went through the motions to-day without getting anywhere or doing anything in particular. It was one of the dullest sessions in several weeks, transfers approximating only 250,000 shares. Numerous issues were unchanged and the close was barely steady.

Alleged Kidnapper

THOMAS ROBINSON

Said to be a former inmate of Tennessee asylum for insane, Thomas Robinson, 27, is being sought as the man who kidnapped Mrs. Berry Stoll of Louisville, Ky. Mrs. Stoll was returned after ransom of $50,000 had been paid. She is reported as pleading for release of Mrs. Robinson, now in hands of police.

DUTCH LEADING THOSE REPORTED

were MacGregor and Walker of New Zealand, Asjes and Geysendorfer of Holland, Lt. Hansen of Denmark, K. G. Stodard of London, G. J. Melrose of Australia and John Wright and John Polando of the United States.

Forced Down in France

Engine trouble forced R. Parer and G. Hemsworth of British New Guinea down near Boulogne and it was believed they were still held there, but Hewett and Kay, in the same fix, were not delayed very long before they were on their way again in the 12,000-mile chase across half the world.

The majority of the entrants encountered bad weather soon after crossing the Channel. H. L. Brock of London was forced down at Piesss Luzarches, France, and Capt. Neville Stock at Abbeville, France.

The flying Mollisons were among planes not reported for many hours after the take-off, but they were among the few that were essaying long-distance hops and there was no reason to believe they were not proceeding smoothly. They started out for Bucharest, as did Jacqueline Cochran and Westey Smith of the United States. The latter made Bucharest all right, but on landing announced they had withdrawn from the race.

Stack was grounded for some hours at Abbeville before getting into the air at 2.35 p.m., well back of the leaders.

Flying Officer H. D. Gilman reached Marseille at 12.15, but said he had had engine trouble and the tail of his plane showed a split. Another British pair were en route to Marseille from Bourges, where they took off at 10.30 a.m.

Still in the van of those planes which were checking at intermediate points, Parmentier and Moll passed over Athens at 2.15 and headed for Baghdad.

MacGregor and Walker took off from Rome at 3.20 p.m. after a stop of only 25 minutes.

H. L. Brooks of England, forced down at Plessis Luzarches because of bad weather, finally took the air again at 2.15 p.m. for Marseille.

C. J. Melrose, the Australian, landed at Rome at 4.12 p.m. Wright and Polando came in there at 4.40 p.m. and five minutes behind them were the Stodarts.

Meantime Parmentier and Moll in the van returned to Athens an hour and a quarter after their take off, remained for 21 minutes and then took off from Athens.

The other Dutch team, Asjes and Geysendorer, reached Athens at 4.25 p.m. Turner and Pangborn arrived at Athens, first stop since leaving London, just 10 minutes later. These three were ahead of the reported entries.

FOUND MOTORISTS NOT SO GENEROUS

British Grandmother Whose Speciality is 400-Mile Hike, Says Times Have Changed.

LONDON, Oct. 20 (C.P.)—Mrs. "Grannie" McGregor, 76, reached Lewisham from Kilmarnock, Scotland, 400 miles away, after an 18-day walk, with ocasional "lifts." The trip cost her about $6.00.

After staying with a niece since January, Mrs. McGregor felt she would like to be among her old friends in London. She packed a basket and set off by road with some of her pension money in her pocket.

"I just wanted to come, so I walked," she said, smoothing her apron—she was just about to sit down to her Sunday dinner when the reporter called. "Four years ago I walked the same way, but I got to London quicker. People gave me more lifts.

"In those four years the number of cars has increased mightily, and, oh, the dust they make."

ROBINSON SEEN IN FORT ERIE

After seeing newspaper photographs of Robinson Rung rushed to a nearby garage where, he said, an employe told him the man resembling the kidnap suspect called at his shop saying his lights were not working. The employe declared that when he attempted to repair the lights, the man pushed him aside, inserted a new fuse in the light circuit, climbed into the car and sped away in a westerly direction.

BUFFALO, N.Y., Oct. 20.—(AP)—Federal agents established a close watch over the Canadian frontier in this section today after a restaurant employee reported he was positive Thomas H. Robinson Jr., fleeing Louisville, Ky. kidnapper, had eaten there last night.

Hitch-Hiker Given Ride

The report, following that of a hitch-hiker at Kane, Pa., that he was certain he had ridden with Robinson toward Buffalo, sent federal agents and police scurrying to all arteries leading from the city. Guards were placed here and at the border, each automobile that passed being scanned carefully as it passed over international bridges to Fort Erie, Ont., and Niagara Falls, Ont.

Harold Lockwood, counterman at the restaurant, said the man who ate there resembled the description of Robinson "almost exactly."

The man resembling Robinson was reported as travelling in a sedan but its license number was not obtained.

The Weather

TORONTO, Oct. 20.—(C.P.)— A moderate disturbance is passing north-eastward toward Lake Superior and pressure is low over Alberta, also south of the Nova Scotia coast, with high pressure covering Eastern Ontario, Quebec and the far west States. Showers have occurred in the Maritime Provinces and in Southern Manitoba, though in other districts the weather has been fair, cool from the Great Lakes eastward and comparatively mild in the west. There are indications of colder weather extending over the western provinces from the north.

Georgian Bay—Strong south-east to south-west winds, with occasional rain to-night and part of Sunday, then strong west to north-west winds, clearing and becoming colder.

Northern Ontario—Strong shifting winds; unsettled to-night and most of Sunday, with occasional rain and probably local thunderstorms; cooler again Sunday night.

Ottawa and Upper St. Lawrence Valley—Partly cloudy and cool to-day and part of Sunday, probably followed by showers; fresh south-east to south-west winds Sunday.

Home and School Association News

KING EDWARD SCHOOL

Under the auspices of King Edward Home and School Association, an event of much interest took place last night, when Entrance certificates were presented to 31 of the pupils of this class.

Acting as chairman, J. J. Cunningham introduced the numbers on the very fine program. He also paid tribute to the school and staff of teachers for their splendid work.

Inspector Mowat was present and spoke to the children and parents. He compared the wonderful privileges in the school of to-day with that of 25 years ago when King Edward School was opened. There has been progress all along the way in a very material sense. After enumerating the various stages of progress, the greatest, he said, was the school spirit which animates the girls and boys. There is more harmony among them now that at any previous time.

Making the presentations, the Principal, R. J. Bolton, said this was the fifteenth time he has participated in such an occasion. He commended the members of his class for their splendid work throughout the year. He, too, urged that they keep on in gaining knowledge; and wished them, each one, every success in the future. The following is a list of those who won their Entrance to the Collegiate: Alex Ellis, Eileen Sellon, Edith Alexander, Hazel Scriver, Orma Ristow, Marion McAdams, Helen Reader, Ruby Leach, Margaret Arnold, Winnie Cunningham, Kenneth Gillespie, Alma Hogeboom, Gordon Benson, Ethel Cox, Kenneth Self, Elsie Stazicker, James Huggins, Max Sexsmith, Lionel Campbell, Verne Whatley, Earl Berwick, Betty Mackness, Marguerite Lambert, William Lawson, Jack Estlick, Betty Sands, Isadore Fine, Cyril Davis, Doreen Smith, Mildred Henthorne, Roland McWilliams.

Mr. Bolton also presented two medals to the Commander of the Cadet Corps, Cyril Davis, who also won the medal for the best shot.

Miss Eileen Sellen, as veledictorian, gave a splendid resume of school life in King Edward. She paid special tribute to her teachers who had made these years very happy ones to her.

A very pleasing musical program interspersed the addresses, when Miss Elsie Chambers contributed a piano solo and generously responded to the encore. Mr. Haro'd Lee sang very effectively, "Tell Her I Love Her So." Mrs. E. Kitney was the accompanist.

In a few words, Mrs. Snowden, representing the Home and School Association, moved a hearty vote of thanks to Rev. Mr. Paterson, to Mr. Mowat, to the musicians and to Mr. Cunningham, who so ably presided as chairman.

God Save the King concluded the program, and the parents, friends and the graduating class were entertained by the ladies of the association assisted by the teachers of the school. Dainty refreshments were served from a long lace-covered table, decorated with autumn leaves, candles and silver.

LOCAL WOMAN IS BADLY INJURED

Local Car is Ditched Returning From Funeral in Toronto.

BLINDING HEADLIGHTS.

As a result of injuries received in a motor accident between Pickering and Whitby on Highway No. 2, shortly after six o'clock last evening, while returning to this city after attending the funeral of her brother in Toronto, Mrs. James Brooks, 376½ Water Street, was admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital to-day. While he had not completed an X-ray examination of his patient, Dr. D. C. King stated that Mrs. Brooks sustained a fractured right knee cap, a sprained right hand and possible fracture of the ribs.

Mrs. Brooks, accompanied by Miss Margaret McIlvride, was a passenger in a car proceeding from Toronto to Peterborough and driven by William Driver of Charlotte Street. While Mrs. Brooks was the most seriously injured, all three occupants of the car were hurt.

The driver of the car attributed the accident to the blinding headlights of an oncoming car, and to the fact that a large oil truck was parked on a hill as a result of engine trouble.

Mr. Driver related that he had commenced to descend a hill between Pickering and Whitby when he observed an oil truck which had become stalled while proceeding up the hill. There was another car ascending the hill, and as it drew abreast of the oil truck the truck driver stopped the car.

A third vehicle was ahead of Mr. Driver's car going down the hill, and had just managed to get past the other two vehicles which had stopped on the hill, when a fourth car with blinding headlights appeared. Driver said he was blinded by the headlights. He pulled over to his own side as far as he could to avoid a collision, and his car took to the ditch. The car overturned, he said, but not a glass in the car was broken.

REAL BONA FIDE

It measures three feet across the back, and 18 inches in diameter.

It has a fan-shaped tail, two feet long.

Its skin, brownish-black, appears to be very thin and it has a few tufts of hair here and there on its sleek body. Its face suggests that of a horse, but it has no teeth. Fishermen said it ate grass while it lay on the beach.

It comes up to the surface of the pool every now and then, presumably to get a bit of air.

It may not be the British Columbia or Loch Ness monster, ventured out of its usual habitat, but the people hereabouts say they have never seen the like of it before.

A representative from the State museum has been ordered to Dare county to figure out what manner of monster that what-is-it is.

Captain W. J. Tate, keeper of Colnjack lighthouse, says he believes the "monster" may be a trumpeter seal but—well, he admits he doesn't know, but if it is, what would it be doing thousands of miles from home?

Until someone proves it otherwise, the North Carolina coast country has a bonda-fide sea monster.

GOLD BLOC CONFERENCE IS PARTIALLY FAILURE

BRUSSELS, Oct. 20 (AP)—The Gold Bloc Conference which concluded here to-day failed to accomplish all it hoped for in the betterment of trade conditions in existing gold standard nations, but leaders were confident considerable headway had been made.

A report submitted to the commission by an experts' sub committee merely dealt with transport technicalities, tourist traffic and commercial propaganda.

Gold mining in Nicaragua continues to expand.

OFFICER ADMITS TAKING MONEY

SUSPENDED SENTENCE.

BELLEVILLE, October 20. — Charged with extortion, Harry Wickett, County Constable, stationed at Stirling, pleaded guilty to accepting moneys from motorists who had been involved in an accident. When he was araigned before Magistrate Casement in Police Court on Thursday a suspended sentence was meted out in the matter, while the constable was also suspended from service. The charge was laid by the Provincial Police upon receipt of information relating to the offence.

According to the evidence submitted, the officer was called out to investigate a motor accident some miles from his home. Upon arrival at the scene of the accident the constable decided that both persons were equally guilty; and his judgment was upheld by the motorists concerned, who agreed to pay their respective costs in the matter of damage.

The constable then asked the motorists implicated who was going to pay his expenses for investigation, and they agreed to give the officer torists. This, it is claimed, was $3.00, to be paid between the modone . It was following the receipt of information of this by the Provincial Police that the charge was laid.

worth while taking his bed-ridden mother all the way to the farm. He was told to return home as his mother was better. She had regained her health when he reached home, he says.

Material manifestations of the "healer" are not lacking. Hundreds travel to Colverdale daily—from the United States, western and eastern provinces as well as nearby points. Limousines and buggies are side by side by the road, some waiting all night to assure an "appointment."

Crippled children with their mothers, paralyzed aged folk, demented boys and diseased persons await their turn through rain, sunshine and cold. It is an astonishing picture. One at a time they gain the kitchen-living-room where they go through the same "ritual."

"Where are you from? and "how long have you suffered?"—that's all. Sometimes a hand is laid on—sometimes not. Each is warned not to expect immediate cure. No charge is made although some send presents. "Doctor" Love does not appear wealthy, and his wife—a constant aid and companion—says he does not wish worldly possessions.

SERVICE IDEAL IS URGED FOR PAPERS

G. W. James Addresses Teachers' Meeting Held in Bowmanville.

BOWMANVILLE, Oct. 20.—In addressing the teachers of Durham and Northumberland County, in convention here yesterday, George W. James, editor of the Canadian Statesman, in speaking on "The Place of the Community Newspaper," stressed the opinion that a local newspaper to be of influence or successful must have uppermost a genuine joy of service for the betterment of its readers and its constituency. A newspaper whose chief motive is the making of money soon dies, as it lacks the milk of human kindness, as contained in the words: "We shall pass through this world but once; if, therefore, there is any good deed or act of kindness we can do for our fellow-man, let us do it now."

Speaking of the past, the speaker contended that the rural newspapers have been credited with playing no small part in the development and progress of Canada to the status of a nation. As to the future, he believed the weekly press can and will make a tremendous contribution to the resumption of nation building following the world-wide depression.

Miss Mae Fleming of the St. George School for Children, Toronto, stressed the importance of preparing children to meet changes in living, and to accept responsibility for making security in life.

Other speakers included Principal L. W. Dippell, B.A., of Bowmanville High School, who spoke on "Fifth classes, the rural schools problem and our problem."

Ideas regarding geography were advanced by W. H. Jordan, Principal of PPublic Schools, Port Hope. In the afternoon the teachers made a tour of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company plant.

It is expected that the speed event will not take more than four, perhaps three. Favored among the entries are Capt. James and Amy Mollison, England's famous flying couple.

LIBERALS ASSAIL CONTRACT AWARD

Hepburn Ignores Protest and Gives Work to Conservative.

TORONTO, Oct. 20—Bombarded with complaints from within his own party for letting the contract for the new $650,000 Kenora-Fort Frances highway to the Dufferin Construction Company, Premier Hepburn yesterday declared it to be the avowed policy of his government to let all contracts under the tender system and to the lowest tender.

"I intend to adhere to that policy," said he, regardless of political affiliations and if there are any members of my own party who think they can influence me to do otherwise, they are mistaken."

Liberals, he admitted, had complained to him during the day that the Dufferin Construction Company was a "Tory outfit." But, said he, the Dufferin people had put in the lowest tender, and if they did a good job on the highway, as he expected they would, there should be no kick forthcoming.

The new road will be of improved gravel construction, Hon. Peter Heenan, Minister of Northern Development, stated, and will be completed, if possible, within the next year, in order that the district it taps will get the full benefit of the tourist traffic and trade which he believed will follow that completion.

Pioneer Government In Western Ontario

The twenty-second report of the Department of Public Records and Archives, by Colonel Alexander Fraser, LL.D., is just off the press. This year the Department has printed the Minutes of the General Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace for the London District from 1800 to 1818. It is to be regretted that three years of the Minutes from 1809 to 1813, have not been preserved, a fact which once more illustrates the necessity which exists for carefully preserving our important state records. The importance of these minutes to students of Canadian history may be realized when it is seen that the quarter sessions were the smallest unit of municipal government in pioneer Ontario, with the exception of the town meetings which had little real power. The London District in 1800 stretched from the township of Rainham in Haldimand County to Aldborough in Elgin, and from Lake Erie to the Georgian Bay. Thus the early municipal government of a very large part of Ontario, is covered.

kans, the Air Ministry reported fine weather prevailing. But Athens, one of the optional stops, has less favorable news. In Northern Greece the winds were high, with a heavy snowfall.

Winds in Southern France and across Italy were given in the Air Ministry's advices as 20 miles an hour up to 4,000 feet.

Col. Roscoe Turner and Clyde Pangborn in their big transport ship are headed for Athens. Miss Jacqueline Cochran pointed her ship toward Bucharest, and if the weather permits they go to Athens. The Mollisons, Cathcart Jones and C. W. A. Scott were headed for Baghdad. J. D. Hewett was headed for Rome. G. J. Geysendorfer for Leipzig or Rome and all the rest, including John H. Wright and John Polando were winging toward Marseille.

Out of England in 20 Minutes.

The speed craft were out of England in 20 minutes, before a glorious autumn sunrise shone on the handicap entrants who took an hour to reach the southern coastline between the cliffs of Hastings and Dungeness.

In the Channel the planes flashed over steamers which take a month to reach Australia, counting their voyages by weeks instead of hours.

The most forlorn sight in the deserted hangars was the green machine of Colonel Fitzmaurice. He withdrew his machine because he did not want to make changes required of him which would reduce his flying range.

He told the Associated Press he would probably take off to-morrow for Croyden in an attempt to set a record flight to Melbourne.

More hazardous flights have been undertaken, but none over so long a marked route with so many entries and a $50,000 pot of gold for the winner.

Venetian Serenaders Heard In Marmora

(Examiner Correspondence)

MARMORA, Oct. 20.—The Venetian Serenaders of Havelock made their bow to a large audience at the Town Hall, Marmora, on Friday evening as one of the features of St. Andrews Diamond Jubilee week and created a great impression upon their patrons with their capable presentation of vocal and instrumental numbers, monologues tap dancing and gymnastics. The program was given under direction of Ronald Kemp whose versatility is most surprising. In course of the excellent program, he took part in the orchestra as cornet player, sang in the vocal quartette, was one of the group of acrobats and participated in a pianoforte duet. Every number on the program reflected credit upon the aggregation and received great applause.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded the entertainers by G. B. Airhart, seconded by Rev. C. W. Hollingsworth. Refreshments were served to the Serenaders at the close of the program, by the ladies of St. Andrews.

Lakefield Reports Are Read At Meet

(Examiner Correspondence.)

ROSENEATH, Oct. 20. — Mrs. James Webb loaned her home to St. James Women's Auxiliary, on Wednesday afternoon, and was well attended by members and visitors.

The treasurer Mrs. R. B. Nichol reported $2.40 taken in from the travelling suitcase during the busy month of October.

Reports of the Deanery meeting that recently was held in Lakefield were exceedingly interesting. The morning session was given by Mrs. James Timlin, and the afternoon by Mrs. Frank Brown.

On motion by Mrs. Ernest Timlin and Mrs. James Webb, that each member donate one article toward the bale to be sent to the Western relief.

Delicious refreshments were served and a social half hour in chat over the refreshing cup of tea.

A TOUGH GAME

Even if you miss entirely and if your bag contains no more than four grouse at the end of a day's hunting, you can rate yourself as better than good and lucky in the bargain, contends Harold Titus writing in Esquire.

"The grouse is the stalwart of the of the stalwart," writes Titus. "He scorns adaption. He won't shift to new foods and ranges, as the prairie chicken has. He was created for certain of this and certain of that. He sticks to his setting. He's a Spartan. We've narrowed his range, shoved him north, leaving only fragments of habitat to the south and eastward. We pursue him in those isolated patches of covert; predators harry him and disease assails him, probably, until he barely occurs where once he was abundant. He's gone at last, people will tell you, in those places. He used to be there, they'll say, but he's gone. We haven't seen more than one or two for half a decade —and then between seasons, he's back! The remnant has survived and gotten breath and dug in and multiplied. That's defiance. That's character.

BAN ON RELIGION ASKED IN MEXICO

Chamber of Deputies Votes Unanimously to Bar All Catholic Prelates.

EVERY CREED INCLUDED.

MEXICO, D.F., Oct. 20.—(A.P.)—The National (Administration) Party asked to-day to drive high Catholic church officials out of the country.

A plan of action designed to stamp out all opposition to the Revolutionary Government and end the church's influence was prepared by the party for the approval of President Abelardo Rodrigues.

There was no indication whether the plan would be accepted in part or in full by the President, who now is at Tehuacan with General Plutarco Elias Calles, outstanding political figure behind the government.

The plan, approved last night, unanimously by the Chamber of Deputies, includes the following demands:

1—Immediate expulsion from Mexico of all Catholic Archbishops and Bishops, as enemies of the revolution.

2—Immediate closing of the Mexico, D.F., newspapers La Prensa, El Hombre Libre, La Palabra and El Omega and the suppression in the near future of Excelsior and El Universal, leading dailies.

3—Formation of armed assault groups of peasants and workers "to contest the aggression of student and Catholic elements."

4—"Purgation" of government offices of all employees who do not sympathize with the revolution, and appointment of a public "health committee" to determine the revolutionary antecedents of those employes.

Warsaw

A very happy evening was spent at the home of Robert and Miss Sarah Miller on Thursday evening, October 18th, when all of Miss Miller's brothers and sisters and most of the nephews and nieces (three married couples were unable to be present), gathered at her home to celebrate her birthday.

After congratulations, some time was spent in happy family converse, then some of the old time songs were sung, with Miss Olive Cullen as accompanist, then some of the old school games, which created great amusement and into which all entered heartily.

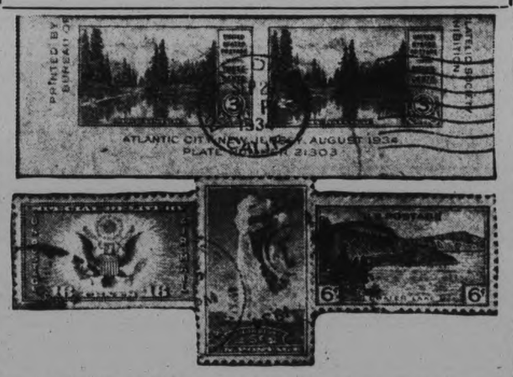
Then supper was served ,the chief feature of which was a rich birthday cake made by Miss Margaret Miller, with its lighted candle represented Miss Miller's years. After all had thoroughly enjoyed the bountiful repast, some impromptu toasts were given, with David Miller as toastmaster. In the toast to the King, Miss Olive Cullen led the National Anthem.

Mrs. David Miller proposed the toast to the guest of the evening, to which Miss Miller gracefully replied. Miss Lena Miller replied to the toast to the one who originated the idea of the evening. After the toasts, speeches were called from and given by Mrs. Thomas Miller and Stephen. Stewart Cullen, Melville Miller and Clarence Staples were also called up. "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow" was sung when all again gathered in the drawing room; a little more converse when Miss Cullen sang, "When I Was a Little Lass" and "Bonnie, Bonnie Scotland."

Those present were Miss Miller and Mr. Robert Miller, Mrs. Thomas Miller, Mrs. Thomas Culler, Miss Margaret Miller, Messrs. Stephen, Stuart, William, David and and wife, and of the younger generation, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Staples, Mr. Stuart and Miss Olive Cullen, Melville Miller, Misses Lena and Verna Miller. Birthday congratulations were received from Mr. and Mrs. Percy Cullen, Toronto. Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Miller, Keen, were expected, also Mr. and Mrs. Maitland Gardner. Had these been present and Mr. Cullen, all the immediate family had gathered together.

STAMP CORNER

By M. A. BESSEY



NEW U.S. STAMPS

Uncle Sam is making stamp collectors dig down in their efforts to keep up with the government printing presses. Not being satisfied with having a new National Parks series issued in the regular perforated manner, two values of the issue have been made up into small imperforate sheets, in honor of Philatelic conventions.

Mount Ranier Imperforates

This is the three-cent denomination of the National Parks series, depicting the famous Mount Ranier, in the background, and Mirror Lake in the foreground. It was first issued on Aug. 3, in the regulation manner, and then in minature sheets of six imperforate stamps, with inscriptions on the sides identifying it as having been issued in honor of the annual convention of the American Philatelic Society, held at Atlantic City, N.J.

Stocks were not sent to postmasters, but the samps were placed on sale a a special post-office, located at the convention, and also at the Philatelic Agency, Washington, D.C.

One-Cent Park Imperforate

The one-cent stamp, depicting a scene in Yosemite Park, has also been issued in miniature sheets, and on such short notice that very few collectors had time to secure their first-day covers, which are in great demand across the border.

This imperforate sheet of six, one-cent stamps was issued in compliment to the trans-Mississippi Philatelic convention at Omaha, Neb. The first day of sale was Oct. 10.

These stamps will doubtless be available at the Philatelic Agency in Washington, DD.C., the same as all others have been.

It would seem that the United States must eventually overdo commemorative stamp issuing. New stamps have been appearing so fast this past few years that not even all adult collectors have been able to keep up with the flood; that is, by completing their collection with first-day covers, blocks, used and mint, and singles, etc. The poor boys and girls struggling along with their odd nickels and dimes are left far behind, with few prospects of ever catching up. The result is discouragement, ending up by losing what might have been an ardent philatelist in adult years. It is hardly conceivable that young collectors of to-day, who are forced to quit in disgust, will take up the hobby again, after a lapse of five or ten years, by which time it will probably cost a young fortune to buy all the stamps and covers appearing during those years.

Stamp collecting in the United States may end up in over-production, a market flooded with stamps, but lacking in buyers. They are at the very height of their philatelic prosperity to-day, but when the present generation of philatelists has passed along, what will happen to all of those thousands of collections, if the younger generation of collectors has been choked off by this over-production of endless new issues.

It would seem that the present policy of the United States government is very short-sighted, philatelically, and disaster is bound to be the outcome sooner or later.

Five-Cent National Parks

16-Cent Special Delivery Air-Mail Stamp

This stamp was first placed on sale at the American Air Mail Society convention, Chicago, Ill. Aug. 30. The color is blue, and the central subject is a reproduction of the Great Seal of the United States of America.

SUITS BRIEFER ON TURKISH BEACH

Former Harem Bound Women using Their Dress Freedom in Bathing Suits.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (C.P.) — "Turkish women in some ways are freer than American women, since the emancipation by Mustapha Kemal Pasha, dictator, and this applies particularly to their dress," said Dr. Cosette Faust-Newton, Texas lecturer, who has received 12 degrees from American universities, and one from the Sorbonne.

The doctor arrived on the Saturnia wearing a complete Turkish costume appropriate in a harem, including the veil which concealed the lower part of her face. Concerning freedom of dress, she said that Turkish women "can go without stockings and at the beaches one sees bathing suits even briefer than worn by smart American women."

MORGAN—LITTLE

WARSAW, Oct. 20 (Examiner Correspondence).—A very pretty but quiet wedding was solemnized at the United Church Parsonage, Warsaw, on Thursday, October 18th, by the Rev. J. W. Wilkinson, when Ada Madeline, elder daughter of David Little, was united in marriage with John Allen Powell Morgan, youngest son of Frederick Morgan. The bridal party entered the drawing room at half-past five o'clock to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, played by Mrs. Wilkinson. The bride looked charming in a gown of white silk organsa, with matching turban, gloves, muffs and shoes, and carried a bouquet of pink roses. The bridesmaid, Beatric Little, sister of the bride, was becomingly attired in a dress of yellow georgette, trimmed with pale blue velvet, and wearing blue hat, gloves and shoes and corsage bouquet of red roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lorn Lonsberry, where a sumptuous wedding dinner was served to twenty-four guests. The dining room was prettily decorated with pink and white streamers and white wedding bells.

After the reception the happy couple left on a motor trip to Niagara Falls and Detroit, and on their return will reside near Warsaw at the Morgan home.

The bride's travelling costume consisted of brown French tweed swagger suit, the blouse of yellow satin with brown, and accesories to match.

The groom's gift to the bride was a handsome wrist watch; to the bridesmaid, a blue leather handbag, and to the groomsman, gold cuff links.

POSSIBLITY OF U.S. AND CHINA SILVER AGREEMENT CHILLS RISE

MARKET UNCERTAIN.

BY ALEX PRINGLE

Canadian Press Financial Writer

TORONTO, Oct. 20. — Canadian stock markets passed another week of wandering in a maze of hopes and uncertainties and growing less robust as the sessions passed. Both industrial and mining shares closed yesterday under the level of a week ago, duplicating faithfully the loss of position on the New York market.

Since the end of the summer holiday season there have been alternating periods of bullish and bearish sentiment with spasmodic buying and selling on a moderate scale but actually prices are lower on Canadian and New York markets now than they were at the end of August. Last week's note of buoyancy on the New York board proved to be lack ing in significance and has been succeeded by a week of narrow declines.

Metal Issues Sag

Of especial concern to Canadian interests has been the sag on the "big board" of metal share listings, the results perhaps, of declines of prices for gold, silver and base metals. The possibility of an agreement between the United State and China providing for an exchange of gold for silver has enough of probability in it to give speculators for the rise a chill and prices have dropped in New York and London. Only buying in the world markets will send the price of silver up and as China is very anxious to prevent a further rise because of the danger of high silver to her export trade, she may be able to persuade the U. S. administration to achieve a 25 percent silver backing for her currency by means of a private deal such as China proposes.

Silvers Drift Lower.

Canadian silver stocks drifted lower under the new uncertainty, but there was no dumping of stocks at sacrifice prices. Eldorado lost 23 cents, and Bear Exploration, White Eagle and Castle Trethewey sagged a few cents each.

Base metal stocks have practically retired to the wings to await better times. The drop in the price of copper to around 6 cents in European markets or within about a cent of the depression low level has been highly discouraging to holders of such copper stocks as Noranda, Hudson Bay, Sherritt-Gordon and Sudbury Basin. Gold production by Noranda and Hudson Bay has kept those issues from nose-diving, though Noranda recorded a loss of $2 this week. Re-opening of the Sherritt-Gordon mine has been pushed still further into the future by the drop in copper.

The big gold stocks all took losses this week ranging up to $2, including Dome, Hollinger, Lake Shore, Bralorne, McIntyre, Teck Hughes, and Wright Hargreaves.

Teck Hughes Probe.

The investigation by the Ontario Securities Commissioner into the decline of Teck Hughes and the alleged short-selling in the week prior to the official announcement of a dividend cut, brought out the fact that directors were heavy sellers of the stock and that this selling was known to others, including brokers. Street reports suggest that an outgrowth of the enquiry may be restrictions of some kind to prevent professional traders from depressing stocks by short-selling or "raiding."

Industrial stocks lost ground narrowly with the interlisted shares leading the decline. Trading continued in heavy volume in the oil shares without effecting any price adjustments of importance. Steel issues made up the only definitely strong group, substantial advances having been recorded for Steel of Canada, Dominion Bridge, Page Hersey and some others.

PRICES HOLD FIRM FARMERS' MARKET

The sunny autumn weather brought one of the largest crowds in weeks to the Farmers' Market this morning. Buying was brisk and prices remained firm throughout the morning without the usual sell-off in the last half hour.

Snow apples were to be had in minor quantities from 20 and 25 cents a small basket. Russets and several other common varieties from local orchards and the lake front retailed around 40 cents a peck. Applemen from the Port Hope and Cobourg district said the crop will be decidedly short on account of the destruction wrought by last winter's cold.

A few tomatoes were available at 25 cents for a 6-quart basket. Greenhouse leaf lettuce sold at 5 cents a bunch and the recently harvested roots in general were plentiful at low prices. Between 60 and 65 cents a bag was being paid for potatoes.

One farmer was doing a fair business in apple cider, offering it at 30 cents a gallon.

In the crowded indoor market, butter ranged from 20 to 23 cents in price and eggs from 32 to 36 cents. With Thanksgiving past, turkeys were scarce but there were plenty of chickens to be had around 18 cents a pound.

BOROTRA DEFEATED

LONNDON, Oct. 20.—(AP)—H. W. (Bunny) Austin, England's Davis Cup player, today defeated Jean Borotra, the French veteran, 6-2, 4-6, 6-0, 6-8, 6-2 in the final match of the Queen's Club indoor tennis tournament.

Andrea del Sarton, a Florentine painter of the high Renaissance, was the greatest colorist of the school.

WINNIPEG WHEAT SHOWS DROP FOLLOWING EXPORT FAILURE

FAVORABLE AUSSIE REPORT

WINNIPEG, Oct. 20.— (C.P.) — Canada's wheat trade, which last week promised to develop into the freest movement in months, failed to come up to expectations this week As a result, wheat futures prices on the Winnipeg grain exchange just before trading started to-day were 2⅝ to 3½ cents lower for the six-day period.

But to offset the disappointing European export situation, the new market now being opened up in the United States promised to bring an increasingly important influence to bear on Canadian wheat prices.

European importers this week appeared to be following a "hand-to-mouth" policy, apparently satisfied with the current movement of wheat in trade channels. Prices here declined steadily, the October future to 77⅛, December 77 ⅝-¾ and May 82 cents. Exports were the smallest in weeks. Though no figures were available, unofficial sources claimed millions of bushels of hard red spring wheat have been shipped to Buffalo for United States' consumption. Canadian Durum wheat is also finding a ready market there. American mills have purchased in the Winnipeg cash-grain market.

Bearish Reports.

The increase in estimates of the Australian wheat crop and generally favorable growing conditions in the Argentine, was construed as bearish. However, wheat exports from these countries this week dropped sharply from those of the previous week, a total decline of 3,000,000 bushels being reported.

Domestic news also took a place in the grain-trade gossip. Crops in the northern areas of the prairie provinces were said to be showing the effect of frost and weathering, much more than was expected. Private crop estimates placed the new crop at 240,000,000 bushels, 25,000,000 under the government estimate.

Alleged Kidnapper

THOMAS ROBINSON

Said to be a former inmate of Tennessee asylum for insane, Thomas Robinson, 27, is being sought as the man who kidnapped Mrs. Berry Stoll of Louisville, Ky. Mrs. Stoll was returned after ransom of $50,000 had been paid. She is reported as pleading for release of Mrs. Robinson, now in hands of police.

were MacGregor and Walker of New Zealand, Asjes and Geysendorfer of Holland, Lt. Hansen of Denmark, K. G. Stodard of London, G. J. Melrose of Australia and John Wright and John Polando of the United States.

Forced Down in France

Engine trouble forced R. Parer and G. Hemsworth of British New Guinea down near Boulogne and it was believed they were still held there, but Hewett and Kay, in the same fix, were not delayed very long before they were on their way again in the 12,000-mile chase across half the world.

The majority of the entrants encountered bad weather soon after crossing the Channel. H. L. Brock of London was forced down at Plesss Luzarches, France, and Capt. Neville Stock at Abbeville, France.

The flying Mollisons were among planes not reported for many hours after the take-off, but they were among the few that were essaying long-distance hops and there was no reason to believe they were not proceeding smoothly. They started out for Bucharest, as did Jacqueline Cochran and Westey Smith of the United States. The latter made Bucharest all right, but on landing announced they had withdrawn from the race.

Stack was grounded for some hours at Abbeville before getting into the air at 2.35 p.m., well back of the leaders.

Flying Officer H. D. Gilman reached Marseille at 12.15, but said he had had engine trouble and the tail of his plane showed a split. Another British pair were en route to Marseille from Bourges, where they took off at 10.30 a.m.

Still in the van of those planes which were checking at intermediate points, Parmentier and Moll passed over Athens at 2.15 and headed for Baghdad.

MacGregor and Walker took off from Rome at 3.20 p.m. after a stop of only 25 minutes.

H. L. Brooks of England, forced down at Plessis Luzarches because of bad weather, finally took the air again at 2.15 p.m. for Marseille.

C. J. Melrose, the Australian, landed at Rome at 4.12 p.m. Wright and Polando came in there at 4.40 p.m. and five minutes behind them were the Stodarts.

Meantime Parmentier and Moll in the van returned to Athens an hour and a quarter after their take off, remained for 21 minutes and then took off from Athens.

The other Dutch team, Asjes and Geysendorer, reached Athens at 4.25 p.m. Turner and Pangborn arrived at Athens, first stop since leaving London, just 10 minutes later. These three were ahead of the reported entries.

FOUND MOTORISTS NOT SO GENEROUS

British Grandmother Whose Speciality is 400-Mile Hike, Says Times Have Changed.

LONDON, Oct. 20 (C.P.)—Mrs. "Grannie" McGregor, 76, reached Lewisham from Kilmarnock, Scotland, 400 miles away, after an 18-day walk, with ocasional "lifts." The trip cost her about $6.00.

After staying with a niece since January, Mrs. McGregor felt she would like to be among her old friends in London. She packed a basket and set off by road with some of her pension money in her pocket.

"I just wanted to come, so I walked," she said, smoothing her apron—she was just about to sit down to her Sunday dinner when the reporter called. "Four years ago I walked the same way, but I got to London quicker. People gave me more lifts.

"In those four years the number of cars has increased mightily, and, oh, the dust they make."

Market Closing On All Exchanges

TORONTO MINING

TORONTO, Oct. 20. (CP). —The mining section of the Toronto Stock Exchange concluded the week with a thoroughly sluggish session Four of the low-priced gold issues supplied the bulk of the business. Three of them, Siscoe, God's Lake and Manitoba and Eastern were firm to strong while heavy selling appeared in Read Authier on a price drop of 12 cents to 91.

Volume leadership went to Manitoba and Eastern which pushed up 3½ cents to 30. In the Senior group Hollinger sagged further to 20.15, Wright Hargreaves lost 10 cents while Dome was up 50 and Teck Hughes 3 cents to 3.96. Pickle Crow was up a few cents.

TORONTO INDUSTRIALS.

TORONTO, Oct. 20 (CP).—Trading tapered off sharply in to-day's short session of the industrial share section of the Toronto Exchange with prices barely steady. Imperial Oil and International Petroleum carried the burden of the turnover, the former at a narrow price advance and Pete as a slight decline.

Receoving no encouragement from the New York market, interlisted stocks were content to hold their ground. Ford "A" achieved a gain of ¼ to 22⅞, Brazilian and C.P.R. closed unchanged, while International Nickel eased down ⅛ to 23⅞. The distillery issues boarded only a few sales, holding at uncharged prices.

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, October 20 (A.P.).—The stock market merely went through the motions to-day without getting anywhere or doing anything in particular. It was one of the dullest sessions in several weeks, transfers approximating only 250,000 shares. Numerous issues were unchanged and the close was barely steady.

After seeing newspaper photographs of Robinson Rung rushed to a nearby garage where, he said, an employe told him the man resembling the kidnap suspect called at his shop saying his lights were not working. The employe declared that when he attempted to repair the lights, the man pushed him aside, inserted a new fuse in the light circuit, climbed into the car and sped away in a westerly direction.

BUFFALO, N.Y., Oct. 20.—(AP)—Federal agents established a close watch over the Canadian frontier in this section today after a restaurant employee reported he was positive Thomas H. Robinson Jr., fleeing Louisville, Ky. kidnapper, had eaten there last night.

Hitch-Hiker Given Ride

The report, following that of a hitch-hiker at Kane, Pa., that he was certain he had ridden with Robinson toward Buffalo, sent federal agents and police scurrying to all arteries leading from the city Guards were placed here and at the border, each automobile that passed being scanned carefully as it passed over international bridges to Fort Erie, Ont., and Niagara Falls, Ont.

Harold Lockwood, counterman at the restaurant, said the man who ate there resembled the description of Robinson "almost exactly."

The man resembling Robinson was reported as travelling in a sedan but its license number was not obtained.

TORONTO, Oct. 20.—(C.P.)— A moderate disturbance is passing north-eastward toward Lake Superior and pressure is low over Alberta, also south of the Nova Scotia coast, with high pressure covering Eastern Ontario, Quebec and the far west States. Showers have occurred in the Maritime Provinces and in Southern Manitoba, though in other districts the weather has been fair, cool from the Great Lakes eastward and comparatively mild in the west. There are indications of colder weather extending over the western provinces from the north.

Georgian Bay—Strong south-east to south-west winds, with occasional rain to-night and part of Sunday, then strong west to north-west winds, clearing and becoming colder.

Northern Ontario—Strong shifting winds; unsettled to-night and most of Sunday, with occasional rain and probably local thunderstorms; cooler again Sunday night.

Home and School Association News

KING EDWARD SCHOOL

Under the auspices of King Edward Home and School Association, an event of much interest took place last night, when Entrance certificates were presented to 31 of the pupils of this class.

Acting as chairman, J. J. Cunningham introduced the numbers on the very fine program. He also paid tribute to the school and staff of teachers for their splendid work.

Inspector Mowat was present and spoke to the children and parents. He compared the wonderful privileges in the school of to-day with that of 25 years ago when King Edward School was opened. There has been progress all along the way in a very material sense. After enumerating the various stages of progress, the greatest, he said, was the school spirit which animates the girls and boys. There is more harmony among them now that at any previous time.

Making the presentations, the Principal, R. J. Bolton, said this was the fifteenth time he has participated in such an occasion. He commended the members of his class for their splendid work throughout the year. He, too, urged that they keep on in gaining knowledge; and wished them, each one, every success in the future. The following is a list of those who won their Entrance to the Collegiate: Alex Ellis, Eileen Sellon, Edith Alexander, Hazel Scriver, Orma Ristow, Marion McAdams, Helen Reader, Ruby Leach, Margaret Arnold, Winnie Cunningham, Kenneth Gillespie, Alma Hogeboom, Gordon Benson, Ethel Cox, Kenneth Self, Elsie Stazicker, James Huggins, Max Sexsmith, Lionel Campbell, Verne Whatley, Earl Berwick, Betty Mackness, Marguerite Lambert, William Lawson, Jack Estlick, Betty Sands, Isadore Fine, Cyril Davis, Doreen Smith, Mildred Henthorne, Roland McWilliams.

Mr. Bolton also presented two medals to the Commander of the Cadet Corps, Cyril Davis, who also won the medal for the best shot.

Miss Eileen Sellen, as veledictorian, gave a splendid resume of school life in King Edward. She paid special tribute to her teachers who had made these years very happy ones to her.

A very pleasing musical program interspersed the addresses, when Miss Elsie Chambers contributed a piano solo and generously responded to the encore. Mr. Harold Lee sang very effectively, "Tell Her I Love Her So." Mrs. E. Kitney was the accompanist.

In a few words, Mrs. Snowden, representing the Home and School Association, moved a hearty vote of thanks to Rev. Mr. Paterson, to Mr. Mowat to the musicians and to Mr. Cunningham, who so ably presided as chairman.

God Save the King concluded the program, and the parents, friends and the graduating class were entertained by the ladies of the association assisted by the teachers of the school. Dainty refreshments were served from a long lace-covered table, decorated with autumn leaves, candles and silver.

LOCAL WOMAN IS BADLY INJURED

Local Car is Ditched Returning From Funeral in Toronto.

BLINDING HEADLIGHTS.

As a result of injuries received in a motor accident between Pickering and Whitby on Highway No. 2, shortly after six o'clock last evening, while returning to this city after attending the funeral of her brother in Toronto, Mrs. James Brooks, 376½ Water Street, was admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital to-day. While he had not completed an X-ray examination of his patient, Dr. D. C. King stated that Mrs. Brooks sustained a fractured right knee cap, a sprained right hand and possible fracture of the ribs.

Mrs. Brooks, accompanied by Miss Margaret McIlvride, was a passenger in a car proceeding from Toronto to Peterborough and driven by William Driver of Charlotte Street. While Mrs. Brooks was the most seriously injured, all three occupants of the car were hurt.

The driver of the car attributed the accident to the blinding headlights of an oncoming car, and to the fact that a large oil truck was parked on a hill as a result of engine trouble.

Mr. Driver related that he had commenced to descend a hill between Pickering and Whitby when he observed an oil truck which had become stalled while proceeding up the hill. There was another car ascending the hill, and as it drew abreast of the oil truck the truck driver stopped the car.

A third vehicle was ahead of Mr. Driver's car going down the hill, and had just managed to get past the other two vehicles which had stopped on the hill, when a fourth car with blinding headlights appeared. Driver said he was blinded by the headlights. He pulled over to his own side as far as he could to avoid a collision, and his car took to the ditch. The car overturned, he said, but not a glass in the car was broken.

REAL BONA FIDE

It measures three feet across the back, and 18 inches in diameter.

It has a fan-shaped tail, two feet long.

Its skin, brownish-black, appears to be very thin and it has a few tufts of hair here and there on its sleek body. Its face suggests that of a horse, but it has no teeth. Fishermen said it ate grass while it lay on the beach.

It comes up to the surface of the pool every now and then, presumably to get a bit of air.

It may not be the British Columbia or Loch Ness monster, ventured out of its usual habitat, but the people hereabouts say they have never seen the like of it before.

A representative from the State museum has been ordered to Dare county to figure out what manner of monster that what-is-it is.

Captain W. J. Tate, keeper of Coinjack lighthouse, says he believes the "monster" may be a trumpeter seal but—well, he admits he doesn't know, but if it is, what would it be doing thousands of miles from home?

Until someone proves it otherwise, the North Carolina coast country has a bonda-fide sea monster.

GOLD BLOC CONFERENCE IS PARTIALLY FAILURE

BRUSSELS, Oct. 20 (AP)—The Gold Bloc Conference which concluded here to-day failed to accomplish all it hoped for in the betterment of trade conditions in existing gold standard nations, but leaders were confident considerable headway had been made.

A report submitted to the commission by an experts' sub committee merely dealt with transport technicalities, tourist traffic and commercial propaganda.

Gold mining in Nicaragua continues to expand.

TYCOONS ARE WAGING SECRET WAR IN STRUGGLE FOR OIL SUPREMACY

International Struggle is Seen as Menace to World Peace.

RUSSIA THREATENS

By Central Press Canadian

Kingdoms are made and broken for it; premiers and presidents, dictators and dynasties are serfs to it; men are but puppets in the secret war for black gold.

Gold? Man's search for the yellow kind fades into insignificance when the spotlight is turned on the war being waged behind the scenes for black gold—oil!

The struggle for world supremacy in oil parallels the insidious machinations of munition makers. The arms trusts have their Zaharoffs, Schneiders, De Wendels and Vickers; the oil industry has its Deterding, its Rockefeller, its Mellon, Sinclair and Doheny.

The astounding story of oil is revealed in a new book, "The Secret War" by F. C. Hanighen, co-author of "Merchants of Death" in which the dealings of arms-makers was exposed. The Examiner secured advance proofs of "The Secret War" (The John Day Co.) which is being released this week.

The whole amazing struggle for oil, from how England secured concession rights to vast Persian fields through its secret service agents, to the recognition of Russia by the United States partially through the influence of the Standard Oil Company is told by Mr. Hanighen. Canadian references are but lightly touched upon.

"The secret war for oil is no ordinary trade war," quotes the author. "It is the most perfect manifestation of the clash economic imperialism. Inherent in it are the self-destroying qualities of capitalism—raised to the ninth degree. Deterding and Rockefeller, powerful titans of perhaps the most important industry in the world, are nevertheless powerless puppets drawn by strings of the acquisitive system. Will this system be modified in time to prevent world catastrophe?

Spies Win Concessions

Chief figure in the oil industry is Sir Henri Deterding, son of a Dutch sea-captain, who started life as a bank clerk. To-day he is managing director of Royal Dutch Shell, a British company which has, according to Mr. Hanighen, the largest oil holdings in the world. Next in importance comes John D. Rockefeller, life-long enemy of Deterding, founder of the Standard Oil companies of the United States.

Others vitally concerned are the British and Soviet governments.

It was the British government and an Australian engineer who actually started the battle, says Mr. Hanighen.

William Knox D'Arcy was an Australian engineer, a religious fanatic who was nevertheless firm in his conviction that there was oil to be found in Persia.

He devoted his life to finding it but it was not until late in life that he succeeded. By this time he had formed a strong friendship with the Persian ruler and when the oil was discovered obtained from the Shah a 60 year concession to about five sixths of the country.

Britain, uninterested before, and Rockefeller, attempted to buy from D'Arcy the valuable document. He refused to sell for any figure. He was old and had no use for money.

Spy Gets Document

D'Arcy took a trip to the United States. On board ship he remained aloof from the passengers. So did a priest. The two became friendly and D'Arcy, the religious fanatic, unfolded his story to the sympathetic listener. Mr. Hanighen then relates how the priest prevailed upon D'Arcy to donate his document to the church so that missionaries would be enabled to go into Persia, a thing they had hitherto been unable to do. D'Arcy complied and the priest went home with the document.

But the priest's home was the British Intelligence office in London. His real name was Sydney Reilly.

Meanwhile, Sir Henri Deterding was entering the scene. Becoming interested in the Dutch Oil company, Deterding's rise to control was swift. Their holdings, however, were in the Far East, and Deterding aspired to greater markets. In England a Whitechapel Jew by name and Marcus Samuel was in the shipping business, sending sea-shells to the Far East.

A merger was effected. Dutch oil was shipped to Europe in Samuel's ships. The company became known as Royal Dutch Shell, and Rockefeller, hitherto scornful, was forced to recognize a mighty enemy. Deterding seemed to outwit the American tycoon at every step, his consolidation of a shipping service gave him a tremendous advantage over his American rival.

Then came the oil boom in Mexico. It was another American, Edward L. Doheny, who started it, but it took the combined efforts of the United States, British and Mexican governments to finish.

Presidents and bandit leaders were financed by the oil companies. When one company succeeded in setting up its own government, the other would finance a revolution; all for the purpose of obtaining concessions to Mexican oil fields. The battle became so bitter, that the United States nearly went to war with Mexico—in fact, declares Mr. Hanighen, they even went so far as to attack and take Vera Cruz.

Famous Kellogg Note

Apparently the American companies were getting the worst of it. But finally the famous Kellogg note from the U.S.A. to Mexico, a note which made Britain gasp, resulted eventually in the withdrawal of Deterding and thunder over Mexico was stilled. The oil war was transferred to South America.

Here the picture is similar to the Mexican scene. First secret agents would appear; government officials would be bribed and concessions gained. Then the opposition would start its counter attack and a revolution or a change of government would result and concessions would be cancelled.

But the secret war in South America had far more dangerous possibilities. Britain, writes Mr. Hanighen, wanted to build her own canal to the Pacific ocean through Colombia. She nearly succeeded through her secret agents. But the United States was able to block the plan at the last minute. Britain has since turned to purchasing concessions along the Panama Canal zone for the avowed purpose of prospecting for gold, though geologists claim there is little gold in the district. Britain has also secured, through Royal Dutch, Curacao, a Dutch Island off the coast of Venezuela where Deterding's oil is supplied to ships passing through the Panama canal, thus cutting off a valuable source of revenue for American companies and holding a strategic point in case of war. It is a Dutch possession, but owned by British oil interests.

Russia Threatens

On another front, Deterding carried the war right to Rockefeller's doorstep. Geologists declared that oil in the United States would one day dry up. It is not a substance that can be called upon indefinitely. So Deterding, rather than use up his own supplies, used up those in the United States.

Whereas Standard Oil had bucked against Theodore Roosevelt and the anti-trust law and been reorganized by it, Deterding did everything in a perfectly legal manner. He even arranged it so that American money would be invested in his companies. Rockefeller did everything in his power, according to Hanighen, to block Deterding without success. Especially when Deterding sold U.S. to the Japanese navy.

Now a new threat entered the picture—Russia. Before the revolution, Russian oil was scarcely touched. But the big interests realized that there were vast quantities there and it was after the revolution that Deterding and Standard, believing that the Soviet regime could not last, bought up every available concession. They were, to be plain, left holding the bag. The Soviet did not fall; even British, American and French armies, sent, Hanighen charges, at the behest of such interests as oil, could not dislodge them.

The Soviet, unsuccessful in their dealings with these interests, entered into open competition with them, particularly against Deterding who hated them most and who lost heavily in the fight. Standard who had once been responsible for blocking U.S. recognition of Russia, now became more interested when Russia formed an alliance with her against Deterding. As a result new propaganda found its way into the American press, and Russia was recognized by the United States, the thing Stalin had been striving for.

Mr. Hanighen points out that oil was even an immediate cause of the World War; that Col. Lawrence, by his own admission, gave up archaeology to protect Britain's oil interests in the Near East; that Primo de Rivera was dislodged, and Spain sent into tottering chaos as a direct result of her being exploited by the oil interests; that Calles, Mexican radical president, was converted to conservation by oil money; that Russia and Japan are haggling over oil wells in the Far East; that Persian oil fields are owned by the British Intelligence office, a self-supporting organization.

In short, the author sees in oil a substance which may be at the root of the next war, just as coal and iron were at the root of the last. He sees in Sir Henri Deterding a man of more influence than

American And British Interests After Oil Supremacy

John D. Rockfeller, Sr. Sir Henry Detering

The international struggle for oil is seen by author F. C. Hanighen as a menace to world peace in his new book, "The Secret war." Chief oil tycoons are Sir Henri Detering, managing director of Royal Dutch Shell, a British company, and John D. Rockfeller, founder of the Standard Oil companies of the United States. Mr. Rockfeller probably maintains little power in the affairs of Standard now, though Sir Henri is reported still active. Map shows locations of world's principal oil supplies. THE BOOK CORNER

On the title-page of this book appears the following quotation: "Life can only be understood backwards but it must be lived forwards." Thus it is that W. R. Burnett tells the story of Bill Meadows' adventurous life, backwards, as it were. The book opens in 1929, when we find the old man in his second childhood and the members of his household waiting for his death. And they are all somewhat relieved when it comes. Now this decrepit old man, with his old-fashioned ideas and his dominating manner, will no longer overshadow them. They will have their own lives now and no longer just be Bill Meadows' son, or grandson, or daughter-in-law. However, it was entirely due to the resourcefulness and hard work of the same Bill Meadows that the family owed its distinction.

And then the author goes on to give us a series of short periods in his life. There is the scene in which he is forced to abdicate as head of his business in favor of his son. There is the scene in the prime of his life when he mixed a bit of gambling and horse-racing with his other activities. Then, further back, we find him in the realization that his wife is too "respectable," and that have little in either taste or interest that is common. Still another fifteen years younger sees Bill Meadows back in his home town fresh from the West. Finding no welcome there because his air of bravado and his crudeness are not appreciated by the natives, he is eager to go West again. But circumstances combine to change his mind. Finally we have the picture of the young man in the West fighting Indians, bad men, and striking it rich at a silver camp.

In bold, simple prose the author has here a review of American development from 1870 to 1929. Bill Meadows was an individualist—a man who lived according to his own lights—who opposed conventionality and respectability for their own sakes and was thus in the eyes of his son and grandson considered rough and crude. The individualism of the nineties and the early 1900's had died out both in business and in social life.

We feel that W. R. Burnett has written an outstanding novel of American life.

We Accept with Pleasure, Bernard De Voto (Little, Brown & Co., Boston), 471 pages.

Here is a story of post-war America which we must confess we found hard to enjoy. Nevertheless, we hesitate to condemn it to all readers. It is written in a style which some people might call brilliant, concise and witty, but which others will consider jerky, unintelligible and annoying.

The book is intended to show a cross-section of life among the younger leaders in different activities. Of five Harvard graduates, four are thrown together again in 1927—the fifth and most promising having died eight years previously. They have not all been successful in every way, yet all have accepted their ways of life and their experiences up until this time with a certain resignation. During the period of a year and a half covered in the book there is a complete rearrangement of their lives. Decisions are made, old relationships are broken and new ones made. Readjustments are made on the realization that sometimes mistakes are made and the past must be repudiated. There is throughout the book much that concerns the less beautiful and one might almost say the cruder things of life in which seems scarcely necessary even to paint a picture of post-war America.

"We Accept with Pleasure" appears to be a more or less American counterpart to Aldous Huxley's book of the same period in England.

Typhoon Reported To Have Struck Phillipine Islands

At the mercy of the "worst typhoon in years," Manila, Philippine Islands, was reported to lie helplessly in the path of the storm. As water inundated the city, and cut off all communications, cable reports in the early stages of the storm to the outside world did not state whether deaths had occurred, and no estimates of the possible damage could be given. PLENTY 'HOT STUFF' PROMISED BY STEVENS' ROYAL COMMISSION

WANT GASOLINE PROBE.

This is the second of a series of two articles on the forthcoming session of the Stevens price probe commission.

By WILFRID EGGLESTON
Central Press Canadian Staff Writer

Ottawa, Oct. 20.—"You ain't heard nothing yet!"

Such is a colloquial summing up of the broad hints which those who are in touch with the work of the Stevens royal commission inquiring into Canada's "sweat-shops" and other economic injustices manage to convey when they are asked about the sessions which are scheduled to begin about the end of this month.

Investigators have been busy all summer and early fall, auditors, accountants, trained economists, a small army of them going up and down Canada, gathering together the facts which will be revealed to the public when Hon. Harry Stevens resumes the sittings of his commission.

Why fish landed at the docks nets the fisherman a cent a pound and costs the householder 20 cents a few days later; why farm implements went up when wheat went down; how much the workers in Canada's textile mills get, and how long hours they work; the real "low down" on the mass buying of Canada's chain stores; the spread between the price a farmer gets for a basket of tomatoes and the cost of canned tomatoes, with a few sidelights on what the people who work in the canning factories receive: these are some of the lines which the paid investigators of the Stevens commission have been following.

Of course, they can't come out and tell the scandalous details yet, but one hears at the capital that there will be plenty of "hot stuff."

Letters by the Hundreds.

If it approaches the sensational nature of some of the tobacco and needle-trades evidence spilled last spring before the parliamentary committee, it will again blow the lid off things, and hold the centre of the federal stage again.

Almost overnight he became a kind of national hero. People with grievances began to write in by the hundreds. Many confirmed his grave charges about industry. They supplied him with new facts and new suspicions. They congratulated him by the hundreds.

These floods of letters still pour in. People want this investigated and that. Everything from the Pacific scandal to the price of razor blades. Some of the letters which reach Mr. Stevens are the obvious product of cranks. But everything which offers to throw any light on conditions, or which makes charges of sweat shop or slavery conditions is passed along to the commission for investigation.

Clamor for Gasoline Probe.

Two demands have been made repeatedly. The public wants the price of coal investigated. Also they want to know why gasoline costs so much. So far the commission has had to resist these demands. They already have more than they can hope to clean up by the time the next session starts.

But the clamor for probes into gas and coal prices continue. In the end the pressure may be so great the inquiry will have to be enlarged.

It has been enlarged twice now. The creation of the royal commission saw the extension of it to the subjects named above: farm implements, fish, canning of fruits and vegetables, and so forth.

But there was no mention of textiles. And textiles are a subject which scores of people were sure should be investigated.

In the long run they prevailed. The commission had demurred on the ground that the industry was too large to be adequately investigated in the time available. But the public was not to be denied some kind of inquiry into textiles. And they are getting it. Not a full dress affair like the one which was conducted into Canada's large department stores. After all, there are 175 textiles establishments in Canada. To investigate them all would cost a small fortune. But something at least is to be done.

Three experts in economics have been drafted from the department of external affairs for the work of the Stevens commission. L. B. Pearson, formerly of the University of Toronto, and one of the brightest minds in the civil service, is the secretary. Two professors were brought in from outside points. A skilled indexer was brought up to Ottawa for the occasion.

Reports Being Prepared.

This "Brain Trust" has been busy for weeks with the 4,000 pages of evidence and the several bushels of exhibits, sifting, analyzing, organizing, recommending. They have boiled down two things:

1. What the committee found out last spring.
2. The possible remedies.

The eleven members of parliament who are on the royal commission are being supplied with copies of the "Brain Trust's" confidential report. They are expected to have clarified their ideas on the subject during the recess, and to be ready to write a prescription for the economic ailments disclosed last session.

It would be a lot simpler for them to write their report if there wasn't a general election around the corner.

There are powerful factions on both sides. Big business is annoyed at some of the things Mr. Stevens has said, and at the way in which parts of the inquiry have been conducted. The famous "Stevens" pamphlet was banned and destroyed with the result that nearly every Canadian was exposed to a copy or more of it. The famous "scene" which was to have rocked Ottawa when Mr. Stevens and the prime minister again came face to face collapsed when Mr. Bennett went to Europe. The Stevens inquiry was tried out in the little general election in Ontario on Sept. 24, but it seems to have been a dud.

Australia has shipped more than 500,000 tons of butter to England this season.

Secretary Of Probe

L. B. Pearson

Drafted from Ottawa's department of external affairs, L. B. Pearson, formerly professor of economics at University of Toronto, took over the secretaryship of the "Brain trust" of the Stevens commission. Professors Curtis and Bladen also acted as "brain trusters."

YEAR PRODUCED RECORD SEARCH FOR ROCK GOLD

Estimated 18,000 Prospectors Tried Luck in Various Parts of Canada.

PLANES GREAT ASSET

By R. K. CARNEGIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Oct. 20 (C.P.)—A season that brought what is believed to have been the greatest hunt for gold in Canada's history is drawing to a close. No figures are available to show the exact number of prospectors and assistants who struggled through often inhospitable country, but a careful approximation indicates a total of about 18,000.

Increased prices for the yellow metal spurred prospectors' activity. An added factor was extensive use of the aeroplane which provided access to new districts and revealed existence of still more. Aerial photography, it is said, has revolutionized the metal-mining industry.

Pictures taken from speeding aeroplanes tell experts much. The topographical survey of the Department of the interior produced 40,000 aerial photographs during the summer. From these, most of them taken in Northern Manitoba, Athabaska, Great Bear and Great Slave regions and in the Nahanni district near the Yukon boundary, maps are being developed.

Planes of the Royal Canadian Air Force carrying aerial surveyors made flights over the famous Long Lac district in Northwestern Ontario. Some flights were made in other provinces. Much of the aerial photography this year was designed to help seekers of gold.

Luck, prospectors and geologists say, is still the most important factor in the hunt for gold and less valuable metals. Once a tree was blown down. Its roots tore up the surrounding soil and bared what developed to be one of the richest veins ever discovered in Canada. Last summer a prospector stopped on the shore of a lake because a high wind endangered his canoe. While he waited for the storm to abate he discovered what is regarded as one of the most important finds of the year. Such incidents are said to make prospectors superstitious.

Aerial photography has removed some of the chance from prospecting. It tells the field man what rocks contain no gold and the territory where the soil, or what miners call "overburdened," is too deep for them to find workable veins even if they did exist. They help him concentrate his effort where it is most likely to succeed.

Pictures show granite formations in which metals are seldom found and on the other hand indicate geological "faults" and great fractures where profitable mineralization is more probable.

Stereoscopes placed over the pictures show the valleys and hills in relief. After discovery of a vein a study of the pictures helps in development as it shows the contour of the country and indicates the best route for a road and most advanteous location for a mill.

In the fyles of the topographical survey 600,000 negatives are kept and a sufficient number of prints are available to prevent any possible shortage.

GRAND JURY CALLED.

By RICHARD RENDELL

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 19.—(A. P.)—Legal battle lines were drawn to-day as the United States' Government moved swiftly to punish those involved in the kidnapping of Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll.

While Federal agents hunted Thomas H. Robinson, Jr., as the actual abductor, his wife, Mrs. Frances Althauser Robinson, and his father, Thomas H. Robinson, Sr., were accused of taking part in the crime, an accusation both denied.

Both said they had been of service to officers in effecting release of the wealthy society matron whose family paid $50,000 to end her six days' captivity.

Mrs. Robinson was held in jail here in default of $50,000 bond. The elder Robinson was at liberty in $25,000 bond at Nashville.

Grand Jury to Meet.

United States' District Attorney Thomas J. Sparks assembled evidence for presentation to a Federal Grand Jury which will be empanelled by Judge Charles I. Dawson to-morrow.

Sparks predicted indictments would be returned quickly. Previously he announced the death penalty would be demaided for young Robinson in the event of his capture.

Clem W. Huggins, counsel for Mrs. Robinson, indicated her defense would be the contention that she was ignorant of the crime until the day before Mrs. Stoll's release.

Huggins, a veteran criminal lawyer, said Mrs. Robinson refused to flee with her husband and share the ransom despite his insistence. He explained $500 of the ransom money found in Mrs. Robinson's possession had been given her for "expense" in getting back to Louisville.

POLITICIAN STALKED TO HOME AND SLAIN AS WIFE LOOKS ON

"Big Mike" Walsh of Chicago's South Side, Shot Down By Ex-Convict.

GANG FEUD BLAMED.

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.— Stalked to his home by an ex-convict, Michael C. ("Big Mike") Walsh, one time deputy coroner and minor South Side politician, was slain yesterday evening in the presence of his wife.

His confessed murderer was Jay Breen, 37, released from the state prison only five weeks ago.

Slayer Captured

Breen was captured by Stock Yards police in a basement, where he had hidden after killing Walsh at his home. He had followed Walsh home from the City Hall, where he is employed in the city water pipe extension department.

The killing, according to Supervising Captain John Prendergast and Capt. Thos. Duffy, is an event in a bitter feud growing out of a fight over division of the spoils of a bandit gang.

Last New Year's Eve, Michael Regan, 29, a gambler, and nephew of Walsh, whose name he used as an alias, was slain. Matthew Breen, a brother of the ex-convict, was named as the slayer of Regan and Walsh has relentlessly pushed the search for his nephew's murderer.

Mathew Breen has never been apprehended but Albert Ciha, another petty gambler, was convicted and sentenced to 99 years imprisonment.

Regan's murder was attributed by police to a fight between the bandits who held up the Beverly Gardens in Evergreen Park a few night previous.

Walsh Terror-Stricken

Gaining admittance to the Walsh home a few moments after Walsh entered last night, Breen produced a gun. Walsh screamed:

"My God—You have got the wrong man."

The gunman opened fire with the reply:

"No, I haven't."

Breen readily confessed at the Stock Yards police station and gave police a rambling and a times incoherent explanation. It was also said that Walsh had been deputy coroner at the inquest fifteen years ago in which Breen was held for murder.

Fenella

Under the auspices of the Fenella Women's Institute the Warkworth United church will present their play 'Wild Ginger' in the Community Hall on Friday evening, October 26.

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Syle Curtis on Thursday with a goodly number of members and visitors present.

There was an exhibition of homemade work aprons and the judges appointed were Mrs. A. Murphy, Mrs. H. Hutchinson and Mrs. Geo. Harvey. Mrs. James Waldie won the first prize and Mrs. W. H. Sandercock. The patterns were very useful and attractive designs. The roll call was answered by "What I First Remember and When".

The November meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Roy Cowling with Mrs. John Cowling and Mrs. Roy Eaglesen as program leaders. A reading "What Is She to Gain" was given by Mrs. M. Adams; a paper "History of Thanksgiving was read by Mrs. Harrison George; reading "Something to Do" by Mrs. Ruth McFiggin; solo "It's not the House that Makes the Home" by Miss Donna Lonsberry, reading "Jean at the Institute and Sandy at home grumbling" by Mrs. W. H. Sandercock.

During the judging of the aprons community singing was indulged in. Mrs. George Montgomery tendered a hearty vote of thanks to the hostess. The meeting closed with the National Anthem and a dainty lunch was served.

Miss Francis Lonsberry was a recent visitor at the home of Miss Bernice Murphy.

Humane Report

Inspector Johnston reports a busy month in September; there are many cases of influenza among dogs and cats as well as other animals.

He would appreciate telephone messages, informing him of trouble, being sent in as early in the day as possible. So many calls at the close of the day when it is more difficult to give careful service.

A warning is given to motorists who are willfully careless about avoiding animals; seven dogs and one cat have been killed in the last two weeks by this class of drivers and owners of valuable dogs are in a hostile attitude. Guilty drivers will be dealt with by the proper authorities. The Inspector's report for the month is as follows:

Horses examined	130
Horses humanely destroyed	1
Dogs brought to shelter	10
Dogs humanely destroyed	7
Dogs placed in homes	1

Cats humanely destroyed	34

Employers Cutting Wages Of Pensioners Denounced By Adjustment Officer

WINDSOR, Ont., Oct. 20 (CP)—Richard Hale of Ottawa, Dominion Adjustment Officer of the Canadian Legion, British Empire Service League, in an address here denounced employers who attempted to reduce the wages of their employees drawing war pensions.

"There used to be an idea the pensions were a handout," said Mr. Hale. "It is not. It is a compensation for some loss of the will or ability to do something. At the same time no amount of money in the world can compensate a man for the loss of a function or a member."

The speaker pleaded for stronger financial support. The truth is, he said, we will have to have more money if we are to continue to function, for the Dominion Command's treasury was "very much empty."

Expressing pleasure at being among a group of veterans, Mr. Hale said in his work at Ottawa, he felt as though he was one man fighting against an army of unknown strength.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of Mrs. A. Doyle, who died Oct. 19, 1931:
What is home without you, Mother?
What are all the joys we meet
When your loving smile no longer
Greets the coming of our feet?
You were very true and patient
Through the years you struggled on.
And those dear hands now resting
Made a home that now is gone.
No length of time, no lapse of years
Can dim our Mother's past;
For treasured memories hold her dear
And will, while memory lasts.

TRANSIENTS HELD VAGRACY CHARGES

Police Are to Investigate Their Possible Connection With Robbery Attempts.

Arrested in the vicinity of National Grocers Limited shortly after police had discovered that an attempt had been made to break into the premises of that company around midnight, Howard Bergeron and James Kirk, transients, to-day pleaded guilty to vagrancy charges and were remanded in custody. The attempted break-in at National Grocers premises is linked by police with a further effort that was made shortly after eleven o'clock last night to force an entry to Lynch's Drug Store.

Investigation was being pursued by city police into the two cases, it is learned, when the two transients were questioned and were unable to give a satisfactory account of themselves.

Bergeron is stated to have remarked in reply to police questioning that he had no use for "cops." This morning he told Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., that he had come here from Cornwall. The other youth was in possession of a passport indicating that he was from Glasgow, Scotland.

DUFFUS JUDGED THREE MATCHES

ONE HUNDRED ENTRIES.

J. J. Duffus returned home from Ottawa last night after judging three plowing matches in the Eastern Townships, at Seeley's Bay, South Mountain and Pendleton.

"They take the plowing matches more seriously down there than we do in Peterborough County, winding them up with banquets," Mr. Duffus said. "There were nearly one hundred entries at Pendleton, and the dinner that night was held in a large room over the cheese factory. When they were reading out the results many of the men crowded toward the centre of the room to hear the list of names, and we felt a little lurch in the floor. An iron supporting post had warped and fell out. The assembly was advised to leave the room carefully, and they did so without any confusion, and the rest of the program including an address by Hon. Paul Leduce, Minister of Mines, was given from an exterior platform. It seemed to me very fortunate that a serious accident was avoided. Hon. Mr. Stewart of the Federal Government was the speaker at Seeley's Bay, and Dr. Grisdale at South Mountain."

GAY COMEDY IS ABLY PRESENTED

Stewart Hall Young People Present Play in Mark Street Hall.

PLENTY OF COMEDY.

"Her Step-Husband", a gay comedy in three acts, was presented last evening by the Young People's Society of Stewart Hall, Otonabee, in the Sunday School hall of Mark Street United Church, under auspices of the Women's Association, before a very appreciative and good-sized audience.

It was one of the snappiest and best-acted amateur plays seen here in some time and the young people and their directress, Miss Gertrude Thompson, deserve a great deal of credit for the excellence of the presentation.

An element in the success of the performance was the real interest of the dialogue, which was so spontaneous and natural as to bring delighted and surprised laughter from the listeners, right through to the end of the third act. This was particularly the case in connection with the maid and the pseudo butler, and the scenes in which they appeared scintillated with unconsciously funny remarks. They contributed much to the fun of the evening.

The story, located in the present time and in the dining-room of Harvey Marshall's bungalow at Crestdale, a suburb of New York, takes place all within the space of three hours in one evening.

It hinges about the efforts of Mary Marshall, an incurable romanticist, to live up to a fictional success and wealth created by her self through letters to a girl "back home" in California, who has married an old suitor, while she eloped with the man of her choice But, wishing to impress the other woman, she writes back a lot of falsehoods about her manner of life, so, when her aunt, who has never forgiven her for the elopement, comes East, Mary induces her husband, Harvey, to play the part of the butler who is supposed to be a part of their luxurious menage.

Plenty of Comedy

Harvey, a good-natured husband who is bewildered by his wife's 'high-hat' ideas, agrees finally, and the comedy of errors progresses. It becomes necessary later to produce a husband to take the place of the real one who is playing butler and another mystification arises. The various complications roll up like the proverbial snowball, once started, and the plot thickens to a finale, with plenty of entertainment provided by an ex-convict, a friendly cop, and the aforesaid maid and butler, to say nothing of several other characters.

The young people of the cast did nobly, displaying an un-selfconscious and expressive rendition of the roles that kept the attention of the listeners right to the final curtain. Their acting was exceptionally fine in every instance, and the play itself was far above the average, in point of presentation and natural interest. It was a most entertaining performance from start to finish.

The cast was as follows: Richard Stewart, as Harvey P. Marshall, Mary's permanent husband; Stewart Dawson, as Dr. Gerald Niles, her husband pro tem; Ernie Thompson, as Limpy Lannigan, an ex-convict; Walter Thorn, as Officer Shea, an affable cop; Miss Margaret Chambers, as Mary Marshall, an incurable romanticist; Miss Vera Trimble, as Sylvia Allen, Mary's friend; Miss Marion Patterson, as Miss Emily Paisley, Mary's aunt; Miss Muriel Hall, as Florence Ainslee, Mary's cousin, and Miss Marjory Collins, as Stella, the maid.

An effective introduction of the members of the cast was made by the chairman, the Rev. C. D. Daniel, who introduced each in turn, as they passed across the stage, prior to the commencement of the performance.

During intermissions, Albert Lee sang, accompanied by Harold Kitney, and a piano duett was rendered by Gertrude Lancashire and Craig Eason.

The South-End Group (Ladies' Aid Society) of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church surpassed itself on Thursday evening—the pie social sponsored by these ladies was a fine success; and a pleasing feature was the varied musical program. The Sunday School Hall was gay with harvest and Hallowe'en decorations; small tables, each with an orange candle, centrepiece, and serviettes, were pretty, with a home-like atmosphere pervading. Mr. Hurrell Dodds was an efficient chairman for the program and announced the following artists in order: Mrs. L. Mitchell, vocal solo; duet, Miss Isabel Mackay and Master Don. Mackay; solo by Miss Jessie Pattison; Policemen's Chorus ("Pirates of Penzance"), by Men of St. Paul's, under Chief George East. An operetta, "The Lost Kitten" (by urgent request) was staged by the Misses Phyllis Coleman and Marion Irvin, as the curtain; Miss Mary Sedgewick as King, Miss Emma Lou Chenhall as Queen, Miss Ivy James as Princess, Miss Lily Kay as Prince, Miss Isabel Mackay as The Kitten. This was delightfully and cleverly produced. A guitar solo by Miss Marion Harris was well received. Another sketch was "The Cruise of the Silly Ann," a nautical stunt with a motley captain and crew on the verge of mutiny on the high seas between Lakefield and Chemong, averted only by a "thunderstorm" affecting the courage of the sailors. The stage had the appearance of a "ship," with mast and wheelhouse, and nautical songs and choruses were a worthy part of this display, with solos by Mr. John Fowler and Mr. George East. The Sunday School Orchestra added greatly to the enjoyment by playing several selections, showing marked progress in the past months. At the piano during the musical performance was Mr. Martin B. Chenhall, A.R.C.O., who had arranged the program. A parade of fancy costumes was held (following the service of pie and coffee by the ladies), and the judges, Miss Walker (the church deaconess) and Mr. R. J. Goring, took some time to decide the most original winners, as follows: Miss Betty Jack, fancy; Miss Isabel Mackay, comic; James McMillan, fancy. George Hall, comic; Jean Fowler, Anne Wooter and Ferguson Barr as consolations, and "Amos and Andy" as blackface comics. Also in the parade were Northern Ontario's "quintuplets"—Misses Jessie Pattison, Anne Young, Mary Sedgewick, Emma Lou Chenhall, and Mrs. W. Young, with long white carrying dresses and white sun bonnets. The proverbial "all-day sucker" was the prize awarded to each "child," as they displayed their names and weights on cards. Votes of thanks to all who helped to make the evening enjoyable were proposed by Mrs. A. D. McLeish—and with this prime figure in the group of ladies of the South-End were associated: Mrs. Kay, Mrs. Young, Mrs. Crowe, Mrs. McKenzie Mrs. Jackson, Mrs. Melrose, Mrs. Ada Craig (in charge of refreshments), Mrs. Broadley, Mrs. Mackness, Mrs. Pearson, Mrs. Wilson, Misses Mina Waldie, Anne Young Mackness, Cox, McKenzie, Crowe, Fowler, May and Elsie Lachlan, Jackson, Betty Jack, and Mrs. Cox. Messrs. A. D. McLeish and John Gillespie acted as joint-treasurers.

Mrs. Brooks, who is in St. Joseph's Hospital for an X-Ray examination, was returning from Toronto after attending the funeral of her brother, the late Mr. Mark Black, war veteran and former resident of Peterborough.

A very pleasant formal opening of the new Ladies' Parlor at Trinity United Church was an event of yesterday afternoon, with many ladies in attendance at the tea which signalized the opening. The handsome parlor, which was described fully some time ago, made a commodious and cosy setting for the pretty tea. Soft brown tones predominate, with narrow wood panelling of the cream walls, and brown wood in the tables and chairs, as well as the two large chests of drawers which flank the electric grate and the ivory mantel. A thickly plied carpet is of unique type, with interwoven blocks in tile pattern and shades of blue, rose and beige predominating. A chesterfield is backed by a handsome large Chinese screen in black and gold, and a piano stands in another corner. The door and window glasses are curtained softly in cream and there are pretty rose-shaded lamps on the chests of drawers. Over the mantlepiece hangs a lovely picture entitled "Cloudy June", depicting quiet horses at a watering-trough. The whole effect is extremely artistic and quietly luxurious. The arrangements yesterday were in charge of the two units of the October and February leaders, Mrs. James Juby and Mrs. H. Tanney, with Miss Mabel Clarry as general convenor. The guests were received by the president of the association, Mrs. F. C. Neal, and Mrs. F. M. Wootton, and were ushered by Mrs. J. A. Wolstenholm. Tea was poured by Mrs. Robert Neill and Mrs. A. Parker, assisted by Mrs. H. S. Martin, Mrs. H. Tanney, Mrs. C. Lowes, Miss Tena Mathers and Miss Leone Walsh. The table was exquisitely arranged with a cloth of cutwork and filet lace and an entire service in silver. A large silver bowl was filled with glowing zinnias in the red, russet and tangerine shades of Autumn, and four tall crimson tapers were lighted in silver candlesticks. In a smaller table was placed a bowl of green glass on a pale yellow square, also filled with zinnias and flanked by red candles in brass holders. A very effective touch to the floral decorations was afforded by some beautiful large tall chrysanthemums in shades of mauve, yellow and red, growing in their own pots and placed about the room. Large ferns and palms added to the decorative ensemble. During the tea hour, soft music was played by Mrs. H. V. Dobson. Mrs. A. Fife was treasurer.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

Knowing when to call on a sick person is important as well as how to act when visiting one. The habit of calling up a house frequently where there is sickness in order to be kept informed of the patient's condition is scarcely accounted a kindnesss by the family, although they realize that true friendship is the reason for it. The ringing of the telephone bell may arouse the patient who is having a light sleep, or who may be in a restful state, and then comes the natural desire to know who called, and what information is being given out.

* * * * * * *

In homes of small living quarters, it is almost impossible to prevent a sick person from hearing whatever is said over the phone. Illness makes persons keenly aware of caution in voices, and the attempt to couch information in evasive terms is exasperating to hear. It is easy to believe in the worst construction when one is sick, and nerves are taxed, as every one's are during low vitality. A wise method to pursue in keeping acquainted with the condition of a sick friend, is to have one person in a group of friends get the information by calling or telephoning, and then let others know. This will relieve the family from continual telephone calls, which are time-consuming, when every moment has its special requirement in the household.

* * * * * * *

There is a desire immediately to call at the home of a person after learning of sickness, and there is a feeling that neglect may be attributed without some expression of kindly inteerst. An early call on the family certainly is not amiss. After that one has to be guided by the situation as it presents itself, plus that wonderful sense, intuition. Flowers can always be sent and be appreciated by the sick person if he or she is able to have them in the room. Certain invalid's foods will be welcome also. But the sender should first find out what the sick person can eat.

* * * * * * *

It is when an illness is prolonged, or when a crisis is past, that outside interest flags, and it is then that it is most needed and appreciated. A call of good cheer when one is housed, does a sick person good. Bits of pleasant information give an invalid or a convalescent something to think about apart from the daily routine of living. Telephone messages now are glady taken since the sick person likes to know friends are keeping her in mind, even though they cannot call. Notes are delighted in. But most of all calls are cherished as they form a link between the convalescent and the outside world of happenings among friends and acquaintances.

* * * * * * *

It is necessary for the caller to cull the right things to tell from her storehouse of knowledge of events among mutual acquaintances so that reactions will be pleasant and restorative tot he patient. Also in world news, mentions only such items as will be enlivening.

AT THE CAPITOL.

GEORGE ARLISS IN "THE LAST GENTLEMAN."

Admirers of this grand old man of the screen will revel in all the well-known Arliss tricks of facial twist and inflection of voice. For the shadow of the great actor never grows less.

This feature represents him on his last legs, as it were, for the old Cabot Barr (pronounced in the English manner, with a hard t) is well over eighty years. And that gives the listener the feeling that Arliss himself is approaching the age limit, so keen is his art.

The theme of the story centers about the last days of the old man and his relatives, gathered at his behest to hold a memorial service for one of the family who has gone to China as a missionary, "although she hated the Chinese," and died in the East.

Edna May Oliver, Janet Beecher, Charlotte Henry (the Alice-in-Wonderland girl), Ralph Morgan, Edward Ellis and Frank Albertson, all add to the interest of the casting.

A trick ending, with the departed coming back by way of a modern device, is a surprise finish to the picture, which is scheduled by 'Liberty's' faithful recorder as costing about $400,000. The same veracious chronicler says of Arliss that he always wears a monocle and always carries a spare; practices "humane vegetarianism," never eating anything he can pat ("you can't pat a fish"); wears higher heels to appear taller, and likes American slang.

"The film's props called for seventy-four antique clocks in running order; two stuffed peacocks, and an 1870 walking stick. The clocks almost ruined the film with tickings until 'buttered'."—Jeanette.

do you know the benefits of homogenized milk?

HOMOGENIZED MILK is simply that extra-rich, pure Silverwood's Safe Milk put through an important process called Homogenization.

This process consists of forcing the milk through fine openings under a pressure of 3,500 pounds, in order to break up the butter-fat particles and blend them evenly with the milk so that there will be no separation of the cream in the bottle.

The result is that the formation of a cream-line is prevented. The milk remains uniformly rich from top to bottom. The last drop is as good as the first. There is no "blue milk".

We are calling this carefully-processed product Silverwood's Homo Milk. You will find it

More palatable,
Easier to digest—

It assures to every member of the family—especially children—the precious butter-fat and the Vitamins that go with it.

It is rich enough for your tea, coffee and cereal (without leaving poor milk for other uses).

Try this newly improved product. We guarantee it to contain more than the Government requirement of butter-fat. Get it from any Silverwood wagon-salesman or phone to our dairy.

HAYMAN CONFIDENT.

Expected Mountain City Tigers Will Unblanket New Centre Star.

(By Raymond Collett, Central Press Sports Writer.)

TORONTO, Oct. 20.—The outstanding Canadian grid battle of the 1934 rugby season is slated for Varsity Stadium, Toronto, this afternoon when the league-leading Hamilton Tigers come snarling into town seeking the scalps of Lew Hayman's champion Argonauts.

Undefeated this season, though held to a tie last Saturday in their home bailiwick by Montreal—and fleet Gordie Perry—the Striped Cats promise to provide a rugby dish in their Sculler mauling that will equal any of the historic grid battles these teams have staged through previous seasons.

The scrap should be a battle royal from start to finish and looks like the tit-bit of the week-end. It's a "natural," a "lulu," a "croocial" meeting in the light of championship aspirations, in addition to renewing the inter-team strife kept up for years between the Bengals and the Scullers. A win for Hamilton will place them firmly in the driver's seat with a stranglehold on first place to take into the latter stages of the league race should Montreal lose and will keep them in a top filght tie in any event. Argos, on the other hand, must win to keep in the thick of things, and they are going to be out there fighting as though the championship actually is at stake—and for them it may be.

Ottawa in Trouble

What Montreal will do to Ottawa is problematical. In any case, the Rough Rider case is about hopeless as far as the title struggle goes, yet the Capital City squad might still throw a wrench in many another wheel. Internal dissension, which wrecked the Rough Riders last season, is again reported rife. Curt Schearer, star American import, has gone back to Detroit astensibly for a visit—but stellar grid men don't usually stage their visits in midseason. The Ottawa high command would like to sign Lorne Johnson, forward passer extraordinary, to fill the Schearer gap, but if they do, trouble may again break out. Teddy Reeve has already intimated that if permission to play Johnson is granted Ottawa, he should get the right to draft players—he says "from Colgate and Fordham" to fill any breaches left in the Queen's Intercollegiate ranks by the fraternity row sweeping the Kingston campus.

Hamilton Newcomer

The team which takes to-day's Toronto struggle is headed directly for the championship. Either Hamilton—they should have had a win Saturday—or Argos, if they win, will be favorites to squelch the Montrealers, Perry and Welch notwithstanding. Either are stronger all the way along.

Coach Johnny Ferraro is reported ready to toss the most sensational newcomer yet to hit Canadian ranks into the balances against Hayman's Scullers. The stranger is a centre—name Brock. Brock is an American, an old Cornell sidekick of the playing Tiger coach, and is reputed to be the greatest centre in modern American grid circles. He is reported to be the only man ever to outplay Chuck Bernard of Michigan, last year's unanimous choice for all-American centre, and at Penn he was a wow. Brock played a stellar part in holding the flying Montrealers at bay last week, and against Argos he might be the deciding factor.

JOHNNY FERRARO

Argos Showing Better

Frank Turville, veteran Bengal booter and a former Argo star, is back in his best form and Tigertown feels that if the battle develops into a kicking duel they have the edge over Hayman's Abbie Box, but something like the old power-house that once was the Striped Cat attack is the most gladdening sign of all to Hamilton fans. When Ferraro hits 'em, they stay hit, and the way Boley Jeffers was laying into the line last Saturday augurs a tough ride for the Toronto crew.

Lew Hayman, however, can face the struggle with much greater optimism than before that 12 to 1 win over Ottawa. His plays are clicking and his team working with the same zest and co-ordination that carried them through to the Dominion title last season. Teddy Morris and Tommy Burns are ripping into the line in old-time style; Taylor, Box and the American signal caller, "Square" Clark, were scampering around the Ottawa ends last Saturday with reckless abandon. Their passing attack is smooth and effective and Captain Box's hoofing is strong and dangerous.

Probable Champs

Several of the champs were admittedly off color for the season opener, but the smiles returned to Hayman's face when he watched his charges against the Rough Riders. On the other hand, Hamiltonians claim their Big Cats are just hitting their stride, that to-day they will tear things to pieces, that Saturday's game was theirs easily on the play. Some even criticize Ferraro for trying for major scores instead of kicking for points, but this American johnny knows his grid tricks. A win over the Tiger arch-enemies to-day will just about make him the Hamilton hero.

Anyway it goes, Varsity stadium promises to furnish a merry old battle to what will be probably the largest crowd of the season, and, when it's all over, the granstanders will probably see the next Dominion champions on top end of the score.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

INSIDE THE PADDOCK

BY ART MURRAY

WHEN TODAY'S card at Dufferin is run off the curtain will drop on the 1934 Canadian racing season. It opened last May 6th at Windsor when Abe Orpen staged an early seven day meeting at his Kenilworth track. While it was not as good a season as back in the hey days of 1924 to 1930 it was a very good season nevertheless and when the provincial government decided to cut off the daily tax there is no reason why each track should not have at least broken even. There was on exception though, as the early meeting, which we referred to above, at Windsor cost Mr. Orpen thirty thousand dollars, but his Dufferin and Long Branch meetings will probably take care of that and then some.

It is quite a co-incidence that a few days after our article on old Care Free to hear that he has been destroyed. He was sure one grand race horse. The present Dufferin meeting is still enjoying their midsummer brand of weather and if it still holds out for today there should be a crowd at Little Saratoga that will long be remembered. Practically all the Canadian reds will immediately be unwound and go into winter quarters for a long and much needed rest.

THE OTHERS will work their way south and don't be a bit surprised in a week or two to pick up a paper and see where a certain maverick you have been following, has won a race at Laurel or Narragansett, and paid off in box car figures. There will be lots of activity around Dufferin Park for a few months yet, as the trotters perform there on week-ends and holidays until after the first of the year.

Fair Billy is down at Laurel and showing lovely form in his recent workouts. It won't be long now until he crashes the winner's circle. Worthington is also there and he is a distance performer of more than ordinary ability, and he will grab off one of those long distance events just as sure as we will have an odd snowstorm, this coming winter. Over at Narragansett we find Boocap all dressed up and ready to go. This one is a lot better than given credit for and will pay a real price before very long. It has long been a custom for the fans at Dufferin to bet on the last horse in the last race, on the last day of the season. So watch today's entries for who carries Number 8 in the closing race, and see for yourselves how good their hunch is.

ST. HELEN'S ATTEMPTS TO EVEN STICK SERIES

VANCOUVER, Oct. 20. (CP) — Orillia Terriers and Vancouver St. Helens take the battlefield again to-night in the second game of their scheduled five-game exhibition box lacrosse series.

After holding the lead throughout the first half, St. Helens bowed to the Ontario aggregation 14-13 in a hard fought first game here and to-night's game is expected to be another closely contested affair.

Terriers, Canadian champions and victors over New Westminster Salmonbellies in the title series, were out to repeat their record in winning the title by giving St. Helens three straight setbacks. The series is decided when one team counts three wins.

Inside Sportin' Dope—By A. Wise Cracker

Mister Sporting Eidtor:

Well, Mac, they ain't much to dish out to the customers this week, but a little 2nd-hand rugby dope, and the news in that field ain't so bright, seeing as how, old-timer, we had 3 teams in action last Sat. and the whole gang took it on the chin.

The double-header here, Mac, was a nice afternoon's entertainment for the fans, for even if we didn't grab either decision both our teams was in the running until the final whistle, and, in fact, the Brooks-Carson outfit, otherwise the intermediates, was out in front with less than a minute to go, and you can't get much closer to a win than that, Mac. In other words, we had the old ball game in the bag, but we forgot to tie the bag.

Our Collegiate seniors bumped into Lindsay in the 1st game of the afternoon and got a tough brake early in the doing when their Mister Campbell, safety man, came from nowhere on the run to grab a P.C.I. pass on Lindsay's side of midfield and gallop all the way for a touchdown. That was margin enough to give the visitors a win, and for the balance of the game play was about even. In fact, our talent was in position a coupla times toward the end of the proceedings to put over a major score, but they had tough luck in the clutches and was finally beat 7 to 1.

The 2nd game saw Belleville and Peterborough intermediates in a battle that was tougher than a 9o'clock rush on a chain store bargain counter. The ambulance corps worked overtime, with the honors about even, and the game gave the fans plenty of thrill. It sure was a hard 1 to dro p after the local lads, by a great march in the final quarter, had carried the old pigskin right up the field and planted her behind the Belleville line for a well-earned touchdown. That score looked like a sure win for the home talent, but just when the final whistle was about to be blew along comes a blocked kick, the Belleville gang got the loose ball, and this here now Mister Tarzan Rigby bulleted over the line to tie the score. It was all up to the educated toe of Mister Blaker, and when he booted 1 square between the uprights the gang from the Quinte town had a 1 point lead and a win. The teams play down in Belleville to-day. Anyway here's hoping.

The cash and carry hockey teams has begun training, Mac, and there is the usual pre-season bunk about contracts, holdouts and such, but the little misunderstandings will all get ironed out the next week or 2. Locally the 15th of October didn't bring us no influx of hockey stars, although they're a few birds in town since last winter that ain't exactly strangers to the game. If only 1 of them turns out to know what it's all about, we'll be anyway that much to the good.

Well, it ain't you or me, so what

Sportfully yours,

A. WISE CRACKER.

VARSITY HOLDS SECOND PLACE INTERCOLLEGIATE TRACK MEET

Red and White Athletes Earn Margin of 54 Points Over Toronto.

SIX RECORDS BROKEN.

MONTREAL, Oct. 20 (C.P.).—Intercollegiate records toppled right and left here yesterday as McGill University's track and field team repulsed determined efforts of University of Toronto and Queen's athletes to dislodge them as kings of the college track and field world. McGill, with an aggregate of 54 points, for the fifth consecutive year captured the championship. Toronto was second with 48 points, and Queen's University of Kingston finished third with a total of 33 points.

Cold weather threatened to mar the thirty-first annual intercollegiate meet, but the winter temperature had the athletes scurrying about so vigorously to keep warm that six records fell before them.

Bob Westheuser of Toronto upset the discus throw mark with a heave of 126 feet 7¼ inches. The old mark of 122 feet 3 3-6 inches was set by Gordie Meiklejohn of McGill last year. Abe Zvonkin of Queen's and H. C. Morgan of McGill finished second and third behind Westheuser.

Worrall Outstanding.

Jim Worrall of McGill, member of the team Canada sent to the British Empire Games at London last summer, was one of the outstanding individual performers of the day. He smashed two records to establish himself as lord of the intercollegiate hurdlers. His time of 13 3-10 seconds for the 120-yard high hurdles broke the intercollegiate record of 15 4-5 seconds, set in 1928 by Charlie Drew of McGill, set up a new Canadian native record, and was within 1-10 second of the Canadian open mark. He breezed in first in the 220-yard low hurdles in 25 1-10 seconds to shatter another intercollegiate record of 25 4-5 seconds, set in 1926 by J. Blemer of McGill. He took third place in the high jump, failed to place in the running broad jump, but ran a victorious anchor tap for McGill in the 1-mile relay.

Bill Fritz, Queen's smart sprinter and another member of Canada's British Empire Games team, was another "iron man," and won his sprints handily. Fritz won the century in 10 3-10, and smashed a 33-year-old record in the quarter-mile. His time of 50 2-10 seconds was 1-5 second better than the mark set by J. D. Morrow of McGill in 1901. Fritz just nosed out Phil Edwards, Canadian Olympic star, to win. He also won the 220 yards handily. No official time was taken for this event, since the officials in charge laid the course 20 yards too short. The Tricolor ace was also running for his team in the one-mile relay.

Abe Zvonkin, middle wing on Queen's senior football team, set up a new record for the shot-put with a toss of 39 feet 8½ inches, upsetting the mark of 39 feet 2⅝ inches set last year by Gordie Meiklejohn of McGill, who was third yesterday behind A. Munroe of Toronto in second place.

Ross Roach After Detroit Goalie Job

DETROIT, October 20 (C.P.). —By Wednesday it will be definitely known whether Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey League will have a new goalie. Manager Jack Adams, in making the announcement, did not disclose the identity of the man he is seeking, but signs point to Dave Kerr of Montreal Maroons. If he does come, he will have the veteran John Ross Roach, Port Perry poultryman, to contend with before he get the job.

Walsh Berth Shelved As Canine Club Coach

WINDSOR, Oct. 20 (C.P.)—Although it has been definitely decided that Windsor Bulldogs of the International Hockey League will affiliate with the Montreal Maroons of the National circuit, choice of a Windsor coach remains in abeyance.

Manager John Chick of the Windsor team announced arrangements had been completed with Tommy Gorman of the Maroons, whereby the latter team will send players here for this season.

Gorman's suggestion that "Flat" Walsh, former National League goalie be appointed coach, has been temporarily shelved, due to Walsh's failure to accept terms offered him by the Windsor club.

Manager Chick said he has more than a dozen applications for the position and expects to make a decision shortly. George "Buck" Boucher, Ottawa Senators' coach last season, is one of the applicants.

HAWK FORWARD LIKELY PILOT HOMETOWN CLUB

Chabot Must Pay $50 for Each Day He Remains Away From Training Camp.

JOLIAT DISSATISFIED.

Dave Kerr, Maroon's Premier Holdout, Comes to Terms With Gorman.

(By The Canadian Press)

Chicago Black Hawks won the world's championship last spring and they are finding out now how much players who brought the title to the Illinois city for the first time consider that feat worth in cash.

In Paul Thompson and Lorne Chabot Hawks have the peskiest holdouts so far turned up in the training season and other cubs are eagerly awarding them the holdout championship to link up with their world title.

Thompson, a great factor in the drive that brought Hawks the Stanley Cup, has decided to back the Calgary entry in the Northwestern Hockey League and may stay in the foothills to manage the club if Hawks don't come around to his way of thinking.

Chabot was advised yesterday that he will be fined $50 for each day he remains away from training camp. "That's all right with me," the tall net guardian responded, "I'll play with Hawks when they meet my terms. Otherwise I'll remain right here in Toronto."

Chabot was a holdout last year when he turned down the offer Toronto Leafs made him and expressed an intention to continue selling milk for the rest of his life. Canadiens met his figure when he was traded to them for George Hainsworth and he claims he is asking only the same salary he got from Canucks.

Aurel Joliat, midget left winger of Montreal Canadiens, is reported to have expressed dissatisfaction with the contract offered him—a one-year affair as are most of those being handed out by National Hockey League clubs this year.

Leo Dandurand, Canadiens manager, believes he will have little difficulty coming to terms with Joliat, who has had little contract difficulty with the Habitants in a long association with them and in the meantime the Ottawa Swiss is practicing with the team at Saint John, N.B.

There last night Canadiens brought the new penalty shot in practice for the first time in a practice game. Roger Jenkins tried the free shot but failed to score, Goalie Morris Gauthier blocking his effort.

Dave Kerr, Maroon's premier holdout came to terms yesterday, leaving Manager Tommy Gorman little or no worry along that line. As soon as he can complete arrangements to send Flat Walsh to Windsor and have the Bulldogs agree to a salary for him, the blonde Ottawan will be able to take his crew to their Winnipeg training grounds with a free mind.

Where Was McLarnin Born?

BELFAST, Oct. 19 (AP)—Jimmy McLarnin's inability or disinclination to decide whether he was born in Dublin or Belfast to-day threatened another civil war between embattled residents of the two Irish cities.

The Dublin papers first claimed the world welterweight boxing champion as a native son. Belfast countered with the assertion he was born there.

Jimmy himself is a bit vague about the matter. In Dublin, he thought perhaps he was born in Dublin. To-day in Belfast he decided he probably was born here.

Jimmy has not yet met the relatives who may be able to straighten him out on the matter. . . . . .

Belfast citizens say they'll put up a plaque to commemorate the event if Jimmy's birthplace is found here.

There's almost as much argument in Canada and the United States over McLarnin's "home city" as there is in Ireland over his birthplace.

California claims him as a resident of Los Angleses, and he became a naturalized United States citizen in California, where he boxed for years.. However, his family resides in Vancouver, B.C.; he has a home there himself, and is engaged. to marry a girl in that city.

McGILL CAPTURES TEAM NET HONORS

Are Represented in Each Final —Varsity is in Second Position.

MONTREAL, Oct. 20—(CP)—McGill University yesterday retained the team championship of the 1934 Intercollegiate tennis tournament, regardless of the result in singles and doubles finals tomorrow. The Red Men qualified Bob Murray, provincial champion, for the singles against George Leclerc of Ottawa, playing for Universite de Montreal, and also entered Murray and Rock Robertson in the doubles final, against H. Crowson and K. Black, University of Toronto.

Point standing tonight of the five institutions entered was: McGill 10, Toronto Varsity 6, U. of M. 5, Queen's 4 and Royal Military College 1. A point is given for each victory with two points for finals.

Two strong players fell before Murray's racquet in today's quarter and semi-finals. Syd. Hermant, Toronto, collapsed into a 6—0, 6—0 score, while Edwin Connolly, Queen's made a much better showing at 6—0, 7—5. Leclerc's path to the final was past W. O'Brien, McGill, 6—1, 6—3, and Fabre Surveyer, McGill, 6—3, 6—1.

In the doubles quarter-finals W. Piggott and Allan Eaton, of University of Toronto, were too strong for G. Casgrain and J. Dessaulles, U. of M., 6—4, 0—6, 7—5, but the Toronto youths fell before Murray and Robertson in the semi-final round, 6—1, 10—8. Crowson and Black defeated Connolly and C. Findlay, Queen's, —64, 9—7, in the semi-final match after having had a bye in the previous round.

SPRINGFIELD OUT CAN.-AM. LEAGUE

Rangers Will Not Have Farm Club in Mass. City This Season.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Oct. 20. — (AP) — The hope that this city would have a team this Winter in the Canadian-American Hockey League was blasted when Col. John S. Hammond, president of New York's National League Rangers, announced he had decided to to place a farm club here. Col. Hammond's message read as follows:

"I have just been in touch with Lester Patrick, coach of the New York Rangers, and he advises me that the time is too short to secure a contending team for Springfield this season."

Springfield dropped out of the Canadian-American the middle of last Winter, leaving Quebec, Boston, Providence, Philadelphia and New Haven to finish out the schedule. Those five clubs are to operate again this Winter.

Fordham-St. Mary's Struggle Will Bring Together Teams From Across Country.

GOOD PAY-OFF DAY.

(By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr. Associated Press Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (AP)—If the Weather Man continues to play his part a lot of United States colleges will be able to pay of fan instalment or two to-night on those expensive stadia they built back in the 20's.

A program of big games, featuring attractive intersectional contests, seems designed to draw in the cash customers by the millions. Rough estimates of the probable attendance figures for a dozen outstanding contests throughout the country reach a total of nearly 500,000 and there are plenty of games that will draw anywhere from 10,000 to 20,000 at the gate.

60,000 Crowds

In the East there are two big intersectional contests that are expected to draw close to 60,000 apiece, the Pittsburgh-Minnesota clash that appears to have a definite bearing on the national title race, and the Fordham-St. Mary's struggle of teams from opposite sides of the continent. With good weather 50,000 more are due at the Harvard-Holy Cross game, 30,000 to see Yale play Brown, 32,00 for Columbia and Navy, and 25,000 for Manhattan and Michigan State.

The Mid-West's trio of intersectional clashes, Notre Dame vs. Carnegie Tech, Michigan vs. Georgia Tech and Ohio State vs. Colgate should draw from 25,000 to 30,000 apiece, although the early season defeats suffered by all but Colgate probably have cut into the gate receipts.

"Movie Struck" Trojans

Some 35,000 Californians are expected to see for themselves whether Southern California's squad is "movie struck" as accused when the men of Troy face Oregon State, while the outstanding Southern games, Alabama-Tennessee and North Carolina-Kentucky will draw about 25,000 and 24,000 respectively.

SPORTS DAY BY DAY

Baseball, Lacrosse, Soccer Softball, Bowling, etc.

By E.A.O.

Interest of local sports fans today is centred chiefly upon the results of those two rugby games being staged on the Belleville gridiron. Victory to both Peterborough squads is of utmost importance. A win for the intermediate Petes over that heavy Belleville machine will tie up the group, while a loss—but why contemplate that.

• • • • • •

Coach Bamforth's Garnet and Grey gridders need to gain the win column today to stay within tying distance of that galloping Lindsay Collegiate team which just now is out in front of the pack in the interscholastic senior league. It appears certain that neither of the other two teams in the league will take a fall out of the husky Scugog outfit to assist P.C.I. in coming up with them for the leadership. On past performances Oshawa and Belleville Collegiates' squads are just not equal to the task. P.C.I. must do the job themselves. But such a triumph over Lindsay will serve no purpose unless they keep clear of defeat from Belleville today.

• • • • • •

P.C.I. took Belleville Collegiate into camp quite handily here two weeks ago, and should encounter little difficulty today in repeating the performance. It requires no big mental feat on the part of the dopesters to call them to win, and it will be an upset if they don't come through.

• • • • • •

Calling the intermediate O.R.F.U. clash between the Petes and that squad of rugged, beefy young manhood which forms the Belleville team is something much different. Anyone glancing at the two squads as they run out on the gridiron today would just naturally name Belleville as the expected winner. They couldn't help but be impressed by the size and power of that Quinte frontline. That line seems to tower over the Petes, making them look rather puny by comparsion.

• • • • • •

But there are other factors that go to make up a winning rugby team besides weight and brawn, although there is no game in which these advantages count so heavily. It is after due consideration of these other points that causes us to call the Petes to win.

• • • • • •

The Petes are in top form. No team could have trained more faithfully than they have during the past four weeks. While the locals have been bending to their practice work with a will this week, the Belleville huskies have been very lax in their drilling. On Thursday the Belleville sport scribe wrote a note in which he lashed the outfit for not turning out in greater numbers for practice. Then too the Petes have had the benefit all week of coaching by C. S. Browne, former mentor of P.C.I. teams. Coach Browne has rubbed smooth a lot of the rough edges in the squad's play, and the players will be a sharper, wiser outfit when they hit that Billeville line today, and their plays will click better.

• • • • • •

Napanee's two championship ball teams were feted at a large banquet in their home town last night. No mention was made at the affair of Ernie Gibbards' plans for next season, but according to information gleaned from a member of the intermediate 'B' team there is little likelihood of Napanee entering the Central League. Several of the stars of the championship 'A' squad have received tempting offers to play ball in the mining district next summer. It is likely some will accept and their absence will weaken Napanee. However, it is rumored that a local player may be with Gibbards next season.

• • • • • •

Things are sizzling in a baseball way up around Western Ontario. The Intercounty League secured the next annual meeting of the O.B.A.A. for Kitchener and everyone was quite delighted. However, the business of financing the big meeting is causing much pain. The Intercounty League has demanded contributions of $15 from its championship team, Stratford, $10 from the junior champs, Brantford, and 10 from each senior club in the league to defray the expense of the meeting. And has this request created a storm of protest; it has. When the annual meeting was held here, it was treated as a community matter the City Council and other bodies generously donating funds to see to it that Peterborough's reputation as a hospitable city was maintained.

TWICE DETROIT AT SPORT PEAK BUT FALL SHORT

In Both Hockey and Baseball Some Teams Gave Auto City Great Hopes.

NIPPED IN BLOOMING

By ELMER DULMAGE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Detroit, the United States metropolis closest to Canada, has had more sport thrills in 1934 than any other city on the continent, more reason to go a trifle ga-ga and yet Detroit didn't quite make the grade either time. But the city had a lot of fun and hundreds of Canadians realize for the first time how much fun Detroit can get from these titular sport classics.

It seemed impossible last spring that the city could become any more excited than when the Red Wings were battling or the National Hockey League championship against Toronto Maple Leafs. They built bonfires in the street in front of the Olympia rink all night before the final game to buy tickets when the wicket opened in the morning. A blizzard raged that night and snow was a foot deep.

Hockey is Canada's national sport but it is doubtful if any Canadian city could show a supporting cast more rabid and excited than Detroit. When the Red Wings did beat the Leafs in that deciding game, 14,500 persons—all Olympia would hold—threw just about everything that was loose out on the ice.

Six months later, at Navin Field, they threw everything loose at Joe Medwick, St. Louis Cardinal outfielder, but that wasn't the same thing. Detroit was simply mad with joy when they tossed down hats and overcoats and programs to celebrate a Red Wing triumph and acclaim Detroit's first N.H.L. champions.

Yet the hockey cup could not quite be filled. The Wings lost in the Stanley Cup finals to Chicago Black Hawks.

Detroit is just recovering now from its first world baseball series in 25 years, proving that baseball has an even firmer hold in the border town than hockey. Not in years has an American city been so thoroughly aroused by any sporting event. Schoolboy Rowe was an even greater local hero than Wilf Cude, Mickey Cochrane more idolized than Jack Adams.

Of course the Tigers failed, after winning the American League pennant, just as the Red Wings failed in the final set-up. Detroit didn't reach either objective but it achieved more sustained excitement than any city anywhere.

GOLF FACTS NOT THEORIES!

By ALEX. J. MORRISON
United Press

I'm always amused at the descriptions of the downswing in which the writer explains that the left hand swings the club downward, and, just as it approaches the ball, the right hand puts the punch in for the moment of impact.

Such a thing is impossible. Yet this notion of the downswing is held by most golfers.

You must hit at the ball or swing at it; you can't do both. Hitting at the ball and supplying the power with the righ hand is simply using brute force. It doesn't get you anywhere in golf.

Swinging at the ball means the most efficient use of a comparatively small amount of strength, making use of leverage and certain mechanical principles.

Learn these things and you can be almost as successful as you like.

Tension if difficult to lead with because it exists very often without the player's knowledge of it.

Of course, the player knows about it after he has tried to make a smooth, easy swing. He senses that he has been frustrated by tight muscles and joints. What tightened them or when they first became locked he doesn't know.

In nine out of ten cases the tension felt in the downswing originated in the starting position.

If the player would make a careful examination of his muscles and joints as he addresses the ball and eliminate such tight spots as he finds he would experience much less trouble in swinging smoothly through the ball.

Recently a pupil pleaded with me to watch him on the course.

I played eighteen holes with him and he didn't shift his weight correctly on one shot. I din't expect him to do this, for I knew he hadn't done enough practice of the right sort.

I tried to tell him things that might help him to bring about the right hip action. I did this against better judgment because the pupil thought he could "remember" to shift his hips.

My pointer didn't help, for he already had too many things to "remember."

When we finished the round I had him stand on the practice tee and shift properly with all kinds of shots.

He couldn't do it on the course because he had not made the action a habit. And indoors is the only place to form proper habits.

SET 'EM UP!

Bowling Notes and Comment

By Reg. McClavey

The 1934-'35 bowling season is well under way and with the general improvement in employment conditions prevailing in the city gives promise of being a very good year for local alleys.

o o o

Duffus' Bowling Academy reports several league already in full swing and the bowlers are rapidly approaching mid-season form as the high scores already will show.

o o o

The Examiner League, as usual, were first on the alleys and on the first night of bowling Harry Dugan tossed a high three game total of 759. Bob Baker rolled a single of 336 and there were quite a few other high scores to indicate a great season for this league.

o o o

C.G.E. Shop League, twelve teams, took off on their long schedule Thursday night; also a six team mixed league from the Wire Department of the same plant.

o o o

The C.G.E. Ladies' League, eight teams, will start next week and an eight team mixed league from the shop will open Monday night.

o o o

Bert Duffus has the City League in process of re-organization and anyone wishing to enter a team to bowl in this class of company should get in touch with him immediately. Ladies' City League is about ready to go and new members will be very welcome here also.

o o o

At The Y.M.C.A. Alleys business is good and several leagues already bowling. The men's major league on these alleys numbers many classy trundlers on the roster and this league has room for one good team to round out the schedule.

o o o

High Scores for the opening night of C.G.E. Shop League were numerous and among them the highest were:

High three games—
Osterland .... 238 286 238—762
Burgess .... 282 209 254—745

High single game—

Definitely Through As Baseball Player

VANCOUVER, Oct. 20 (CP)—George Herman (Babe) Ruth, ex-Sultan of Swat, definitely will not play ball next year—not even for double his salary this year. If he can't manage a ball club next year he intends to retire, maybe write some baseball stories, and watch the youngsters. But the Babe admits it will be tough to be out of the game.

"I've played 21 season of major league ball. I guess that's enough, but it sure will be tough," the big fellow said after a major league exhibition game here last night, which ended in a 2-2 tie.

"My Batting is as good as ever," Ruth continued, "but my legs won't carry me. Now about managing a big league ball club, I sure would like that if I could get a chance.

"You know as much about it as I do except that I definite ly won't be playing next year. I don't want to make a fool of myself and I don't want to gyp the public. For that reason I wouldn't sign for twice the money."

Nearly 75,000 persons in Victories are making candy in Maryland.

RUGBY TEAMS ARE GUESTS OF CLUB

Coach Harvard Bamforth Addresses Members of Friday Night Supper Club.

"You can't play good rugby when you are trying to see how many fouls you can put over undetected," Coach Harvard Bamforth, mentor of the P.C.I. Senior gridiron squad, told the Friday Night Supper Club in a talk on sportsmanship at the Y.M.C.A. last evening.

More than 100 young men, including the members of the P.C.I. Senior and Intermediate teams, special guests of the evening, heard the address. Mr. Bamforth declared that the team which plays the clean game will stand a much greater chance of winning and will get more enjoyment out of the sport. He illustrated from experiences of his own as rugby player at Collegiate and in University.

Welcomed by Chairman C. A. Salmonsen, the players were introduced in turn by their captains. By way of sending them off to their contests in Belleville to-day, the club gave a P.C.I. cheer. Musical entertainment was provided by two members of Bobby Clive's Orchestra.

At an executive meeting which followed the supper, the program of university extension lectures for the present season was laid out. The first of the series will be held on November 30.

WAITING PAUL THOMPSON

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Oct. 20.—Howie Morenz, famous Canadian hockey star, was the focal point of all eyes at the University of Illinois skating rink today as Manager Clem Loughlin put the world's champion Black Hawks through a particularly strenuous two and one-half-hour drill.

During the first half of the practice session Howie operated at full speed on a line consisting of the equally speedy Mush March and a newcomer, Norman Looking, who not only kept abreast of his flashy mates, but injected an extremely powerful shot in the scrimmaging drills. Looking was high scorer of the International League last season.

Howie Morenz

As a second manoeuvre, Morenz was placed between the veterans, Johnny Gottselig and Lola Couture. Manager Loughlin refused to make a declaration as to how he may eventually decide to play Morenz, who twice has led the National Hockey League in scoring, until he had seen him in action with Paul Thompson, the Hawks' scoring ace, who has not arrived at the camp to date.

Tommy Cook, who has been a member of the Black Hawks for five seasons, was the latest arrival at the training quarters.

The Eighth Commandment

By NORMA HENDRICKS

CHAPTER 9

As they waited, Tim glanced at his watch. Lee caught the gesture. "Deadline?" he asked.

The reporter nodded. "Yeah. I've stayed as long as I dare but I'll have to run for it now. I hate to miss this." He jerked his head toward the table.

Lee considered a moment. "Perhaps we can get this all in shorthand. How would that be?"

"Fine. See you at the station then, at one," Tim said and went out as the professor re-entered.

Lee took another pudgy-looking notebook out of his pocket and laid it with a pencil in front of Ruth Turner. The detective, with his passion for facts and notes, always carried about with him three or four of those brown-backed books when he started on a case.

The girl looked up in some surprise. Lee explained, "You know shorthand, don't you, Miss Turner?" Her lovely face was pale and dark smudges had come under her shadowy eyes. But he noted with approval her steadiness as she admitted her ability.

"Then I want you to take down the statements as they're given, and type them off for me before I leave this noon. Do you mind, professor?" he asked belatedly of Dr. Wilson. He didn't usually ask permission to take what he wanted but he felt rather guilty about the professor as if his weary, drawn face was somehow his own fault.

Dr. Wilson smiled a little as he wondered what might happen if he refused permission when the girl already sat there with an opened notebook and a pencil held in readiness. But he answered courteously, "If Miss Turner is willing, I don't mind."

The girl nodded briefly to the inspector and bent towards the notebook.

The man to whom he spoke looked up in surprise and a kind of horror. "Inspector Lee, I have already told you that I should be glad to help if I could, but I know nothing about it. Can't you drop this—this agony?" The hands he was clasping and unclasping before him twitched nervously.

Lee's tone was gentle when he replied, "There are some things that the others cannot tell me, that I will have to ask you. First, how long had Reeves been teaching here?"

"This was his first year."

"Where had he been teaching before?"

"This was his first year of teaching," the department head explained. "He came to us from Alamo university where he took his doctor's degree."

"Professor, you probably know more about this man's past than anyone else here," Lee began slowly and impressively. "Do you know of anything, even a rumor, of something that happened before he came to Center City which might be the cause of his death?"

Dr. Wilson was hesitant. "Why do you say I know more of his past?" he asked at last.

"Why, you must, sir," Lee returned in surprise. "You hired him, didn't you? And you must have had some correspondence with him, and some recommendations from him, didn't you?"

"Yes, of course. But I assure you that the sort of thing which may cause a man's murder," he winced a little at the word, "isn't usually contained in letters of application for a position or in recommendations."

"Then you know nothing in his past that he feared?" Lee urged again.

This time he got the definite answer he wanted. "Nothing, inspector."

"Where were you last night?" he asked, changing the trend of his questions.

"At home," came the brief reply.

"Alone?"

"With my wife."

Walker, who had been listening intently, leaned forward, and spoke quite gently to the man. There seemed to be something about him which demanded gentleness even from Walker. "But you told me, Dr. Wilson ——"

"I'll conduct the examination, Dr. Walker," interrupted Lee. He didn't like this fellow, with his odd, bitter remarks and the queer look in his eyes. Everything about him made the detective ill at ease, so he spoke more sharply than he ordinarily did. "Just what did Dr. Wilson tell you?"

Walker gazed at him mildly and all the mocking laughter was back in his voice when he spoke. "I apologize for having interrupted your examination. I haven't the slightest intention of telling you what Dr. Wilson said. Your tone isn't sporting, you know—not quite Sherlock Holmes, if I make myself clear," he continued in that bedeviling voice. "And I apologize to Dr. Wilson for ever having mentioned the matter."

"Inasmuch as you've mentioned it, Walker, let's not make it sound any worse than it is." Dr. Wilson smiled wanly, and Lee's opinion of him dropped at this sign of understanding between the two men.

Wilson turned to Lee. "It's not as serious as this discussion makes it," he began again rather brightly. "When I saw Walker yesterday afternoon, I mentioned that I would probably be coming down to the English House last night to see Reeves. Walker wanted to talk to me afterwards about a new course next semester but I told him I didn't think I'd be up to anything else, because I expected it to be a rather tiring interview."

"And did you come?" the inspector asked.

"I started to drive down, but my head ached so I drove out into the country for a while instead."

"Did you 'phone Reeves to tell him you wouldn't be down?"

"No, the House has no night number and I hadn't definitely made the appointment with him, anyway. I'd seen him in his office in the afternoon and when he mentioned that he'd be working here last night, I'd just said I might stop by—that I wanted to see him."

"And why, Dr. Wilson, did you expect the interview to be tiring?" There was an intentness to the detective's voice that made Jamieson look up protestingly, but Walker beside him, touched him reprovingly on the arm. The boy sank back.

"That has nothing to do with the case," replied Dr. Wilson quite steadily.

Lee leaned forward. "I'd advise you to let me be the judge of that," he warned in an ominous tone. "There's been enough hedging this morning."

Wilson shrugged his shoulders. "Dr. Henderson told me yesterday," his tired voice began, "that one of his students, whom Reeves had had the first semester was going to have to be put in a sub-freshman class at once. Dr. Henderson was quite distressed because Reeves had passed him; the boy, he said, seemed utterly hopeless. He demanded that either he or I see Reeves and insist upon an explanation. I remember hearing Reeve's complaining of Giovinnai's themes early in last semester but he said nothing more and passed the lad."

"That still doesn't explain why you expected the interview to be so tiring," insisted Lee.

The kindly face of the man opposite him was troubled. "Under ordinary circumstances I shouldn't say this sort of thing, but if you want the truth," he explained with dignity, "Reeves was likely to lose his temper when somebody crossed him or rebuked him. I expected that."

Lee ordered a recess and strolled out with Dr. Henderson. The inspector suggested they go up to the attic room for a moment. He had a hunch that he might spot some interesting reaction in these strange quarters on the third floor of the English House.

The inspector was disappointed to find Dr. Henderson as genuinely surprised as the other members of the staff to find an inhabited sleeping room there.

A few moments later they returned to the seminar room and Lee resumed his examination.

$6,000 BARN FIRE.

BRANTFORD.— Fire which destroyed the large barn owned by Stephen Dale, two miles south of Scotland, did damage estimated at $6,000. The season's grain and feed, implements, and a few pigs, calves and chickens were lost. The cause is unknown.

The simplest method of obtaining salt is by the evaporation of sea water, but this is seldom practised.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, October 21.

Sunday's horoscope is not a very important one in its workaday relationships, which are likely to develop minor delays, postponements or disappointments. These should be met with poise and philosophy rather than indulgence in fault finding, wrangling and venomous or bitter speech.

Those whose birthday it is may find the business affairs of the year subject to minor delays, obstructions and disappointments—a state of affairs not benefited by quarrels, rash and tempestuous conduct or bitter speech.

A child born on this day may be quick, energetic, but probably rash, headstrong and impulsive. Its private relationships may have curious angles.

For Monday, October 22.

Monday's astrological forecast, according to a very lively state of astral operations, is an eventful and memorable one. Affairs of a sudden and quite unforeseen nature may be so surprisingly precipitated as to upset and reorganize all preconceived and orthodox notions, plans and arrangements, making for a most propitious change in the fortunes as well as station, associations and contacts.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year of extraordinary developments in their affairs, with a most propitious and prosperous advancement of their status—business financial, social and personal.

A child born on this day should be ingenious, brilliant, efficient, ambitious as well as adventurous. It is quite likely to attain a conspicuous place in the public eye.

GLOBAL TONNAGE IS JAPAN'S AIM

Give Her Midway Position Between Present 5-5-3 Naval Ratio.

MUCH OPPOSITION.

LONDON, Oct. 19 (AP)—Some informed observers said to-day they believe Japan may suggest a global tonnage naval basis, giving her a position midway between the present 5-5-3 ratio and parity.

This belief was advanced as diplomatic and naval circles speculated over the extent Japan might go toward a compromise with the United States.

These two countries open bi-lateral conversations next week with Great Britain in an effort to lay the groundwork for the 1935 naval conference. The biggest problem is to bridge the wide disparity between Japanese and American views.

Admiral Isoroku Pamamoto's refusal to say Japan wants equality in actual tonnage as well as equality in principle led to the belief he may take a stand midway between parity and the 5-5-3.

So far, British and American delegations oppose changing the present relative position. Spokesmen for three nations, however, said the hope of a compromise is growing stronger.

The Japanese expect to finish writing their plan to-day. The British and the Americans continued their own separate consultations, but expect to do little until Tokyo's program is disclosed.

WAGE INCREASES AUTOMATIC UNDER NEW SOVIET SCHEME

Workers Pay Increased as His Labor Improves—Raise Living Standard.

STORES CROWDED.

By CORALIE VAN PAASSEN
(Central Press Canadian Writer)

MOSCOW, Oct. 20.—The biggest change in the outward aspects of Moscow this year is the appearance of tasteful window designs in the shops. It is true I have never been here before, and therefore cannot make comparisons with the past, but I came in the company of a trainload of French, American, Dutch, Belgian, Czechoslavak, Polish and English writers, actors, theatrical directors, stage managers —twelve hundred in all—to attend the literary congress and the theatrical festival—and many of these had frequently visited Moscow in the past. They were all astonished to see the change. Since the October Revolution in 1917 the streets of Moscow had been rather drab. Thousands of shops were closed. The state-shops looked like untidy warehouses. No attempt was made to attract buyers, and I suppose there wasn't a great deal to buy either.

All that is different now. Not a day passes but another set of shops open with a new lines of articles or just to bring an article back into circulation after a number of years of absence. This shows that light industry is beginning to function at last, and how crowded those shops are! But no wonder. When you get a population of 180 million people who have for years been deprived of al the nice little accessories of life—and frequently of the very necessities of life—and who are all earning decent wages now, and you give them an opportunity to buy handbags and perfume and thermos bottes and knick-knacks for the house as well as furniture, dresses, hats, curtains, face cream, fancy lamps and shades, mirrors, umbrella stands, toys, games, watches, lingerie, tableware, radios, wash-machines, carpets, fountain pens, candlesticks and pictures, you are bound to have a rush-hour business. And that's the way it is in Russia just now.

Have Caught Buying Fever

The whole of Russia is having an orgy of buying. Mr. Louis Fisher, the correspondent of the Nation of New York, who has lived here twelve years and who saw the worst times, did not hesitate to call it prosperity. "It reminds me of the good old days at home," said Mr. Fisher, who hails from Philadelphia. "And this rush is by no means confined to Moscow," he assured me. "I have just done a forty-day journey through the west and the south. All Russia has caught this buying fever," he added.

"The new tendency to make shops look attractive and to enhance the appearance of a given article marks the beginning of the change from quantity to quality," said the director of one of the great Mostorg department stores, which has just opened its 35th branch in Moscow. This director, whose name is M. Gregory Kupskiyn, told me: "Formerly if we received a batch of shoes, we put one or two pairs of them in the window, any old way at all. It didn't matter. But we can't do this any longer. There is such an abundance of light articles that we must make a show of them."

"I don't understand this very well," I said. "You have no competition here, so why should you try to make articles look attractive at all. People will have to come to you anyway. Your state-shops are the only ones in the business, aren't they?"

Social Reason for Everything

"Do you know what is behind this?" he answered. "There is a social reason behind it. We are trying to make our people proud of what they are doing. We want them to say and feel proud that these are their shoes, their radios, their theatres, etc."

"You have a social reason for everything here," I said.

"Sure," he came back, "aren't we socialists, that is to say people who have a scientific plan for every phase of life? And then," he added, "your own presence here at the theatrical festival has a social significance to us. You will see our theatres and you will be impressed the one way or the other, either favorably or unfavorably, but you will be impressed, I am sure of that, and that's all we care!"

"You will never make a Bolshevik out of me, though!" I remarked.

"I am not a Bolshevik either," he replied. "Of the 180 millions in the U.S.S.R., 178 millions are not Bolsheviks. Some of us are not privileged to become Bolsheviks...."

"Well, never mind the propaganda," I said. "We have lots of that in Paris."

"Glad to hear it," he interrupted. "Tell me a few facts," I insisted. "For instance, who has the money to buy and all your new stores and shops?"

Soviet Raising Wages

"That's a reasonable question," he retorted. "You see the government introduced the system of progressive salariation fifteen months ago. The cost-fixing policy is now organically linked with the wage-policy. And the extreme suppleness of this system makes it possible to pass with a minimum of shock to a standard of life which is constantly rising. The new wage policy made a tremendous difference. If a man improves his labor, his wages go up automatically. In July, 1933, the average wage of 150 roubles a month. This has doubled now. The average wage is 300 roubles a month. Thousands earn 400 roubles a month, and oudarniks (shock workers, bustlers we would call them) get 500 roub'es a month. I have seen a miner in the Donetz who had made 900 roubles a month for ten months running. And then there are prizes and premiums distributed in every factory, shop and office for promptness, exactitude, care of the machinery, neat appearance, general efficiency, abstention from alcohol...And so the new shops are always filled with buyers. People have money .... That's the whole secret."

"Still, that money is worthless outside of Russia!"

"That is so. But here in Russia it built the Dnieperstroy and the Magnitostroy hydro-electric works and the new dam at Kuznets, three blooming mills, eighteen paper mills, 300,000 tractors and a thousand and fifty factories of one kind and another, not to mention canals, several huge railways; in fact, the whole Five Year Plan was executed with that 'worthless' money...."

"All new this year. Last year we had no fruit yet."

"Where does it come from?"

"Caucasus, Crimea, Turkestan. Next year we'll have our own tea, too. This year we import our last 72 million pounds. After that we have our own."

Sports in Lead

Of the new shops easily recognizable by the crowds of curious spectators in front, I found the people paying most attention to those displaying sports articles, radios, automobiles, bicycles, but also pastry and candy stores, stores specializing in photographic accessories and toilet articles, such as perfumes, face creams, rouge and lipstick. The day is not far distant when they are going to have competitions in window-dressing, I suppose. They are trying to beat one another as it is.

During the great festivals of Moscow, in May and October, certain streets are entirely given over to showing plans and models of new factories, hospitals, clubs, theatres all over the union and photos of such institutions built in the season immediately behind. We have such an exposition going on now in the honor of the visitors to the literary congress and the theatrical festival. There are fifteen other expositions running just now in addition, such as an exposition of a new type of X-ray machinery and surgical instruments for a delegation of foreign doctors; one of the new school of painting, an auto show, a health show, etc.

After a week in Moscow, up at dawn and not to bed til midnight, gathering impressions all day long, visiting museums and social centres, prisons and department stores, kindergartens and birth control clinics, theatres and night clubs, workers' homes and clubs, libraries and schools, divorce courts and juvenile courts, beauty parlors and restaurants, not hampered by any restrictions, just as free as I am in Paris, talking to whom I like and hearing the good as well as the bad, I must say one thing: my definite impression is that Russia is a going concern, and that there is no indication of a slump here.

CONTRACT BRIDGE
WRITTEN FOR CENTRAL PRESS
By E. V. SHEPARD

HONOR VALUES CONTINUED

Since 1928, representatives of two of our greatest universities have devoted much time to determine whether bridge is a mere pastime or a real science. In both cases it was decided that the game is a real science, though as yet very little science has been put into practice. The game, as generally played, is done more by guess than knowledge. However, the values given yesterday average to be correct, within 47-100 of one trick, even if in some special hands the result of perfect play by declarer varies as much as two or three tricks from calculated values, but averages cannot always be precise or they would not merely be averages. Of course, the honor values given hold both for trump calls and no trumps.

The value of the fourth card of any suit, whether held at trumps or no trumps by the declarer is as follows: 0 for 4-card suits; ¼ trick for 5-card suits; ½ trick for 6-card suits; ¾ trick for 7-card suits. The fifth card of any suit averages to be worth one full trick, in the declaring hand. Four trumps in dummy are worth ½ trick, five cards or more are worth one full trick in dummy.

If the declarer has the A-K-Q-X-X of trumps, its precise value is 4.54 probable tricks. Add together its cards as follows: Ace (1.50), K (1), Q (.75), fourth trump (.25) and fifth trump (one full trick), and you have a value of 4.50 probable tricks, or almost the precise value found by more exact methods. If the fourth trump is the J, add another ½ trick, giving five probable tricks.

Forty-five in 100 hands dealt hold a five-card suit. If dummy holds four trumps the average value of its four trumps is ½ trick. Give declarer the A-K-Q-X-X of trumps and the dummy four low trumps. The average playing value of the combined trump holdings is just five tricks.

Few know the real value of cards. The average tables giving "high card tricks" and "low card tricks" are only rough approximations of real values. As the high card tricks are accorded too low values, the low card tricks have to be given too great values, to make the holdings approximate real playing values. Ignoring facts, such tables of values disregard the promoting values of honors. They call A-K-Q three tricks, and two low trumps two tricks, making the value of the holding five probable tricks, whereas it is only 4½ probable tricks. The real value of five low trumps is only about 1¼ playing tricks, but low card value advocates call the value two full tricks, by employing empirical values (those based upon insufficient observations), instead of scientific values (those based upon scientific facts plus adequate observations).

Experts value hands almost subconsciously, but such skill cannot be imparted to others. For less skilled players the best method of valuing hands is none too good.

Some Things An Inspector Learns

Study 3. October 21st, 1934.

SUPPER was waiting one eveing in the kitchen and Mrs. Black and the young folks were waiting on the piazza for Mr. Black and Uncle Edward to come home, when Clara suddenly asked "what is an inspector?"

"There are different kinds of inspectors," Cousin Will explained. "An inspector is usually an expert in some particular kind of work. Some inspect boilers, some buildings. Father is a factory inspector. He looks over the machinery used in the factories to see if it is made safe for the workmen, so they will not get caught in running belts or hit by flying pieces of metal."

"I should think that all these safety fixings the laws now require manufacturers to put on their machines would leave little chance for accidents," said Mrs. Black. "I was looking last night at the safety appliances in a book that your father carries."

"Father says that the safety guards do their part all right, but that in nine cases out of ten it is the workman taking a chance, instead of following the rules, that causes the accident," said Cousin Will.

"That was the trouble with Mr. Hennessee when he lost his finger," said Alec. "He knew the rule said that no one must oil running lathes without shutting off the power, but he did it and got his finger crushed."

"He wouldn't have taken the chance if he hadn't been drinking," said Mrs. Black. "He would have had more sense."

"That is what father says is often the trouble. A man gets set up and careless after he has had a drink and does foolhardy things. A man got badly hurt in a mill where father goes, because he took a shortcut to reach a crane that had become stuck, when he should have taken a ladder and climbed up on the other side. He had been out for a drink about half an hour before and that made him reckless. He thought he didn't need the ladder, that he could just as well climb up on his cab. He lost his balance and fell and was nearly killed."

"I heard Mr. Bushman talking about it once," Alec added. "He said that men who drank were not only more likely to fumble and meet with accidents, but they were more careless in taking proper care of a wound, more likely to get an infection in it, and even if they didn't, it usually took longer for their wounds to heal because their bodies weren't fit."

"That isn't all either," said a voice from the doorway where father had come from a side entrance unobserved. "You feel sorry enough for a man who brings an injury upon himself by getting fuddled with drink, but it seems even worse when a careful man gets injured through someone else's drinking. We have a case right up the street here. Jim Greenough. He is disabled for life because another man muddled his brain with beer and gave him the signal to go ahead before things were ready."

"Jim was an engineer, a good, steady, reliable man. He was engaged by a construction company to run a crane engine. He was working with Max Sheridan whose business it was to give the signal for starting the engine, after seeing that the crane was properly clamped to the rails. Max had lost several jobs through drink, but this was in war time when everyone who could work was taken on and Max had promised to keep sober. He wasn't drunk when this happened. It would have been better if he had been for then he would not have been allowed to work. He had had two or three drinks, just enough to make him careless.

"He gave Jim the signal to go ahead without seeing that the crane was properly clamped. Jim started up his engine, and the crane upset, caught one of his legs and crushed it so it had to be taken off, and injured his arm so he has little use of it."

"There's a good slogan the industrial people got out during the 'Safety First' campaigns," said Uncle Edward as they left the piazza for the dining-room. "It was 'Careless men are not all drinkers, but drinking men are always careless.'"

What is a narcotic? (A substance which when taken into the body lowers or causes to cease the activity of the cells.) Drugs seem to arouse a craving for their repetition. But the body-cells become used to the drug and to continue the deadening effect, the dose must be larger and taken more frequently.

Alcohol has an attraction for many people because it produces a feeling of freedom from responsibility. Let us see how this comes about. The nervous system of the human body is made up of two parts, the nerves and the nerve centres. Impulses or messages are carried by the sensory nerves to the brain, and then transferred to the motor nerves which carry them to the muscles or glands and they carry out the action. Now when alcohol is carried in the bloodstream to the cells of the nerves and brain, it harms them by dissolving the film around the cells and by taking the water and oxygen from them. It paralyzes the brain-cells. And so the nervous system does not do its work well. The individual feels less keenly and is deceived about his true condition.

Let us apply this theory in an actual case. The driver of an automobile has had one or two glasses of liquor. Now this liquor has had three effects on him. Suppose a man steps out from behind a car, in front of this automobile. The nerves carry this news from the eyes to the brain and the driver becomes aware of the presence of this man. But the nerve-cells have been injured by the alcohol and they do not carry the message as quickly as they should. Secondly, the brain is slow to pass on the message to the motor nerves, and finally they are slow to carry it to the muscles of the hands and feet. And so the action is delayed and there is increased danger of an accident.

Those faculties which were the latest to develop in man are the first affected by alcohol. Self-control is weakened and self-criticism is blunted. People do things of which normally they would be ashamed. They become talkative, and heedless in their words and acts. In the second stage, we have the blunting of the senses and the lessening of power to perform skilled acts. With continued drinking the individual becomes unconscious of what is happening around him and often falls into a heavy sleep.

Alcohol was formerly thought of as a stimulant because it quickens the beats of the heart. But it also lessens the force of these beats. It causes the muscles of the heart to do their work less efficiently.

In a later discussion we shall consider how the habit of taking drugs grows upon a person and what effect it has upon his character.

Question 1.—What is a narcotic? Value 10.

Question 2.—How does alcohol affect the nervous system? Value 10.

YORK BIBLE CLASS OVER CRCT SUNDAY

Bible Class Under Denton Massey Has Obtained Unique Position.

On Sunday, October 21st, at 3 p.m. the York Bible Class goes back on the air. The Canadian Radio Commission station, CRCT, will be the outlet this year.

Holding the Canadian record for the longest continued broadcast feature, the York Bible Class will be heard this season for the tenth consecutive year. Stations that have carried the services in other years include CKCL, CFRB and CKNC. A recent poll of radio listeners showed that 78 per cent of Ontario's listening public, and 74 per cent of Toronto's listening public, tune in for each Sunday meeting.

Under the inspired leadership of Denton Massey, the York Bible Class has attained a unique position. It has helped mould the thought of a generation. It has aided thousands of young men to prepare for life's struggle. While the class's active membership is set at 2,300, some idea of its influence in the community at large can be gained by the fact that 17,000 attended a recent rally. The class is regularly conducted in Deer Park Church along strictly undenominational lines and has in its membership adherents to practically every Christian faith.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE WEEKLY COLUMN

A goodly thing it is to meet
In friendship's circle bright
Where nothing stains the pleasure sweet
Or dims the radiant light
No unkind word our lips shall pass
No envy sour the mind:
But each shall seek the common weal—
The good of all mankind

(Examiner Correspondence)

MARMORA, Oct. 20.—The October meeting of Marmora Women's Institute was held recently at the home of the oldest member, Mrs. U. Pinner. A good attendance was present. Mrs. B. C. Hubbell acted as chairman for the meeting. The roll call "Noxious Weeds or Pests and the methods of eradication" brought out a lot of useful information along the lines of dealing with weeds and pests which should prove valuable next spring and summer. Correspondence read by the secretary, Mrs. C. Clarke included a letter from Mr. George Putnam in which he left a farewell message in giving up his work for the Institutes which has extended for a period of over thirty years. Mrs. Clarke handed in her resignation as secretary as she recently took up residence in Stirling. Mrs. L. Green was appointed secretary for the balance of the year.

Mrs. H. R. Haacke, District Director and Delegate to the Area Convention in Belleville gave a splendid report of the sessions which she had just attended. A well prepared paper on 'Agriculture' was given by Mrs. L. Green after which a candy contest was put on with Mrs. H. W. Sabine securing the honors. Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by four other members, as the meeting adjourned.

MILLBROOK

"Avoiding friction in the home" was the topic discussed at an Institute branch meeting for its October gathering, a 'teen age girl who had been a member of the senior girls' branch having run away from home being the immediate case for considering the subject.

The president led in the discussion which had few 'gaps' during the half hour alotted to it, for everyone was keenly interested, and apparently some mothers were a bit afraid their own daughters might follow suit with the one who had abruptly quitted what had been generally considered a fairly happy home—equipped with radio, car, telephone and other modern conveniences.

"To build a happy home there must be lack of friction between the parents, and between the parents and children," was the leader's opening statement, and some thought that here she had put her hand on the key-note of the whole situation. "Moreover my own experience leads me to say that a joint control of the family purse by both parents, with a sensible allowance for each child, increasing with their years, and with proper teaching of how to expend it, making each responsible for certain personal expenses out of their own money, makes for a well-adjusted home."

Some questioning led to acknowledgement of the fact that parents with little education, and boys and girls in High School, are in more frequent conflict with the members of their families than are those who have a better educational standing. The complaint seemed to be that "the young folk nowadays look down on their parents, if the latter have not had the same educational advantages with themselves, and know practically nothing of certain school topics introduced into conversation. "One mother, who declared that she and her husband suffered much from this very thing, felt it hard that their self-denying efforts to "give our two girls and our boy the chance of an education such as we never had should find them acting as though they despised us, at times, and withholding from us their confidence, because of our ignorance, along lines with which they are becoming quite familiar." There was rather a jolt when the president insisted, "Be careful that you are not partly to blame for this yourselves; any one of us can keep reasonably up to date along current topics through the newspapers, and by subscribing to at least one good magazine. And, again, I believe in taking the young folk into full confidence, telling them of the lack of opportunity in the early years of the parents for such educational advantages as they are enjoying; in short, appealing to that love of fair play which is inherent in every boy and girl of 'teen years."

Not all present agreed with the presiding officer, but the latter insisted, "If you are able to talk on the topics of the day intelligiently, your children will respect you. Be sure and have the conversation about the table at meal times lifted above petty gossip, and household cares, and you will find the young folk will realize they will have to study a bit themselves to keep abreast of the times with father and mother."

No dispute met the statement that the home is happier where neither parents dominates, and where the growing boys and girls are allowed to have a reasonable share in the discussions along lines of family finance, changes in the home and its furnishings, bring their friends and help with the entertainment of company, and so forth. "Affection and co-operation" was a slogan suggested that found instant favor, but at least one mother present had to make a mental reservation because of the known domineering nature of her husband—hence the fear that one of her own girls might take the law into her own hands and leave the parental roof, in sheer rebellion of youth against unjust demands, with no recognition of personal rights, from the 'head of the household.'

"Doing things together, as a family," said the president, "going to church together; having family conclaves over matters of common interest; taking meals together; celebrating birthdays together; entertaining relatives and chums as one big party; attending social functions together; not being afraid of open expressions of affection; with amusements and pursuits in common, all contribute to the avoidance of friction in the family."

CATHEDRAL MUSINGS

THERE are many aspects of truth, but only one Truth. Truth is as a great white light shining in a lantern which has many diversely colored facets. One sees the light as red, another as blue, another as yellow, or green, or yet another color, but it is the same light within the lantern, it is only in aspect that it differs.

Therefore, we should be very slow to criticize or pass judgment upon another's consciousness of truth. For to every man the truth wears a different aspect, and to every man is given that measure or aspect of light which he is fitted to receive.

For all truth that we are capable of receiving is only relative to the One Truth, just as the different colors of the lantern are relative to the white light within it. But it is our duty, and divine privilege, to lift up our hearts, our minds and consciousness in attunement with the Father, so that we may approach ever nearer to His Truth, which is not relative, but is absolute. For His Truth is the Light, the Great White Light of His Love, that shines within the heart of every man whether that man be conscious of it or not.

Why then can we quarrel with another's version of the truth. Simply by self-pride. We are so proud of our intellectual acquirements, the product of our finite brains, so proud of our own sense of spiritual values, that we act as if our viewpoint is the only viewpoint. Our attitude is that we are right and the other person must necessarily be wrong, not indeed on the merits of his position, but solely because he differs from us.

How then should we approach the truth? Again and again has the method been pointed out. "Be still, and know I am the Lord." Know, mark, you, not "believe." Quiet that restless brain so ceaselessly occupied with the things of this world, still that unceasing turmoil of the outer objective mind and faculties, retire within the sanctuary of your own heart. There in silence and in peace commune with your Father. "For the Father who heareth in secret shall reward openly." Fret not about beliefs, about outward forms; these are but the outward wrappings of the universal truth that God is our Father, our only source of being, and all the evil and misery of this world is caused by our forgetting this.—Frater IX., Rosicrucian Order, San Jose, Calif.

LEVY IS FIXED ON PERCENTAGE OF BEER SOLD

New Fees Are Described as Exorbitant and Very Unreasonable.

ALL OVER $1,000.

Levy Has Been Fixed on Months That Were Abnormal Hotelmen Say.

A united protest by the hotelkeepers of the city will be made to the Ontario Liquor Control Board in an effort to have the Board reconsider its license levies on beverage rooms.

Official notice of the Boards levies on the various beverage rooms here was received today by the hotel proprietors. The levies were described as "exhorbitant" and "very unreasonable" by the hotelkeepers, who were interviewed by The Examiner.

All Over $1,000

The levy on the Montgomery Hotel is $1,528 annually, including the $300 license fee. The levy on another hotel in the city will be even higher than this. The levy on the various other beverage rooms is as follows: Grand Hotel approximately $100 a month; Windsor Hotel $1,425 annually; American Hotel and King's Hotel each $1,175 a year.

The hotelmen explained that it was their opinion that the Liquor Board had fixed the levy on a percentage basis of the beer purchased by each beverage room during the period it has been open. All the men stated that the charges were far too high. They pointed out that overhead expenses for beverage rooms are heavy and the business is not an over-profitable one. It was explained that when the beverage rooms first opened their was a rush of business which has since slackened off and in the winter months there will be even less beer consumed. "The levy has been fixed on months that were abnormal and which will not be reached in the future," one hotelman explained.

Business Not So Good

Another man stated, "Our business is not nearly as good as is was at the start. It is steadily falling off, and yet we are being taxed as though all months will be as rushed as those first few. It is very unfair."

A meeting of the hotelmen will probably be held early to decide the proper course of action to bring these conditions to the attention of the Liquor Board with the request that the levies be reduced proportionately at least to the decline in sales.

Duce Opens Drive To Wipe Out Slums

ROME, Oct. 22.— (A.P.)— Premier Mussolini, standing on a rooftop and wielding a pick, inauguarted the destruction to-day of an entire quarter surrounding the Augusteo Music Hall, once the mausoleum of Augustus Caesar.

Augusta and most of his successors down to the Emperor Nerva, had been buried there.

Il Duce, ascending to the roof of a ramshackle three-storyed building, took off his coat and first stripped a section of the roof of its tiles.

Standing within three feet of the edge of the roof he plied his pick so lustily, while cameras clicked, that within a minute a large section of the roof crashed into the street and an empty space yawned almost at his feet. Fascists surrounding Mussolini hastily drew him to another spot.

AUSTRALIAN ACE REACHES SUVA ON DASH TO U. S.

RAINS PROVE HANDICAP.

SUVA, Fiji, Oc. 22 (AP.).—Heavy rains forced Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith to-day to postpone until Wednesday a takeoff on the next leg of his trans-Pacific flight to the United States.

Sir Charles, accompanied by Captain P. J. Taylor, his navigator, probably will fly to Fanning Island, 1,200 miles from Suva, where there is a long, hard beach suitable for landing, and will continue to Honolulu Thursday.

OAKLAND, Calif., Oct. 22.—(A. P.)—A long and perilous flight of 3,198 miles lay ahead of Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith to-day as he prepared to hop for Honolulu from Suva, in the Fiji Islands.

The noted Australian pilot, attempting to backtrack the route he followed from California to Australia in 128, informed his brother here that he hoped to start the second lap of his daring flight at dawn, Suva time, Tuesday (between 1 and 2 p.m. Eastern Standard time, Monday). Heavy rains may delay the departure, however.

Sir Charles, with Capt. P. G. Taylor as navigator, completed the first leg at 6.05 p.m., Sunday, Suva time.

After a thrill-filled flight during which they flew blind for a time and battled with rain and a missing motor, the intrepid pair brought their plane, the Lady Southern Cross, to a safe landing in Albert Park, just 11 hours 45 minutes after the take-off at Brisbane.

Scattered, sparsely settled islands dot the course to either side, but none of any consequence is on the direct line of flight. Steamship lanes are off to one side, so that in the event of a mishap it might be some time before aid could reach the fliers, who carry a collapsible boat.

Their only contact with the outside world will be through radio, communication with the liner Mariposa, now south of Honolulu, and possibly the few civilized islands.

GRAND OLD MAN OF SPORT IN CITY SAM RAY IS DEAD

IN HIS 85TH YEAR.

Best Known Possibly as Cricket Player and Curler.

Sam Ray, Peterborough's grand old man of sport, passed away at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. E. Patte, in Bridgenorth, this morning, in his 85th year. He succumbed to a serious illness which seized him more than a month ago.

Old-timers in many fields of sport will mourn his death. He was best known, possibly, as a cricketer and a curler, but golf, hunting and fishing were among his favorite pastimes. He took an active interest in hockey, at one time presiding over the renowned Peterborough Bear Cats Club during the winters of 1911 and 1912.

Operated Tobacco Shop.

Those who had not made his acquaintance in the realms of the sporting world knew him as the proprietor of the Sam Ray tobacco shop on Hunter street. Establishing the shop on his arrival in the city in 1886, he operated it continuously until his retirement four years ago.

Born in Whitby.

He was born in Whitby and secured his schooling there. His father, the late Nathaniel Ray, operated a livery and a carriage and blacksmth shop. In 1885 he married Ellen Philgate Aikins, who survives him, moved to Rice Lake, where he operated a summer hotel for a year. The following year he came to settle in Peterborough.

Prior to his departure from Whitby, he had been a member of the Canadian International cricket team, playing with them in New York, Philadelphia and other cities across the border, as well as Ottawa, Montreal, Toronto and Hamilton. He captained the team one year and gained a reputation which was known wherever cricket was played in this country.

Put Cricket in Peterborough.

Mr. Ray was largely instrumental in putting Peterborough on the map in the cricket world. With J. H. Burnham and Miles Hamilton, he was one of three survivors of the original group of cricketers, which included R. B. Rogers, W. A. Stratton, Jim Montgomery, Bill Hamilton, John Hammond, Bill Hartley and others. Dated with the best, the team travelled throughout Southern Ontario and as far east as Montreal for its contests.

As a curler, Mr. Ray had a fine record. He skipped the Peterborough rink which won the Governor-General's Cup in Ottawa some years ago. One of the longest-standing members of the Curling Club, he served a year as president not long after its organization.

He was at one time the president of the Peterborough Golf and Country Club.

The Hunter Street store was for several decades, one of the city's best known rendezvous for sportsmen and many prominent citizens, as a meeting place where sporting matters and public affairs were discussed freely and informally it gained the appellation "Hall of Wisdom" among citizens in general. A lasting feature of the institution was the agreeable atmosphere which prevailed in the shop at all times.

Mr. Ray is survived by his wife, one son, Charles Ray, and three daughters: Adeline, Mrs. J. E. Paquette and Mrs. J. E. Patte.

The funeral is to be held on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, proceeding from the home at 687 Water Street, to Little Lake Cemetery.

WESTERN COAST OCTOBER STORM LEAVES 16 DEAD

83 Mile Gale Floods Cities, Wrecks Ships, Buildings, Power Lines.

STEAMER GOES DOWN.

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 22.—(AP)—An October storm lashing at the coast of Washington and Oregon left at least 16 dead today and a huge shipping and property loss in its wake.

The gales, which reached a recorded velocity of 83 miles an hour had subsided, but two flooded cities, damaged shipping, wrecked buildings, power and communication line tangles, debris-strewn areas— and the death list—remained.

Striking wth fury shortly after daybreak yesterday, the storm swept over ths region all day, subsiding only after nightfall.

The watersof high tide flooded the business sections and a large part of the residential sections of both Grays Harbor cities, Aberdeen and Hoquiam.

With six feet of water at South Aberdeen, residents were either rescued by police in small board, or remained marooned until the water fell. More than h alf the houses in Hoquiam were flooded.

At the height of the gale, the steamship Floridian sent out SOS messages from the mouth of the Columbia, the trans-pacific liner President Madison swerved from its mooring here to crush against two other vessels and sink the small Steamer Harvester, and the Tacoma-Seattle boat Virginia V was wrecked at Olalla, her 30 passengers being saved with difficulty.

Tugs were busy today trying to pull the President Madison free, but it was wedged tightly. Damage to the four ships involved has not been estimated.

STRIKE LEADERS DENY VIOLENCE

Force Has No Part in Plans Says MacAdam in Session at Sault.

HEENAN WAITS RESULT.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., Oct 22. —(CP)— Denying the committee handling the strike of bushmen from the camps of the Abitibi Power and Paper Company in this district had attempted to induct workers to strike on the Clergue property or the Nash Farm, G. D. MacAdam, the strike leader, today declared "violence has no place in our manner of conducting this strike."

At a meeting of the committee today he asked in the presence of a reporter if men had been sent to interview workers at the Clergue property, where timber was being cut for the Lyons Fuel and Hardware Company here, and an instant denial was made. The committee also denied responsibility for a fire which destroyed a house there Saturday night.

In addition to the meeting this morning of the strike committee, French-Canada bush workers employed by the Abitibi Company met to consider the proposals submitted yesterday by Hon. Peter Heenan, Ontario Minister of Lands and Forests.

Mr. Heenan left shortly after 10 o'clock this morning by special train for an unnamed point up the Algoma Central Railway. He will rest there pending the decision of the strikers.

IMPORTANCE OF QUALITY URGED BY W. M. GORDON

Dominion Livestock Branch Grader Says Lack of Appreciation of This Point is a Barrier.

THE BACON TRADE.

Lack of appreciation of quality was the cement by which the barrier existing between agricultural and urban Canada was held together, W. M. Gordon, Dominion live stock branch, told Peterborough Rotarians to-day as he addressed the club members at their weekly luncheon on the subject of "Grading."

Mr. Gordon, who was introduced by Rotarian Art Runions, Ontario agricultural representative, declared that both on the part of the consumer and the producer in Canada there was a failure to realize the importance of quality and as the result the consumer often found himself grossly deceived while the farmer on the other hand suffered because the quality of what he produced did not come up to the required standard, and as a result he could not obtain a reasonable return for his product.

Emphasizing the necessity of producing quality bacon in Canada, Mr. Gordon pointed out that the British bacon market meant a total of $16,000,000 for Canadian farmers and indirectly for Canadian industry during the current year. The British shopkeeper insisted, he declared, upon a high quality of Wiltshire bacon, and it was necessary to meet that demand to hold Canada's share of the market.

President J. Fred Reed voiced the thanks of the club to Mr. Gordon for his timely address.

It was announced that J. S. Dinwoody of Erie, Pa., district governor of Rotary District No. 27, would pay his official visit to the Peterborough Club on Wednesday, October 31.

President Reed also informed the members that Peterborough had been linked with the Perry, N.Y., club in a new attendance contest commencing this week, and terminating on December 16th.

Body Of Gas Boat Blast Victim Found

WINNIPEG, Oct. 22 (C.P.).—The body of Wilbert Goodman, one of nine victims of the explosion of a gas bat on Lake Winnipegosis, 175 miles north of here, last week was recovered Sunday, word reaching here to-day said.

Condition of William Johnson, sole survivor of the disaster, was reported as critical. He had not long recovered from an attack of pneumonia, and the effects of his immersion in the icy lake waters and a night of exposure brought fear for his life.

Communication between the town of Winnipegosis and the scene of the tragedy is being maintained by carrier pigeon .Word reaching Winnipegosis via these aerial despatches said additional tugs had been chartered to aid in dragging operations for the remaining bodies.

PULP STRIKERS ANSWER CALL TO SOO PARLEY

Will Discuss Peace Plans With Hon. Peter Heenan.

TROUBLE AT SMOOTH ROCK.

TORONTO, Oct. 22 (C.P.).—Striking pulpwood cutters whose walkout has threatened the province's newsprint industry to-day were called into general meeting at Sault Ste. Marie to study the peace offers extended by Hon. Peter Heenan, Ontario Minister of Lands and Forests. Mr. Heenan went to Sault Ste. Marie during the week-end to attempt bring the strikers and officials of the Abitibi Power and Paper Company into agreement.

The result of to-day's meeting of strikers might end the deadlock in the pulpwood camps along the Algoma central railway. Some workers have refused to join the strike, especially the men at Gibson's camp on the Metagami River, who dared strikers to approach or to interfere with operations Saturday.

John Gibson, jobber for the Abitibi Power and Paper Company, called his men together when company officials at Smooth Rock sent word to the camp 163 strikers were en route from Jacksonborough to force the men from their jobs. The workers decided to back Gibson and they erected a 10-foot barricade at a bridge approach, and then armed with clubs ordered the marchers off the property when they appeared.

All Satisfied.

Deaf to pleas of strike leaders, the 130 men at the camp declared

Queen's Rugby Squad Looses Marty Jones

KINGSTON, Ont., October 22 (C.P.). — Already riddled by fraternity troubles which robbed them of five players, Queen's Seniors suffered another blow this morning when it was announced that Marty Jones, smart middle wing, who took "How" Hamlin's place, was out of the game with a badly injured neck.

To-day Jones was carrying his arm in a sling, and it is probable that he will be forced out of Saturday's game in Toronto.

Jones is a Toronto boy formerly playing with Balmy Beach, until he came of Queen's last season. On Saturday he played about three-quarters of the game until forced to the side lines and his place was taken by Archie Kirkland, former Malvern Collegiate player.

SCARRED SHEEP-KILLER SLAIN BY FARM POSSE

HAMILTON, Oct. 22. —(CP)— Tapleytown farmers headed by Edgar Passmore and Thomas and Charles Duncan, formed a posse during the week-end and went in pursuit of a wild dog which was suspected of killing sheep. After a four-mile search the animal was shot. It tipped the scales at 96 pounds.

Mr. Passmore was walking in his fields when he saw the dog attack a flock of sheep.

The carcass of the dog bore the marks of many bullet wounds. It was identified by sheep owners as the cause of much destruction in the county and had been fired at on many occasions.

SCOTT, BLACK LEAD IN DERBY TO MELBOURNE

Set Amazing Record England to Australia of 2 Days, 4 Hrs. 38 Mins.

DUTCH PAIR SECOND.

Americans, Turner and Pangborn Third—Mollisons Forced Out.

(C.P. and A.P. Cable)

The record-smashing pacesetters in the big British air derby from London to Melbourne, six-foot C. W. A. Scott and dapper Campbell Black, were roaring along from Port Darwin to Charleville, a 1380-mile hop over Australian bushland this afternoon, well ahead of their nearest competitors.

Parmentier and Moll, the flying Dutchmen, were going at increasing speed over the shark-infested Timor Sea, en route to Port Darwin, and the American pair Roscoe Turner and Clyde Pangborn were some hours behind them in third place, en route from Singapore.

From Italy came word of tragedy. Flying Officer H. D. Gilman of Sussex and a co-pilot named Baines were incinerated when their plane burst into flames after taking off from Rome.

Scott and Black, reaching Australian territory from England in the amazing time of two days, four hours, 38 minutes, only a third of the previous record time, lost only three hours at Port Darwin for engine adjustments.

They had flown over the Timor Sea for 2½ hours with only one engine functioning. In wretched weather conditions. Their big British plane, however, was righted at Darwin and they were off again before the flying Dutchmen could catch up.

Scott and Black left Darwin at 1.55 p.m. G.M.T., with a 1,389-mile light to Charleville, and the last lap of 787 miles to Melbourne ahead of them. After they had limped into Darwin with one motor, Scott remarked, "I never wanted so sincerely to see Australian shores in all my life as when that port engine failed."

Dutchmen "Step On It."

The flying Dutchmen, cruising in a mammoth plane with passengers, quit nursing their engines and stepped it up in a desperate effort to overtake the Englishmen. Behind them Turner and Pangborn were also hurtling along non-stop from Singapore to Darwin.

Lieut. Cathcart Jones and Ken Waller, flying a sister ship to that used by the Mollisons—a De Havilland Comet with Gipsy VI engine—were still in fourth place. Forced to turn back to Allahabad for motor adjustments, they took off from there again this afternoon.

Night was falling when Scott and Black reached Darwin, and when they finally took off again it was nearly the middle of the night there—1.55 p.m. Greenwich time. They hoped to reach Melbourne in the early afternoon of Tuesday, local time (about 9 p.m. E.S.T. to-night.

There, thousands of persons were already waiting to greet the finishers at Flemington race-track, while many others travelled to Charleville, the last compulsory stopping point.

The English pair's stay of three hours at Darwin, enforced by engine adjustments, was by far the longest halt they had made since taking off from London early on Saturday morning — nearly 10,000 miles distant. They stopped only 3 minutes at Baghdad, 60 minutes at Allahabad and 80 minutes at Singapore.

Malcolm MacGregor and Ken Walker, New Zealanders holding fifth place, reached Jodhpur, India at 3.45 p.m.

Mollisons Drop Out

The Mollisons gave up fourth place at Allahabad because of the failure of their starboard engine. One of the pistons was stuck with the cylinder head burned through and another piston functioning doubtfully.

Although out of the race, they hope to proceed to Australia if they can secure spare parts.

Seven Perish In Ontario Over Week-End

H. W. VERMILYEA LODGED IN JAIL AT BELLEVILLE

Prisoner is Placed in Line-up in Toronto for Identification.

TALKS FREELY.

Brought From Toronto to Belleville by Car on Sunday.

BELLEVILLE, Oct. 22—Harold W. Vermilyea was remanded until Saturday, Oct. 27, when he appeared yesterday afternoon before E. J. Butler, K.C., Magistrate for the Ninth District, on a charge of matricide, the Crown alleging that he killed his mother with a hatchet near the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. A. Faulkner, on the night of Oct. 4. The proceedings were brief. He was brought before the Magistrate in a room off the main reception room at the police station, B. C. Donnan, K.C., Crown Attorney; his two guards on the long trip across the continent, Provincial Police Inspector Hamar Gardiner and Plainclothes Officer Fred Izard of the local police force, and members of the press being present. B. C. Donnan, holding the charge, said, "Harold W. Vermilyea" and Vermilyea answered, "Yes, sir."

Former Charge Read

"You are charged that you did on Oct. 4, 1934, kill Aurelia Vermilyea, I would ask that the accused be remanded to the county jail until Saturday, Oct. 27."

Neither Magistrate Butler nor the accused spoke. The Magistrate signed the commitment, and in a short space of time Vermilyea was turned over to Jailer G. H. French, and a special guard has been placed at the jail. During the proceedings Vermilyea puffed away on a fat cigar, his hat perched at a rakish angle at the back of his head, and seemed not the least bit interested in what was going on.

Instead of the prisoner being brought by train, he was brought to this city from Toronto by motor car, arriving about 4.10 p.m., but was kept in the Chief's office for nearly half an hour, waiting for the Magistrate and Crown Attorney to put in an appearance.

Soon after 9 o'clock Sunday morning began the business of tightening the coils of evidence. Inspector Gardiner and Sergeant Izar called at the Don Jail for their prisoner, and took him to City Police Headquarters on College Street. There he was placed with ten unknown men in the glare behind the one-way screen, while, invisible before him in the darkness, passed the men whose testimony the Crown will use in its effort to send him to the gallows. Their evidence will be used to complete the police version of Vermilyea's movements in the week or so preceding the phone call which he made to his sister from his California home on Saturday, Oct. 6, two days after the murder. Other witnesses—airways men and taxi-drivers—are on the United States side of the line, ready with their evidence when it is needed.

WILD B. C. GALE CREATES HAVOC ON COAST LINE

Boats Are Torn From Moorings, Many Dashed Ashore.

DUCK HUNTER LOST.

VANCOUVER, Oct. 22 (CP)—One man was believed drowned, a number of others narrowly escaped the same fate, and property damage mounting into thousands of dollars to-day was left in the wake of a southeast gale which swept the Southern British Columbia Coast and lower mainland during the week-end.

K. C. Macgowan, New Westminster, B.C., is believed to have lost his life while duck hunting in the vicinity of the mouth of the Nicomeki River. Macgowan was in a punt with a party of hunters when the gale struck. His companion, P. R. S. Ker, in another punt, managed to reach shore where he secured a gas boat and rescued three other duck hunters. No trace was found of Macgowan.

John Rupert narrowly escaped electrocution when he touched a live wire which had been blown from a power line. Taken to hospital he was revived after several hours by an inhalator crew.

An unidentified youth was rescued from his overturned sailboat in the water off Locarno Beach. He had been clinging to the craft for several hours. The body of an unidentified man was washed up on the beach. Police believe it is that of John Craig, 55-year-old janitor, who has been missing for more than ten days when he left in a small sailboat for Bowen Island.

A small tug, "The Flyer," was sunk in the Fraser River at New Westminster when struck by a scow which had torn loose from its moorings. No one was on either craft at the time.

For several hours during the height of the storm, Vancouver was isolated from communication with outside districts, with the exception of Ladner and Port Moody. All telegraph and telephone connections were reported down south of here. Communication with Victoria, interrupted earlier in the day, was restored last night.

Three Experts on Oil Burning Furnaces Die as Match is Lighted at Tank.

MEASURING CONTENTS.

Mother and Son Succumb in Fire as Oil is Poured Into Stove.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 22. (CP)—Explosions, followed by fire, took five lives in Manitoba and Saskatchewan during the week-end, one explosion being due to careless lighting of a match and the other occurring when kerosene was poured on a kitchen stove.

John C. Collinson, K.C., 56, legislative counsel for the Manitoba government; Albert Andrews, 38, and L. A. Brockest, 45, experts on oil burning furnaces, were killed in Winnipeg when Mrs. Brockest lighted a match to measure oil in a funel tank.

Mrs. Charles Thody and her three-year-od son, Verne, were fatally burned when an explosion and fire occurred as Mrs. Thody poured kerosene on the kitchen stove at their home in Windthorst, Sask, 85 miles southeast of Regina. Two other children ran from the house but despite efforts of Mr. Thody his wife and youngest child died.

Son May Not Live

Lorne Brockest, 20, son of L. A. Brockest, was in hospital here with serious burns, and fear for his recovery was held. Mrs. Collinson was in hospital recovering from shock. The only other person in the house when the explosion occurred was Mrs. Collinson's niece, who escaped injury.

"In simple terms, it was another case of familiarity breeding contempt with disastrous results," said Fire Commissioner Edward Magrath who is conducting an investigation into the Winnipeg explosion. Relazing he might not recover from his burns, the younger Brockest gave a statement to investigators in which he said his father lighted the match to see how much oil was measured on a stick which had been put into the tank. The investigation is being continued.

Do Women Gain More From Experience?

Whether it indicates that women profit more by experience than men, or not, the fact remains that of 193 males and 12 females who were committed to imprisonment in the county bastile last year, only one woman was amongst the "repeater" class. She is a third offender.

In comparison there are 59 males who had previously been hostages in prison. Of that number 26 were second offenders; 13 were third offenders; and the remaining 20 had been "back of the bars" more than three times.

Of the total committals, 58 of the prisoners were married and 147 were bachelors or spinsters. Those who could read and write numbered 194, and illiterates totalled 11.

GUNMAN HUNTED IN OHIO WOODS

COMPANION ARRESTED.

WELLSVILLE, O., Oct. 22 (A.P.).—One of the largest posses in the recent history of the State beat today through the woods and thickets surrounding this village in a search for Charles ('Pretty Boy') Floyd, notorious Oklahoma gunman.

Wounded and desperate, Floyd escaped Saturday after a gun fight with Chief J. H. Fultz and two citizens who sought to arrest him and Adam Richetti, a confederate. Richetti was captured.

Melvin Purvis, head investigator of the Chicago Bureau of the Department of Justice, expressed the belief to-day that Floyd is either dying or dead in the woods near the village

Purvis gave his opinion after talking to George MacMillan, owner of one of two automobiles which Floyd appropriated in his flight from Fultz Saturday

MacMillan said Floyd showed him two bullet wounds, one in his back and another in the abdomen MacMillan also said that Floyd lost at least two pints of blood while riding in his car.

Both Richetti and Floyd are wanted in connection with the Union Station massacre at Kansas City in 1933, in which five men were killed

In his heavily guarded cell Richetti talked freely, but denied that Floyd was with him Saturday.

"I only met him (Floyd) once in my life," Richetti said. "That was about a year ago."

THE MARKETS

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, October 22. — Grain values melted away on Saturday as a result of persistent liquidating sales on the part of holders whose hopes of higher prices had given out.

Weakness of foreign markets, a development associated with reports of highly favorable wheat crop conditions in Argentina, weakened the price structure here. A district where large amounts of wheat are grown if the moisture is satisfactory, has received good rains, it was stated.

Wheat in Chicago closed unsteady at the bottom figures both of the day and the week, 1½-1¾c under Friday's finish, May 97½-97¾c; corn, ¾-1½c down, May 78⅝-78½c; oats, ¾c to 1⅛c off; and provisions unchanged to 5 cents lower.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

Exports to the United Kingdom of cheese, butter and eggs are expected to be substantially lower than last year by traders on the Montreal produce and dairy market on the basis of last week's figures.

Graded shipments of eggs in carlots or less advanced from 1c to 5c, being quoted at 37c to 38c a dozen for A-large, 34c to 36c a dozen for A-medium, 28c to 30c for A-pullets, 23c for B, and 19½c to 20c for C. Receipts were 6,107 boxes.

Fresh No. 1 butter was fractionally easier, with No. 1 in carlots or less selling at 19½c to 19¾c a pound. To retailers, solids were 20½c and prints 21c a pound. Arrivals were 6,476 boxes.

Fresh No. 1 butter was fractionally easier, with No. 1 in carlots or less selling at 19½c to 19¾c a pound. To retailers, solids were 20½c and prints 21c a pound. Arrivals were 6,476 boxes.

Current cheese receipts were slightly lower at 9c to 9¼c for No. 1 Ontario white, 9½c for No. 1 Ontario colored, 8½c to 8⅝c for No. 1 Quebec white, and 9c a pound for No. 1 Quebec colored. Receipts were 20,370 boxes.

Potatoes were unchanged, new Quebecs selling at 35c to 40c per 80-pound bag, and New Brunswick new Mountains at 40c to 45c.

WINNIPEG WHEAT.

WINNIPEG, October 22. — Last-minute support failed to prevail against the steady flow of selling orders in the short Saturday session of the Winipeg Grain Exchange wheat futures prices closing ⅞c to 1¼c lower.

Continued lack of foreign demand for Canadian wheat, and sharp declines in outside markets, resulted in considerable liquidation here, the October future being carried down to 75⅝c, December 76½c to 75⅝c, and May 81c to 81⅛c.

Buying from a source difficult to determine entered the pit in the closing stages, but failed to lift the prices more than fractionaly from the lower points. It was not believed the Government agency was in the market, however.

All other grain markets closed sharply lower. Chicago down more than a cent, Liverpool 1¼d to 1⅝d, and Buenos Aires ⅝c to 1c lower. Most market news on Saturday was bearish, and pessimism pervaded the pit throughout.

Cash grain spreads closed practically unchanged, following a session in which good demand was again in evidence for high-grade wheats. Buying of oats featured coarse grains futures.

TORONTO GIRL HELD IN DETROIT

Suspected Along With Lover as Police Probe 250 Robberies.

SURE MAN INNOCENT.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 22 (C.P.).—A 20-year-old Toronto girl who left home six months ago with a young man was held here Saturday for investigation into 250 robberies police claim were committed by her lover and two other men.

The girl, Grace Kennedy, was arrested in light-housekeeping rooms she shared with Edward Rumball. She was preparing coffee and sandwiches for Rumball and his friends when police seized her. They claimed Rumball, Robert Sissons and Carlton Preuty confessed to the robberies.

Miss Kennedy said Rumball gave her a wedding ring and an engagement ring to make their relationship appear conventional. Police said both rings were stolen.

The girl denied any knowledge of the alleged activities of Rumball. "Whatever he has done," she declared with a sad smile, "I'll forgive him. And I'll wait for him years and years. He is the only persons in the world that has ever been good to me. He took me away from a home where I wasn't wanted. He gave me better treatment than I'd ever known. He was gentle and he always thought of me first. I can hardly believe it is true, but if it is I'm still for him."

Miss Kennedy said her mother left home when she was seven and that subsequently she kept house for her father who did not permit her to go to parties and "play like other girls."

An event that was unusual and and very colorful was the reception held yesterday afternoon at Walkerfield House to commemorate the attainment of the sixtieth anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. William Jeffrey Green of 168 Brock street. The diamond anniversary was celebrated by a gathering together of a large number of old and new friends, over two hundred in number, of Peterborough's former Tax Collector and his wife, who, at an advanced age, still possesses the warm heart, the friendly smile and the genial handclasp of youth. At the assembly yesterday, no regrets were heard over the lengthy span of years which stretch behind this couple, but rather, on every side were repeated happy congratulations and pleasure at meeting old friends of former years. The handsome rooms at Walkerfield House lent themselves admirably to the occasion. Bright fires sparkled in the grates, and the reception hall, double drawing-rooms and tea room were literally filled with the quantities of beautiful flowers received by Mr. and Mrs. Green. Huge golden chrysanthemums glowed in massed bouquets in every corner, and bowls and vases were filled with gorgeous roses and orchids, spicy carnations, fragrant lily of the valley, Autumn-tinted zinnias and mauve 'mums of the single variety. The flowers made an effective background for Mr. and Mrs. Green, who received their friends in the front drawing-room. Mrs. Green wore a handsome gown of purple cut velvet, with matching turban, and carried an exquisite large nosegay of mauve orchids, lily of the valley and maidenhair fern, frilled with white lace paper in the old-time fashion. Included in the massed bouquets of chrysanthemums were the sixty golden blooms presented by the Women's Association and Women's Missionary Society of Trinity United Church, while an exquisite offering of orchids from the church choir, in which Mr. and Mrs. Green have always been interested, was accompanied by an expertly illuminated address, the careful handiwork of Mr. J. Kennett. The guests signed the Anniversary book in the reception hall with a handsome fountain pen, which, along with its companion, a pencil, repeated the gift of the Board of Trinity Church. In the dining-room, where refreshments were served, the large tea-table attracted all eyes and was the subject of admiring comment. The basic idea of a diamond anniversary was carried out in the decorative scheme. A large cloth of a type which was a favorite half a century ago and was in a splendid state of preservation, was used to commemorate the past. It was of white double damask, with a deep edging of knotted fringe. It was springled with glittering "diamond dust" and the same sparkling substance filled tiny crystal holders, banked with smilax, which were placed at each corner of the table. The cloth was bordered with huge butterfly bows of frosty cellophane, which formed a base also for the huge wedding cake in the center of the table, elaborately iced and decorated in pure white, and topped by snowy upright numerals: '1874-1934', in iced sugar. The cake had an interesting variation in its arrangement. The large lower section was separated from the upper layer by a six-inch space, with silver figures holding up the corners. In the space between was a small mirror topped by two roses. Gorgeous pink roses of the rich, deep pink of the Premier Supreme variety frilled two large crystal bowls which were placed at either side of the cake, on circular mirror reflectors. At each corner of the table were two tall lighted ivory tapers in low candlesticks of crystal and silver. The refreshments included little cakes with the numerals '60' emblazoned on their iced tops, and diamond-shaped white mints. Tea was poured by Mrs. Joseph Mills, Mrs. R. J. Kidd, Mrs. G. N. Gordon and Mrs. T. P. McCullough. Assistants were Mrs. H. Wightman, Mrs Walter Bellegehem, Mrs. F. Hooper, Miss Annie Wood and Miss Doris Burgess. Out of town friends who were present for the anniversary celebrations were Mrs. J. R. Stratton of Toronto, who motored down yesterday and returned to Toronto last evening, and who was accompanied by Miss Olive Gooding and Mr. J. R. Ardiel; Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Waite, Mr. and Mrs. N. McConnell, Miss Lena Paton and Mr. Alex Paton, all of Lindsay; Mr. Leon Webb of Toronto; also Mr. and Mrs. Guy B. Hutchings and Miss Barry Hutchings, Dr. and Mrs. R. W. Franks and Mrs. O. V. Cavanah, all of Toronto.

The Y.W.C.A. Campers' Reunion was held at the Y.W.C.A. on Saturday evening. Sixteen campers from out of the city arrived by car and train during the afternoon and by six o'clock forty-five campers had gathered for the delicious camp supper served in the club rooms of the "Y". At 7.30 other campers arrived and all assembled in the gymnasium for a program of games and contests in charge of Miss Dorothy Peace. The Toronto Campers later took charge of a program in the green room, which included recitations and a solo dance. A swim in the pool with the relay race won by the Peterborough team was enjoyed by all. Refreshments around the fire brought the happy evening to a close. Many of the campers remained over the week-end, staying at the "Y," attending church and visiting friends in the city during Sunday.

RED-BLOODED PEOPLE GET THE MOST FUN OUT OF LIFE

Elbert Hubbard once said, "No man ever successfully made love with a cold in his head". And this witty remark proclaims a truth we have all experienced in some way or another. We all know that work is easier . . . play is funnier . . . and life and love doubly desirable, when we are well.

Now, it's an actual fact that well people are more red-blooded than ailing ones. Vitality, radiant health and energy can be seen in the blood in the form of red corpuscles and the haemoglobin (red substance) which the corpuscles carry. When people have plenty of both they are truly "red-blooded".

Many, however, are below normal in red corpuscles and haemoglobin. A short time ago, 45 persons were examined by blood test to see how red-blooded they were. As many as 40 were low in their blood's red corpuscles and haemoglobin. These 40 received a thirty-day treatment of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and became so greatly improved in blood vitality . . . and consequently in health and vigour . . . that the examiner making the test was profoundly impressed.

This famous old remedy was originated by a Canadian authority to correct low vitality of the blood. Symptoms of this condition are lack of colour in the face, loss of energy or "pep", run-down feelings, nervousness, etc. Those who have such symptoms should take a 30-day treatment of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and feel strength, vitality and general bodily well-being returning to them, just as it did to the 40 people in the clinic. Full size package is 50c.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

There are certain attentions and courtesies due a mother and a family by those of a household. These should be reciprocal. It is a mistake to expect one or two of a family to be particular to give these courtesies, and for the others to feel no care about being equally gracious. One of these attentions which deserves especial attention is that of notifying those who are at home of the changes of plans, whereby the one away may be, or will be, detained beyond an expected time.

* * * * * * *

There is in this no hint of any attempt to be oversolicitous, or that any member wishes to keep tab on others. It is a courtesy which would be given a friend when making a visit. A guest would certainly do his best to let a hostess know if he could not be back later than an expected time. A few moments, of course, makes little or no difference, but should the delay be anything more than half an hour, courtesy demands that a notice be received by a hostess, unless circumstances prevent. Chief of these should be the impossibility to avail oneself of the use of a phone. A similar courtesy of acquainting a family of changes should exist.

* * * * * * *

Great anxiety may be caused by failure to let the family know of delays and detentions. One son who had not been well, caused a mother hours of grilling worry. He was delayed without letting her know that the business man he was to meet and have luncheon with was very late in arriving, and after the meal, had to be taken some distance to meet another later engagement. Everything was alright, except his failure to notify his mother and so prevent the wearing hours of worry.

* * * * * * *

There is no need of telephoning, in the usual order of events. Indeed it is a foolish thing for parents to expect members of the family to make a habit of calling the house without cause. It is even worse when a mother gets into the habit of calling up houses where a son or daughter is, just to keep in touch with them, or suggest it is time to come home. There is no anxiety by such communications. It is an unfortunate habit.

Your Health

By DR LOGAN CLENDENING

In spite of the depression, distribution of food seems to have been regulated so that too many people weigh too many pounds.

Most of those who do, do not want to weigh the extra pounds, and are constantly asking for methods to get rid of them. Now, it is perfectly possible to get rid of extra weight if you want to, but I am afraid that most of the people who say they want to get thin are unwilling to take the troubles and privations that are necessary.

There are a good many reasons for reducing. Roughly, they may be classed under the headings of the æsthetic, the utilitarian and the hygienic.

The æsthetic reasons are the ones which appeal to most of those who want a reducing diet. They want to be thin so they will be more comely, so they will be more attractive to their fellow men or fellow women, their husbands, wives or sweethearts, as the case may be. The old wail that "nobody loves a fat man" is simply doubled when it comes to the female sex.

The utilitarian reasons for reducing are that it is pleasant to do your work without undue effort, and it is nice to get your breath when walking up a slight incline. It is even nice to get your breath while lying on your back. There is no question on earth that in most situations in life extra pounds mean decreased efficiency.

The hygienic reasons for underweight are those which are seldom thought of but there is no doubt that certain diseases tend to appear in the obese—diabetes and high blood pressure leading the van. As to whether obesity is the cause of the diabetes or high blood pressure as some doctors maintain, I am somewhat skeptical, but it is probable that extra weight throws a burden on the heart, the circulation and the metabolism, which might easily tend in that direction. There is no doubt whatever that obese people are bad risks for surgical operations, and for such acute illnesses as pneumonia.

An easy way to determine whether or not one is overweight is to use the calculation popularized by Dr. Lulu Hunt Peters, which is as follows: Multiply the number of inches over 5 feet in height by 5½ and add 110. This will give the ideal weight. For example, if a person is 5 feet 7 inches without shoes, 7 times 5½ equals 38½, plus 110 is 148½. If under 5 feet, multiply the number of inches under 5 feet by 5½ and subtract from 110.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

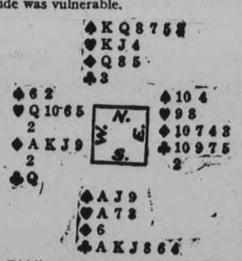
By E. V. SHEPARD

WELL-PLANNED PLAY

Some time ago I had the pleasure of seeing my partner, Frank A. Cox, of Worcester, Mass., play the following well-planned hand. Of course we could not bid what my partner made, as an opening lead of diamonds would have ruined a higher contract. Neither side was vulnerable.



Bidding went: South, 1-club; West, 1-heart, to show the higher ranking suit first; North, 2-spades, showing game probabilities and a possible slam in case our hands fitted; South, 3-spades, to afford my partner an opportunity to show a second biddable suit in case he held one; West, 4-diamonds; North, 4-spades; South, 5 spades, as I knew Frank would prefer to go down a trick to losing a possible small slam; North, 6 spades, ending bidding with a double by West.

The opening lead was the 9 of hearts, fortunately for us. Dummy's ace won. West played the 2, to request partner to shift to diamonds, in case East ever was lucky enough to gain entry.

North saw a possible chance of discarding a diamond upon dummy's clubs, in case West held at least 2 clubs. Dummy's ace of clubs dropped West's lone Q. This showed rather plainly that West held either 6 hearts and 5 diamonds, or 5 cards of each plus 2 trumps. Only a later test could show which West held.

The declarer led dummy's lowest club and ruffed. West discarded his 9 of diamonds. North led the 5 of spades. Dummy's J won the trick. The 2 falling gave no information worth while. North ruffed dummy's 8 of clubs, thus establishing that suit. He led his Q of spades, not intending to overtake with dummy's ace unless the 10 fell second hand. When that happened dummy's ace won the trick, as the declarer knew that West also must play a trump, clearing the spade suit.

Upon dummy's K-J-8 of clubs North discarded his 3 diamonds. West let go everything except his Q-10 of hearts and his A-K of diamonds. East played his 2 losing clubs, then let go his last remaining heart.

A heart was led. West played his 10. Declarer's J won the trick. The hand was spread, as the K of hearts and the 2 good spades gave the declarer a grand slam, or one trick above his small slam contract.

An opening lead either of trumps or clubs would have made things easier for the declarer. Only an opening lead of diamonds would have prevented the single overtrick.

Rumor Says Bennett Will Wed This Year

Rumors filtering back to Ottawa from Geneva, Paris and London, predict that Canada's bachelor prime minister, Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, has fallen victim to Dan Cupid's darts, and that within a year, he will lead to the altar a daughter of one of Canada's best known families—Mrs. Arthur B. Colville, of Montreal, twice a widow.

Mrs. Colville, nee Kemp, is a daughter of the late Sir Edward Kemp, formerly one of the chieftains of the Conservative party. She first married Francis C. Stephens of Montreal. Her husband died soon after the war and she later married A. B. Colville, of Montreal, who at one time was a lawyer in Campbellford. Following the death of her second husband, Mrs. Colville has resided with her daughter, Frances, in the suburbs of Montreal.

LOCAL OPTION.

Premier Hepburn's suggestion to a deputation representing three counties which waited upon him to urge the prohibition on the sale of beer by the glass in their district that they could get rid of beverage rooms by passing local option, scarcely meets the situation.

The local option method is handicapped by the fact that the passing of such a measure in any community would mean the elimination of Government liquor stores as well as the beverage rooms, and it would be admittedly difficult to secure sixty per cent. of the vote in favor of such a proposal.

It would be quite a different matter if it were possible for the citizens of a municipality to vote on the beverage room question by itself, but if the two systems have to be taken into consideration in the plebiscite, it would be impossible in most communities to get a favorable vote.

Thousands of people who are opposed to beer by the glass and would vote against such sale if given a chance to do so are at the same time convinced that the plan of Government stores is the best method yet devised of handling the liquor question, and they would not support a local option measure if it involved the elimination of the vendor system.

If the two questions could be unscrambled and communities were free to vote on the beer question as a separate issue, there would be little doubt of the result in the majority of municipalities in Ontario.

GETTING CLOSE TO THE PEOPLE.

The method that is being followed by the Liberal party in Alberta under the leadership of W. R. Howson to get in touch with public opinion in that province is one that might be emulated by political parties generally.

The Alberta Liberals have held and will continue to hold a number of conferences in various parts of the province for the discussion of economic and other questions, and the leaders go to these meetings, not as speakers, but as listeners anxious to get the viewpoint of the people on all kinds of issues that are of interest in the districts visited.

As a result of these conferences, the Alberta Liberal members of the Legislature and other leaders of the party will have a wealth of first-hand information at their fingertips as to what the man on the street thinks about policies and public problems; instead of going round the country laying down certain political doctrine as absolutely essential to the welfare of the province they are putting their time to much better advantage by studying public opinion and getting closer to Mr. John B. Citizen, which is an advantage not only to the Liberal party but to the public generally.

It never hurts a political party to get an accurate line on what the people are saying and thinking, and Mr. Howson and his associates out in Alberta seem to have hit upon a simple but effective plan of attaining that end.

FEWER GO TO GAOL.

Whether there is any connection between hard times and crime can be argued either way after comparing figures given in the annual report of the Peterborough gaol for the year ending September 30 with the records of the same institution for some years previous.

The number of gaol commitments during 1933-34, according to the report just released, was 205, which was the lowest in six years, 22 less than the preceding year and less than half the number of prisoners committed to the local bastille in 1930, which saw the record peak reached with a total of 434 commitments.

Seeing that 19 30 was the first full year of the depression, that fact might support the theory that economic slumps are a direct factor in breeding offences against the law.

On the other hand, the year that preceded 1930 was a most prosperous twelve months, and yet during that period 376 persons were committed to the Peterborough gaol, and that was a much higher figure than those recorded for year following 1930, which was, of course, a much worse period so far as conditions were concerned.

Then again the fact that from the first year of the depression gaol commitments have steadily decreased until last year saw fewer than half as many must turn the scales definitely and permanently in favor of the theory that there is no link-up between an economic slump and human delinquency.

At any event, the marked decrease in the number of persons committed to gaol here is a matter upon which the community is to be congratulated, for it indicates a healthy condition of affairs and a regard for law and order and decent living that is entirely commendable.

THE SECRET OF SUCCESS.

Rex Beach, well-known American author, does some enjoyable "kidding" at the expense of the medical profession in the current issue of Esquire, and even the doctors will get a smile or two out of his theory that a man's money-making ability is to be found either in his appendix, his tonsils or his gall-bladder.

"I have been reading a lot lately about glands," says Mr. Beach. "According to the doctors, they are highly important: this one controls growth, that one affects mental development, another gives the owner a bass voice and still another improves his putting. About all the medicos haven't told us is which gland secretes the serum of success. The gland, organ, bone or blood vessel which the average man would like to locate and positively identify is his money-maker.

"Well, I have discovered it! I have fixed beyond question the anatomical gadget in or about which is concealed a man's earning capacity, and my discovery is the more remarkable in as much as I have never studied medicine in a serious way and my knowledge of anatomy is so slight that I can't carve a duck without pulling its legs off. Presumably, however, I'm not the first layman to stumble upon a great scientific truth.

"No, I have never studied medicine or surgery, but I have studied doctors. Moreover, I read the newspapers and the movie magazines. Glands, indeed! Nonsense! Hooey! A man's success, his money-making ability, his Dun and Bradstreet punch isn't concealed in any ductless doodad: it springs either from his appendix, his tonsils or his gall-bladder! Those are the sources of earning power, and that's how they rank in importance—at least your physician plays them in the order named: [illegible] append[illegible]ight, tonsils for place and gall-bladder for show.

"I convinced myself of the facts above stated not by inconclusive laboratory tests, but by the exercise of common sense and a simple process of reasoning. Follow me, please: nine out of ten appendix or tonsil or gall-bladder operations are performed upon people with bankrolls. Hospital statistics and the daily newspapers prove it. Poor and inconspicuous people, the failures, the indigent members of society, rarely undergo such operations, which plainly indicates, to me at least, that they are not and never have been equipped with those organs.

"Or put it this way: how many cases of appendicitis do you find among the unemployed? Do you encounter any gossip about tonsils in the lobby of the Mills Hotel? Did you ever know a panhandler to complain about his gall-bladder? The answer is three rousing noes."

SHOUTS FOR RECIPROCITY.

"Reciprocity between the United States and Canada is both rational and sound," shouts the Detroit Times, with all the emphasis of capital letters, in a recent editorial pronouncement.

In view of the fact that the United States for years has been trying out the experiment of high tariff barriers, endeavoring to make of itself a self-contained country, to the detriment of its foreign trade, this pronounced conversion to the value of international trade is interesting.

One looks for the reason, and the Detroit Times discloses it in the same editorial. The Times, and other American newspapers, have been watching the effect of the Empire trade agreements consummated within the countries of the United Kingdom as a result of the Ottawa conferences, and it finds that the flow of trade between British possessions is increasing, to the detriment of trade in the United States; and this causes the Times to declare that "it would be a fine step in the right direction if Canada and the United States . . . could disengage themselves from the strangle-hold of false trade conceptions and put their mutual commerce upon the same basis of complete reciprocity." Here, it says, is a great call for true statesmanship on the part of both Canada and the United States. "What an achievement for the two great democracies of the west," it says, "to blaze the way for the world to the restoration of normal international trade!"

Just at present the United States is doing most of the worrying in this regard. Canada is doing very nicely in the other direction, looking to closer trade within the Empire, and conditions in this country are improving at a faster rate than they are in the United States. We have no NRA in this country—but the people have confidence in themselves as shown by the over-subscription of the recent Conversion Loan floated at Ottawa, and we are steadily progressing to better times and more prosperity.

The Times editorial was inspired by a recent address by Vincent Massey, former Canadian Minister at Washington, speaking before the conference on "Current Problems," who very properly referred with regret to the diminished hold which commercial reciprocity has upon the present generation of both Canadians and Americans. Although the relations between the two countries were satisfactory and friendly, he deplored the tariff obstructions to the natural flow of goods across the imaginary frontier between the two nations, as bringing loses which fall as heavily upon one people as upon the other.

Mr. Massey undoubtedly expressed the view of the Canadian people. We have nothing but friendly feelings for the great nation to the south, and we would like to trade with her upon an equal basis, if she would consent to do so.

But when the Times in the same editorial suggests that Empire trade agreements should be discarded in order to promote trade reciprocity with the United States, it causes us to pause, and further consider the real reason why the Times is shouting for reciprocity at this time. Can it be that the American newspaper, noting the success of these Empire agreements, fears that as time goes on and further reciprocal trade arrangements are made within the British Empire, it will be the United States that will be the greater loser?

However, this will not influence Canadians. International trade is necessary to success, and there is no doubt this country will hold itself in readiness to give serious consideration to any arrangement which will increase the flow of goods between these two great nations—but they will have to be arrangements which will not disturb adversely the progress which Canada is making as a trading nation with other parts of the United Kingdom.—Chatham Daily News.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Bank robbers in an Ohio city used a municipal fire truck to escape. There should be a law against that kind of thing.

The new T and N. O. Commission has been announced with Premier Hepburn as temporary chairman. The Commission has a responsible job on its hands, for the successful operation of this railway is of paramount importance.

Mr. Hepburn has been well advised to ignore Liberal protests over the fact that a road contract has been given to a Conservative firm. As the Premier points out, the successful contractor submitted the lowest tender and was entitled to the contract.

WELLAND, ONTARIO.

In the first Welland canal a wooden aqueduct was built to carry the canal over the Welland river. Around the spot grew up a settlement which was known from 1829 on as the Aqueduct. In 1842 when the wooden aqueduct was replaced by one of stone the name was changed to Merrittsville, in honor of Hon. William Hamilton Merritt.

The settlement was incorporated as a village on July 24, 1858, as the village of Welland, taking its name from the river. Incorporation as a town took place Jan. 1, 1878, and as a city July 1, 1917.

WHO'S A MAGNOLIA BLOSSOM?

You can recognize the Thin Skin Tribe at a glance. They have a HURT look.

If you have the right kind of eyes you can see an invisible chip on one shoulder. And if you have the right kind of ears you can hear them saying, over and over again to themselves and to you: "I dare you to cross that line!"

That line is their Dignity. It is their Pride. Or some other nuisance-possession that makes people who are always thinking of themselves the most unhappy creatures on earth.

People with thin skins suffer agonies. They bruise so easily and everybody bumps them. They live in a rough-and-ready world that is always hurting them. They are the One Hundred Per Cent Magnolia Blossoms and they belong on tall trees instead of down here with the rest of us. Of course, you know about those Magnolia Blossoms—that are so lovely before they are picked, so remote and pale and waxen among the big glossy leaves. But pick one and touch it and at once it turns brown and ugly and that's the end of its fine beauty.

The Thin Skin Tribe are proud of being magnolias. They think a thin skin is a heritage like a gold mine or something to be boasted about, nourished and preserved.

They are proud of being Sensitive Souls, and they wouldn't change for anything. They sneer at the thick-skinned roughnecks and wonder out loud if such crude fellows can really enjoy life. They WANT to suffer!

Well, I for one can't agree. I came to the conclusion some time ago that my own Sensitiveness was hardly more than a red rash of egotism, more of a disease than a blessing, more shameful than virtuous. I made up my mind that Jack Dempsey was right when he soaked his fists in brine to make them tough and win the championship of the world.

There aren't enough championships to go around and few of us could win them, anyway. We needn't soak our fists to knock out Willards; we need not go around soaking people to show how tough we are.

But we OUGHT to toughen up our spirits so we can live comfortably in this world and stand a few of its hard knocks without whimpering. It's better to be an elephant, any day, than one of those shivering, hairless Mexican puppies. Better, for everyday living, to be a cabbage than a magnolia blossom.

EARLY HISTORY OF METHODISM IN MARMORA VILLAGE IS TOLD IN CONNECTION WITH JUBILEE

FIRST CHURCH IN 1874.

Dedicatory Services Held on November 4th—Few Members Living Who Were Present.

(Examiner Correspondence)

MARMORA, Oct. 21.—"Memoirs Night" observed by St. Andrew's United Church, Marmora in connection with its Diamond Jubilee week, resurrected for its members much history of early Methodism in the district that proved to be highly interesting. Through the kindness of various members who after diligent research, compiled papers to be read on that particular evening the writer has been enabled to assemble the following historical sketch of the local activities of this religious body from 1858 onwards.

Minutes of Marmora Township council reveal that in 1858 a Rev. Mr. Brown, Wesleyn Methodist Minister, desired to hold protracted meetings in the old Town Hall. A motion to this effect at a council meeting was defeated by an amendment "That the minister be allowed the use of the hall for divine service and not for protracted meetings". The Town Hall continued to be used for divine services whenever held by both Methodist and Anglican ministers until the churches of these denominations were erected. Names of different ministers of the Methodist Church of those days are mentioned in the old minute book of Marmora L.O.L. No. 319. Two thus mentioned are Rev. Sparrow and Rev. J. B. Smith.

First Resident Pastor

In 1862 the Rev. Philip Rose, a Wesleyan Methodist minister resided in the village. He was taken ill with heart trouble in December of that year and the late James C. Bowen, then a lad of 17, rode the preacher's fast horse, Dick, to Stirling to get the nearest doctor, the late Dr. English. The minister's daughter begged Mr. Bowen not to spare the horse but her father expired before the rider reached Stirling. He was buried in Marmora Protestant cemetery. Through the years, like many another grave, his grave came to be forgotten. Then one day, the late William Phillips, cemetery caretaker, found the broken headstone. He persuaded the late Michael Doupe to repair the stone so that today it still marks the last resting place of this former pastor.

The next record is found in a directory of Hastings County, published by Sir Mackenzie Bowell in 1864. In that year Rev. John D. Dowler, Wesleyan Methodist and Rev. E. N. Howard Episcopal Methodist both conducted services in Marmora Township and Rev. M. McGillvray had charge of Presbyterian services. Rev. Dowler resided in the village. He occupied what for years was termed "the small yellow house" situated near the river and now occupied by John Dougall. It was moved many years ago to its present site from another site near M. Kowri's residence but a short distance separating the two sites. It was the first Methodist parsonage to be built in Marmora. It is left on record that in November 1866, the Rev. J. Dowler united in marriage, Hiram Post and Mary Ann Settle. Shortly before her death a few years ago, Mrs. Post spoke to many relatives of her distinct recollection of the room in the old parsonage in which she was married.

The next resident minister was the Rev. Archelaus Doxsee. On April 23, 1869 he and his wife Alma Doxsee, bought parts of lots 7 and 8 on the east side of Barstall Street from the Cobourg-Peterborough and Marmora Railway Company for the sum of fifty dollars. Doubtless the next eighteen months were spent in organization work for on Sept. 19, 1871, the minister sold this same property to the trustees of the Wesleyan Methodist church for the same amount, fifty dollars.

Started Subscription

On the first subscription list taken for the building of the church appear 129 names who contributed a total of $531.50. This subscription was started on Aug. 8, 1868 a few years before the building of the church was commenced. The plans and specifications for the church were prepared by John D. Evans. The first church furniture was obtained from George Tickell of Belleville. The stone for the foundations of the church was drawn by horses from the western side of Crowe River over the lower bridge and dumped on the road in front of the church. The late William Knox with his yoke of oxen attached to a stone boat drew the stone from the roadway to where they were needed for foundations. The church was originally braced with iron rods made by the late Charles Clairmont. When the bill was presented for payment, he would not accept any, saying it was his donation to the new church. The late T. P. Pearce, a member of the Building Committee willed the lot east of the church (now the Bowling Green) to the church at his death.

The members of the first Board of Trustees were Peter Pearce of the township of Belmont, miller; Henry Jones, Thomas Broadworth, Richard Broadworth, John S. Brown, Richard Gawley and Philip Brenton, all of the township of Marmora, yeoman. The second parsonage was built on this land, probably in the following summer, and a high board fence enclosed it. Rev. A. Doxsee took up residence there. He remained in the village at least two more years when he was succeeded by the Rev. W. H. Cook. In July, 1874, the balance of Lot 7 on the corner of Brinstall and Matthew streets was purchased from the same company for the same amount as paid before for land, namely fifty dollars. The personnel of the board had changed somewhat in those two years, Richard Yawley, Richard Broadworth and Philip Brenton having left the district; their places were taken by John Mills, Marmora village, William Lough, Marmora township and James Scott, Rawdon township. The church was built in the summer of 1874.

Dedicatory Service

The dedicatory and opening services were held on November 4th of that year. No record is available of those services and the few old members who were then present can recall little concerning them. Miss Alexander Anderson, oldest lady member of St. Andrew's congregation of to-day, had her child christened at the morning service but through her attentions being given to the baby, has not been able to recall much. Mrs. Robert Lough was one of the choristers that day but is unable to recall any particular phase of the services. A public dinner was held the following day, November 5th, in the old town hall. The only record to be found of that event is a letter of invitation sent to the local Orange Lodge which is still preserved with the older records of the lodge. It mentioned that the Ladies' Benevolent Society of the Canada Methodist Church, Marmora, purposed preparing a public dinner and respectfully invited officers and members of Marmora L.O.L. No. 319 to attend, stating at the same time that tickets were 75 cents, admitting two. It was signed by Mrs. Cooke, the minister's wife. Mrs. Alexander Anderson baked for this dinner and assisted in the serving of that ladies' society and to-day she rejoices in her membership in the Women's Association and baked for the Diamond Jubilee supper on October 15th.

The church possessed a cottage organ and a choir at the time of its dedication. Mrs. Benjamin Beddomes was the first organist. She and her husband had recently arrived from the Old Country and being a musician of some ability, she had a music class in the village. The church membership roll of 1874 is very interesting. In the village there were three classes while in the surrounding country, there were ten branches connected with the Marmora church.

List of Members

Following is the list of members as given on May 3rd, 1874, Marmora Branch:

Howe's Branch—James Howe, leader; 4 members: Mrs. Deacon, Sarah Campion, Jane McIlwaine.

Spry's Branch—William Cooney, leader; 9 members.

12th Line Rawdon Branch—Hiram Reddick, leader; 9 members.

Plunkett's Branch—Susan Plunkett, Mary Ann Houghton.

The first reference made to Springbrook in the old church records is in 1878 when three classes and 168 members are reported.

Two committees carried on the work of the church—a board of trustees and a quarterly official board.

The pews were rented at $3 for a long pew and $2 for a short pew on the understanding that on all occasions of public gatherings such as quarterly meetings, missionary meetings and funerals, all pews be free. The names of the first pew holders are appended.

Long pews—Mrs. J. Spry, Mrs. A. Loucks, Richard Campion, Wm. Gladney, Dr. Williams, T. P. Pearce, preacher's pew, William Broadworth and George Loucks.

Short pews—Mrs. Jackman, Mrs. Acker, William Paget, William Minehin, Miss Runnels, Mrs. Wilkes, Mrs. J. Wilson, Thomas Warren, William Marsh, Mrs. Southworth, Charles Hales, Robert Broadworth, J. R. Outwater, Alexander Boyd, Gladney, and J. W. Pearce. A sexton was hired to clean the church and lamps, light the lamps and heat the church at the wage of $25 a year.

On January 1st, 1876, a tea meeting was held, the proceeds amounting to $111. This became an annual affair, the date being set according to the moon. Owing to the large extent of the circuit, with its ten appointments outside of the village, one minister was unable to do the whole work so an assistant minister was appointed. Besides the two ministers there were from one to four local preachers at a time and several exhorters. In Rev. Cook's time the minister's salary was $300 a year but in addition he was allowed $315 for board, $75 for horse keep, $15 for travelling expenses and incidentals and $20 for fuel. The second minister who was a single man, received $200, $75 for his yearly board and $60 for horse keep. These early Methodists tried to raise half of the finances in the circuit and the balance would be supplied by the Mission funds.

The country appointments paid the greater part of their givings in produce as cash was very scarce. They gave vegetables, grain, hay, butter, eggs, cheese, fruit and such like. The minister had practically to live on whatever the people chose to give. Some years therefore, when a certain product was plentiful, he would have a surplus and a shortage of other things that were scarce that year. The produce was reckoned according to its value.

Rev. W. H. Cook was succeeded in 1876 by Rev. W. H. Peake. In 1879, during his pastorate, a Harvest Home festival was held. There were no houses near the church and parsonage save the Clairmont residence. The surrounding land was pasture land.

At this festival the dinner was served promptly at noon. Evergreen trees and boughs were brought from the woods and large booths were constructed of this material. Tables and benches were built and in the booths thus furnished, the dinner was served. This festival was held annually for several years, being looked upon as quite an event and at times yielding as much as $150. It was in 1877, during Mr. Peake's pastorate, that the local Presbyterians asked for use of the church for their fortnightly Sunday afternoon services and this was granted on the sole condition that they assisted in keeping the church comfortably clean. Rev. Peake also instituted a Sabbath School session soon after his arrival on the circuit, he himself being the superintendent. In his last year at Marmora, he established a Sunday School at Springbrook, George Wiggins being appointed its superintendent. The wings of the church were not added until 1903 when over a thousand dollars was subscribed at the re-opening, Rev. R. McCullough being the pastor at that time.

Ministers serving on the Marmora circuit from 1874 to 1894 were:

1876-1879—Rev. W. H. Peake.
1879-1882—Rev. S. S. McCaulay.
1882-1885—Rev. A. Wilson.
1885-1887—Rev. J. W. Andrews (taken ill and a supply sent).
1887-1890—Rev. W. C. Beer.
1890-1893—Rev. J. A. McCamus.
1893-1894—Rev. D. Balfour.

TWO REBELLION LOSSES BILLS.

On this date, in 1840, an historic proclamation was issued at Toronto by Sir George Arthur, then lieutenant-governor of Upper Canada. It gave assent to a rebellion losses legislation remember only that passed by the Parliament of the Province of Canada in April, 1849, the passage of which provoked the riots, the burning of Parliament House at Montreal and the assaults upon the person of Lord Elgin, the governor-general.

Yet the similar act passed by the Legislature of Upper Canada in 1840, equally important, is generally ignored by historians. The text of the proclamation shows that at the session of the 1839-40 there had been passed "An act to ascertain and provide for the payment of all just claims arising from the late Rebellion and Invasion of this Province," that it had been presented to the lieutenant-governor for assent on February 10, 1840, but had been reserved "for the royal pleasure." It was then apparently sent to England for consideration by the officers of the crown, whose reply did not reach Toronto for eight months (an illustration of the slowness of communications in those days). The instructions being to assent to the bill Governor Arthur had no alternative but to issue his proclamation.

It was not until nine years later that the Parliament of the Province of Canada (which had been created in 1841) undertook to pass similar legislation for Lower Canada. Then the fires of racial hatred broke into flame, for there is little doubt that the Montreal riots were the work of so-called "Loyalists." There had been little difficulty in reaching a fair basis of the bill of 1849; the difference lay in that a large proportion of the members from Upper Canada were opposed to like treatment of French claimants that had been successful in the Upper provinces. Happily there were enough English members to join with the French members and give equal justice to all.

More Passenger Cars Are In Use This Year

To the present time this year a total of 5900 passenger and 690 commercial automobile license plates have been distributed by J. J. Dorris, official license issuer for Peterborough and district. In addition 7162 driver's permits and chauffeur's licenses have been sold.

The figures with the possible exception of commercial licenses show a slight increase over the corresponding period last year, indicating that almost 500 additional passenger cars are in use this year.

It might be stated, that last year's figures showed an approximate decrease over the year 1932 of ten per cent, abnormal conditions having prevented many people from driving their motor cars. That the number of passenger cars in use has showed an appreciable increase again this year, might be taken as a further indication that conditions generally have improved, Mr. Dorris believes.

DRIVING PERMIT IS SUSPENDED FOR 3 MONTHS

FINED $20 AND COSTS.

Convicted of reckless driving, William G. Lanouette, 266 King Street, was to-day fined $20.00, and $16.80 costs, or in default 30 days' imprisonment, while his driving permit was suspended for three months. A charge of criminal negligence was withdrawn by the Crown.

In imposing sentence, Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., commenting on the prevalence of reckless driving, stated: "If this sort of thing is not stopped the life of people will be continually endangered on the city streets. I am making suspension of the accused's licence for a long time a part of the penalty, as I do not think he is a desirable type of person to be driving a car."

Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., conducted the prosecution, and Jacob Low the defence.

Happened in September.

The charge against Lanouette resulted from an accident on Water Street North on September 10 last, when Mary Aiken, 8-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Aiken, 12 Inverlea Avenue, suffered a fractured base of the skull and other injuries when struck down by the accused's car as she was crossing Water Street on her way home to dinner from school.

Fred Flaherty, the first Crown witness, said he was waiting for a bus on the west side of Water Street near Barnardo Avenue, when he saw some children chasing each other. He heard the Lanouette car approaching from the north and saw the little girl go past him "She started to cross the road and angled south to avoid being struck by the car. The car struck the child about 6 feet from the curb and afterwards went up over the sidewalk and on to the lawn before coming to a stop," he said

Never Looked Up.

"The child never looked up when she ran on to the street. She appeared to see the car after she was across the road." Flaherty testified He added that the car followed the child, but had it kept on its course he believed it would have missed the child.

Evidence was given by Helen Grant, Margaret Cornyea, to the effect that as they were walking north on the east side of Water Street they saw the car strike the child as she was approaching the east curb. The latter witness remarked that she heard a scream and saw the car "chasing" the child

Gordon Hawley was driving a Sanitary Ice truck and had stopped on Water Street about midway between Barnardo Avenue and Argyle Street. As witness stopped his truck, he said, he noticed a car pass the truck. He believed it to have been the car driven by Lanouette. He did not witness the accident, he said, because he had stopped to pick up a passenger.

Described Injuries.

Harry Aiken, father of the child, described the injuries received by the child, while Detective-Sergeant William Meagher gave evidence of a statement made by the accused in which he said he had been driving the car at a speed of 19 or 20 mi'es an hour and that the accident had been unavoidable when the child darted from in front of the Sanitary Ice truck.

In his own defence the accused testified that he had been driving in to the city from Nassau, accompanied by Keith Jarvis. He followed a Sanitary Ice truck part way down Water Street and when it stopped near Barnardo Avenue he had to pull out to pass the truck. As he did so, he stated, he saw four children. Two of the children commenced to cross the road, and one of them continued on acro s while the other child returned to the sidewalk.

Brake Band Snapped.

Attempting to avoid an accident, the accused testified that he applied his brakes so hard that the brake band snapped, and the car went up over the sidewalk.

themselves satisfied with work and wages and they decided they would work and fight if necessary to keep our work." Two Provincial police stationed at the camp and five others who rushed to the scene did not intervene as the strikers shouted at the men from behind the barricade, finally leaving on a 20-mile walk to Tudhope with threats they would return when the rivers were frozen with "a thousand men to shut the camp down." Camp workers strengthened their fortifications in case of future trouble from the strikers, who took up quarters in tents at Tudhope.

For three hours Mr. Heenan conferred with strikers at Sault Ste. Marie, but no settlement appeared. He informed the men the Government would adjust all demands made except those regarding wages and refusal to work until the Cochrane district strike was settled.

Heenan's Offers.

Offers made by the Minister included a board of inquiry; reduction of stumpage dues charged by the Government if they were shown to be too high, and a study of the company's finances, profits and condition of the timber to ascertain if higher wages could be paid

"If you adhere to the demand that we must accede to the Cochrane strikers, then we can get nowhere," he declared, and he warned against use of violence.

"Next to Advertising Matter"

THERE used to be a favorite phrase of advertisers. They asked to have their advertisements placed "next to reading matter" in the belief that such a position would assure more attention.

But to-day the editor might well ask to have his news items placed "next to advertising matter," for very definitely the advertisements have a tremendous reader following. To-day's advertisements win eager attention because they help people buy intelligently, quickly, without waste of time, and get full value for the money spent.

That is the great function of advertising—to guide you swiftly and surely to wise, economical buying. The best advertisement is always the one that gives you the facts you want—simply, honestly, without exaggeration.

SOAP AND HOUSE SHORTAGES WORST PROBLEMS IN MOSCOW

PEOPLE SEEM HAPPY

(By Coralie Van Paassen, Central Press Canadian Writer.)

MOSCOW, Oct. 22. — The last thing I saw in Paris on the evening I took the train for Moscow was an announcement on a huge billposter on the wall in the north station that the "grand journaliste," Henri de Kerillis, had just returned after a month's trip in Russia and was going to address a mass meeing where he would tell the world all about the "enfer Sovietique," the Soviet hell. It was too late to cancel my ticket, and the whistle was blowing so I resigned myself to the inevitable. In Berlin the next morning I bought The Berliner Tageblatt at the Friedrichstrasse station and in that paper on the front page I read a graphic account by Herr Paul Scheffer about "Die Hoelle von Raeterussland," the hell of Soviet Russia. It was a most discouraging description and I sat mentally debating whether I would get of fthe train, until I saw some Nazis on the platform hell some other Nazi and I thought about the days when Herr Scheffer was still a free man and could write what he wanted, and the whistle blew again and off we went.

Passenger's Warning

A little beyond Warsaw a lady came in my compartment, who told me in the course of a conversation she opened, that she was the daughter of a former Russian diplomat. She not only advised me strongly to go back whence I came, but she flew into a fit of hyterics when I said I had intention of going back until I had at least seen Moscow.

"You'll see nothing but cemeteries," she called out. "You have been led astray by propaganda from the red murderers. There is nothing in Moscow, nothing but corpses and hunger and misery.

"But," I said, "madame, there were 15,000 American tourists visiting Russia this summer alone and I know several of them who came to tell me in Paris how much they were impressed. . . ."

"Lies, lies, lies," she screamed again. She was bringing the other passengers out into the corridor with her yells. "The buildings they show foreign visitors," she went on, "are just walls, wall fronts like the movie people put up in Hollywood, there is nothing behind them but cemeteries and corpses. You are going to a hell on earth."

Hell again, I thought. But I said nothing, for the woman was obviously out of her mind.

Find Few Beggars

And now I am nearly ten days in this Soviet "hell" and I must say that it isn't such a bad place after all. The streets are full of people and busy. On the faces I can't read any sign of melancholia. Maybe I am a victim of illusion, or maybe the Soviet power has called out those tens of thousands of pedestrians just to impress the foreign visitors. It is true I have seen a few beggars and I have seen a street fight between two men, but I am so used to the sight of the beggars who sleep in the doorway across the street from where I live on the Rue St. Romain in Paris, that I did not pay enough attention maybe to their Russian colleagues.

All joking apart, I declare, that all that vast host marching up and down the streets of Moscow (a few, but very few excepted), looked well-fed and healthy. I heard a good deal of laughing. And on the whole they were well-dressed and well-shod. Emile VanderVelde, the Socialist leader, and Belgian Minister of State, who visited Russia a couple of years ago, told us at our home in Paris that he thought a lot of people in Mcscow were abominably shod. Things have improved a lot since M. VanderVelde was here. For with the exception of some peasants in the market, who wore a kind of straw shoes—of the kind their fathers have worn for centuries, home-made things—all the people were rather heavily booted. As in Poland and in all Slavic countries the men seem to go in for knee boots, even those working in offices. Stalin is always photographed in high boots. It must be the mud of centuries that accustomed them to those heavy things.

Wear Old-Fashioned Garb

You don't see anyone extravagantly dressed in Moscow. The professors at the Polytechnic Institute which I visited this afternoon do not differ in dress from the workmen. A shirt with a belt and high boots, just as you see in old photographs of Count Tolstoy on his estate. The czar also used to dress that way when he was in private, I am told.

Few men wear collars. Only the younger element go in for this fashion. But all are astonishingly clean. Especially after nightfall when everybody puts on a white roubashka it seems, to go promenading along the boulevards or in the parks. A whole city of people dressed in white. But they keep their boots on. No, I must confess my first impressions of this great big new world are not so bad. No hell, at any rate. I would not dare make comparisons with such streets as the Etuves St. Martin in Paris or the Neleswski in Warsaw. Moscow certainly is not one big slum as some have described it. It swarms with old palaces, forty times forty churches and masses of imposing new buildings.

But the housing question, in spite of the extensive rows of new apartment houses and the nationalization of hundreds of palaces remains acute. The population stands now at three millions seven hundred thousand. They can't build fast enough to accommodate the influx. Moreover ,the death rate is constantly sinking and the birth rate is going up as nowhere else in the world, statistics show. There are strange things for a country which some call a hell. There is still a shortage of certain articles, soap, for instance. I had heard of this before I left so I had taken a whole box of soap with me, for my own use and to do some people a favor with.

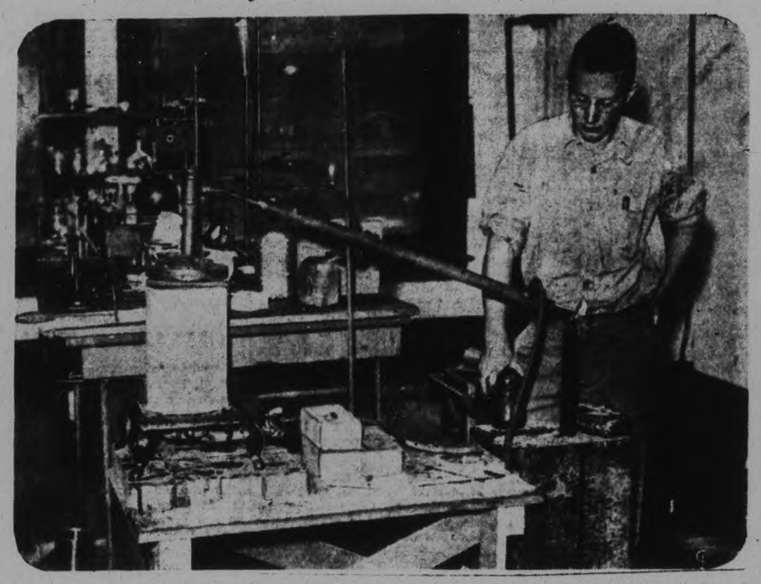
Won't Risk Speculation

I have one cake left. The customs officers at the border looked at the box in amazement. "You don't need all that soap in a month," said one of them. "What do you intend to do with all that soap? Do you intend to sell this soap?" "No," I said, "what do you think?"

"I think," he said, 'I will let you keep one cake and hold the rest here, where you can claim it when you pass through here on your way out." And he added: "We don't take chances on speculators in ths country!"

"Bureaucrat!" I hissed at him. "Bourgeois!" he hissed back.

Alberta May Make Canada Independent For Oil



The earth of norther Alberta, already famed for its gold, silver and radium, may soon become famous for another precious substance—oil. Tests are being made of tar sands found chiefly in the McMurray area, 300 miles north of Edmonton. These tests, conducted by Max Ball of Denver, in Toronto, show, it is claimed, a process for extracting the oil from the hydrocarbons in the bitumnous sands. ABOVE shows experiments being carried on by Lee Dougan, honor graduate of University of Toronto. If tests are successful, it is claimed Canada will win complete independence from the empire for oil.

POLICE DANCE EVENT OF WEEK

Luigi Romanelli's Orchestra Expected to Provide Big Drawing Power.

SEVERAL PRIZES

The second annual Policemen's Benevolent Ball to be held on Friday evening under auspices of Peterborough Police Department, is the big social event of the current week, at the Canadian Legion Hall.

Unremitting effort has been made by the bluecoats to guarantee the success of the ball, and the committee was fortunate in securing Luigi Romanelli's, King Edward orchestra to play for the dancing.

While the orchestra is expected to hold a wide appeal for dancers and non-dancers alike, further provision has been made for those who do not wish to "trip the light fantastic," by the inclusion of cards on the program of entertainment. Card players however, are respectfully reminded to bring their own playing cards.

With reference to the orchestra, it might be mentioned that the leader plays an old Italian violin valued at $25,000. Luigi Romanelli has led the band during the last few years to a position of international eminence among the makers of the most modern dance music, and he numbers among his admirers the Prince of Wales and his brother, Prince George.

Romanelli was born in Belleville and received his first violin tuition there. His initial public appearance as a violinist was made at the age of seven years. Later he went to Toronto, to continue his studies, and finished them in England and Belgium. At the age of nineteen he became violinist in theatrical orchestras and two years later toured Canada as solo violinist. Thereafter he was orchestra director at several Toronto theatres before going to Europe for musical research work.

His European activities on behalf of Allen's Theatres led to an appointment as general musical director for the chain, a position which Romanelli left only when he was appointed to act in the same capacity for the United Hotels Company of Canada.

Romanelli and his band acquired a reputation as welcomers of Royalty. Whenever the Prince of Wales has passed through Toronto on his way to his "E.P." Ranch in Alberta, Romanelli's orchestra has been called upon to provide the music for the events given in honor of the royal visitor.

Associated with Luigi and his orchestra are his brothers, Don and Leo. The music library used by the band, is valued at $45,000 and the titles to the selections alone make up a book of 104 pages.

The committee in charge of the ball, which is headed by Sergeant Arthur Thomas, as chairman, has decided upon a number of practical prizes for novelty dances and cards. There are over fifteen prizes to be distributed. Other members of the committee who have all had an equal share in drawing up the program and completing other preliminary arrangements, include: Inspector James Reid, secretary-treasurer; Detective-Sergeant William E. Meagher; and Constables Gordon Puffer, W. Piercy and J. Deannard.

Patrons and patronesses of the ball, as announced by the committee are: Mayor Roland Denne and Mrs. Denne; His Honor Judge Sheldon L. Smoke and Mrs. Smoke; Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., and Mrs. Langley; Chief Constable Samuel Newhall and Mrs. Newhall; Alderman Robert S. Cotton and Mrs. Cotton; and Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C.

ANNUAL REPORT OF COUNTY GAOL

Commitments Lightest in 6-Year Period—50 Per Cent. Decrease.

COMPARATIVE FIGURES

The number of prisoners committed to the county gaol during the year recently ended was the lightest on record in the past six years.

There was a total of 205 commitments during the past year, the report just released by Sheriff F. J. A. Hall reveals, as compared with the high record of 434 commitments in 1930—a decrease of over fifty per cent.

The following table, covering the six-year period, provides interesting comparisons:

	Male	Female	Totals
1929	342	34	376
1930	405	29	434
1931	376	25	401
1932	253	9	262
1933	218	9	227
1934	193	12	205

While commitments show such a marked decrease, it is noteworthy that in the past year the largest number of prisoners accommodated at one time was 37—the highest in the six-year period.

The cost of gaol administration for the year, including food, clothing, fuel, officers' salaries and other items, was $4,507.13, an increase of $461.83 over administration costs for the previous year. The daily cost per prisoner for rations was 12.16 cents and staple food supplies were obtained by tender.

Breaches of the Liquor Control Act, as in former recent years, again accounts for the largest number of commitments in any one category of offences, the report reveals.

There were 72 commitments for breaches of the Liquor Control Act during the year, apart from 11 "drunk and disorderly" commitments as distinct from the other liquor offences.

205 Committals.

The number of prisoners committed during the year was 193 males and 12 females, there having been 4 prisoners on remand on October 1, 1933, and 15 prisoners awaiting trial on that date.

Under the head of "Movement of Gaol Population," in his annual report to the Provincial Secretary, Colonel T. D. Johnston, the gaoler, notes: Discharges on bail, 6 males, 1 female; acquitted on trial and discharged from custody, 14 males, 1 female; prisoners with option of fine or gaol, who paid fines and were discharged, 6 males; discharged on suspended sentence, 13 males, 2 females; discharged for other reasons, 5 males; sentenced to gaol and discharged at expiry of sentence, 120 males, 4 females; sent and transferred to reformatory, industrial school or penitentiary, 32 males, 3 females; in custody (on remand) September 30, 1934, 2 males; in custody serving unexpired sentences on September 30, 1934, 14 males, 1 female. Total, 212 males, 12 females.

The various nationalities of prisoners as listed in the report were: Canadians, 175; English, 11; Scotch, 11; Irish, 3; United States, 2; other countries, 3

Occupations: agricultural, 18; commercial, 16; domestic, 11; laborers, 96; mechanics, 58; professional, 3; no occupation, 2; unascertained, 1.

Commitments of persons to gaol during the twelve months covered in the report were for the following offences: Breaches of by-laws (not B.L.C.A.), 4; breaches of Liquor Control Act, 72; contempt of court, 1; drunk and disorderly (not B.L.C.A.), 11; escaping from or obstructing constable, 5; escape from prison, 2; lunatics, 2; selling liquor to Indians, 1; vagrants, 23; common assault, 6; felonious assault, 1; shooting with intent, 2; manslaughter, 2; carnal knowledge, 5; forgery, 3; fraud, 4; housebreaking and robbery, 16; larceny, 30 receiving stolen goods, 1; indecent assault, 2; other offences, 12.

TOM BRIGHTMAN CURLING CLUB FOUNDER DEAD

Founded the Firm of Brightman and Company in 1895.

SHORT ILLNESS.

One of four Local Citizens Who Founded the Curling Club.

One of the business men longest established in this city and a founder of the Curling Club was lost to Peterborough in the passing of Thomas Brightman in Nicholls Hospital on Saturday. He was in his seventy-eighth year.

Known familiarly as "Tom" to a host of friends in the sporting and business worlds throughout the district, Mr. Brightman's death came as a shock to the community despite the fact that his health had been unfavorable of late. He was active in business until quite recently but succumbed two weeks after a sudden removal to the hospital.

Mr. Brightman came here in 1895 and, with his brother John, founded the firm now known as T. Brightman and Company in premises on the corner of Water and Brock streets. Dealing in hides, wool and raw furs, the firm enjoyed early prosperity in the rapidly-growing town of that day. Removal to the location near the corner of Aylmer and Hunter streets where the company operates at present, followed shortly. In 1913, his son John entered the firm, but Tom Brightman continued up to this year to carry a goodly share of the responsibilities.

He joined with George W. Morrow, T. F. Matthews and the late Robert Neill in founding the Curling Club around the turn of the century and, not long afterward, served his year in the president's chair. Extremely fond of the game, he developed a skill which entitled him to consideration as one of the club's first-class curlers and figured often in championship play. It was one of his deepest regrets that his club never succeeded in securing a tankard victory. His active membership continued through last winter.

Bowling President

Mr. Brightman was long a power in the Peterborough Curling Rink Company and served as president for many years up to his death. For a considerable period, he was fond of lawn bowling and was one time the president of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club. His fondness for hunting and fishing was well known.

He was born in Phelps, New York, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Brightman, soon after their arrival in America from England. Securing his schooling at Oak Corners, a community close to Phelps, he made his start as a young man near his home. He married Frances Armstrong before coming to Canada.

In addition to his wife, one daughter, Mrs. Mildred Carr, and his son, John, both in this city survive. Remaining also are three brothers, John in Peterborough, and Fred and Joseph in Rochester, and two sisters, Mrs. Frederick Yull, Rochester, and Mrs. Claude McNally, Erie, Pa.

With funeral services being held at the home, 345 Hunter street west, at 3 o'clock this afternoon, the remains are to be forwarded to Phelps, N.Y., by an early train Tuesday morning for interment in the family plot. Rev. Dr. C. V. McLean, pastor of St. Andrew's United Church, the church which Mr. Brightman attended, is officiating at the ceremony here.

21ST BIRTHDAY OF SCOTS CLUB

Rev. Dr. C. V. McLean and Hon. G. N. Gordon Speakers at Event.

PLEASING PROGRAM.

Scots turned out in large numbers and filled to capacity the Woodmen of the World Hall last Friday evening to celebrate the twenty-first anniversary of the Caledonian Club in Peterborough. A banquet, to which about one hundred and fifty guests sat down, followed by a splendid program of music, song and story, provided a memorable evening for those who attended.

The hall was suitably decorated for the occasion with the flag of Saint Andrew and the Scottish Standard occupying places of honor. The portrait of John Moyes, the Club's first president, was draped in honor of the occasion. Table decorations were carried out with maple leaves, heather and rowans, also pumpkins holding lighted red candles. On the platform, at a long table centred with a silver basket of thistles, were seated sixteen guests of honor, and presided over by A. D. Clark, president of the club.

R. French catered for the splendid repast enjoyed by the guests, previous to which Piper Alex. Milne played some stirring bagpipe music. The guest speakers of the evening were Rev. Dr. C. V. McLean and Hon. G. N. Gordon, the honorary president of the club.

Welcomes Gathering.

The chairman, in opening his remarks, welcomed the large gathering. He made special reference to old members present, who although not on the present membership roll, indicated by their presence that they still held an interest and kindly feeling towards the club and also the Scotsman's love of clannishness for which he is admired and oftimes blamed

Miss Marion Ralston opened the program by singing "Scotland Yet" and "There's a Sign-post Near Loch Loman'." John Smith gave two vocal solos, "Little Mother o' Mine" and "The Indifferent Mariner." Miss Jessie Pattison sang "Carmena" and "Mighty Lak a Rose." R. Wagstaffe sang "Hail! Caledonia," "Old Man River" and "The End of the Road."

The chairman proposed the following toasts: "The Twa Countries," replied to by Rev. Dr. McLean; "The Absent Ones," replied to by R. French; "To the Lasses," replied to by R. Hendry.

Dr. McLean, himself the self-styled proud son of Scottish pioneers to Canada, was much enjoyed in his brief historical talk linking up the "two countries"—Scotland and Canada. "Canada," said the speaker, "commenced her career in 1621 in Nova Scotia (New Scotland), which territory had been gifted by James 1st to one Sir William Alexander, who proved himself to be one of the world's foremost colonizers. The offspring of these courageous colonists make a large percentage of the population of the North American continent." Dr. McLean received great applause for his interesting and timely address.

Hon. G. N. Gordon expressed himself a Scotsman and proud member of the Caledonian Club. Scotland held the proud record of being the greatest colonizing and most highly-educated nation in the world, not only as far as professions were concerned, but in trades also, and in every branch of life the people of that small country realized the importance and necessity that in learning a thing was to learn it well. Mr. Gordon was well received and heartily applauded.

Mr. Clark read a list in rotation the names of those who had occupied the president's chair, and among those past presidents present were: William Lyburn, Robert Veitch, Robert Hendry, William Petrie, Andrew Jackson, and Robert French. Informal remarks recalling instances of the club's beginning were made by most of those fomerly mentioned, and many a long-forgotten name and story was recalled to the enjoyment of those present. James Milby, Stroyan Leith and John Smith, all former officers, also recalled the club's early days and mentioned many names associated with its early years.

Accompanists for the evening were Miss Pearl Smith and Mrs C. Searles.

An executive in charge of the banquet included Mrs. R. Bethune (convenor), Mesdames J. Wyllie, A. Wilson, J. Brown, W. Brown, R. Higgins, J. Sugden, R. French, R. Nimmons, W. Petrie and Misses C. Blair, M. Wyllie and M. Kingsbury, and Messrs. R. French, W. Petrie, J. Blair, A. Burgess, J. Miller, J. Wyllie, J. Hemphill, and A. Clark.

D. B. Little proposed a vote of thanks to all those who had contributed to the evening's enjoyment.

DIAMOND WEDDING IS CELEBRATED BY MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM J. GREEN

Spent Their Entire Wedded Life in the City of Peterborough.

HONORED BY FRIENDS.

A unique event of yesterday was the celebration by Mr. and Mrs. William Jeffrey Green of the sixtieth anniversary of their wedding.

Vital statistics show that only one in ten thousand married couples attain their fiftieth wedding anniversary, and the percentage would doubtless be much higher in the case of anniversaries commemorating six decades of wedded life. Mr. and Mrs. Green, therefore, have a remarkable record.

Mr. Green, who was eighty-six years old on February 12th of this year, was born at Springville, in a house erected on the very spot where now stands the Presbyterian Church (now United). Although an ardent Methodist and United Churchman all his long life, he was, as he tells you himself with a smile, "born within the four walls of a Presbyterian church"

His parents were Mr. and Mrs. John Green, natives of Devonshire, England, and pioneers of the Springville district

He has for the past sixty-one years been a membor of the Peterborough Lodge of Oddfellows, and on May 18th of last year was presented with a sixty-year Honorable Veteran's jewel of the Order.

Since his early boyhood, Mr. Green has been keenly interested in sports. Baseball, hockey, lacrosse and cricket were his hobbies, and he shares with Dr. J. B. Pentland the renown of being one of the most enthustastic baseball fans in the city.

For thirty-three years he held the position of tax collector for the city of Peterborough, resigning in 1933 in his eighty-fifth year of life, after making a record as one of the oldest civic officials in the Dominion. In the position of tax collector he succeeded the late Henry Denne, father of Mayor Denne, on the death of the former.

Mrs. Green was born in Brockville. She is a living contradiction of the adage: "Change the name and not the letter; change for worse and not for better." For her maiden name was Green also, and she and her husband have been a model happily married couple during all their long life.

She was Annie Green, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Green, natives of Ireland, who came first to Brockville, and later to Peterborough, living on George Street, just about where the Elite Cafe now stands. It was there, at the home of her parents, that Mr. and Mrs. Green were married on October 21, 1874, by the Rev. Mr. Beck of St. John's Church, of which Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Green were adherents.

They have resided during their long wedded life entirely in Peterborough, spending thirty-five of the sixty years since their marriage, at 375 Brock Street, which they left only a short time ago.

They have always been faithful adherents of the old Charlotte Street Methodist Church and Trinity United Church, attending during the past fifty-five years, and are considered to be the oldest living married couple in the united membership of the two churches.

Yesterday, they were presented with handsome gifts from the board of Trinity Church, the choir, Women's Association and Women's Missionary Society. Mrs. Green was president for many years of Trinity W.M.S. A very large number of handsome gifts were received also from relatives and friends.

Yesterday afternoon, a reception for old friends, attended by over two hundred people, was held at Walkerfield House.

Magistrate's Court

Arrested for being drunk in a public place on Saturday evening, a young man created a disturbance while being taken to the police station that was this morning awarded a 20 day "stretch" in the county gaol, when he appeared before the magistrate.

On the charge of being drunk, to which he pleaded guilty, he was ordered to pay a fine of $10 and $4.50 costs.

The defendant denied any knowledge of having caused a disturbance, although the Chief Constable told the bench, "he might have been charged with the more serious offence of assaulting the police and civilians as well."

Other high scores were marked up by Mel Harrison, 54; Gordon Hunter, 52; B. Pierce, 51; J. Blakley, 48; S. Wainwright, 47; N. McQuade, and C. Alex Sollitt, 41.

CELLS AT GAOL SORELY TAXED

37 Prisoners at County Gaol at One Time During Year.

PROVISION FOR 24

During the twelve months preceding the end of last month, according to the annual report of Peterborough County Gaol the highest number of prisoners confined at any one time was thirty-seven, which included three females, while the lowest number incarcerated at any one time during the year were five prisoners, including one female.

Accommodation at the gaol provides for a maximum of twenty-four prisoners, there being twelve single male cells; three double female cells, and three double male cells.

At no time during the past six years has the number of prisoners confined at any one time been as heavy as those remarked upon in the gaol report covering the past year. The previous high mark in the last six-year period was struck in 1930 when thirty-one prisoners were in custody at one time. The low for the same period was marked up in 1929, when a single occupant had possession of the gaol for a brief period.

It is within the memory of Robert Rae, veteran turnkey, that many years ago there were four consecutive days when the gaol cells were wholly unoccupied.

The average daily population during the whole of the past twelve month period was 16.14.

All members of the Peterborough Male Voice Choir are requested to attend rehearsal to-morow (Tuesday) evening in the Y.M.C.A. at 8 o'clock. Others who contemplate joining the choir are urged to do so at once.

OVERFLOW CROWD HEARS EVANGELIST

Seating Capacity of Full Gospel Pentecostal Church Taxed.

The seating capacity of the Full Gospel Pentecostal Church was severely taxed last night with an overflow in the vestibule.

The evangelist delivered an address on "The Mark of the Beast" which was the fifth of a series of Prophetic addresses. Mrs. Wilson used the seventh chapter of Daniel coupled with the 13th chapter of the Revelation as a basis for her address, and clearly showed current events to be the fulfillment of the prophecies contained in the Bible pertaining to the last days.

Evangelist Wilson

In confirmation of her own interpretation of the Scriptures contained in these chapter, she quoted remarks of Pope Pius XI as contained in his booklet "The Church and the State" pertaining to the oath or contract which Mussolini has intro duced to the Italian people. The evangelist pointed out that in the 15th verse of the 13th chapter of the Revelation the fact that an image to be erected which should have power to speak, and brought before the congregation the fact that already Mussolini has erected in Italy an immense image 236 ft. high, in the head of which is a broadcasting station. This information was gleaned from the Hamilton newspapers in 1933. Whether or not this is in fulfillment of the prophetic scriptures it certainly shows that such an image as described in the scriptures can be erected in a very short time. The Evangelist also showed the possibility that in fulfillment of scripture a State Church would be established making it possible for the religious world to be directed and controlled by the personage referred to in the Revelation as the one great head over the religions of the world.

After speaking for over an hour, the evangelist announced that she would continue this address on Tuesday evening and also that consecutive messages on prophecy would be delivered on the following nights of the week.

SCHOOL ACT IS TO BE AMENDED

Townships and Villages Likely to Get Aid in Secondary School Costs.

CHANGES IN TEXT BOOKS.

KITCHENER, Ont., Oct. 22 (CP)—Numerous amendments to the Ontario School Act were forecast here Saturday by Dr. J. F. Honsberger, president of the Ontario Urban School Trustees' Association, following an audience in Toronto with the Ontario minister of education.

Heading a delegation of 10 executive members of the association, Dr. Honsberger said he was assured that the province intends to provide education facilities for young patients in sanitarium for the treatment of tuberculosis. At present, only the institutions at Freeport and Hamilton provide such instruction, and the government pays no share of the cost.

It is likely that another amendment will be aproved to remedy an awkward situation which has arisen since townships of less than 4,000 population and villages of less than 1200 population have been compelled to pay the cost of educating their pupils in secondary schools without financial aid from the county. In Waterloo County, the village of New Hamburg and the Township of Wellesley have been affected.

The minister made no promises to restore grants to the former levels for urban schools, but he appeared interested in the delegation's complaint that too frequent changes in text books are impairing teaching efficiency.

The delegation requested that the government assume the cost now being met by certain municipalities in educating their own deaf and dumb children since, they said, the province is spared the expense of educating these children in provincial institutions.

P. C. I. Subdues Belleville On Home Grounds

GORDIE YOUNG'S FIELD GOAL TURNS TIDE FOR LOCAL TWELVE

CHAMPIONSHIP TILT HERE.

Led by the speedy, line-crashing plunges of "Mick" Magee and Jack Gardner, the Peterborough rugby team uncovered a dazzling, power-wrought offensive in Belleville on Saturday afternoon that gained a well-earned 11-9 triumph over the husky Belleville squad in an intermediate O.R.F.U. game.

The Petes turned in their best effort of the season to send the Quinte crew to defeat and knot the standing in the group series. The game that will decide the group championship will be played here next Saturday.

Refusing to be disheartened in the third quarter, when the breaks again favored Belleville, who secured a lucky touchdown to take the lead 9-6, the Petes tied the score with a sensational field goal from placement, kicked by Gordie Young from 35 yards out at a difficult angle, and then went on to win.

Line a Stonewall

Not only on the attack but also defensively the Petes showed clear superiority over their weighty opponents. At one stage Belleville were on the Petes' three yard line, and in three plunges could not crash through for the touchdown.

The visitors got off to a bad start and within the first two minutes, Belleville had secured a rouge on a booming kick by Blaker.

Then with Magee and Gardner crashing through openings in the Belleville line the Petes started a march up the field. At midfield a Belleville kick was blocked and Gardner took the bounding ball on the run and galloped 30 yards to the ten-yard line before he was grassed. On two plunges Gardner was handed the ball and the second carried him over the touchline for a major score. Hope converted it neatly and the Petes were leading 6-1.

Magee reeled of a 25-yard run as the quarter ended with play at midfield.

Belleville Force Play

Young, the Petes' quarterback, had been injured in the first quarter and the team's play seemed to lack something during his absence in the second stanza. Rigby took Newson's short kick-off and went 10 yards. Then Rigby tossed a forward pass to McKee for a gain of 25 yards. After Richardson had run out one attempt of Blaker's for a rouge, Belleville returned and Blaker kicked to the deadline for one point.

The Quinte squad continued to press, Hope's kicks being somewhat short as compared with long punts Blaker was getting off. Broadbent took one of Hope's punts and raced 30 yards to Peterborough's three-yard line. The Petes' line stiffened and took the shakening onslaught of three of Belleville's heaviest plunges in a row and did not move. Blaker kicked a minute later for another rouge.

Belleville Lucky Again

Belleville got their big break at the start of the third quarter. Blaker kicked over the Peterborough goal-line. The bounding ball eluded Magee. Richardson had it in his arms, when Whytock, playing onside, plunged for it. The ball rolled loose and Whytock feel on it for a touchdown. It was converted and Belleville was in front 9-6.

Kirkwood intercepted a Belleville forward pass and the Petes were again on their way. Magee and Gardner tore off several gains, advancing the ball to Belleville's 35-yard line. From there Young booted a field goal from placement, tying the score.

Young hurled a perfect pass to Reynolds for a 30-yard gain and Hope booted a rouge to put the Petes one up. With plunges by Magee and a nice run-back of a kick by Young, the Petes were again in scoring position when Hope's kick was blocked and Cole recovered the ball for Belleville.

In the final quarter Gardner took over the kicking duties and with perfect direction was skying punts 40 and 50 yards. Magee intercepted a Belleville forward to put play in the homesters' end. After a nice run-back of Blaker's kick by Young and Richardson, Gardner booted for a rouge.

Made Sure Of It

For the remainder of the quarter play remained deep in Belleville territory. Gardner, Ashmore and Magee advanced the sticks twice and Young attempted a placement from 20 yards out, but it was wide. Belleville could not gain and the Petes were kicking on the first down during the final five minutes.

While Magee and Gardner were the most consistent ground gainers, the whole Peterborough team had a big hand in the victory. Weir, Reynolds and Dinesen did some great tackling, while the linemen opened up nice holes for the ball carriers. Waddell and Sloan stopped many Belleville plunges as they tried to break through around centre.

Whytock, Blaker, Rigby and Burdes were the Belleville stars, although the whole Quinte crew found the going tough against the aggressive attack and defence of the Petes.

The teams:

Peterborough—Flying wing, Dinesen; halves, Richardson, Gardner, Magee; quarter, Young; snap, Sloan; insides, Ashmore, Waddell; middles, Gerow, Kirkwood; outsides, Hope, Reynolds; subs, Newson, Weir, Francis, Janeway, Spenceley, Mesley, Broadley, Mitchell.

The scoreless wonders of Queen's Hamilton's bone-crushing Tigers, the battalion of brawn and speed that Sarnia sends into contention—these were the unbeaten football teams of the east today. And, you might add, what teams.

They won battles as grim and savage as any played in years, to keep their records clean, battering down opposition that always seemed on the point of cutting loose and shaking goal line dust from eager feet. In the midst of it all a rare spirit of courage by Ted Reeve's tricolor warriors surpassed any other performance.

Third Tricolor Victory

Reeve called on only three reserves to help his suspension-ridden team defeat University of Toronto by 4-3 and ride into the Intercollegiate Union lead with a most astonishing record. A thrilled crowd of 7,000 at Kingston watched the Tricolor win their third straight victory without benefit of touchdowns.

It was the most surprising upset of a day of upsets in which Tigers drummed out a 17-9 victory over Toronto Argonauts to capture the Big Four lead; Sarnia downed a dazzling St. Michael's College team 19-12 and took over O.R.F.U. leadership; Ottawa's disappointing Roughriders defeated Montreal 6-4; Hamilton Cubs trounced a favored Balmy Beach 14-1 and McGill accomplished the downfall of Western Mustangs, 12-5.

The build-up for the Queen's Varsity struggle left nothing apparently to the imagination. It was to be a slaughter and the Blues were to wield the axe. The Tricolor could match each of Varsity's victories over McGill and Western, but there was no comparison in the scores. While the Blue brigade had piled up big margins, Queen's had been barely edging out triumphs.

Even had five players not been suspended from Athletic activities for belonging to banned fraternities, the Tricolor would scarcely have rated over Varsity. As it was the Blues were beaten back in the first half while Johnny Munro matched Bob Isbister's punting and Ed Barnabe kicked a field goal.

Barnabe's last-minute field goal a week before gave Queen's a single point victory over McGill. He tried a second one against Varsity in the third quarter and it went wide of the deadline for a single. Leg-weary grimly determined, the Tricolor tried to stall off the raiding Torontos in the fourth session and they didn't succeed.

The Queen's line braced in the shadow of its own goalposts but three times Varsity marched up that point. Three times the ace placement kicker, Cam Carry, took aim from close range and each time he failed, the ball rolling for a trio of singles. Gray kicked five field goals against Western seven days previous.

Tigers Subdue Argos

A howling crowd of 17,000 in Toronto watched Tigers smash Argos into submission with a second-half display that for sheer savagery has never been surpassed in a football game in the east. They scored a touchdown, two field goals, kicked one goal, two singles and make a safety touch in the last two periods.

They accomplished all this with a ferocious assault that was bred in the front trenches, perhaps in the fighting heart of old Brian Timmis himself. Timmis led the charges that cut the Sculler wingline to shreds, knocked down kicks and sending Argo plungers back on their heels. Timmis and Frank Turville and Seymour Wilson were the stars.

GARNET SQUAD HOLDS EARLY LEAD FOR 10 TO 7 VICTORY

REGULARS ABSENT.

Hard pressed throughout the final quarter, the Peterborough Collegiate senior rugby team managed to safeguard the lead secured early in the game at Belleville on Saturday afternoon and gained a 10-7 victory over the Belleville Collegiate squad.

It was touch-and-go in the last ten minutes of the contest as the Quinte squad surged up the field in their determined drive against the weakened garnet and grey team. However, the visitors battled hard, and aided by the long booting of "Grif" Young, held back the attack and clung tenaciously to their slim lead.

P.C.I. had to go through the game without the services of four of the team's regular players, Marsh, Giardino, Grose and Wilson, who were unable to participate owing to minor injuries. The absence of this quartet of stalwarts weakened their attack and defence.

Made Early Bid.

Coach Bamforth's squad threw everything into the attack at the outset, and were rewarded by three points when Young booted a nice placement kick. Belleville notched one point in the first quarter on a rouge.

Maintaining the pressure in the second quarter, P.C.I. staged a bucking game that swept them to the Belleville touchline. Clark slipping through the line for the try, which Young converted. Aided by a few miscues, Schreider again booted the ball over the P.C.I. line for a rouge. On a Belleville fumble Jopling graced 20 yards to the ten-yard line, but P.C.I. lost the opportunity to score due to an offside.

Jopling threw a forward pass to McPherson in the third quarter and Young was able to kick another rouge. Failing to make any gains by plunges, Belleville staged a fake kick and Schreider made a 20-yard run. Belleville continued the advance and then were held for downs on P.C.I.'s 40-yard line. Another Quinte push was stopped when McPherson intercepted a forward pass. Schreider did throw a forward to Temple for a big gain, and play ended in the quarter with Belleville in possession on P.C.I.'s 30-yard line.

Fake Kick Makes Gain.

Archibald intercepted another Belleville forward pass and carried play back to midfield. A big gain on a fake kick started Belleville on another advance S.chreider raced around the end for a 25-yard gain and Hilton crashed over for a touchdown, which was not converted.

Belleville continued to press up the field, and only the long kicking of Young combined with the smart tackling of P.C.I. flying brigade, Archibald and Clark, kept play at midfield.

Hilton and Schreider were outstanding for Belleville, both doing practically all the ball carrying. For the winners, Young, Archibald, Jopling and G. Clark were the stars, with Jopling being the squad's most consistent gainer.

CALEYS LOSE 5-4 DECISION ON SATURDAY

C.G.E. Outplays Losers in Second Period to Gain Semi-final Victory.

CLARKE SCORES FOUR.

The Canadian General earned the right to meet the Canada Packers in the final of the Father Phelan Trophy when they defeated the Caledonians by a score of five goals to four, in the semi-final tussle on Saturday afternoon before a good attendance of spectators.

In the first half the Caledonians outplayed the winners, but dwindled to naught in the second period as Stan. Clark rattled three goals in a row past the Scots custodian. He had four counters himself. Wagstaff scored the best goal of the game.

Scots Hold Lead.

The opening exchanges proved to be in favor of the Caledonians as their forwards bombarded the C. G.E. from all angles. Bolton in goal fisted clear a rocket drive from the foot of Wagstaff. Then a series of shots from Dyer and Adkinson brought out the superb ability of Bolton as he handled everything with ease. C.G.E. transferred the play to the Scots goal where Tice, in goal, saved a stinging drive along the ground to kick clear. McPhate carried the ball along the wing to lift his effort into goal. Tice followed the ball to witness it hit the upright and back into play. Jones sent a well-placed shot to the foot of Clark, who made no mistake. Within a few minutes Adkinson evaded the defence to send a low grounder into the far corner for the equalizer. At this point, the Caledonian forwards dominated the play to increase their score when Wagstaff trapped the ball as it fell from the air, and in a swinging fashion met the sphere with a right footer that bulged the rigging below the crossbar. C.G.E. halves replied with a passing game that was frustrated by the Caley backs whenever they came within shooting distance. A surprise goal by Dyer, just before the interval, resulted in Curtis being transferred to the attack from the goal. Caledonians 3, Canadian General 1.

C.G.E. Outplays Scots.

From the kick-off, Clark and McPhate tested Tice with terrific shots that failed to penetrate the goal but his masterly clearance of McPhate's timely header right upon the goal sent the Caleys away to the other end. Jones connected shortly after, to send Earle along the wing to deliver a perfect pass into the Scots' goal. Mann relieved the pressure as his teammates fell away considerably in the half-back division to permit the C.G.E. forwards to rattle in three goals in succession. Clark, lifting the ball into the far corner of the net with his first effort, followed it with a smashing drive that Tice blocked, but it bounced inside the uprights to put the Electrics in the lead. They seemed dissatisfied with the meagre one-goal lead, and peppered the Caley citadel until Earl registered with a low grounder. The Scots came back into the picture too late to find the Blower-Mitchell backs repulsing the opposing attack. On a visit on Bolton's charge, he conceded the final goal that Dyer planted in the vacant position as the ball dropped out of the custodian's arms when making a clearance.

Caledonians — E. Tice, goal; D. Whatman and D. Green, backs; T. Montgomery, H. Mann and J. Mayette, halves; D. Mowry, F. Dyer, R Wagstaff, J. Gore, and E. Adkinson, forwards; A. Heal, J. Steven, and G. Lovett, subs.

Canadian General — J. Bolton, goal; J. Mitchell and G. Blowers, backs; A. Burgess, and E. Jones, halves; W. Curtis, F. Earle, S. Clark, V. Post, and T. McPhate, forwards.

Referee—Albert Frick.

SPORTS DAY BY DAY

Baseball, Lacrosse, Soccer Softball, Bowling, etc.

By E.A.O.

It was certainly Peterborough Day in Belleville on Saturday, both local rugby teams coming through in impressive fashion to secure well-merited victories. The triumph of the intermediate squad ties up the league standing, while P.C.I.'s win retains for them the opportunity of still tying Lindsay Collegiate for the interscholastic league leadership.

• • • • • • •

Badly handicapped due to the absence of four regulars from the lineup, Coach Bamforth's Garnet and Grey gridders had a tougher tussle than expected with the Belleville Collegians. Harry Marsh, an outstanding star of the team and the pivot man in most of the plays, spent the afternoon on the sidelines along with Grose, Giardino and Wilson, all of whom have minor injuries that kept them from the combat. Putting a big scoring punch into their efforts in the first half, P.C.I. earned a lead and then spent the last part of the game in desperately defending it. They succeeded due to the excellence of Grif Young's kicking, the open-field running of Clark, Jopling's rugged line-plunging and the tackling of Archibald.

• • • • • • •

In the intermediate O.R.F.U. game the Petes clearly out-played the heavy Belleville squad. Not only in the speed and driving force of their half-line but also along the front-line the winners were superior on the day's play.

• • • • • • •

As expected "Mick" Magee, the fiery captain of the squad, imbued his mates with new energy. Magee was in the thick of the fray throughout and with the Petes' linemen opening up nice holes in the Belleville defences he and Gardner leaped through repeatedly for big gains.

• • • • • • •

In the third quarter the Petes faltered momentarily, but Gordie Young, limping from a leg injury suffered near the start, returned to the gridiron to take over the jub of piloting them to victory. Young's boot of that placement kick which tied the score was a stellar performance.

The death of Tom Brightman removes one of this city's best known senior sportsman. An ardent curler throughout his life, Mr. Brightman helped to found the Peterborough Curling Club and gave the club valuable leadership for many years. He also served as president of the local bowling club. There was no keener hunter or fisherman in the district.

• • • • • • •

Weather permitting, the first game in the final series for the championship of the Public School Soccer League will be played late this afternoon at King Edward Park. The contest brings together the teams of King Edward and Prince of Wales schools. Both squads are fast and they have been well coached.

• • • • • • •

There will be no practice of the intermediate rugby team this evening, the players being given a needed break in training following their successful effort in Belleville. The players came through the contest with only minor injuries. Arnold Reynolds, hard-tackling outside, had his lip cut by a jabbing elbow and it required several stitches to close the wound, but he finished the game. Practice will begin again for the Petes tomorrow evening in preparation for the crucial struggle here next Saturday with Belleville.

GETLIFFE WILL STAY AMATEUR ANOTHER YEAR

Tommy Coulter of Chihawks Out of Hockey for Six Weeks With Broken Leg.

N.Y. REGULARS ARRIVE.

Frank Patrick Reports None of His Bruins Holdouts at Quebec Camp.

(By the Canadian Press)

A third member of the famous Patrick hockey family may find a spot in the National Hockey League picture this winter. Lynn, young son of Lester, New York Rangers' manager, is being given a chance by his father to show his worth at the training camp Rngers open in Winnipeg today.

If he makes the grade, Lynn and Lester will form the first-son, coach-player combination in the league's history. His uncle Frank, manages Boston Bruins.

Lynn and Bert Connolly, who played centre with Moncton Hawks last year, were the only players to graduate from Patrick's 10-day hockey school at Winnipeg. Five others amateurs who tried out will spend the winter playing amateur hockey in New York.

Ray Getliffe, a 20-year-old left winger from Stratford, was thought good enough for pro company but declined Patrick's offer and decided to play amateur for another year.

The first serious injury of the season was reported from Chicago Saturday. Tommy Coulter, brother of Art, Chicago Hawk defenceman, broke his right leg in practice and will be out for at least six weeks. Coach Clem Loughlin had planned on teaming the recruit with his older brother in a novel defence.

After closing up his training school, Lester Patrick today started the more serious task of grooming his Rangers for the N.H.L. schedule. Both the New Yorkers and Montreal Maroons are training at Winniped and a series of exhibition games is planned.

Brother Frank reported at Quebec that none of his Bruins were holdouts. Dit Clapper, Marty Barry and Nels Stewart, all reported previously to be having salary difficulties, are signed up and last year's No. 1 holdout of the league, Eddie Shore, also is under contract.

JUNIORS DROP CLOSE BATTLE

Lindsay Squad Shows Superior Brand of Football in Latter Stages.

FOR 4-3 VICTORY.

Lindsay junion rugby team won the right to enter the Junior Interscholastic playoffs, Saturday, by defeating P.C.I. Juniors 4-3. The game, played at Riverside Park, was the only home football game. The local squad showed a much better brand of football than that displayed on Lindsay ground.

L.C.I. won the toss and kicked with the wind, Jopling returned the ball with a nice field run. The game then settled down to close playing. P.C.I. in the first half had the best of the play, going through for yards on nearly every plunge. Lindsay seemed unable to stop the Garnet and Greys as the homsters quickly worked down the field and Kelly kicked a rouge.

Lindsay lost the ball in a fumble and P.C.I. recovered, once again the locals started a march down the field and Kelly kicked for another point. Lindsay got the ball and made a few plays but failed to make yards on a plunge and P.C.I. had the ball, another march was started which ended with Kelly kicking for another point. There were only a few more plays until half time when the score was 3-0 for P.C.I.

After a pep talk, during the rest period, Lindsay came back with new fight to show a superior type of football. In the second half Lindsay held P.C.I. scoreless while they ran up 4 points. As soon as the first half started, Beal, Lindsay wing, secured the ball and started to run; Jopling, the only man between the runner and the touch line, made a nice running tackle and stopped the play. Twice in the third quarter Lindsay worked into position for a point and Kirley, L.C.I. kicker, scored on both occasions. Score at three-quarter time was 3-2 for P.C.I.

In the last quarter P.C.I. seemed unable to do anything while Lindsay ran into scoring position with 6 minutes to go and kicked for a rouge to tie the score and with 3 minutes to go Kirkley kicked another rouge to get the deciding counter. Score at full time, 4-3 for Lindsay.

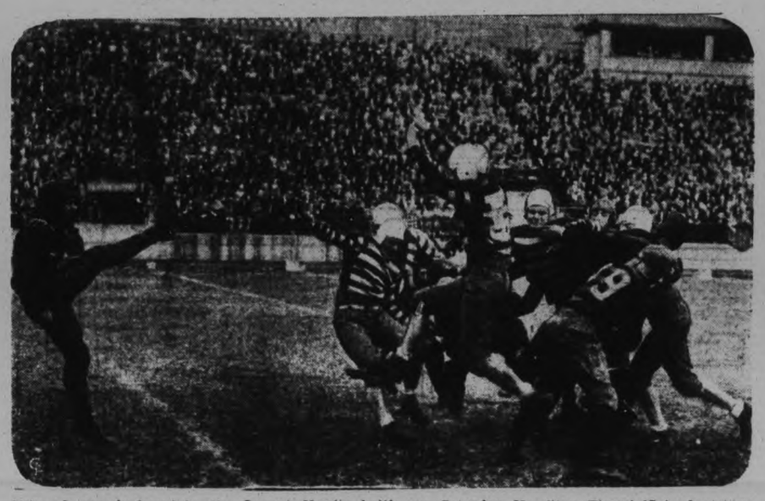
Tigers Score 17-9 Victory From Toronto Argos



Although overshadowed by the Queen's-Varsity battle on Saturday, Hamilton Tigers' 17 to 9 victory over the Toronto Scullers was one of the outstanding features on the Canadian football program over the week-end. The above photo shows Tigers getting away a long punt while rampaging Scullers hit the Bengal defence in an effort to block the kick.

Bowmanville School Wins Twin Decisions

BOWMANVILLE, Oct. 22.—Coming from behind the Bowmanville High School senior rugby team scored a sensational 15-13 victory over Cobourg Collegiate in Bowmanville Saturday afternoon, to practically clinch the group honors.

With seven minutes to go and Cobourg leading 13 to 4 B.H.S. with two forward passes and two end runs scored a disputed touchdown which, with the crowd on the field, was finally allowed. Minutes later McIlveen went 50 yards to centre. Williams made yards on a fake kick and then threw a forward to Bagnall for a converted touchdown.

In the first game the B.H.S. juniors trounched Cobourg 8 to 1 to win the group honors. Neal, who scored the only touchdown on the afternoon, and Slemon of Bowmanville, were the outstanding players on the field.

TRINITY BLANKS MURRAY ST, 9-0

ST. ANDREW'S WINS 7-5.

The Church Basketball League on Saturday night's showing is in for some close games this season. Three juvenile games were played, Knox taking St. John's into camp by the score of 9-5, Trinity immersed Murray Street by a 9-0 count, and St. Andrew's, although outplayed, getting the big end of a 7-5 count. The games all showed close checking and poor shooting, the latter being expected so early in the season.

Knox 9, St. John's 5.

These two teams were tied 5-all at the end of the first half, but Knox forged ahead for an earned win. The teams were evenly matched with Chevras and Coleman outstanding for St. John's. Knox had no particular star, all going strong with their defence finding themselves in the second half to blank St. John's. Positions and scorers were:

St. John's — T. Hooper b. Brown b. Chivras c (2), Bowler f, Coleman f (3), F. Hooper, Castle, Lewis, and Forsythe.

Knox — Graham b, Andrews b, Laing c (1), LeClaire f (4), Penrose f (4).

Referee—N. Hamilton. Scorer—A. Stinson.

Trinity 9, Murray Street 0.

Murray Street, a new inexperienced team, made it interesting for Trinity in the first half, neither side scoring. Trinity stepped out in the second half and soon ran up a lead. The Baptists tried hard, but lacked the size and experience to hold the Trinity crew, who were led by some sparkling play making and defensive work of their Captain Davern.

Trinity — Pierce b, Ward b, Davern c, Freeman f 6), Vallery f (3, Andrews.

Murray Street — Gillespie b, Foster b, Hawke c, Pammett f, Mortimer f, Partington, Robson.

Referee—N. Hamilton. Scorer — Don. Charlton.

St. Andrew's 1, George Street 5.

These two teams renewed their feud from the finals last year with St. Andrew's again winning. George Street were unlucky as they had a large share of the play and near the finish were pressing hard. G. Johnston, Weese, and Galley seemed to be best of the eleven players, who all tried hard. St. Andrew's led 6-2 at half-time, but George Street were crowding at the end.

George Street — Downing b, Wildman b, Phillips c, Weese f (1), Galley f (4), Parnell.

St. Andrew's — Weir b. R. Johnston b, G. Johnston c (4), McPherson f (1), Doughtrey f (2).

Referee — N Hamilton. Umpire —D. Welch. Scorer—D. Charlton.

TERRIERS TIED IN COAST GAME

Mann Cup Champions Held Even by St. Helen's at Vancouver.

ALL FACE SUSPENSIONS.

VANCOUVER, Oct. 22.—(CP)—St. Helens of Vancouver Saturday had a 13 to 13 draw to their credit with Orillia Terriers, the best showing any Western team has made this season against the Eastern Mann Cup holders.

In the second game of a five-game exhibition series here Saturday night St. Helen's came from behind to score nine goals in the final quarter and earn an even break with the speedy Canadian champions.

Face Suspensions

President Dan McKenzie of the Canadian Amateur Lacrosse Association planned definite steps for the expulsion from organized lacrosse of Orillia Terriers, Dominion champions, and Vancouver St. Helen's.

On the eve of the meeting of the two teams in the second game of their post-season exhibition series here Saturday, McKenzie announced he would ask the Dominion executive to expel both clubs from organized lacrosse.

The presidential statement was issued after a series of negotiations towards settling the dispute caused when the C.A.L.A. refused to sanction Terriers' Western trip broke down.

"Players and officials taking part in the first game will not be affected, as they were given assurance that the series was 'O.K.'" President McKenzie said. "While I felt personally that I was double-crossed into giving permission, no individual will suffer."

VETERANS IN WINDSOR FORM POLITICAL GROUP

WINDSOR, Ont., Oct. 22. (CP).—When the Border Cities Branch, of the Canadian League Against War and Fascism, stage their "Peace Parade" on Nov. 11, among those taking part will be members of the United Veteran's Forum.

The Veterans at a meeting last night made this decision and at the same time, amended their constitution to make their organization a political one. The move to break away from the usual military parade on Remembrance Day was strenuously opposed by some members, one of whom expressed the fear, the returned man would be "getting tangled up with Moscow."

Tourist visitors to Trinidad last summer numbered 3730.

Says Labor Leaders Betraying People

WINDSOR, Ont., Oct. 22.—(C.P.)—The assertion, Labor leaders of Canada are "betraying" the people they represent, was made by Commissioner Frank Dayus at a meeting of the open formus here. He refused, however, to name one man in his cnarge, when he was challenged to do so by a member of the meeting.

"I am not throwing out any challenges," replied Dr. Dayus, "but I feel the same to-day as I have for the last several years. The Labor leaders are betraying the people they represent."

The commissioner scored unfair competition here between merchants on relief and those off relief. One merchant in the latter category, he said, advertised overalls at 90 cents a pair. A second merchant, receiving relief and in the same block as the former, advertised the identical garment at 80 cents a pair.

"The second man can afford to do that," said the speaker, "because he is having his rent and taxes paid."

The Eighth Commandment

By NORMA HENDRICKS

READ THIS FIRST:

Donald Reeves, young instructor, is found shot to death in his office on the campus of Center City university. Inspector Lee arrives at the scene of the tragedy with his frequent co-worker, Timothy Blade, newspaper reporter, and discovers the gun that was beside the body, found by the janitor, has disappeared. Inspector Lee meets Professor Wilson, head of the English department, and his secretary, Ruth Turner, as well as Miss Edwards, another member of the department, and Jamieson, an instructor who shared the dead man's office. On the third floor of the English building the police find an attic room that shows signs of inhabitance. Miss Edwards tells Lee of a recent quarrel between the dead man and Jamieson. Blade, the reporter, announces to Lee that he has just called on Mrs. Reeves. Both go to see the widow who is convinced her husband committed suicide because he told her the evening before that he was "going away." Returning to the campus, Lee and Blade meet the other two members of the English staff, young Walker and elderly Dr. Henderson. Lee examines several members of the staff about their whereabouts on the previous evening and knowledge of Reeves and his past.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER 10

Lee assiduously attacked an imaginary spot on his coat lapel. Rubbing it between thumb and forefinger he said slowly, "Dr. Henderson, I don't know much about how colleges work but I'd think a boy'd get through every once in a while without knowing what he was supposed to. Would you mind explaining to me just why you made an issue of this case?"

"I felt it was a shameful piece of work on the part of any teacher," came Dr. Henderson's prompt reply. "That boy didn't bluff his way—he couldn't. He didn't know as much grammar as a grade school child. Any teacher would have spotted him." He shrugged a little. "I might as well admit it before someone else does it for me." His glance fell on Walker who bowed ironically. "I thought Reeves was a very bad teacher and I have said so to both Dr. Wilson and Dr. Walker. I felt that he ought not to remain on the staff. I hope you will believe, officer, that these remarks are difficult for me to make about the man now. But nothing less explains my attitude in this case about Giovinni."

"Why was he such a bad teacher?" Lee ignored the man's apology and pushed ahead.

Dr. Henderson pondered for a minute before replying. "You probably know that when any older man is put in a position of authority over a group of young people, the relationship between them is governed far more by the unspoken sympathy and understanding that exists between them than by anything the older man does or says. They must be en rapport. That's the way it is with a teacher. But Reeves, I think, would just as soon have lectured to an empty classroom as to his students. He treated them with the most insulting indifference and absentmindedness, varied only by violent outbursts of temper against them."

"Then you did not like Reeves?" asked Lee.

The answer came carefully. "I never made any special effort to know him personally, but as a teacher I did not approve of him. However," he finished smiling, "one does not murder a man because he is a poor teacher."

Walker lounged back in his chair with wicked grace and chuckled at that. Lee ignored him and continued with Henderson.

"Where were you last night?"

"At my apartment."

"Can anyone else swear that you were there?"

"I really don't know, inspector. I live alone and I saw no one during the evening."

Lee waited until Ruth Turner had finished recording the last remark. Then he growled at Walker, with heavy irony, "All right, my dear professor, go ahead and give us the answer. You've probably got an excellent solution in your pocket somewhere."

"Not at all, my dear Sherlock, not at all," Walker replied airily. "All I'm sure of is that I didn't do it. I dislike disappointing you but I was at home all evening with my wife."

Lee grunted noncommitally and went on to regulation questions. "What do you know of Reeves personally?"

"I doubt if any of us knew much about him personally, unless it was young Jamieson here with whom he shared an office. He didn't take very kindly to our overture of friendship. Perhaps he wasn't such a good teacher. But I could never understand why Dr. Henderson disliked him so much for that." He grinned companionably at the man of whom he spoke.

"You see, he showed signs of being an excellent research man and that's what Dr. Henderson is. He was young of course, but his thesis on Ambrose Bierce was a most arresting piece of work. A poor teacher but a good research man. That's about all I know of him."

Lee turned away in disgust. "What's that got to do with the case?" He was to remember his question later.

"Nothing, absolutely nothing." With that, Walker resumed his indolent lounging position.

Lee turned a little to face Miss Edwards but before he could speak she said in a shaken voice, "I know nothing, nothing at all."

"That's quite all right, Miss Edwards," Lee said. "Just tell me first where you were last night."

"At home, where I usually am at night."

I'll wager you are, thought Lee. Aloud, "And you know nothing of last night's incidents?" She shook her head. "Then suppose you tell me about the quarrel you overheard yesterday afternoon."

"Mr. Jamieson will tell you that, I'm sure," she snapped.

"But we should like your version of the affair."

Jamieson broke in on her reply. "Oh, I'll tell you all right. Why rag her about it? I couldn't very well lie about it when there were two witnesses, could I?" he demanded bitterly.

"Two?" asked Lee.

"I was in my office, inspector," the girl said quietly, looking up from her notebook.

"I see. Were you at home last night, too?" he asked preparing to take notes on the girl's testimony.

"Yes, sir."

"Alone?"

She hesitated a moment. "After nine o'clock, yes."

"And before that?"

"Mr. Jamieson was there for dinner but he left shortly before nine." She looked appealingly at the inspector.

"Come, Miss Turner, don't look so frightened. I know you had nothing to do with it," he rallied her. But the fear stayed in her face. It wasn't for herself she was frightened, and he knew it. "Do you know where he went when he left?"

She shook her head dumbly.

"Well, Jamieson, suppose you tell us about this quarrel," he ordered turning to the last man about the table.

"It's simple, so darned simple I don't suppose anybody will believe me." Jamieson faced the policeman with a desperate defiance. "Reeves' birthday was the end of the month and Mrs. Reeves wanted to have a surprise party for him. She asked me to help her plan it. I had seen her several times about it, always, of course, when Reeves was in class or having conferences.

"He evidently found out about it and yesterday afternoon he raised Holy Ned because I'd been seeing her. I told him to forget it, that it wasn't important and he'd understand soon enough. That was when he threatened to—to kill me if I saw her again." His voice faltered.

"Do you remember just what he said to you?" asked the detective.

"I'll never forget it," replied Jamieson with a shiver. "He kept shouting 'So it's unimportant that you make love to my wife behind my back, is it? By God, I'll kill you for that!'"

"And what did you answer?"

"Nothing. I didn't want to tell him, because she was so anxious to make it a surprise. She was devoted to him," he added with sudden belligerence. "Besides he disgusted me with his face all knotted with anger. I just walked out."

"I see." Lee sat in silence a moment digesting Jamieson's statement. Then he went ahead. "Last night after you left Miss Turner's, where did you go?"

"I walked over to the Reeves' apartment," the young man replied without hesitation. "I was in the office yesterday afternoon when Reeves told Dr. Wilson he'd be working at the English House at night." He glanced for confirmation toward his superior who nodded assent. "I wanted to see her to tell her about the quarrel and to suggest that she explain to him about the party."

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Tuesday, October 23

The stellar activities bearing rule on the affairs of this day wield a sudden and surprising influence, making for quite abrupt and unexpected changes, with new plans, associations, interest and environs. This state of affairs may be in connection with secret bodies, "close" corporations, combines or by method of tact, strategem, or private understandings. Diplomatic circles may be involved, but all point to success, progress and much personal gratification.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are on the threshold of a year of sudden change with great adventures into strange fields and environs, with new plans and interests as well as associates. Association Plans To Ban Orillia Club

VANCOUVER, Oct. 20.—(C.P.)—President Dan McKenzie of the Canadian Amateur Lacrosse Association to-day planned definite steps for the expulsion from organized lacrosse of Orillia Terriers, Dominion champions, and Vancouver St. Helens.

One the eve of the meeting of the two teams in second game of their post-season exhibition series here to-night, McKenzie announced he would ask the Dominion executive to expel both clubs from organized lacrosse.

The presidential statement was issued after a series of negotiations towards settling the dispute caused when the C.A.L.A. refused to sanction Terries' western trip, broke down.

"Players and officials taking part in the first game will not be affected, as they were given assurance that the series was 'O.K.'" President McKenzie said. "While I feel personally that I was double-crossed into giving permission, no individual will suffer."

Nurse Gives Good Advice

Praises Dodd's for Own Good Health

"I have had wonderful relief through taking Dodd's Kidney Pills," says Mrs. Violet Post, (Graduate Nurse) Kingsville, Ont. "They saved me an operation, so I cannot speak too highly of them. Those suffering with Kidney and Urinary Troubles, Rheumatism, etc., should give Dodd's Kidney Pills a trial. I have recommended Dodd's Kidney Pills widely. One man had just spent $100.00 on treatments, and was no better. I told him to take Dodd's Kidney Pills. In one week he said they had done him more good than all the other treatments on which he had spent so much." D4

STOOD BRIDESMAID FOR 14 MARRIAGES

London Girl Found It All Helped When She Herself Finally Wed.

LONDON, Oct. 22 (C.P.)—Marjorie Wickes, who had been a bridesmaid at 14 weddings was herself married recently at St. Mark's Church. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wickes of Edenbridge, Kent. The bridegroom was G. R. Appleyard.

"After so much practice I found it the easiest thing in the world to arrange for my own wedding," Miss Wickes told a reporter. She was discovered, a bare hour before the ceremony, dressed in a tailored coat and skirt, sorting out the last presents.

"It won't take me 10 minutes to dress," she said. "I advise a course in 'bridesmaiding' for the girl who wants her wedding to go without a hitch." Following her seven bridesmaids was a group of children to whose mothers the bride had been bridesmaid.

The wedding cake was decorated with models of the bride in her wedding dress and of her favorite horse and dog.

Golden Links Mission Circle to Hold Annual Event on November 17.

MILLBROOK, Oct. 22.—(Examiner Correspondence).—Mrs. George Fallis was hostess for the October meeting of the Golden Links Mission Circle held at her home on Wednesday at 8 p.m., with the president, Miss Gertrude Spence, in the chair, and the Wide Awakes group of the Canadian Girls in Training joining with the Circle for the gathering.

Business items discussed for the Circle included the decision to have the annual hot supper on Saturday, November 17, the executive to plan the menu and the three group leaders to canvass for supplies. Announcement was made of the coming visit of Miss Evelyn Mitchell, field secretary of the Dominion W. M. S. Board, who will be in the village on November 9, meeting all leaders of mission organizations in the afternoon and addressing a public gathering in the evening, with a cordial invitation to all churches of the community to attend.

The C.G.I.T. group took charge of the devotional period, Joan Deyell reading the lesson and the leader giving the topic, after business items had received attention. On motion, it was decided to abandon for the present the idea of a public program owing to the difficulty in having the members out for practice, and to continue the regular weekly meetings.

A duet, "Tell Me the Stories of Jesus," by Marjorie and Beatrice McDowell, and an outline of the recent Mission Circle rally at Peterborough was followed by a poem, "The Prairie Child," read by Barbara Argue, and a sketch of the life of Dr. Mary Stone, a Chinese graduate in medicine, was given by Phyllis Kidd.

The hostess and her sister, Mrs. A. Sutton, served grapes and homemade candy during the social hour at the close.

Grace Women's League.

Mrs. M. A. Kerr extended the hospitality of her home, Centre street, for the October meeting of the Presbyterian Women's League, the president, Mrs. Charles Thorndyke, taking the chair. There was a large attendance, and the treasurer, Mrs. F. J. Deyell, reported a total of $65.75 received in talent money by the end of the third quarter of the year, September 30. Mrs. Deyell's group handed in the largest amount, $15.56; Mrs. Thorndyke's, $10.77, Mrs. Paul's, $12.80. Mrs. H. A. Kerr's, $7.97; Miss Jean Syer's, $6.60; and Mrs. Milton Fallis', $10.00.

After discussion the date for the annual fowl supper was set for November 6 at popular prices, 40 and 25 cents, and again this year the men will do the canvassing for supplies, having fulfilled that duty successfully last season. Committees were appointed, for which convenors were chosen in pairs, each to pick her own helpers: Mrs. J. R. Eakins and Mrs. T. C. Ingram, Mrs. H. McLeod and Mrs. J. N. McGill; Mrs. H. A. Kerr and Mrs. E. L. Armstrong; Mrs. R. J. McKnight and Mrs. I. W. Larmer.

The annual sale and hot supper will be on Saturday, December 1, and at the close of the meeting tea was served, the hostess being assisted by her committee, and the resulting talent money to go in with that of Mrs. Kerr's group.

Grace Presbyterian W.M.S.

The seventieth anniversary of the Women's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church in Canada was fittingly observed locally with a meeting of Grace Auxiliary, assisted by members of St. Paul's W.A., of Peterborough. The basement was lovely with fall blossoms for the occasion, and the chair was taken by the president, Mrs. William Deyell, who announced "O God Our Help in Ages Past" as the opening hymn, and mentioned that "it was the first hymn sung by the amalgamated societies in 1914."

The initial address was given by Mrs. Cowan, of Peterborough, who gave a comprehensive history of the W.M.S. of the Presbyterian church in Canada, speaking of the pioneer woman, who in faith and prayer, began the organization, and telling the 'story of the years' with enthralling interest, closing with emphasis upon the motto, "The world for Christ." Silent prayer for one minute was followed by a solo, "I'll go where you want me to go," by Miss Eileen Hunter, and the offering, the president asking that each woman give one cent for each year she had been a member of the Missionary Society.

The poem written especially for the seventieth anniversary, "Forward we shall venture," was read by Mrs. J. D. Thompson, and Mrs. J. Dutton, of St. Paul's Auxiliary, gave a talk on "Why I am proud to belong to the Woman's Missionary Society." Mrs. Morgan, of Peterborough, also spoke briefly urging the formation locally of a Mission Band, and Mrs. Deyell voiced the wish of all present with her hearty words of thanks to the visiting speakers for their inspiring messages. Tea was served during the social hour enjoyed at the close.

SCOTT'S SCRAPBOOK - By R. J. Scott

REV. DR. T. E. HOLLING SPEAKS AT CAMPBELLFORD ANNIVERSARY

Large Congregation Hears Splendid Address in United Church.

SPECIAL MUSIC.

CAMPBELLFORD, October 22 (Examiner Staff Correspondence).—Large congregations attended both morning and evening anniversary services at St. John's United Church on Sunday when the Rev. Harold B. Neale conducted the services, with the Rev. Dr. T. E. Holling, of Toronto, special preacher for the occasion, who took as his theme, "Sing the Lord's song in a strange land" (Psalm 137, verse 4). "There are three distinct groups spoken of in Babylon—First, those whose faith in God remained unchanged; second, those who had thrown their faith overboard and wanted to forget; and third, those who wanted to sing the Lord's song, but could not. It is the last group portrayed in this song I speak of. The atmosphere was not congenial. It seemed impossible to sing the Lord's song under such conditions. How can we speak of the highest things in the presence of those who have not the same values and are hostile to the standards of life which we have. Men are at their best in an atmosphere of freedom, service and sympathy; and that atmosphere was entirely wanting. But too much may be made of a plea of that kind—if the Lord's song cannot be sung everywhere, it can be sung nowhere. It was made to be sung in a strange land.

These three groups are to be found in clearly defined outline today. First, those who are unmoved by the changing conditions. The currents of life passed them by and leave them untouched; they believe what they always believed; they say what they always said. Second, those who have thrown their religion overboard; depression either deadens or deepens religious life, and they want to forget. Third, the majority have a kind of a wistful wish that they might have the faith of former years; but it does not come so easy, they are powerfully moved by changed conditions. We are living in a new world, a strange land. A new science has changed the world within—a new world has changed the world of youth—the new economical plan has changed the world of industry—the new paganism goes back to nature to a nasty, naked realness in literature, music and art—the pagan gods are fighting for their own again. How can be sing the Lord's song in the face of the cynic's sneer or the tyrant's taunt? The future civilization depends upon it. If we do not cleanse our civilization it will paganize us.

We are to sing the Lord's song, first as a protest. Man is not an animal as paganism says. Man is not a machine as a new psychology confirms. Man is not his own master, as the new freedom declares. Man is not his own maker, as the humanism says. "Dust thou art, to dust returneth," was not spoken of the soul. Dust and divinity go together. God made man out of the dust, but breathed unto his soul the breath of life. We are to sing the song of God's providence. Christianity's redemptive power. We are to sing the Lord's song, secondly, as a program. Christianity is something more than a protest—it is a program. The Spirit of the Lord God is upon me—it will work—it is a solution for every problem, a remedy for every disease. It alone can point the way out. It is the way to the pacification of industry, the reconciliation of hostile races, the purification of social and political life. It will uproot the source of vice. It is a program for the home, society or industry, and for the peace of the world.

It will bring harmony out of discord, victory out of defeat—make the crooked away straight—nobody but Christ is bidding for the heart of the world. The ethics of Jesus are sound commop-sense. It is Christ or chaos. God is shaking the world to-day that the things which can not be shaken may appear. Thirdly, we are to sing the Lord's song as a prophecy. "We see not yet all things put under Him. These strange lands are not yet under His control. Industry, science, art, politics are not yet christianized, but 'from these things a loftier race shall rise.' We look for a new heaven and a new earth. Why could not they sing, because there was hate and bitterness in their hearts, one bitter feeling towards another shuts out the sunlight of God's love. The song can be restored, it can be sung under every circumstance, in every condition, and we can sing it now, as a prelude of the nobler, sweeter song which shall join the Heavenly Host in singing 'Unto Him that hath loved us and washed us in His Own Precious Blood.' Can you sing the Lord's song? Let us go out to-day to witness for Christ and to sing the Lord's song in the presence of the conditions of our modern life."

For the evening service, Rev. Mr. Holling took his theme from II. Kings 53, verse 14: "Taking the colorful and dramatic story of the healing of Naaman"—Naaman being an epitome of the races. The nation is but a magnified man. Dr. Holling asked the question, "What is wrong with the world?" and in a most inspiring sermon showed that the hope of the world is in Christ and Christ alone. "He is the cure for a sick world." During the evening service Dr. Holling sang a part of the anniversary hymn which he himself composed, and which is in the new Hymnary.

M. le Grady, the Budapest newspaper magnate, has presented to the League of Nations at Geneva a bust of Arthur Henderson, the Disarmament Conference President.

HAVELOCK BRANCH PUTS ON PROGRAM

Large Attendance at October Meeting of Westwood Women's Intitute.

WESTWOOD, October 22 (Examiner Correspondence). — The October meeting of the Westwood Woman's Institute, held in the Town Hall on Tuesday, October 16, was largely attended. A very interesting program put on by Havelock Institute members was much appreciated, the convenor, Mrs. Jones, taking the chair. A reading entitled "Advice of a College Professor to His Students," was followed by a pleasing solo by Mrs. Jamieson. An interesting demonstration on the uses of jute bags was given by Mrs. Johnston, various useful and pretty articles being displayed. A reading, 'Joseph's Fall from Grace, as told by his Wife," by Mrs. Anderson, was very entertaining.

The roll call was answered by an exchange of roots and bulbs. Final arrangements were made to send a box of discarded books from the Library to the Red Cross Hospital at Apsley. Arrangements were also completed for the Hallowe'en card party to be held on October 31.

Mrs. Don. Cameron was appointed delegate to the annual Institute convention at Toronto in November. Owing to the convention the date of the November meeting will be changed to the 27th. Attention was drawn by the president to some local work of the Institute in the purchase of a table oilcloth for the Council table and the redecoration of the fence around the Cenotaph. Congratulations were extended to several winners of this community at the East Peterborough Agricultural Fair at Norwood, and included Mrs. William Morris. Master Alexander Wilson, Miss Isabel Birdsall, and Mrs. E. Sargent.

The pupils of the Public School delighted the audience with several choruses, under the able leadership of the teacher, Miss M. Battersby.

At the close of the meeting a vote of thanks was extended to the Havelock ladies and all who helped to make a very interesting meeting. Dainty refreshments were served and all enjoyed a social half-hour.

LAKEFIELD

Mrs. H. R. Wagar was the hostess of a delightful afternoon tea on Thursday in aid of an outpost hospital in the stricken area of Saskatchewan. The tea was sponsored by the W.M.S. of the United church. Mrs. W. J. Charlton poured tea and a competent committee served. A table of home cooking also did a thriving trade with a fine array of delectable baking.

The attendance was large and a pleasing social [illegible] well as a substantial support to those who are in dire need.

The regular meeting of the Junior Institute was held on Thursday last in the Town Hall with a small attendance present. The report on the booth at the Lakefield fair was read and the receipts were $45.61 and the expenses $28.03. It was decided to hold a party at the home of a member. Miss Bertha Mahood, on November 1st.

Miss Eva Higgins, president, gave a remarkably fine paper on flowers for winter bloom and pot culture of winter and spring flowering bulbs.

The trip to this city from Toronto was uneventful, the party stopping at Cobourg for lunch. He was not handcuffed when taken from the motor car, and it was stated that it was the first time he had been allowed this privilege since he left California. It was impossible to escape, as the police station was surrounded by police. He walked jauntily from the car to the inner precincts of the police station, while a crowd of curiosity-seekers craned their necks to get a peek at the man, who had been brought into the public gaze.

None of the family were present excepting one of the nephews, but he did not wish to speak or look at him.

Accused is Affable

Vermilyea was quite affable in the police station, whiling away the time until he could be arraigned. He conversed with the newsmen gathered in the room and answered all questions, but if any mention was made of the crime for which he was charged he would immediately shift the conversation.

In the midst of his conversation he was asked, "How long is it since you have been in Belleville?" Vermilyea did not seem startled, but said it was "twenty years since I left this country, but you know I was home when my father, Nathaniel Vermilyea, died about eleven years ago." He did not impart any more knowledge on this phase of his talk.

He seemed most interested in the pictures that hung on the walls of the police station. Walking over to an old photo of the police force of other days in this city, he said: "There is Pat Downs, Pat Hayes, Chief Newton and G. Deshane. They were a fine lot of fellows."

In the next breath he started to tell a story to the press, who enjoyed a hearty laugh. It had something to do about autographing, and he was asked if he would like to give his autograph and bodly walked to the desk, and taking a pen in a firm hand wrote his name, "Harold W. Vermilyea."

Just before he was taken in for arraignment, Sergeant Arthur Harman was talking to him, and he asked for a list of the law firms of the city, and this information being given he asked "which is the best?" This information was not forthcoming, the Sergeant explaining he could make that decision himself. He wrote down the names of the different firms and was in the midst of this work when he was called before the Bar of Justice. "I can see about that again in the near future" he remarked.

His memory of happenings in this city in his early manhood was particularly keen, and he asked about persons, old school and college mates. He took great pride in telling of his property in California and that he hoped he would soon be back to look after his business interests as times were infinitely better under the Roosevelt regime. He stated his citrus property was worth $50,000, and there was only a mortgage of $10,000 against it. He said he liked his birthplace, but for the young man, the West afforded better opportunities.

Police escort, who were responsible for bringing him back to stand his trial for the gruesome killing, stated, that he had been a model prisoner and that the best of cooperation was given by the United States authorities. Asked why he was not brought through by train early to-day, Inspector Gardiner hinted that he was checked by identification witnesses in the police line-up held in Toronto this morning. Asked if the identification by the taxi man and hotel clerk was positive, the inspector refused to state, but said it will all be given at the preliminary hearing.

The inquest to inquire into the death of Mrs. Aurelia Vermilea will be held to-night at the police station, stated the Crown-Attorney and in all about ten witnesses, will be called. It is understood Professor Rogers, of Toronto has completed his analysis and this may be given at the inquest or withheld until the preliminary hearing, which will closely follow the inquest.

There is, also a possibility, that the preliminary hearing will be held next Saturday and if he is committed for trial, he will appear before the Supreme Court session starting one week from to-day.

GREAT AIRLINER WANDERS HOURS LOST IN STORM

200 MILES FROM GOAL.

Will Continue at Dawn to Cinch Second Place—Carry Five Passengers.

MELBOURNE, Oct. 24. — (Wednesday) (A P)—Parmentier and Moll, lost for hours in rainstorms 200 miles northeast of Melbourne, landed safely at Albury at 1.20 a.m. today. (10.20 a.m. E.S.T. Tuesday).

The flying Dutchmen carrying five passengers in their big transport plane, were hours ahead of their nearest rivals. Col. Roscoe Turner and Clyde Pangborn, at midnight.

Then they became lost in rainstorms which were sweeping over the high uplands north of the Australian Alps.

Anguished Australians on the ground, 'saw flares dropping from the great ship through the sodden skies as the pilots wandered in circles, trying to get their bearings. Worst of all, here at the race headquarters in Melbourne, was the receipt of an SOS wireless message from the plane. No one could go out to the rescue, but a stream of radio messages was sent up in an effort to help the distressed flyers.

Then came the best news heard here since cheering throngs greeted the English victors: Parmentier and Moll had landed safely at Albury, about 200 miles northeast of the finish line. With the speed of their ship, they were only an hour from the airport.

Farmers Light Field

A small district radio station was given much of the credit for assisting the Dutchmen to the safe landing. The station broadcast an appeal to all farmers to go out and illuminate the race course direction with their automobile headlights.

They responded quickly, and soon Parmentier and Moll found a lighted area beneath them. Parmentier set the ship down skilfully in a small space.

The plane was not damaged in any way, but it was understood that the fliers intended to remain at Albury until daylight.

This made it appear unlikely that Turner and Pangborn had any chance of overtaking the Dutch and finishing second into Melbourne.

All Well Aboard

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 23. —(AP)— Mrs. J. J. Moll, wife of the co-pilot of the Dutch airliner in the Melbourne race, talked by radio with her husband at Albury, Australia today. Moll told her everyone on the plane was well and he and K. D. Parmentier expected to start off again at dawn, as the ground was too soft for a night takeoff.

Never Had Chance

MELBOURNE, Oct. 23.—(A P)— Col. Roscoe Turner and Clyde Pangborn, American flyers in the England-to-Australia air derby, indicated today at Darwin where they landed in third place in the great race, that they would reach their goal Wednesday afternoon—which is somewhere around midnight, E.S.T. today.

"We never had a chance of winning with a machine limited to a cruising speed of 180 miles an hour," said Pangborn, "so we came along steadily without trouble or discomfort."

It is an English entry. The performance of the British aeroplane is hailed as a triumph for British engineering. The other two aeroplanes, one piloted by Dutch airmen, which hoped to arrive late tonight, the other by Col Roscoe Turner are U.S. built.

Solitary SOS From Wastes 900 Miles Off Philippines Says Rudder Gone.

40 MEN ABOARD.

Nearest Ship 200 Miles Away Will Take 3 Days to Arrive.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 23 (AP) —Helpless and beaten before the fury of a South Pacific typhoon, the oil tanker Doheny with 40 men aboard flashed an SOS 900 miles east of the Philippines to-day.

Her bridge and rudder were gone, her wireless was silenced soon after the first flash for aid, and the nearest ship was about 700 miles away—three days.

The steamer Olympia, bound out from Tacoma, Wash., 200 miles east of the Philippines and the nearest steamer, picked up the SOS and put about under full steam, but it can make only ten knots, which would take nearly three days for it to reach the scene.

Kingsford-Smith Ready For Honolulu

SUVA, Fiji Islands, Oct. 23.—(A. P.)—Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith, Australian airman, planned to depart at 9 a.m. to-morrow 4 p.m E.S.T. to-day) on a 22-hour flight direct to Honolulu.

Conditions were favorable for the 3,17 mile flight. Sir Charles said his motor is in perfect condition and the wireless had been thoroughly tested.

The airman appeared greatly interested when he heard of the record flight of C. W. A. Scott and T. Campbell Black to Australia in the Melbourne race.

"It is a stout showing on Scott's part," said Sir Charles. "I am very glad to see it. I have a shade more horse power and could probably have bettered his time, but I was handicapped by the petrol loading they allowed me. I was disgruntled at the load the Comet was allowed to carry. The Comet was built to get off the ground fast but reports stated it was very slow. I myself get off very fast with a big load of petrol."

Predict Knighthood For Scott And Black

MELBOURNE, Oct. 23 (C.P.-A.P.).—Australian expectations today were running high that C. W. A. Scott and Campbell Black would be honored with knighthood for their feat winning the London to Melbourne air race to-day.

Staggering with fatigue, red-eyed and unshaven, they sought temporary refuge in a hangar guarded by officials shortly after their arrival, while autograph seekers beseiged them. A few got through and were rewarded with shaky signatures.

SPEED RECORD SET IN DERBY

BETTER POST'S MARK.

MELBOURNE October 23 (C.P.). —A new speed record for long distance flights was established by C. W. A. Scott and Campbell Black to-day in their spectacular dash from England to Melbourne.

They averaged 176 5 miles an hour fying time, and zoomed their plane along at a speed of 160 miles an hour for the total elapsed time. It took them 70 hours and 25 minutes to fly the hazardous 11 323 miles.

Wiley Post, during his round-the-world dash in July, 1933, averaged 134 miles an hour for the 15,596-mile flight. He reached Flat, Alaska, 11,767 miles from New York in 86 hours 42 minutes, at a speed of 131 miles an hour.

M. Rossi and Paul Codos of France, who in August 1933, set the world distance record straight line, non-stop, of 5 853 miles, were in the air for 56 hours 12 minutes. They averaged about 100 miles an hour.

Mattern Averaged 134.

James J. Mattern, who failed in his attempt to circle the globe by plane in June, 1933, set a speed mark of 134 miles per hour in his flight from New York to Moscow, a distance of 4 920 miles.

The previous England to Australia record is in sharp contrast to the performance of the Comet. C. T. P. Ulm, in October, 1933, flew from Feltham, England, to Derby, Australia, a distance of 9 520 miles, in 6 days 17 hours and 56 minutes. His average speed was only 58 miles an hour for the entire distance just one-third the mark set by Scott and Black.

The Englishmen in their flight half-way across the globe would have crossed the North American continent five times in less than three days.

SMASH ALL RECORDS MAKE ONLY SIX HALTS

MELBOURNE, Australia, Oct. 23.—(C.P. Cable)—The greatest speed flight in history, from one end of the earth to the other in three days, went to the credit of two calm Britons today as C. W. A. Scott and Campbell Black, veterans of the Royal Air Force, landed before cheering thousands at Flemington race-track.

The winners of the big aerial derby and first prize of $50,000, Scott and Black were just 70 hours and 59 minutes and 50 seconds out of Mildenhall, London, distant 11,323 miles.

Since Saturday morning they had flown over Europe, Asia, the Malay Peninsula and from north to south across the Australian continent.

Their landing was at 3.33 p.m. local time, the middle of the afternoon. They made only six stops enroute, and five of these were compulsory. On basis of their total elapsed time they had maintained an average speed of 160 miles an hour Counting only actual flying time they had hurtled across half the earth at an average speed of 176.5 miles per hour.

BOSS HAS LOST CONTROL CAMP 6 IS CHARGE MADE

Trouble at Highway Camp Resulting in Three Men Being Fired.

CONDITIONS BEEN BAD.

Discrimination by Superintendent is Also Charged by Men.

Charges of discrimination levelled against officials at Camp No. 6 on the Burleigh Falls-Bancroft highway construction project by Ralph Hanrahan, one of the three men recently discharged, were today discredited by J. J. Duffus.

Hanrahan, a local man, was 'fired' on Saturday last after having been employed in the camp north of Apsley for two months along with Roland Graham, Lakefield, and Harry Daymond, London. As spokesman for the trio Hanrahan alleged that trouble occurred on Friday afternoon when "bosses" at the camp objected to men using teams and chains in the lifting of a rock.

Claiming that he and his two companions were discharged because they had objected to the method demanded by the "bosses," Hanrahan felt that some discrimination had been shown, because other men who had also raised objection had been retained. They were foreigners, he claimed.

The man claimed that if Superintendent J. W. Thornton and Fireman Zack Tucker and Roy Robinson were not removed from the camp, they would eventually be run out by the men of the camp.

ITALIAN PLANE DOES 435 M.P.H.

TOUCHED 450 IN TRIALS.

DESENZANO, Italy, Oct. 23.—(A. P.)— Lieutenant Francesco Agello to-day apparently broke the world's air speed record, which he also held, racing his seaplane at a rate reported unofficially at 700 kilometres (436 miles) an hou rover Lake Garda.

The new speed would be 10 miles an hour over the record Agello set here April 10, 1933, when he established a mark of 682.078 kilometres (435 miles) an hour over Lake Garda.

The official record will be announced as soon as timings are compiled.

Agello flew a bullet-shaped seaplane which has been in preparation many months and was said to have reached a speed of 450 miles an hour in a trial flight.

Gas Boat Victims May Grow To Ten

WINNIPEGOSIS, Man., Oct. 23 (C.P.).—Fear the toll of last week's gas-boat explosion which took nine lives would increase to ten was held here to-day as Harry Whale, who had aided in dragging operations for the victims' bodies, battled or his life in hospital.

Whale, who left here Sunday for the scene of the tragedy in North Lake Winnipegosis, became overheated and caught a chill. Pneumonia set in, and he was rushed back to his little fishing settlement Monday. To-day, hope for his life had been almost abandoned.

Under care of a doctor and two nurses, Whale has been unconscious since Monday.

Meanwhile, dragging continues for the remaining bodies.

Sole survivor of the explosion, William Johnson, was considerably improved to-day.

SASKATCHEWAN MAY SEE FIRST STOCK CONTROL

Dominion Board Studies Plan Proposed by Co-operative President.

MAY EMBRACE DOMINION.

Would Register All Producers, Market Animals on Pool - Basis, License Packers.

OTTAWA, Oct. 23 (CP)—Regulation of the marketing of livestock under the Natural Products Marketing Act may be first applied in Saskatchewan. The Dominion Marketing Board has before it a livestock scheme proposed by P. E. Roblin, President of the Satskatchewan Co-operative Livestock Producers, Limited, designed to serve as a basis for wider regulation taking in first the Provinces of Alberta and Manitoba and later the whole of Canada.

Registration of all producers of livestock, the marketing of all livestock on a pool basis, and the licensing of all packers, wholesale and retail dealers in livestock and meat products are salient points of the plan.

In many respects it resembles the scheme for marketing poultry in the Prairie Provinces already before the Board. Both plans were devised by officials of Producers' Association with the assistance of George H. Barr, Regina barrister, who visited Denmark and made a close study of the system in vogue in that country where regulated marketing has been carried on successfully for many years.

Boards of Control

The plan involves first the creation of provincial marketing boards of control, the collection and pooling of livestock in provinces, Saskatchewan alone at the start. Setting up of a central sales agency to handle sales of livestock for the provincial boards would be the next step.

After all producers have been registered and all packers and dealers licensed rural retail dealers would be permitted to buy supplies for local consumption from registered producers direct. Packers would purchase exclusively from the sales agency, wholesale dealers from the packers or the sales agency, and urban retail dealers from the packers or wholesalers. Violation of any of the regulations of the Marketing Board to result in the offending party losing his license.

The plan is designed to utilize the services of existing co-operative organizations and to make no interference with any interests now performing useful services in connection with the distribution and marketing of livestock products. After the initial expenses for which funds provided by Parliament may be used, it is proposed that the industry should finance itself and make no demands on the public treasury.

GIANT BALLOON LEAVES DETROIT FIELD 6.40 A.M.

Crowd of 40,000, Including Henry Ford, Watches Departure.

SEEN OVER CLEVELAND.

Professor, Accompanied by Wife, to Report Progress By Radio.

CADIZ, Oct. 23 (A.P.).—The Piccard stratosphere balloon was reported to have made a landing about one mile west of here. The reported landing place was an isolated section.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 23 (A.P.). —Like the shining head of a pin against a clear blue sky, the stratosphere balloon of the Jean Piccards drifted slowly south-south-east over the edge of Cleveland airport at noon to-day at an unestimated height.

DETROIT, October 23 (A. P.).—Prof. Jean Piccard and his wife, Jeannette, took off from Ford Airport on their balloon ascension into the stratosphere at 6.58 a.m. (Eastern Standard Time) to-day.

The huge silver balloon shot up rapidly into the grey early morning sky after more than two hours of waiting while the ground crews struggled to pull down a flap which had been caught in the gas bag by the vacuum created by the inflation.

A crowd of more than 40,000 persons, including Henry Ford, witnessed the take-off. They had been gathered at the airport since long before daylight.

After the initial slowness which characterized the take-off the balloon suddenly began to gain altitude swiftly and soon was out of sight from the watchers on the field.

Prof. Piccard and his wife entered the gondola at 6.40 a.m., after having been at the airport since 1 a.m. They were dressed warmly for the sub-zero temperatures they expected to enter in the stratosphere.

Carry Tutle Mascot.

In addition to a great quantity of scientific instruments the Picards took aloft with them a mascot in the form of a small turtle named "Fleur de Lys."

The Piccards planned to make a descent somewhere in the vicinity of Eastern Pennsylvania. Until that time they planned to keep in touch with the ground by means of a two-way short wave radio set. W. O. Gassett, Ford Motor Company radio engineer, left the airport by automobile for Toledo several hours before the take-off, there to await the first signals from the balloonists and then to follow them on the ground.

The balloon's radio set has a radius of 150 miles and a wave length of five meters. Its call letters are WLOXDV.

Spotted By Fliers.

An overcast sky and low visibility prevented ground watchers at Cleveland from seeing the sphere, but two United Air Line pilots who nosed up to 14,000 feet reported the sight to the company's radio operator in a radio-telephone conversation.

Though the Piccards, locked inside their airtight gondola, appeared to be drifting south-south-east, Pilot Lou Garvis said in a talk with Henry Garrison, the operator on the ground, that the bag might be heading in the general direction of Akron, some 30 miles directly south of here

At 13,000 feet, said Gravis, he and his co-pilot, Paul Reeder, scarcely could make out the craft against the sky. At 14,000 feet they got a little better view of it.

"We are flying at 14,000 feet, just south-east of Cleveland airport," Gravis told Garrison. "We can see the stratosphere balloon very high above us. The sun is shining. No clouds over the overcast.

Drifting Toward Akron.

"The balloon is very clear, white against the blue sky. it seems to be drifting toward Akron."

"How high was it?" Garrison was asked.

"I asked Gravis that," responded Garrison, "and he wouldn't attempt to make an estimate."

That the bag had shifted in the direction of Akron would indicate that it had altered its course abruptly, practically at right angles.

Judging roughly by that, the speed of the balloon could be placed at about 25 miles an hour.

SPECIAL CARE IS BEING TAKEN OF VERMILYEA

Electric System of Alarm Bells Being Installed in Jail at Belleville.

PAYNE NAMED COUNSEL.

Two Brothers Are Refused Permission by Jailer to Interview Prisoner.

BELLEVILLE, October 23. — As a special precautionary measure, an electric system of alarm bells is being installed in the county jail here where Harold W. Vermilyea, murder suspect, is being held.

The move is being made at the request of Sheriff George Stokes, despite the fact that special guards watch Vermilyea day and night.

With regard to the alarm system, Sheriff Stokes stated there was no means of communication to outside officials from the cell block where Vermilyea is located, and the local authorities are taking no chances on the possibilities of escape by Vermilyea.

Although he expressed disgust with the first meals served him at the local jail, Vermilyea was cheered by Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan's statement that he would be allowed to purchase additional luxuries from his own money.

Charles A. Payne, K.C., of this city, has been appointed counsel for the defence, according to an announcement made yesterday. Mr. Payne held a one-hour conference with the accused man yesterday afternoon, but declined to comment an any phase of the case later last night.

Interview Refused.

An attempt was also made late yesterday afternoon by Arthur and Clarence Vermilyea, brothers of the prisoner, to visit him in his cell. Jailer G. H. French denied them this privilege, however, on orders from Crown Attorney Donnan. Vermilyea was exercising at the time with his guard in the jail courtyard. His brothers were taken to a small room overlooking the yard, and were allowed to watch their brother walking about the small enclosed space. Neither made any comment during their brief visit to the jail, although both were visibly moved.

A sudden postponement of the inquest into the death of Mrs. Nathaniel Vermilyea, who was murdered by a hatchet-wielder on October 4 as she was about to enter the house of her daughter, Mrs. Dr. J. A. Faulkner, was made last night by Crown Attorney Donnan.

No explanation was given beyond the fact that the authorities were not yet prepared to proceed with the investigation. The coroner, Dr. R. Tennant, had called the jury for the inquest, and until late in the afternoon, it was expected it would be held last night. The date for resuming the investigation of Mrs. Vermilyea's death was set for October 26.

Colder Wetter

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—(AP)—If you asked J. B. Kincer, United States Weather Bureau official, to guess what the weather will be for the next 25 years, he'd say:

"Cold and wetter."

Kincer, chief of the Climatology Division, told the Cosmos Club today there is good reason to suspect the United States (perhaps the world)) s on the threshold of a change of climate.

For the past quarter century, he found, the world has had increasing warmth and decreasing rainfall. Records of periods before that show cycles of rising and falling temperature and rain lasting about the same number of years, he said. He believes another turn of the weather time may be imminent.

BEER LICENSES REVENUE IS SET AT HALF MILLION

New $300 Levy Entitles Holder to Purchase $5,000 Worth of Stock.

ALL OVER $5,000 TAXED.

Every Care Taken to Prevent Hardship on Hotels Says Odette.

TORONTO, Oct. 23.—(CP)— Expected to return the province $500,000 additional revenue, Ontario's new beer and wine licenses were down on the records today with the firm backing of the Liquor Control commissioner, Edmond G. Odette. Protests from hotelmen were made by Mr. Odette with the remark if license holders did not consider "it worth while to pay $25 a month for the privilege of selling beer and wine, then it is not worth having at all."

The commissioner said the minimum license fee under the new regulations would be $300 which entitled a hotelkeeper to buy up to $5,000 worth of beer and wine. Purchases above $5,000 will be taxed five percent.

Graded Tax

Based on commission purchases, the new tax will be graded in "brackets," he said. "Over $5,000 and up to $7,500 will be five per cent and so on." The tax will be on a pre-payment basis.

"Surely the hotels didn't think they were going to be allowed to keep on dispensing wine and beer for $50 a year. I feel that this minimum fee of $300 and the surcharge of five percent is a fair tax. I am concerned with money due the treasury, not the extent of the profits made by the hotels."

The Commissioner, speaking by telephone from Tilbury last night, stated that the highest levy lay between $7,000 and $8,000.

Mr. Odette declared that every care had been taken to prevent working a hardship on hotels. For example, he stated, it would not be

Body Of Gas Boat Blast Victim Found

WINNIPEG, Oct. 22 (C.P.).—The body of Wilbert Goodman, one of nine victims of the explosion of a gas bat on Lake Winnipegosis, 175 miles north of here, last week was recovered Sunday, word reaching here to-day said.

Condition of William Johnson, sole survivor of the disaster, was reported as critical. He had not long recovered from an attack of pneumonia, and the effects of his immersion in the icy lake waters and a night of exposure brought fear for his life.

Communication between the town of Winnipegosis and the scene of the tragedy is being maintained by carrier pigeon .Word reaching Winnipegosis via these aerial despatches said additional tugs had been chartered to aid in dragging operations for the remaining bodies.

England's drought this year has caused a decrease in the number of flies because there were no moist places for them to breed.

JANETVILLE, Oct. 23. (Examiner Correspondence). — Mrs. Mervin Armstrong, leader of the Mission Band of the United Church at Janetville, entertained the Band at her home on Saturday evening for their October meeting. Devotional exercises were taken by Miss Isobel Marshall, the president, and Mrs. Jas. Thornton.

A missionary story about two blind Chinese children, who were cured in a Missionary hospital, was read by Mrs. Thornton who pointed out that the main object of the Band is to help support such hospitals.

Among the business discussions arrangements were made to operate a mystery booth at the annual church bazaar which is to be held on Friday, November 2.

Suspended Sentence Given Havelock Man

Joseph Hubbell, 79-year-old resident of Old Havelock, yesterday afternoon pleaded guilty before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., to an adjourned charge of "assault occasioning actual bodily harm," and was placed on suspended sentence for one year.

In an altercation between the defendant and his neighbor, Roy Longmuir, on Wednesday morning of last week, the aged man picked up an old shin bone, and using it as an improvised club, inflicted a deep gash on the head of the complainant. The dispute arose over Longmuir's refusal to remove his cow which was tethered outside the defendant's property, in spite of repeated requests to do so.

When he appeared in court Longmuir's head was swathed in bandages which had the appearance of a skull cap. Several stitches were required to close the wound he received.

The shin bone, a formidable looking weapon, was one of the exhibits in the case, which was produced by Provincial Constable David Sylvester.

Pointing to the bone which lay on his desk, the magistrate, addressing Acting Crown Attorney F. D. Kerr, K.C., remarked, "I'll deliver that over to you as clerk of the peace."

"As a souvenir, your worship?" Mr. Kerr asked jocularly.

W. J. Arthur Fair was counsel for the defendant, and strongly urged leniency on behalf of his client. Announcing his decision, the cadi said he believed the defendant had been subject to unnecessary annoyance from the complainant. He counselled both parties to the action to return to their homes, to try and live in a neighborly manner.

JUBILEE SINGERS GIVE PROGRAM AT OMEMEE

OMEMEE, Oct. 23 (Examiner Correspondence)—On Friday evening, October 19th, the famous Virginia Jubilee Singers gave a concert in Trinity United Church. The church was filled to capacity. The Rev. Dr. Reddick introduced the artists at 8.30 and the program continued until 10.15 with only five minutes' intermission.

The troupe consisted of seven colored university graduates, perhaps one of the best known radio groups for the singing of negro spirituals. There was a first and second tenor, bass, contralto, mezzo and soprano singer accompanied by an accomplished pianist.

The second half of the program was given in plantation costume. Songs such as "Honey Stay in Your Own Back Yard," "Poor Uncle Ned" and "Way Down Upon the Swanee River" were very cleverly rendered.

The entertainment concluded with the National Anthem and every one left the church feeling that the concert was superb from beginning to end.

Construction permits issued in Chile in the first seven months of this year were nearly double those of the comparable period of 1933.

MANVERS CASE IS PRESENTED TO GRAND JURY

Heavy Docket Presented as Fall Assizes Open for United Counties.

ONE MURDER TRIAL.

COBOURG, Oct. 23.—Evidence supporting the Crown's suspicion that Dmytro Bolejczuk murdered Peter Rogouski in Manvers township, Sunday, July 29, and hid the body in a nearby creek, was resumed this morning before the Grand Jury in the assize of the Supreme Court of Ontario for the counties of Northumberland and Durham which was opened here yesterday afternoon by Mr. Justice Nicol Jeffrey.

Examination of some of the witnesses through an interpreter, William Igel, of Oshawa, was expected to prolong the presentation of the Crown's case with the probability that, if the Grand Jury returned a true bill, the trial of Bolejczuk would not be begun until Wednesday morning.

J. Douglas Peck, K.C., of Ganonoque, is the special Crown Prosecutor in the three criminal cases on the docket which also includes two related damage actions in the total amount of $25,000 against the Canadian National Railways arising out of a fatal crossing accident near Trenton last winter.

After the Grand Jury had retired yesterday afternoon the civil suit brought by Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., Peterborough, against Fred Latta of Rice Lake respecting a bill of solicitor's fees and other monies was the first case called for trial. As the cross-examination of Mr. Gordon was nearly completed by Archibald Cochrane, K.C., Cobourg, counsel for the defendant, His Lordship suggested that the two parties endeavour to reach a settlement by agreement during a recess at 5.30 p.m. As a result of this advisory intervention, terms of settlement were reported to His Lordship and judgment was entered in Mr. Gordon's favor for $1,000 including present court costs.

The Manvers Case

At the preliminary hearing of Dmytro Bolejczuk (Mit Boleychuk to the foreign farmers of 'Little Lithuania' in the sand hills of Manvers) on a charge of murder at Bethany, September 20, he was committed for trial by Police Magistrate W. A. M. Campbell of Port Hope. In that court it transpired that Bolejczuk and Rogouski were rivals in love for the daughter of

CHICAGO GRAIN

Confronted by increasing movement of new corn in the Southwest, heavy pressure to sell developed in the corn market yesterday, dragging all grain values down. An incentive to late speculative selling both in wheat and corn was the fact that a lack of sustained aggressive support for prices became apparent. Notwithstanding 3,391,000 bushels decrease of the United States visible supply total, wheat more than lost an early advance.

Wheat closed easy at the same as Saturday's finish to ½c lower; May, 97½c to 97¼; corn, ⅝c to 1¼c off; May, 77¼c to 77⅜c; oats, unchanged to ¼c up, and provisions varying from 2c decline to 7c gain.

Potatoes were unchanged at 35c to 40c for new Quebecs per 80-pound bag and 40c to 45c for New Brunswick new Mountains.

WINNIPEG WHEAT.

WINNIPEG, October 23 — Unsettled by late weakness at Chicago wheat futures prices on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange faltered after establishing sharp advances yesterday. At the end of a session featured by renewed foreign interest in Canadian wheat, values were only ⅜ cent higher to unchanged.

Soaring as the effect of the first export sales in days—700,000 bushels—was felt, futures held gains of as much as 1⅜ cents under the final dealings. But as heavy selling encouraged by Chicago declines entered the pit, the October option eased to 76¼c, December 76½c, and May 81¼c.

High-grade wheats again were in good demand in cash grains, spreads closing fractionally better. Influenced by wheat, coarse grains futures receded from earlier advances, losing the best part of their gains. Flax at one period was up more than 4 cents.

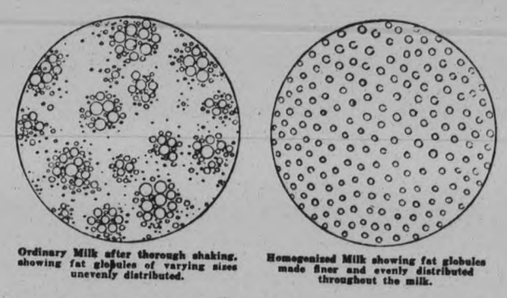
PEARL SUDS DO THE ROUGH WORK

YES—THEY COAX THE DIRT LOOSE

You will prefer Pearl White Naptha for more reasons than one. Buy a bar—it costs so little. Compare it with any other laundry soap. Its pure whiteness and clean, fresh smell will delight you. There's nothing like it to ensure a cleaner, sweeter wash in a shorter time.

Children will drink homogenized milk



Ordinary Milk after thorough shaking, showing fat globules of varying sizes unevenly distributed.

Homogenized Milk showing fat globules made finer and evenly distributed throughout the milk.

ONE of the regrettable situations in many homes is where the mother knows only too well the marvellous benefits of pure, rich milk to her children, but cannot get them to drink it.

Even bribes and gifts will not make them consume the needed quantity of this most perfect food.

In such cases, wise mothers turn to

Silverwood's HOMO Milk

It is the pure, rich Silverwood's Safe Milk, homogenized — all the butter-fat globules broken up under pressure and amalgamated with the milk in such a way that there can be no separation.

The result is that the children get a glass of milk rich to the last drop. It is more palatable and much easier to digest. We guarantee it to contain more than the Government requirement of butter-fat.

Perhaps Silverwood's Homo Milk will prove to be the solution of the problem for you. Why not try it for a week? Ask any Silverwood wagon-salesman, or telephone us and we will see you are supplied.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

It is a recognized fact that homemakers have different methods of accomplishing the same results. Nor is this confined to those who do housework. There are endless singing methods, accounting methods, bookkeeping methods, etc. Since there are so many different kinds of work in the business of homemaking, and each kind has many good methods of accomplishment, it is a mistake to expect all members of a family to follow any one system.

* * * * * *

To revive friction and continue to have willing and helpful hands in a family, it is important that no one insists on a pet method being followed. Even the mother, who has carefully trained her daughters in certain methods, finds, when they are no longer little girls, that their individuality asserts itself in a desire and often a pronounced determination to follow their own methods. This may be because one has noticed other ways of doing things in the homes of her friends and she feels these are better than those she learned. Or it may be that she has thought out her own methods and wants to demonstrate their good points. Or it may be a reaction against home rules.

* * * * * *

In any event the mother does well to let the daughter try her wings. Perhaps her ways will be found an improvement on mother's. No one person's methods can in all ways be the best. Mother is wise to let daughter find out for herself either that mother's way is best or at least to satisfy her that her way is better or worse.

* * * * * *

Other members of a family are often more insistent than mother that a usual method should be followed, and make quite a fuss if any one does differently. They are foolish, for it has been known to happen that the one who is found fault with, refuses to do the work, and it is left for those who have found the fault to do it.

* * * * * *

There is more interest felt in work when one can do it as she wishes. This is one good reason for letting persons work as they like best. Then there may be reasons sufficient unto themselves for a person to follow her own method. For example she may prefer to sit down when another would stand to do the same thing. Or it may be that one prefers to stand rather than sit, which may have been the accepted way. Or one may want a soft light for work while another requires a strong light. And when it comes to culinary affairs, there are endless ways of doing things. The making of bread alone is possible in many ways. Coffee can be made in as many ways as there are members of a family. What difference does it make what the method may be so long as the things are excellent when done? Individuality of methods should be permitted certainly, if not, indeed encouraged.

MAE WEST IN "THE BELLE OF THE NINETIES"

The mauve decade that we hear so much about forms the scene of this picture, in which the voluptuous Mae West, complete with low-voiced, incisive drawl, snake hips and fairly plain innuendo, does her stuff once more to an admiring audience. The lady's figure grows more curvilinear (if there is such a word), as time goes on, but she certainly gets across. One amazing attribute to her pictures is the fact that, as far as vulgarity is concerned, they never let up. All the men (with the single exception, perhaps, of Miljan), are extremely vulgar types. And so is the dialogue, the acting and the costumes, which are once again of the sort to sock you right in the eye. Mae wears shirt-waists and a pompadour in several of the scenes, and she also smokes cigarettes. But did the belles of the nineties smoke cigarettes so promiscuously?

"It is better to be looked over than overlooked," says Mae in one scene.

Mae's likes are fairly prominent in this story. Jasmin, (what a name for a negro) her maid, is once again included, with her throaty, infectious laugh, and there are scenes depicting prize-fights, which the gay West loves to attend, and also a queer presentation of the animal-like religious frenzy of a negro prayer meeting. (A phase of this meeting is the request of the preacher for funds, not to please the Lord, but to show hatred of the devil.)

Again, there is a repetition of a jewel robbery which actually happened to "la West" in front of her Hollywood home.

Believing that sex appeal is good for cash at the box office, the lady capitalizes on it at all times, sometimes, perhaps, just a little too obviously, but Joseph Hergesheimer says that good honest vulgarity is essential to the enjoyment of life. Several male patrons emerging from the matinee performance yesterday afternoon were of the opinion that this picture is not up to the lady's usual standard — not quite as peppy, they said.

The tale has plenty of action. Ruby Carter, hailing from St. Louis, where she has become a household word, drifts to the Sensation House in New Orleans and there proceeds to give the patrons an eye full and to accumulate some excellent pieces of diamond jewelry for herself, from a certain Claybourn (John Mack Brown). But her employer (John Miljan), has a yen for the glamorous Ruby, and hires an old flame of hers, (unbeknown to the flame, of course), to do her wrong and "snatch the ice" (these pictures make us talk like that). Anyway, Ruby is not fooled and proceeds to double-cross both her employer and the aforesaid flame (Roger Pryor), in approved fashion, putting a dent in the pocketbook of the former and a crimp in the pugilistic ambitions of the latter.

This picture is the one example, as far as Mae West's pictures are concerned, of an ending which depicts the lady as a bride (not by any means a blushing one) and the bridegroom seems to be a great deal younger than herself. (It seems that astrologists prophesy a real marriage for Miss West by 1938).

Kemptville School Needs More Students

James C. Shearer, newly appointed vice-principal of the Kemptville Agricultural School called at the local agricultural office yesterday en route from Lindsay where he addressed Lindsay Rotarians, who had as their guests members of Victoria County Boys' Swine and Grain Clubs.

Mr. Shearer stated their chief concern was to secure more students. In view of the fact that the board and room in the school residence had been reduced from $5 to $3.50 per week, he felt that the course was most attractive to any young man residing on a farm who felt the need of further education of a practical nature.

Agricultural representative A. D. Runions, states that up to the present there have been only a limited number of students in attendance at the school from Peterborough County, but in view of the fact that board has been reduced with tuition fee, he feels that the course should offer wide appeal to a number of county boys. He urges all who are interested in this type of course to communicate direct with him as the term opens on November 6.

And only Palmolive gives me these important facts

There must be something better about a soap, when 20,000 beauty experts recommend it. I expect a beauty expert to know about skin, the way a doctor knows about health! And I tried Palmolive first, just for that reason alone!

I'm the kind of woman who likes to know why anything is better than something else . . . and I'm perfectly satisfied that Palmolive is better, because I've learned it's made from a scientific blend of olive and palm oils.

I took the advice of those beauty experts, as to method of using Palmolive, too. I massage its velvety lather well into my pores, rinse with warm water, then cold. You can't imagine how that penetrating lather will help your skin!

THE NEW LICENSE FEES.

The new beverage room license fees just announced by E. G. Odette, Liquor Control Commissioner, and taking effect on November 1 are heavy enough to suggest the idea that perhaps the Hepburn Government is taking this method of driving some of the beer establishments out of business.

The levies, so far as Peterborough hotels are concerned, run from $1,175 to $1,800 a year, and are based apparently upon the amount of beer purchased by these hotels during the past three months.

It is not surprising to find hotelmen complaining that these licenses are prohibitive, and that the method of arriving at them is distinctly unfair, inasmuch as they have been estimated on the basis of sales during a period that was abnormal, when sale by the glass was a novelty and when an unusual quantity of beer was consumed.

These proprietors argue that the licenses should be regulated according to the actual sales from month to month during the coming fiscal year rather than on the figures for the initial three months of sale.

The reaction of the general public to the new scale of licenses is likely to be, however, that the levies will either cut down the number of beverage rooms in Ontario or, on the other hand, they will provide the Government with a considerable amount of much-needed revenue, and that either of these alternatives will prove an advantage.

Certainly with licenses at these figures there will be a sudden curb upon the number of applications for beer authorities, for sale by the glass does not loom up as a gilt-edged financial proposition with the overhead thus materially augmented.

THE WORST OFFENDERS.

"You and I under a rotten system are subsidizing sweat shops," declared George S. Hougham, secretary of the Retail Merchants' Association, in an address the other day, and his statement should be arresting.

It is time that something of that kind was said because the public has yet to be awakened to the fact that it is to a great extent to blame for the conditions about which it is complaining so bitterly.

There are chiselers in business and chiselers in industry, of course, and workers are being exploited by them, but after all it is the fact that as buyers we are careless about the origin of the goods we purchase that makes it possible for sweat shop conditions to develop.

When we see articles advertised for sale at what seems a ridiculously low price we buy it as a rule without a single scruple.

We say "those shirts are a bargain at that price," and rarely stop to consider the fact that in order to produce shirts at such a figure men and women workers must necessarily have to work long hours for a mere pittance.

As the Stratford Beacon-Herald says with truth, that most people "desire their money to purchase all it can regardless of wages which have been paid on conditions which have been endured."

Once we begin to refuse goods that obviously must have been produced under rotten labor conditions, then we will have made a start toward eliminating those conditions.

There is no use criticizing this or that firm when we are ourselves perhaps worse offenders in the encouragement we give the sweat shop methods.

GRAND OLD SPORTSMEN.

Two of Peterborough's grand old men of sport have gone in the passing of Sam Ray and Tom Brightman.

Among the citizens of an earlier day Mr. Ray's was a name to conjure with back in the years when the prowess of the Peterborough Cricket Club and the achievements of Mr. Ray as its captain were known far and wide.

As a curler he was almost as famous, and older knights of the stane and besom recall the halcyon days when Mr. Ray was at the top of his game and triumphant over the keenest opposition.

For a number of years, too, this much loved sportsman was president of the Peterborough Hockey Club, and his services in that capacity and the keen interest he always took in the welfare of the players, and especially of the youngsters making their start in the game, will be gratefully remembered. An enthusiastic executive and fan, Mr. Ray was a genuine "sport" who accepted victory gracefully and took defeat without a murmur.

As a player in his earlier days and as a leader and supporter in after years, his enthusiasm never wavered, and although he had dropped out of active association with the sporting organizations during the past decade, he followed their activities with unflagging interest.

If Peterborough has a well-established reputation as a sporting centre, certainly Sam Ray played no small part by his achievements and by his sterling qualities in building up the athletic prestige of this community over the last fifty years.

By a strange coincidence, Mr. Brightman, a contemporary of Mr. Ray's in the curling world, has passed on almost at the same moment.

Mr. Brightman, a resident of Peterborough for nearly forty years, was one of the strong men of curling in this community, a founder of the Curling Club, and long a leading exponent of the game. He took an important role in the development of the winter sport here, had a host of friends among the curling fraternity all over the country, and was a genial, likeable gentleman whose love of fishing and hunting and the great out-of-doors was proverbial.

In the death over the week-end of two of the rapidly dwindling old guard Peterborough has suffered a heavy loss; the generation of such sportsmen is rapidly passing, and it is doubtful whether their place will ever be filled.

THE GOOD OLD DAYS.

Government blue books as a rule make very dry reading and are of little interest save to statisticians and to politicians.

One publication that came along in the mails yesterday proved to be of a very different category, for it is full of color and romance.

The reference is to the twenty-second report of the Department of Public Records, a publication that contains the minutes of the General Quarter Sessions of the Peace for the London district during the first few years of the last century.

An extract or two should be of general interest.

First, here is the preamble to one of the sessions:

"The General Quarter Sessions of the Peace of our Lord the King, holden at the Court House in Charlotteville, on the fourteenth day of October, in the fifty-seventh year of the reign of our sovereign, Lord George the Third, by the grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, king defender of the faith. Before the justices of our Lord the King assigned to keep the peace, and also to hear and determine divers, felonies, trespassers and other misdemeanors in the said district committed."

And following is the record of one sitting:

"The magistrates in General Quarter Sessions, assembled having heard and examined witnesses respecting a quarrel and breach of the peace between James Hutchison and Es[t]her his wife do hereby order that the said James Hutchison and Esther his wife shall each enter into a recognizance to keep the peace and be of good behaviour towards each other, and towards all his Majesty's Liege subjects, for twelve months, the pri[n]cipals in £100 each and their sureties in £50 each.

"Ordered, that the town wardens in each and every township throughout the district, shall at the request of any magistrate in the district, visit any indented apprentice within their township and report to such magistrate, the situation of such apprentice. That the clerk of the peace do notify the same publickly.

"The magistrates in General Quarter Sessions, taking into consideration the helpless situation of Alexander Wedge, a boy of about six years of age, abandoned by his father and left without an adequate provision by his mother, do order and direct, that the said Alexander Wedge shall be duly indented and apprenticed to James Mitchell Esquire, his heirs and assigns until [sic] he shall have completed his twenty-first year, he the said James Mitchell his heirs or assigns furnishing the said Alexander Wedge with sufficient wearing apparel and victuals and teaching him or causing him to be taught, to read and write and at the expiration of his apprenticeship to furnish him with two suits of wearing apparel, a yoke of oxen worth fifty dollars with a yoke and chain.

"Ordered that a bench warrant be issued against Thomas Finch to appear at the next adjourned Sessions to answer for his keeping a disorderly house, selling liquor on the Sabbath, and also ill treating a gentleman stranger by letting his horse go away and not paying attention to the same. The last complaint made by request of the Honbl. Wm. Campbell.

LOWER INTEREST RATES.

The Finance Minister describes the coming interest cut as a natural development in view of the abundance of cheap money, and expresses confidence that it will contribute toward business recovery. This will prove to be the case if bank loans are to be obtained on easier terms, and that seems a reasonable prospect provided savings deposits are maintained. As far as individual investors are concerned, a reduction of interest to two per cent. is not likely to induce many to buy industrial stocks or bonds who did not feel disposed to do so when their savings deposits drew 2½ per cent. The chief trouble has been that many industrial enterprises have not been able, in existing business conditions, to pay an attractive return upon investments or meet the cost of large borrowings from chartered banks. High taxation has been a cost factor for some time, also, and if Governments by reason of interest savings are able soon to forego some of the "nuisance" taxes, manufacturers and primary producers alike will be in better position to carry on and to compete abroad, and in due course to increase employment.

The same holds good in respect of farm loans. There will be plenty of money to lend on farm mortgages when interest and principal are assured by better returns in agriculture, even if the interest rate be not high. Whether or not the Ontario Government will feel disposed to make a reduction in the rate on loans through the Agricultural Development Board, corresponding to the reduction in interest paid savings depositors, remains to be seen; present loans include a great deal of public money as well as savings deposits, and the Government is taking some losses on farm properties.—Woodstock Sentinel-Review.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Casualties over the week-end were again appallingly large. Canada is paying a high price for carelessness.

Hon. Peter Heenan's reputation as a peacemaker is undergoing the acid test in the bush workers' strike in Northern Ontario. If he can end that trouble his prestige will be materially enhanced.

It does not cost a great deal to feed the prisoners in the local gaol. Still they are not like ordinary boarders, seeing that they cannot walk out if the meals do not suit them.

An interesting speculation in regard to the flying Mollisons is whether Amy indulges in any back seat driving when Captain Jim is at the controls.

A NEEDY CLASS

Editor Examiner,

Dear Sir,—In Saturday's Examiner I read with a feeling of gratitude your editorial comments on the recent meeting of Ontario mayors in Hamilton and their pronouncement that "citizens unemployed, but not on relief should have the same consideration as those on relief, when civic relief works are undertaken."

It is surely time that something was said and done for this (in many respects the most worthy) class of unemployed.

I personally know of those who have striven nobly to keep off relief, have lived on less than relief allowance, have used up their bank savings, have cancelled their own and their children's life insurance, have exhausted their credit, and still the grim wolf howls at their door, with not a voice raised on their behalf, save one, The Examiner, not an organization doing anything to relieve, save one, the Community Gardens Committee, and their efforts have been cramped by lack of civic support and public interest.

These people are not making "demands," or crying for charity, they are just suffering and hoping.

A word on their behalf will cheer and encourage them but it won't feed and clothe them.

Are our Relief Boards and Councils just civic McCawbers waiting for something to turn up, afraid to move unless a Government leads the way with two-third bait?

Recent developments along taxation lines indicates that there are citizens capable of thought and action.

Has there even been a committee appointed to study and report upon this serious situation?

Locally we cannot expect to cure the evil for it is not of local origin but surely some serious study of the situation by a committee or board of sympathetic interest could evolve some plan to at least relieve the situation.

Yours truly,
Gardener.

THE TEMPERANCE (?) BEER LAW

To Editor of The Examiner,

Dear Sir,—A recent report from the Liquor Commission indicates that the sale of beer has increased during September of this year as compared with the same month of 1933 by 100 per cent, while hard liquors sold in September of this year are 11 per cent less than for September a year ago. Upon this basis the Commissioner claims that the beer law is undoubtedly a temperance measure.

There are a few facts related to this problem that perhaps the Commissioner has not carefully considered. One is that since the depression set in, in 1929 the consumption of hard liquor in Ontario has steadily declined. The total drop from 1929-30 to 1932-33 is just a fraction over 50 per cent. This was due in the main not to any temperance reform but obviously to the gradual shrinking of purchasing power steadily extending in wider areas and higher levels of society. The shrinkage in hard liquor purchased during the year which ended October 31, 1933, over the previous year, was 21.3 per cent. A year ago the use of hard liquor was lessening at the rate of 21.3 per cent. The beer bill has been introduced and now it is lessening at the rate of 11 per cent. The decline in the use of hard liquor has been cut in two. The probability is that any drop in hard liquor is almost wholly due to continued disappearance of purchasing power, though this is not quite as pronounced as some time back.

There are some immediate advantages in drinking milder liquors: chiefly that one does not become obviously drunk so quickly, or at least until he has drunk a larger quantity of liquid. But one has to have considerable hardihood in the face of the records for drunkenness all over Ontario during the last three months, to declare that the beer law is a pronouncedly temperance measure.

Drunkenness, however distressing to the friends of the individual and dangerous to society, if not of too frequent occurrence is probably not the most serious of the evils resulting from drinking. Scientists to-day incline to find the more serious results in various types of deterioration, both mental and physical, in the individual and his descendents. These arise from regular daily drinking, often of less than intoxicating quantities. In the last result it is he quantity of absolute alcohol that is taken into the body that is the matter of greater concern.

Last year we in Ontario drank 814,170 gallons of spirits. If we consider these as averaging 45 per cent absolute alcohol—a moderate estimate—the people of Ontario consumed from this source 366,376 gallons of absolute alcohol. If we drink 11 per cent less this year (11 per cent is the September drop in sale of spirits) we will have reduced that amount by 40,301 gallons. Last year we drank in Ontario 7,491,060 gallons of beer. If we estimate the average alcohol content of this beer at 6 per cent. (the Liquor Commission has admitted that the breweries are selling beer of 8 and 9 per cent.) the amount of absolute alcohol consumed in beer was 449,463 gallons. If we increase our beer sales for the year by 100 per cent as we did for September, we will have consumed in beer 898,926 gallons of absolute alcohol. We shall then have reduced consumption of absolute alcohol in spirits 40,301 gallons and increased its consumption in beer by 449,463 gallons. The total increase of absolute alcohol consumed in beer and spirits alone in Ontario will have been 409,162 gallons. If we continue the September rate of drinking of beer and spirits for a year the net result will be that we will have increased our consumption of absolute alcohol by 50 per cent. This takes no account of the inevitable increase in consumption of wines which will raise the figures considerably higher.

If, as many leading authorities hold, the ultimate damage depends in the main on the quantity of absolute alcohol consumed, Ontario's beer law instead of bringing an advance in temperance will prove a long step in the direction of social calamity.

VANKLEEK HILL, ONTARIO

This town, situated midway between Montreal and Ottawa, was first settled 125 years ago by Simon Vankleek, a U. E. Loyalist, who came up from New York state, when conditions in the empire state were not to his lining. He was the first settler and he chose for the townsite a spot on the side of a hill, 100 feet higher than the surrounding countryside. The town automatically took his name, and there has never been any valid reason for making a change.

THE BROWSER.

Some years ago the Brower read "As It Was," a book by Helen Thomas about herself and the poet Edward Thomas who went, so young, to war and didn't come back. It was an exquisitely frank book and in some ways a masterpiece, even though it didn't drive the Browser to the library to read everything Thomas ever wrote. . . . Somehow the wife was more interesting than the husband. . . . But last week the Browser read Sybil Bolitho's "My Shadow as I Pass," a novel whose foundation is the life of William Bolitho and his wife, and the death of the man and grief of the woman who loved him. It is a good book, subtle and wise in many of its elements, and would be a comforting one, the Browser thinks, for those who have lost a beloved partner. And perhaps it is an even finer book than "As It Was" because it sent him to the library at once to gather up and devour every book that Bolitho published, curious to know the manner of man he was — that Walter Lippmann should have said he wrote "like a man from Mars" and that Alexander Woollcott should have called him "the incomparable Bolitho." . . . As he was, indeed. . . . The Browser, who should have read all these before, has now read Bolitho's play, "Overture 1920," "Camera Obscura," "Leviathan" and "Twelve Against the Gods," twelve essays on remarkable adventurers, on Alexander the Great, Casanova, Columbus, Mahomet, Lola Montez, Cagliostro, Charles XII of Sweden, Napoleons I and III, Catiline, Isadora Duncan, and Woodrow Wilson. You read these and you will see, through him, a new and clear and penetrating light shining on the ages and you will say to yourself, "Why did this man die so young? Why couldn't he have lived to write many more such books as this?" and you will be sad, but also glad if you love wisdom that transcends the printed page.

The Browser also, for contrast, suggests Ike Hoover's "42 Years in the White House." . . . Usher Ike was no genius but he was a canny child among the presidents, taking notes for the great historians of the future, and here's a fascinating book. . . . Some may carp and say: "What right has any man to reveal such intimate details of the lives of our public men?" . . . Well, the Browser may be a prude in some respects, but not in this. He likes to know such things about presidents, and he thinks the American people have a right to know that Coolidge was annoyed when we misunderstood his "do not choose to run" statement, that Taft was more irascible than any other president, that Grover Cleveland was the most liberal financially of all presidents, that Coolidge flew into terrible rages and never once held any conversation with Ike, that Mrs. Hoover would not allow Ike to be called Mr. Hoover, that Wilson was the easiest to work with and told Ike Hoover toward the end that he was "tired of swimming upstream." . . . Ike's favorites were Mrs. Cleveland, Mrs. Roosevelt and the two Mrs Wilsons; he says Mrs Taft "tried the hardest to be a success." Mrs Harding was "wild and anxious" and believed in fortune tellers. Mrs. Coolidge was the only first lady who smoked. None of them were "natural in public." . . . Harding called his wife "Duchess." Coolidge called his Grace or "Mamma." . . . The Tafts were good hosts, the Hardings overdid it. Herbert Hoover seemed indifferent toward his guests, and could change his clothes quicker than any other president. . . . And Ike Hoover's book is crammed with this sort of stuff, which seems so trivial and yet is the material from which the Bolithos of this world write imperishable histories.

Ivor Brown's "I Commit to the Flames" will annoy all lovers of D. H. Lawrence. . . . Brown doesn't think much of the "modern" writer's attitude on sex. . . . Sixteen authors will discuss their aims and methods in "What Is a Book?" on Houghton Mifflin's 1935 list. Among them Harold Nicolson, Rafael Sabatini, and Arnot Robertson. . . . Samuel Rogers, who won the Atlantic $10,000 novel prize with "Dusk at the Grove" is taking a year's leave of absence from the University of Wisconsin—to write another novel, certainly. . . . Bill Haines' novel, "Slim," of the life of a lineman, has been sold to Warners for $10,000. Bill will show the Hollywood folks how to climb a pole. . . . A. P. Herbert — he wrote "Holy Deadlock"—says, "I lead a hideous life. I sit down after breakfast and try to be funny. As the morning wears on, I find the serious side of my nature gradually asserting itself with inimitable force and by luncheon I am ready to write tragedy." . . . Walter Greenwood, young Englishman, wrote "Love on the Dole" while living on the dole. . . . Next week the Browser will expose John O'Hara's hard-boiled "Appointment in Samarra" as a sentimental treagdy. It will be easy for THE BROWSER Assessments Lowered Quinte Power Co.

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 23.—(Examiner Staff Correspondent.) — There were fourteen appeals listed for hearing before the Court of Revision here Friday night at the Public Library, which wound up at a quarter to one Saturday morning, when an adjournment was called until Friday, Oct. 26th. Chairman E. C. McKeel, with Councillors J. R.Battisby, F. F. Long, John O'Sullivan, Neil Thompson, Town Solicitor Lynch, and Harry Townsend, assessor, presided.

J. G. G. Kerry represented the Quinte Power Co. and stated that an American concern, the Robert Gair Company, had leased the plant, but that the buildings were in a bad state of repair and that the roof alone would cost $2,500, and if assessment could be fixed, the money needed for the work would be spent in town. He also claimed that the receivers in charge of the Canadian Paperboard Company had tried hard to get $25,000 for the entire plant but had failed, and asked for a flat assessment of $20,000 on mill and $20,000 on power house, claiming that the boiler house, main machine room, and storage building were all in bad shape, and that the whole plant would go to pieces unless the necessary repairs were made. "If we can save something in taxes, we can do something to save the property, he declared.

Asked how labor in Campbellford compared with Toronto, Mr. Kerry stated that this item was approximately 33 1-3 per cent. less, and that electric power here could be obtained for 1-3 of what was paid in the city, but that freight rates ate up the equivalent of the capital invest ment. It was just a question of markets as to when the American organization might start here. If the assessment is reduced we can get some money to carry out the necessary repairs.

The court took a lenient view of the situation, making a substantial reduction on mill and power plant, which were originally assessed for $30,000 and $50,000 respectively. This case took up the greater part of the evening.

James H. Cunningham, manager of the Campbellford Cloth Company, was also successful in his appeal.

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

MERCIER A POLITICAL MARTYR

On this date forty years ago (October 23, 1894) the death took place at Montreal of Honore Mercier, who had been premier of Quebec, 1887-91. His name is little known to the present generation, but he was a big figure in his all too brief life. He was from 1885 down to his death the political idol of the mass of the people of Quebec. Possessed of a magnetic personality and endowed with a strong voice and great eloquence he could sway the people even more easily than did Laurier. Perhaps, from the standpoint of the other provinces, Honore Mercier was "too French," too insistent upon the destiny of his compatriots, too liable to appeal to "passion and prejudice"; but he was a son of Quebec, he believed in the destiny of Quebec and he thought it his duty to emphasize the rights of his province.

His great chance came when Quebec was staggered by the execution of Louis Riel at Regina, November, 1885. Mercier at once assumed the leadership of the Nationalists and set the Province of Quebec ablaze with political fire. For two years he waged his campaign; in 1887 he was sworn in as premier of Quebec. He delighted the habitant by his progressive policy and his defence of Quebec's claims to fair treatment by the Dominion; he became the bogey man of a large section of English Canadians because of his legislation which compensated the Jesuits for the estreatment of their properties in 1800, which made him the occasion for much agitation by the Orange order and led to the formation of the Equal Rights party under D'Alton McCarthy, with the consequence that the more he was abused in Ontario the more powerful he became in Quebec.

Then, at the height of his power, he fell a victim to a political conspiracy at Ottawa. When the Liberals under Tarte were attacking Hector Langevin and his associates for corruption in Quebec harbor works the Conservatives in the Senate started a counter investigation against the Quebec government and it was found that there had been corruption in connection with the building of the Baie de Chaleur railway; not great corruption as compared with the stealings of McGreevy at Quebec but enough to warrant the lieutenant-governor, A. R. Angers, in dismissing Mercier and his ministry. The coup d'etat nearly brought Quebec province to the verge of revolution when elections were held a majority of the people voted against the Liberals and Angers was justified, but Honore Mercier was not personally disgraced. He was still the idol of the masses, and when he died, of a broken heart, he was given a funeral which showed how the people loved him. He had the misfortune to be the leader of a party which was "found out," but was in truth no more guilty, perhaps not so much, as his opponents, who had the power to decapitate him and ruin his career. Langevin, on the other hand, was permitted to retire unpunished.

MADOC HIGH SCHOOL NEARS COMPLETION

Classes Will Likely Move in During Coming Week.

MADOC, Oct. 23. — (Examiner Correspondence).—The new Madoc High School is fast nearing completion. It is built in Tudor style of red and white brick, with soundproof walls. The heating apparatus is installed and working very satisfactory, with its automatic stoker and thermostal control of heat and humidity. The electric lights are installed, floors are being oiled and new desks, office and library equipment are being received, while the chemical laboratory is being installed.

It is hoped that it will be possible to transfer the classes to their new quarters before the first severe cold spell, probably during the coming week. The corridors are floored with marble from Marmora quarries and slate from the Madoc quarries, while polished marble will be used for wainscoting.

The principal's office and the teachers' rest-room are models of efficiency, and it is needless to say the class-rooms are completely equipped. The library-room will be one of the most complete of its kind. The assembly-room with its platform, movable seats, gallery and seating capacity, leaves nothing to be desired and can be very quickly converted into gymnasium rooms for boys and girls with its dividing curtains.

It is expected that the openings ceremonies will be held early in November.

Children's Day.

Sunday was children's day at the Anglican Church of St. John the Baptist, Madoc, Rev. W. G. Hope-Swayne, rector, giving an earnest and inspiring message from the text, "I will follow Thee whether so ever Thou goest," John 6:57. Suitable children's hymns were used and a special children's service used. The evening service was not largely attended on account of the rain.

Euchre Party.

On Thursday evening the first of a series of bridge and euchre parties in the spacious lodge rooms of the Order of the Eastern Star was held. The prizes of the evening for bridge were won by Mrs. G. Munro and Mr. James Watson and for euchre by Mrs. A. Smith and Mrs. G. Hill. After a dainty lunch, the Madoc orchestra provided music for dancing.

Miss Margaret E. Nickle spent the week-end in Peterborough the guest of her brother, Mr. C. Nickle, and of Mr. and Mrs. Verne Fuller.

The friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. J. Stewart assembled at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred. Stewart to wish them all happiness in their new life, and presented them with a handsome china dinner set, and also a miscellaneous shower. A very pleasant evening was spent in dancing and cards.

For the first time since her marriage, Mrs. Fred. Ansell (nee Miss Lenore Vandervoort) was at home to all her friends on Friday afternoon, 19th, at her home on East Davidson street. Receiving with her was her sister, Mrs. G. F. Maybee, and at the door Mrs. J. H. Rutherford. Presiding at the tea table, which was handsomely decorated in pink and white with carnations and candles, were Mrs. Gavin Wallbridge and Miss I. Breakell, while Mrs. R. Bristol, Mrs. Anderson and Miss Feeney assisted. The reception room was bright with chrysanthemums and shaded lights, and many friends took advantage of the afternoon to extend their good wishes to one of this season's popular brides.

Mrs. J. Morrison, district deputy president, assisted by a guard of honor and past noble grands, consisting of Mesdames W. Parks C. Stockloser, F. Phillips, W. McBain, B. Tanner, R. Wellman, C. Moon, B. Alexander, B. Connor, Smith and Messrs. F. Stewart, J. Ferguson M. Roberts, A. Rodgers W. H. McBain, visited the Rebekah Lodge in Stirling last week to attend the regular meeting and installed the new officers for the coming year.

BISONS NOMINATE JACKSON AS INTERNATIONAL REFEREE.

FORT ERIE, October 23. — Buffalo Bisons will nominate Stanley Jackson of Fort Erie for a place on the refereeing staff of the International Hockey League for the coming season, Manager Mickey Roach said yesterday.

A former professional hockey player, Jackson at one time coached the Charlottetown, P.E.I., Abbies, and last season refereed for a time in the Maritimes.

The Buffalo club will make the nomination at the meeting of the league in Cleveland to-day. George A. Vasey, secretary of the Buffalo club, will accompany Roach to the meeting.

Back from a trip to Oshawa and Ottawa, Roach said he had been promised assistance from the St. Louis Eagles and New York Americans in building up his third-string forward line.

NO $1,000 IN FINES

WALKERVILLE, Ont., Oct. 23.—(CP)—When it was estimated at the start of the year police fines and fees would produce a revenue of $1,000 for the 12 months, somebody miscued. For the first nine months just $372.75 have been collected in this manner.

EQUITY, JUSTICE DEMANDED FOR MARKETING ACT

Manitoba United Farmers' President Also Urges Developing Export Market.

ANNUAL CONVENTION.

By Sam. G. Ross
(Canadian Press Staff Writer).

BRANDON, Man., Oct. 23 (C.P.).—Delivering his presidential address to the annual convention of the United Farmers of Manitoba, Roy McPhail, Brandon, to-day coupled a call for development of export markets with a warning the Natural Products Marketing Act must be founded on equity and justice.

"The Natural Products Marketing Act stands out as perhaps the most interesting and daring piece of legislation ever enacted with a view to the improvement of marketing conditions for Canadian farmers," Mr. McPhail told the representatives at the opening session of their convention. "Much controversy prevails and is likely to continue as the new law swings into action and makes its impact upon the activities of the Canadian farmer."

The yardstick by which the United Farmers of Manitoba should measure the Act was "equal rights for all, special privileges for none," he declared. "If it can be shown to the United Farmers of Manitoba that the new legislation is founded on equity and justice, then in my opinion farmers will give their support to those who must administer the legislation," he said.

Effect on Export Outlet.

The important fact which should not be overlooked in any discussion of measures aiming to assist in marketing agricultural products was its effect on the export markets. Any permanent improvement in the price structure, he declared, must necessarily rise from the satisfactory foreign outlet for surplus products.

Mr. McPhail drew to the attention of the convention the fact that before another assembly is called, a Dominion election will have been held. Since 1926 the U.F.M. has refused to accept responsibility for or affiliation with any political group, although at one time it was a power in politics. But, he added, the members were still farmers with the same aspirations and the same political needs.

"As a group we have no wish at the present time to participate in the hurly-burly of politics," he said. "At the same time we have no hesitation in serving notice upon those who seem to be chiefly interested in a battle between the 'ins and the outs' that we have definite and clearly defined economic policies for which we have always stood and which we still advocate. It is one of our chief duties to so guide rural thought along our economic and kindred lines that an influential body of public opinion may demand the translation of our ideals into legislative action."

GOLD ISSUES ARE HARD HIT

Noranda Heavily Sold for Loss of More Than $2 in Base Metals.

SILVER GROUP LIGHT.

TORONTO, Oct. 23 (C.P.).—The bears cracked down on the gold stocks to-day and seniors, intermediates and juniors were hammered for losses ranging from a few cents up to 2.50. In the base metal, Noranda was heavily sold for a loss of more than $2, while smaller recessions were recorded in the silver group. There was no explanation for the slump in the golds other than a sag in the price of metal in London and a feeling among holders that the Washington administration is turning to the right in monetary matters, thus shelving, for the present at least, the expected mark up in the price of gold.

Weather Worst Snag, Bedaux Expedition

EDMONTON, Oct. 23 (CP)—Failure of his expedition to make an 1,100 mile crossing of the Rocky Mountains through the rugged interior of Northern British Columbia was attributed to-day by Charles E. Bedaux, Paris sportsman, to three main causes.

In copyright dispatches to The Edmonton Journal from Pouce Coupe, B.C., the millionaire sportsman said the weather was the first cause; the second was that engineers who designed the five tractors left in the wilderness had not known what "gumbo" is. The third was hoof-rot which broke out among the expedition horses, forcing back the party when they were almost within reach of Telegraph Creek, end of the projected trip.

The party is resting at Pouce Coupe and will entrain for Edmonton later to-day.

The late tone was mildly irregular.

DERBY WINNERS PAIR OF TYPICAL YOUNG PIONEERS

Scott Gained Experience in Australian Wilds, Black in Africa.

BOTH R.A.F. MEN.

By ALBERT W. WILSON.

LONDON, Oct. 23.—(A.P.)—Two typical young pioneers of the Empire on which the sun never sets are "Charley" Scott and Tom Campbell Black, heroes in one of the history's greatest flying feats.

Extreme modesty and bull-dog tenacity are characteristic of this pair, as of many other Englishmen who refused to be tied down to the narrow confines of this little island.

The six-foot, fair-haired Scott, who is 31 was born in London, but has been making pioneer flights over Australia for most of the past eight years. Apparently he comes to England just for the purpose of setting records over the route, for this is the fourth time he has set a new mark.

Trim, moustached, Black, who is 35, was born in Brighton and made his reputation as a flyer in East Africa over territory much more dangerous than any he experienced in his latest flight.

Modest Pair.

No two men were more modest before the Australia Air Derby, despite the fame they had already won. Scott made no boasts or promises as he told A. O. Edwards, their backer, of the difficulties and hazards.

When Black viewed a news reel with h is mother of the christening of their plane, he insisted that she refrain from clapping her hands.

"Sh-sh, Mother, you will attract attention," he whispered to her in alarm.

The fathers of both Scott and Black achieved reputations in much more restricted circles. The elder Scott conducted the Philharmonic Choir of the Bach Cantata Club and other music societies here.

Black's father is an alderman and former Mayor of Brighton. A cousin, Norman Black, is a leading racing motorist.

Young Scott joined the Royal Air Force in 1922 and when he was transferred into the reserves in 1926 he went to Australia.

There he made many flights into the difficult northern territory.

He achieved fame in 1931 by a 9½ day flight to England and got an Air Force Cross when he return in 10½ days. The following year he lowered the record to eight days and 20 hours.

Prefers Lead to Sharks

Scott once disclosed that he always carried a revolver over the Timor Sea, so that if he crashed he could kill himself before being torn to piece by sharks. He also kept a list of names of all the men who had flown the dangerous sea safely, which reassured him.

After serving in the Royal Naval Air Force during the Great War, Black interested himself in coffee planting in Kenya, but flying remained his chief occupation. He made 14 transport flights between Kenya and England.

Black rescued the German war ace, Ernst Udet, who was forced down in the Sudd region of Central Africa in 1931. He also flew to the relief of many other pilots lost in the impenetrable forests of this region, where wild game of all descriptions is found, and carried sick and injured persons to hospitals from isolated outposts.

While in Africa he flew out rich cargoes of gold, precious stones and spices. For three successive years the dapper pilot won the Robinson gold trophy for the most meritorious flights in East Africa.

Recently he was the personal pilot for Lord Furness and was best man in the latter's wedding in 1933. (Lord Furness was divorced from Mrs. Thelma Morgan Converse, a sister of Mrs. Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt of New York, in 1933, and later that year wed Mrs. Enid Cavendish).

Tom's admiration of Scott's ability to handle aeroplanes on long flights and the latter's interest in Black's ability to make clever landings, learned in mountainous Kenya, drew them together. This friendship developed into their present partnership.

Walkers Common Drops Point and Other Distilleries Down Fractions.

NICKEL IN FAIR DEMAND.

TORONTO, Oct. 23 (C.P.).—The Toronto industrial share market today reflected the downward trend in New York, a slow retreat prevailing throughout the day. The oils held fairly well but other interlisted shares were down. Walkers Common lost about a point and the other distillery shares took fractional recessions. Nickel met with fair buying demand and held its loss to about ¼ point. Volume on the whole was less than normal.

the men won't stand for it," Hanrahan exclaimed.

Following their discharge the three men took their complaints to J. J. Duffus on Sunday morning and later that day interviewed James Hawthorn. The latter promised to investigate the alleged complaints, and according to Mr. Duffus, intends to proceed to Camp 6 to-morrow.

Hanrahan told The Examiner, "the superintendent has absolute lack of control. Trouble had been brewing all along, and one night recently he was warned by the men at the camp."

Mr. Duffus attributed what trouble there might have been at Camp 6, to the fact that the new superintendent certainly was demanding more work from the men than was expected of them by his predecessor. Under the former superintendent, who was relieved of his duties, Mr. Duffus said discipline at the camp was very lax and the men were not performing a proper day's work.

The new superintendent had been chosen for his ability in the handling of men and had been engaged with instructions to remedy the bad state of affairs that existed prior to his appointment, Mr. Duffus stated. As far as he was aware the new superintendent was trying conscientiously to administer the camp efficiently and harmoniously.

WHEAT CONTROL RUMOR DENIED

Reported French Brokers Attempting Pool to Break Prices Fixed by Canadian Government.

HOPE SECURE MONOPOLY.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23. — (AP) — Louis Dreyfus & Co., French grain brokers, issued a statement today through its New York office denying reports that the company, together with other grain houses, was arranging a wheat pool designed "to break the prices fixed by the Canadian government" and thereby to secure an international wheat monopoly.

"Reports have been circulated," the statement said, "that Louis Dreyfus & Co., acting in cooperation with Messrs. Bunge & Co. of Antwerp and with Messrs. W. R. Muller & Co. of Hamburg, have been arranging a wheat pool designed to break the prices fixed by the Canadian government for wheat and thus to secure for ourselves at least for a time something like a monopoly control of the international wheat trade and the control of the British imports.

"It has also been reported that the recent visit of Prime Minister Bennett of Canada to Paris was for the purpose of conferring with Louis Dreyfus & Co. regarding the pool.

"These statements are not accurate. It is not within the power of any firm or even a group of firms to change in any way the position created by the Canadian government which has of its own free will fixed the price it has chosen for its wheat. We do not fix the prices. All we can do is to act as broker to bring the raiser and the consumer of wheat together. We are just as ready to sell Canadian cereals as Argentine. We hold no speculative position in wheat."

CANADIAN LOSES MARRIAGE RACE TO AMERICAN FOR PRAGUE WIDOW

Countess, Intent on Operatic Career, Holds Retired Ontarioan as Too Timid.

SPEEDING CHOOSING.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—(C.P.) — Countess Eugenia Zicha of Prague stepped off the liner Ilsenstein yesterday, an unattached widow with an eye to an operatic career.

Five hours later, through Mrs. Nelle Brooke Stull, of Elyria, Ohio, president and founder of the wid ows' and widowers' club, she had met for the first time the two suitors, one of them a Canadian, and announced her intention of marrying one of them—but not the Canadian.

Mrs. Stull selected Jacob Miller, described as a retired Ontario machinery manufacturer, and Theodore Kabelac, Philadelphia chemical man to meet the countess. The latter thereupon selected the American and the ceremony making them man and wife is on tap for to-morrow.

Mr. Miller left town shortly afterward—not through chagrin, but to visit relatives in New Jersey—and the exact part of Ontario from which he comes could not be learned.

Mrs. Stull's only information on the point was that he "lives in the summer time on an island way up in Ontario. You drive through Owen—let me see—Mound, no Sound to get to it."

Depends on Adviser.

The countess admitted it was all rather sudden and that she scarcely had a chance to catch her breath but she confided, "I decided to depend entirely on my adviser."

The countess has been a member of Mrs. Stull's Club for seven years—more or less active."

"Eugenia," said Mrs. Stull, "wrote me she wanted a man who would give her freedom to carry on her operatic career. She suggested an American, but I suggested an European. Europeans are so romantic—in the little things, soft lights and perfume and the like that don't cost much but make a girl think she's the only girl in the world.

"But Eugenia said Europeans were fickle and Europeans tied you down too much. She wanted an American." After the countess had decided upon Mr. Kabelac, Mrs. Stull said: "I think she made a wise choice." The club president thought the Canadian was too timid. Kabelac, on the other hand, she described as "a go-getter."

A Slight Warning.

Then to Eugenia "I'd be careful though dear. The Philadelphian was born under Virgo and that means he's critical."

The countess didn't look very worried over that. She is quite a big woman.

Meanwhile, the sympathy of well-wishers was rolling off Mr. Miller like water off a duck's back. He's going on to the widows' and widowers' convention in Atlantic City this Friday. He ended the interview in this devil-may-care fashion: "I'll get a chance to look over seven or eight hundred other women there."

COLLINS CASE IS CONTINUING

119 EXHIBITS FILED.

One of the biggest civil legal battles in this city in a number of years was again taken up by plaintiff and defence lawyers as the adjourned case of the executors of the J. D. Collins estate against Basil Hall and E. H. D. Hall was continued before Mr. Justice Kingstone at a special non-jury sitting of the Supreme Court this afternoon. Hopes were held that the case could be concluded this week without further delay.

With D. L. McCarthy, K.C., Toronto, and V. J. McElderry, K.C., acting for plaintiffs Alexander Collins, Walkerton, Charles Collins, Waterloo, and Joshua Durham Collins of this city, and R. S. Robertson, K.C., Toronto, acting with R. R. Hall, K.C., for the defendants, the case was opened at the regular sittings of the court last December 19. An adjournment for the Christmas recess followed and the case continued on January 16. Three days of evidence taking were followed by a further adjournment sine die.

Testimony for the plaintiffs is not yet all in, but a possibility that the defence will be given charge by to-morrow afternoon is foreseen. Already 119 exhibits have been filed.

Although the case involves sums of money totalling more than $60,000, it has little of the spectacular interest for the general public. It is essentially a battle of law in which a number of fine points are involved. The plaintiffs are seeking, among other remedies, the recession of certain contracts for the purchases of bonds which, they claim, were made on advice "fraudulently or negligently" given by the defendants as their solicitors. In defence, the defendants disclaim any fraud or negligence and claim not to have acted in the capacity of solicitor in the bond dealings.

FEW DRUNKARDS

By CORALIE VAN PAASSEN
Central Press Canadian Writer

MOSCOW, Oct. 23. — Last year young Russia discovered the soda-fountain. This year the pastry and candy shops are the great novelty. Children and young people up to 20 have never seen candy or pastry in their lives. They stand in droves before the stores, gaping, staring, laughing and commenting. The attendants can't hand out the sticky stuff fast enough. They'll sure need a decree one of these days to limit the sale, else I'm afraid the hospitals will be full. The Russians are in many things like Americans. They easily go to excess.

For instance, there is a wave of jazz music sweeping Russia just now. They go crazy about it. Their own folk-music is infinitely more beautiful. But they have discovered jazz, or rather the ban has been taken off jazz (formerly it was classed as a sample of bourgeois decay) and like all other new things it is worked to the full. The real reason is that two new factories turning out musical instruments began operations a few months ago and the saxophone and the tom-tom are coming into the market and are pushing the old balalaika in the background for the time being. Since every Russian is a natural-born dancer, the result is obvious; everybody is doing it. But they started with the rumba here, which is also the Prince of Wales' favorite, and not with the turkey-trot. The big houseboats on the Moskva river, below the Kremlin, right in front of the British embassy, have been turned into night clubs.

Shops to Night Clubs

They are richly endowed with Crimean and Caucasian wines, champagnes, mousseux and the most tintillating liqueurs. And plenty of fine viands, fish of all sorts, fowl and caviar. Here again I thought the Russians resemble the Americans. They don't sip their liqueurs, they pour it down like rainwater, which proves, if anything, that they have cast-iron stomachs.

It was on one of those boats, in the main dining room that I saw the first post-revolutionary evening gowns, worn by a party of young women in the company of some red army privates. The material was a sort of pliant angora, very clingingly cut and with long skirts, quite elegant and worn with exceptional grace. I tried to meet one of the girls to find out, if possible, what her occupation was. Later in the evening we had a chat and she told me she was an "oudarnika" in a textile mille, where she looked after 25 looms just imported from England. Her monthly wages were 500 roubles. She said she was not a member of the party and had no intention of becoming one. She was going out with a friend, a soldier, but her mother would not have her marry a Communist, because Communists don't believe in God.

Amused at Ambassador

Speaking about the British embassy, the manager of the boat-house club told me that the last occupant of the place was in the habit of having his dinner served on the balcony on the first floor on summer evenings. The balcony is open on the street side. Valets and butlers in green livery and silk stockings used to wait on table. This became known in Moscow and hundreds of people came to watch the show each night. Whenever the butler made one of his decorous moves there was a roar of laughter among the spectators, who looked upon the whole performance as a first-class comedy. In the end the ambassador registered a complaint with the authorities and the police shooed away the audience.

"Shameful!" I said, banteringly.

"No," he said, "what was shameful was the fact that some ardent businessman had begun to sell tickets to see the show!"

"You mean private initiative infringed upon the government theatre monopoly?" My last question made him laugh till he had to hold his sides.

The incident may be true or not. It sounds fishy to me, for the Russians of all classes are real cosmopolitans and were so even in the old days. They never had that suspicion and that poor benighted attitude toward the stranger, the foreigner and the alien which is the chief stock-in-trade—for lack of constructive ideas—of our professional hurrah-boys. There always were 127 nationalities in the czarist empire and people were used to the sight of strange dress and strange customs.

Guard Country's Reputation

Since the revolution the masses have of course greatly developed this international point of view and they have an intense pride. They don't like it when a stranger sees anything disgraceful that might damage the prestige of their country. I happened to see two men come to blows in the street. A crowd gathered as anywhere else. Several bystanders tried to separate the combatants, but the two were apparenly very embittered over something. Then all at once someone called out: "Aren't you ashamed? There is a strange lady looking at you. What impression are you giving her of our Socialist fatherland?" That stopped the fight immediately and when policemen finally came upon the scene, the two fighters could not even be found.

Another incident of this kind was a drunken peasant who reeled along with a vodka bottle in his hand. I stood looking at him; it was the first drunk and the only one I saw in that vast city of 3,500,000 inhabitants. As I stood looking someone came up to me to explain.

"Please understand, he is an old peasant. It is hard for him to change his ways. He has been used to drink all his life. Please do not think all our peasants are that way!"

"I should hope not," I said. "No," said the person who had accosted me. "Five million peasants already belong to the league of teetotallers. The government is educating them that alcohol is poison and beclouds the brain.

"Would it not be better to forbid the sale of alcohol?" I asked.

"No," he said, "we must get abstinence by education." Right then and there we had a debate on prohibition.

VIEW OF CITY MEMORIAL HILL

Women's Patriotic League of Ashburnham Have Done Much to Beautify Spot.

PLANT CONIFEROUS TREES

One of the loveliest views obtainable anywhere in the city or district may be enjoyed from the summit of the Memorial Hill in Ashburnham. Known as Armour Hill for many years, this is the project sponsored by the Women's Patriotic League of Ashburnham, who strive to keep green the memory of Peterborough's sons, in this way.

Some years ago, the hill was planted with hundreds of conifers that are now clothing it with a mantle of living green. Countless generations to come will bask in the shade of these friendly trees and enjoy many a pleasant outing under their branches.

From the summit, one has a panoramic view on all sides. Below is the silver sweep of the Otonabee, with friendly small islands dotting its breast at the left. To the right stretches a vista of the northern arm of the "bounding waters," as a visitor to the city once described them. And to the front lies the city proper, with its factory smokestacks sending up lazy wreaths to a blue sky. The gilt cross of the cathedral towers in the distance, and the ivy-clad towers of St. John's Church are glimpsed from this eyrie. To the east is the vista of the rolling, smooth countryside, with farmsteads and county roads to be picked out by the naked eye, as far as the sight can reach. In the morning, the air comes clear and bright to this high peak and in the evening the city's many lights glow like fireflies and the lamps of approaching cars look like crawling electric bugs, as they wind over the thoroughfares that lead to the town. The electric signs of George street have their reflection in the evening sky and the Quaker Oats "porridge pot" makes a beacon light for miles and miles.

When the world was young, that old hill was there. When Champlain made his way down the Otonabee, perhaps he glanced at its outline against the sky. And, who knows, that long-lost Indian maid who threw herself, so legend tells, into the river's waters for love of a man frowned on by her chieftain father, may have wandered on that very slope.

Now, it is slowly gaining prominence as a pleasant picnic rendezvous. A road winds up its steep incline and, in years to come, the trees planted there by careful hands will clothe its breast with cool green shadows. The project of the Women's Patriotic League will serve for countless generations as a memento of the thought and care of women who worked for people still to come.

England's boot and shoe exports in the first seven months of this year were 253,160 dozen pairs, compared with 381,590 dozen pairs in the corresponding period of 1933.

Haven't you noticed that your happiest hours occur on days when you feel your best?

Have more of these happy days. You and all your family. Guard health while you have it. Keep on the sunny side of life.

The greatest enemy of health is common constipation. It may cause loss of appetite and energy. Certainly it kills enthusiasm! Yet it can be banished by eating a delicious cereal.

Laboratory tests show Kellogg's All-Bran supplies "bulk" and vitamin B to relieve common constipation. Also iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in All-Bran is much like that in leafy vegetables. How much pleasanter to eat this delicious ready-to-eat cereal than to take patent medicines. Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. Chronic cases, with each meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor. Made by Kellogg in London, Ont.

15,500 Single Jobless Now In Relief Camps

OTTAWA, Oct. 23 (C.P.)—Approximately 15,500 unemployed single men are working in the relief camps operated by the Department of National Defence. Including the Big Lac Seul, Ont., project, there are about 150 such undertakings now in progress. For the most part these are concerned with the cleaning of land for the establishment of emergency landing fields.

Four such projects have now been completed—those at Princeton, Cranbrook and Naramata in British Columbia and at Winterburn, Alta.

About 15 have been closed for the winter.

Ontario has the largest number of men employed on these works, with 5,800.

Lindsay Man Breaks Leg Drawing Grain

JANETVILLE, Oct. 23. (Examiner Correspondence).—William Davidson of Lindsay was the victim of a serious accident here on Saturday. He had assisted his son Henry Davidson, a local farmer, in loading grain for market, and en route to Lindsay fell from a load and was badly injured.

He was immediately taken to the hospital where a broken leg was discovered to be the worst of his injuries.

Foreman of Road Camp Discounts Drinking Among Men—On Lookout For Bootlegger

Rumors of riotus conditions made possible by the unchecked activities of bootleggers in the region of the highway camps above Burleigh Falls were discounted by a foreman of one of the camps in an interview today. "There are a few bootleggers in the district, but we have had little trouble with our boys, and I think that goes for the other four camps between Burleigh Falls and Apsley," he said.

"The boys do some drinking, but it is quite legal to drink, so we have no complaint about that," the foreman continued, preferring that his name be omitted from the report in view of the fact that he is not in a position to make an authoritative statement. "We do not allow liquor in the camp or allow drinking on the camp premises. If any come back to camp after they have been drinking, they must go to their beds quietly. If we encounter a fellow who drinks too much and too often the only thing we can do, of course, is send him home."

Asked if he actually knew of any bootleggers operating in the vicinity of his camp, the foreman said he was aware of one who did an occasional business with his men. "If he comes on the camp property and I get my hands on him he won't return in a hurry," he declared.

Particular care to prevent the making of contacts by bootleggers on pay days is taken, he said. On the whole, very little trouble is encountered. On the week days, after working hard all day, most of the men are content to go to bed when the nightly "lights out" signal is given at 9.15, he said.

Queried in regard to rumors that the straw boss was run out of camp by a number of drunken workers at camp 6 above Apsley recently, the foreman said the report was likely exaggerated, if true at all.

JUBILEE SINGERS MAKE BIG HIT WITH AUDIENCE

St. Andrew's United Church is Filled to Capacity to Hear Singers.

SEVEN IN PARTY.

With a church filled to capacity last night, the members and friends of St. Andrew's afforded a rousing appreciation of the Virginia Jubilee Singers, a colored concert party of seven members, six of whom are singers of the finest type, with a pianist whose accompaniments provide the requisite satisfactory instrumental background for the tuneful voices.

In choruses, part songs, glees, in the folk songs—the spirituals and Gospel shouts—of their race, characteristic of negro vocalists the world over, many of them having a genesis in the cotton fields in the days before the great Civil War put an end to the enslavement of a race that sought through song to express its despair and hope, in many ways, the sextette of singers proved itself to be one of the best of such heard here in years.

The spirituals and Gospel shouts were sung with a fine, blended smoothness, a trueness of pitch and a mellow richness of tone that made them a revelation of the manner in which these folk songs can be handled. The singers introduced little divergent effects that made their selections unique and extremely interesting. They were never stereotyped and they imparted to their work an expressive, enthusiastic rendition that put the songs over in great style and brought them repeated encores from a pleased audience. Especially expressive in their deep religious feeling and the 'looking forward' to a better time to come which is a characteristic of this depressed race, were the Gospel hymns. Those racial melodies, with their repetitive phrases, were imbued with a wonderful degree of expression. Controlled volume and a feather-edged, fine pianissimo were emphasized in many of the passages of choruses and part songs. And easy, effortless, joyous performance characterized them all.

Unusual Soprano Voice

All the members of the sextette possess remarkably good voices of outstanding calibre and unusual richness and depth. Perhaps the high soprano was the most striking of the group. It was a voice like a clear, echoing flute, silver-bright, absolutely true in pitch, that floated upward in a dazzling and unusual type of vocalisation.

The program, opening with "O Canada," included "God's Goin' to Trubble de Waters"; Ship of Zion," with Miss Ruth Fowell's remarkable soprano in the ascendant; "Hand me Down my Silver Trumpet, Gabriel," featuring the mezzo-soprano, Miss Lillian Fowler; "Heav'n"; "Nobody Knows de Trubble I've Seen," with Harrison Jones' superb, resonant tenor to the fore; "The Gospel Train,' emphasising Miss Ines Edmondson's strikingly deep voice; a skilfully blended part rendition, with no hint of dissonance in the musical, bell-like voices, in "Bells Over Jordan," and two beautifully-rendered selections, the soft-toned "Steal Away to Jesus" and the ever-favored "Golden Slippers," with Theodore Tate, second tenor, taking the lead.

Many of these were action songs, the spontaneous and joyous gestures contributing to the effectiveness of the work.

Miss Ines Edmondson gave an exceptionally fine musical reading, in her deep, unusual tones, of "Stay in Your Own Back Yard," creating a picture of the "wistful, lonesome little coon," and the ensemble joined in a part song, "Somebody's Callin' My Name," followed by a lusty, strong-voiced, powerful number, "Battle of Jericho," in which the combined volume of the pure-toned voices had its way. In this number, the basso-baritone, Oliver Ohiles, was the soloist.

The second part was done in plantation dress, with plantation melodies to the fore, and the musical, deep-toned, mellow voices letting themselves out in the strong, forceful singing in this section.

Miss Esther Gaskin plays the accompaniments and the manager of the group is Wallace Graham of Toronto. These singers have been heard many times over the air, as part of the Eureka Singers' group, of the Columbia network.

BARN IS DESTROYED DURING THRESHING

Flames Shoot Out of Separator Setting Fire to Straw Mow.

LINDSAY, Oct. 23. — (Examiner Correspondence).—A disastrous fire occurred on Scugog Hill, in the vicinity of Port Perry, on the week-end when Charles Reader had the misfortune of losing his barn during threshing operations. The fire was caused by straw from the blower of the threshing machine igniting the mow. The flames quickly enveloped the entire barn. Besides the year's crop, 18 pigs, 2 calves, implements and a chicken coop were destroyed. The loss is partly covered by insurance.

Truck Slides Into River.

J. Black, truck driver, had a narrow escape from drowning in the river at Kinmount on the week-end. He was driving a truck load of apples, the property of George Perrin, of Lindsay, when in some mysterious manner the truck slipped into reverse. It backed down a hill and slid down a steep bank into the river. A large boom attached to the end pier of the bridge to keep logs separated from the flood wood, stopped the truck on its watery journey and undoubtedly saved the driver from being drowned.

An accident occurred near the highway on Saturday when an oil truck driven by R. Mortimer, Peterborough, struck a horse and buggy driven by Finley Sinclair, aged 74 years, of Salem. The aged man was not seriously injured, although he is suffering from severe shock and bruises.

"Joe the Terror," reputed to have acted as bodyguard for the swindler Stavisky just before he died, is reported to have been engaged to act in several French motion pictures of espionage and adventure.

FENELON FALLS MAN FINED AT LINDSAY

Assessed $43.50 for Employing Female Help After 6 O'clock Without Permit.

LINDSAY, Ont., Oct. 23 (Special to Examiner).—At a session of the police court yesterday, H. Shedlowsky, manager of the sporting goods plant, Fenelon Falls, was fined $15 and costs, $43.50 in all, for employing female help after six o'clock without a permit from the Labor Department, Toronto. The charge was laid by Miss E. Scott, factory inspector, Toronto. The accused was defended by C. G. Frost, while Crown Attorney Anderson conducted the prosecution. A further charge under the Minimum Wage Act is being laid. A strike occurred at this plant about a week ago, when the employees demanded increased wages and shorter hours.

Fighting Fatigue
Often a Losing Battle

Fatigue comes to tell you
That your nerve force is running low.
When greatly exhausted
You become too tired to sleep, too tired to eat,
Too tired to enjoy yourself, too tired to care.
Your stomach is too tired to digest food.
The functions of the vital organs are slowed up.
You become down hearted and depressed.
The natural outcome is nervous prostration
And long weeks or months are required for recovery.
Why not check this process of exhaustion,
Right now, by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food
To make the blood rich and red,
And to nourish the nervous system
Back to health and vigour.
This restorative treatment is dependable
Because it supplies to Nature
The very ingredients from which new blood is created.

LACK OF RAIN HITS PLOWING

Dry Weather, However, Been Boon to Harvesting of Root Crops.

HASTINGS TURNIPS GOOD.

TORONTO, Oct. 23 (C.P.).—Fall plowing operations throughout the greater part of Ontario are hampered by lack of rain, states the weekly crop report of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, issued to-day.

Dry weather has, however, been favorable to harvesting root crops which are reported excellent in most districts. In Kent the weather favored the annual sugar beet harvest, but celery in Lambton County suffered from frost. All the tomatoes, tobacco and green corn in Essex were killed by frost early in the month.

The main grape crop in Lincoln has been harvested, the fruit remaining on the vines being touched by frost. Potato yield was 40 per cent. above normal in Wentworth.

In Central Ontario, Hastings County, reports the mangel crop not as good as last year, but forecasts a substantial yield of turnips. York and Victoria Counties had satisfactory root yields.

Heavy lamb shipments took place in Northern Ontario. Algoma, Rainy River and Sudbury all reported increased activity in demand for the animals.

Air transport in Germany has shown a marked increased in the last year.

JAPAN CLAIMS EQUAL RIGHTS IN ARMAMENTS

Wants Her Navy to be on a Par With Britain and United States.

DISCUSSIONS OPEN.

Considers the 5-5-3 Ratio is Discriminatory—Wants to Increase Navy.

(By George Hambleton, C.P. Staff Writer.)

LONDON, October 23 (C.P. Cable). — The Japanese claim to equal rights with Britain and the United States in naval armaments, long heralded, was broadly presented to-day in a meeting with representatives of Great Britain.

The important naval discussions which opened to-day, preliminary to the naval conference scheduled tentatively for January, are being conducted bi-laterally; between Britain and Japan. Britain and the United States and the United States and Japan.

Get Away From Treaties.

Outside of bald wording of the official communique authoritative information is scanty. But the main aim of Japan is to escape from the present treaties with their ratio restrictions, that limit the Japanese Navy to three-fifths the strength of the British and American Navies.

Japan considers this ration, 5-5-3, is discriminatory and derogatory to her national status. She wants the right to increase her naval armaments to the point she considers necessary for her own security.

Japan wants abolition of "offensive" armaments such as aircraft carriers, and reduction in the size of battleships. But she wants to retain submarines, regarding them as "defensive" armament.

Tonnage Scheme.

Instead of the ratio system of the Washington Naval Treaty, Japan proposes limitation under a global tonnage scheme, in other words, the limitation of navies by total tonnage permitting each nation to allocate its tonnage as it sees fit among the different classes. This would enable her to build up to the level she considers necessary for her security.

The essence of the Japanese scheme is her right to equality in naval defence. Japan wants first and foremost recognition of the principle of her equality, not necessarily actual tonnage equality, but the principle.

Difficulties are likely over the Japanese idea of classing some types of warships as defensive and others as offensive. Britain and the United States may not see eye to eye with Japan on this problem.

But in British circles reports the naval conference planned for early next year is unlikely to ever meet, are sharply discounted. To justify such an outcome, it is intimated, the situation will have to be much worse than it now appears.

Outlook None Too Rosy

At the same time the outlook for the conference itself—should it meet as planned—is none too rosy. The Japanese and American viewpoints in regard to naval defense differ so widely that a compromise is doubtful.

The talks opened at No. 10 Downing street. Rear-admiral Isoroku Yamamoto of Japan and Tsuneo Matsudaira, Japan's Ambassador to London, opened their statement of Japan's claim to equal rights. Prime Minister Ramsay Macdonald presided.

For Britain were Sir John Simon, Foreign Secretary; Sir Bolton Eyres-Monsell, first Lord of the Admiralty, and a group of advisers consisting of Admiral Sir Ernle Chatfield, first Sea Lord; Sir Warren Fisher, permanent Under-Secretary of the treasury; Vice-Admiral Charles Little, Lord Commissioner of the Admiralty, and R. L. Craigie of the foreign office.

Advisers on the Japanese side included S. Yato, counsellor of the embassy here; Captain Iwashita, chief expert, and M. Mizote, interpreter.

Official Communique

The official communique issued after the meeting that lasted an hour and a half recites that "the first meeting between Japanese and United Kingdom representatives was held to-day at 10 Downing street and general exchange of views took place in reference to the future limitation of naval armaments.

"It is understood that the Japanese representatives will meet representatives of the United States. A further meeting between the Japanese and United Kingdom representatives will be held Oct. 26."

The Japanese are expected to meet the Americans on Thursday, to submit their scheme. Meantime the French and Italians will be kept informed of the progress of negotiations.

Only broad outlines of the Japanese plan were presented with direct figures and technical references avoided, perhaps to be presented after discussion on the general outlines is completed.

Financial Campaign For Y.W.C.A Planned

Plans for the annual financial campaign of the Y.W.C.A. were arranged at the October meeting of the Board of Directors and Finance Committeee.

Each year the Y.W.C.A. appeals to the citizens of Peterborough early in the Fall for help in the financing of the work of the Y.W.C.A. The dates for the campaign this year have been set for October 29th to November 3rd. This is Peterborough Y's 30th anniversary in this present building and 43 years of service to Peterborough. As many improvements are needed after 30 years of strenuous use it is hoped the response to the appeal will be extra generous and will exceed the campaign objective of $3,500, which is needed for the running expenses by sufficient to mean a special birthday gift to the 'Y' for refurnishing this year.

To facilitate the work of the campaign the city has been divided into sections and a team board, committee and members is in charge of each division.

The reports of the association work show real growth during the years and one has only to be an observer for a few hours any day to realize the wide variety of service the Y.W.C.A. offers to every one who comes into the building. The general service has increased tremendously during the years and the 'Y' is now recognized as a real information bureau for the travelling public. An average of over 50 calls a day are registered through the Y.W.C.A. employment bureau. Special educational classes and clubs give training and recreation to groups unemployed and every Saturday afternoon 100 children gather for two hours of games and exercises, cooking, sewing or handcraft, each bringing their penny.

It costs money as well as time and thought to run a large activities building. But it is worthwhile in the character training of Peterborough youth.

Subscriptions to the Y.W.C.A. will enable the Association to go forward to greater usefulness.

Magistrate's Court

Ten dollars and costs or ten days was the penalty imposed by Magistrate A. E. Gee today on Sherman Ellis, who pleaded guilty to being intoxicated in a public place. According to police, defendant was arrested last night when found lying helplessly drunk on Water street.

Gordon McCauley, 20, Glenalda farm hand, charged with a capital offence in respect to the ten-year-old daughter of his employer appeared on remand and following preliminary hearing was committed for trial. Acting Crown Attorney F. D. Kerr, K. C., conducted the prosecution. The accused was not represented by counsel.

Italians Will Bury Two British Fliers

PALAZZO SAN GERVASIO, Italy, Oct. 23.—(A.P.)—Italian air officials made arrangements to-day to transport the bodies of the British airmen, H. D. Gilman and J. Y. C. Baines to Foggia for funeral services.

The two men were killed yesterday in the crash of their plane in the London-to-Melbourne race.

The bodies lay in a local church, draped in the tricolor of Italy and guarded by soldiers from the emergency air field here.

Officials who reconstructed the disaster said the airmen evidently tried to land at the field but overshot their mark and capsized in an adjoining swamp.

In Gilman's wallet the officials found several photographs and two tickets for the Dublin sweepstakes.

The people of this small village paid homage to the Englishmen. They brought flowers and distributed them over the rough coffins in which the aviators were placed.

Military ceremonies will mark the funeral at Foggia.

KINSMEN PLAN BIG FESTIVITY

Hallowe'en Program With Wide Appeal for City And Country.

IN ARMOURIES

With Hallowe'en a little over a week distant, plans for the big Kinsmen Hallowe'en masquerade and carnival in aid of their Eye Clinic service work program are definitely formulated.

Under the general chairmanship of Bob Stanley, a committee has been hard at work for the past two weeks or more laying plans to make this year's effort to be held under auspices of the club even eclipse the jolly time that the Kinsmen engineered on a similar occasion last year.

The Armouries is to be the scene of this year's Kinsmen Hallowe'en party, where games, boxing bouts, a fashion show and a clog-dancing contest are to provide the main items on the big entertainment program. Besides including all the above mentioned items of entertainment, the nominal door admission fee also embraces square and round dancing with specialties and novelties, and a chance to win a $10 cash door prize. Other cash prizes are being awarded for all sorts of costumes, including ladies' and gentlemen's fancy and comic dress.

Total cash prizes amount to $35, made up of $10 door prize; ladies' and gents' fancy costumes, $5 each, and ladies' and gents' comic costumes, $5 each, and, in addition, $5 for the best adjudged clog dancer.

Two orchestras have been engaged—one to play for round dancing and the other, a group of "old-timers," to fiddle and call-off for the square dances, which are being included on the program as a special attraction for the people of the surrounding district, who are cordially invited by the Kinsmen to come into town for a real evening of fun and jollity.

Last Hallowe'en celebrations organized by the club were extremely successful and brought out a large number of competitors in fancy and comic costumes, but this year plans have been laid on a much bigger and more elaborate scale, and the Armouries will provide ample room for all who desire to participate.

Snowden's Memoirs Entertain Bennett

OTTAWA, Oct. 23.—(C.P.)—Prime Minister R. B. Bennett was more entertained than aroused when he read the reference to himself in the memoirs of Viscount Snowden of Ickornshaw, published to-day. "I think he was very moderate, Mr. Bennett said, and he recalled, for the benefit of a group of newspapermen, the numerous encounters he had experienced with the stern-visaged Chancellor of the Exchequer at the Imperial Conference of 1930.

"The difficult thing to impress upon them at that conference," the Prime Minister said, "was that they had been enjoying preferences in Canada for 30 years." It was true, he said, that at times the discussions had become acrimonious. But in his dealings with Mr. Snowden there had eventually been a spirit of give and take which had left them on the best of terms and they had separated with expressions of mutual admiration which, on his part, had not altered.

FARMER SUFFERRS THIRD FIRE

BRANTFORD, Ont., Oct. 23.—(C.P.)—Fire last night for the third time in two years swept buildings on the farm of Thomas Bowen, West Scotland. He was pitching down hay from a mow, when a lantern he was using upset and fired the hay.

Loss will be $3500 for the large new barn, erected to replace one destroyed a year ago, together with grain and feed.

Two years ago the farm home burned.

Big Season Predicted For Morenz At Chicago

INSIDE THE PADDOCK

BY ART MURRAY

WHEN DUFFERIN closed the Canadian racing season on Saturday last, it makes Laurel and Narragansett the two leading racing centers for some time. Nellie Flag entered the hall of fame at the former track on Saturday when she accounted for the ninth running of the rich Selina Stakes, and enriched her owner's coffers to the extent of $22,420. This speedy filly is the property of The Calumet Farm and ran the mile in 1.38, a new record for the stake. She will probably be a favorite for next year's Kentucky Derby.

Broadway Lights won his second purse of the meeting at Dufferin on closing day and it begins to look as if this good son of Broadway Jones has recovered his best form. He will be shipped south now and it will pay you to watch him in his next few starts. Harry Giddings who trains the large string of horses for the McLaughlin Stable does not favor winter racing and as a result all the horses under his wing will go into winter quarters immediately. Harry will divide his time this winter between his own farm at Oakville and the palatial McLaughlin breeding establishment on the Kingston Road near, Oshawa. He figures he has next year's King's Plate winner at the latter place. We refer to the unbeaten Listaro.

TIEMPO IS a plater down at this same track who will be heard from shortly. The wise ones who follow the early morning workouts say he is fairly flying. Infinitate is another that is not far from a winning effort. Over at Narragansett Mr. Khayyam is regarded as a real good thing.

Quickly from the J. E. Smallman barn is down at Narragansett and is expected to turn in a winning effort shortly. The hide is a real shifty sprinter and is very consistent. Another one who is expected to do business in a big way is Bittybit, a plater of more than mean ability and right in the pink of condition at the present time. Energetic Boy is down at Laurel these days having been shipped direct from Long Branch.

WITH THE Canadian season over it will be interesting to note if George De Mar, Duchess of York and Mr. Gaiety will attempt to race again next year. It is our opinion they have reached the age where their racing days are over but if they winter well and show any pep next spring we may see them once again under silks.

Menaced constantly by falls of snow, two Italian mountaineers recently accomplished a new ascent in the Mont Blanc group, climbing 200 feet up the face of a ravine by cutting steps in the ice.

WAINWRIGHT IS DETERMINDED TO RUN MINOR CLUB

Minor League Owner Would Operate Despite Fact He is Denied Large Arena.

CLAIMS PACT MADE.

Dandurand After Gordon Savage, Formerly of Syracuse, Now With Bruins.

War with the American Association was added today to National Hockey League troubles that previously had consisted largely of players who place higher financial rating on their puckchasing ability than club operators do.

Announcement Frank Wainwright intends operating an American Association team in St. Louis again despite the fact he is denied right to play in the large Arena presaged a renewal of inter-league strife that raged three seasons ago.

Wainwright's flyers played to crowds of 10,000 and more last year but with the leasing of the Arena by Ottawa Senators, re-named St. Louis Eagles, they will play in the Winter Garden which has a capacity of only 3,500.

Previous trouble between the leagues was largely over player raids. An agreement was reached under which the minor league submitted to a loose control by Frank Calder, president of the N.H.L. and everything was calm until the takings in Ottawa became slim and the N.H.L. decided to invade St. Louis.

Despite the threat of court action by Wainwright, Eagles prepared at Ottawa to open their season with a game at St. Louis on Nov. 6. Officials of the N.H.L. club denied existence of an agreement Wainwright claims protected him from invasion of his territory.

On the way to visit his Montreal Canadiens in Saint John, N.B., Leo Dandurand was in Quebec City to confer with Frank Patrick, of Boston Bruins on the possibility of a trade involving Gordon Savage, formerly of Syracuse. It was not announced whether Patrick had met the Habitant manager's terms.

Competition between the regulars and the yannigans in the Canadien camp is so spirited they are betting on practice games. The regulars won 5-4 Friday but the Yannigans have put up $200 to say they can't do it again tomorrow night.

Canadiens' intra-city rivals, the Maroons, held their first workout in Winnipeg yesterday, Tommy Gorman sending his flock right onto the ice without preliminary physical exercises.

Lester Patrick's Rangers, also training in Winnipeg, were easing into ice work with less strenuous exercises. Patrick still has two holdouts on his list, Earl Seibert and Ching Johnson.

BRIGHTON MAN HEADS LEAGUE

Annual Meeting of Trent Valley Bowling League Held at Warkworth.

NEXT SEASON'S PLANS.

HASTINGS, Oct. 23. (Examiner Correspondence).—With a full attendance of delegates present from all clubs but Norwood the annual meeting of the Trent Valley Bowling League was held on Friday night in the Community Hall at Warkworth.

President H. Mathison opened the meeting and in a few brief opening remarks thanked the clubs for the hearty co-operation they had given him the past year which was successful in every way.

J. E. Neal of Warkworth, secretary-treasurer read financial report which showed the league to have a good surplus on hand.

During the season of 1934 there were two hundred and forty league games played and four in the finals. Norwood won the first half and Campbellford the second in the play-offs at Havelock, the latter winning three out of four.

The Royal Bank shield was presented to the Campbellford club by President Mathison and accepted by C. W. Palliser, who expressed the pleasure of his club in winning first place after winning second honors the past two years.

With no representatives present from the Norwood club, the Havelock Recreation Cup could not be presented. Mr. Mathison promised to deliver the cup to Norwood.

The following officers were elected for 1935:

Same Number in 1935

The same number of games will be played in the 1935 schedule, only instead of clubs playing against each other their eight games in two weeks they will not meet again for the space of a few weeks.

The matter of an eight-inch board at the back of the ditch came in for considerable discussion, and it was decided that if the visiting club demands it the board will have to be put up. A suggestion from the Warkworth club that all greens be closed at six p.m. the night of the games did not meet with the approval of the delegates. The feeling seemed to be that if too may rules were made it would take some of the sport out of the game.

In taking the chair just before the meeting closed President Sharpe thanked the meeting for the honor shown him. He reported that the past season was the best in the history of the Brighton club. He attributed their success to the fact that new men were taken around to the league games. Hastings and Warkworth adopted this system some time ago with the result they have the largest club in the league.

F. J. Hooper, Havelock's grand old veteran bowler and sportsman, thanked the meeting for electing him to the executive.

In future the annual meeting will be held in Warkworth within two weeks after the final games.

Unemployed and undernourished, Thomas Marsland has died at Ashton-on-Mersey, England, from the effects of a wasp sting.

Sportsmanship

Sports Department,
The Examiner:

With reference to the remarks made by Mr. Bamforth to Rugby players at a recent function may I quote the following suggestions on the subject taken from the British Army Sports Handbook:

1. Play the game for the game's sake.
2. Each player should play for his side—not himself.
3. Be a good winner and a good loser—modest in victory and generous in defeat.
4. Accept all decisions in the proper spirit.
5. Be chivalrous to defeated opponents.
6. Be unselfish and help others to be proficient.
7. As spectators, applaud good play on both sides.
8. Never interfere with referees or judges no matter what may be the decision.

And one might add:

Remember you are in the game as a sporting contest not as a battle.

Yours truly,
A Sport Fan.

Brown Reappointed As Bulldogs' Coach

WINDSOR, October 23. — Dr. Stanley Brown, East Windsor dentist, will again coach Windsor Bulldogs from a defence position in this year's International Hockey League scramble. Brown's reappointment, announced yesterday afternoon by Manager John Chick, set at rest speculation which had been rife since the veteran goaler, "Flat" Walsh of Kingston, put in his bid for the position a few weeks ago.

Manager Chick made the announcement following a telephone conversation with Lester Patrick of the New York Rangers, and a conference of the Windsor Club directors.

FIELD DAY IS HELD AT GROVE SCHOOL

High School Captures Cup Donated by Dr. A. W. Mackenzie.

LAKEFIELD, Oct. 23.—(Examiner Correspondence).—The third annual inter-school field day was held at The Grove on Friday afternoon with both schools in full force and a large number of spectators. This year the cup donated by Dr. Mackenzie two years ago was won for the first time by the High School, which mustered a very strong team indeed.

The final score was 38 for the High School, The Grove 25, and the contest was an admirable exhibition of sportsmanship and clean competition. Dr. Mackenzie complimented the two teams on the pleasure their performance gave the spectators and those who were in charge of the athletic meet. In presenting the cup to the High School, he was well pleased as it was won fairly by the stronger team.

In receiving on behalf of the High School, Mr. Harvey reciprocated the sentiments of Dr. Mackenzie in the satisfaction the staff of both schools felt in these friendly sporting competitions which tend to draw together the two schools to a better understanding and mutual benefit.

The applause was not lacking for any of the events or the cup presentation. The weather, clear, cool and bright, was ideal. The following are the results:

100 yards—Time, 10 2-5 seconds—1, Macdonald, Grove, also last year's winner; 2, White, High School; 3, Kingdon, High School.

High jump — 1, Blewett, High School, 4' 11"; 2, Tanner, High School; 3, Greenwood, Grove. (One inch more than last year's high jump made by Tanner.)

220 yards—Time, 25 2-5 seconds—1, Macdonald, Grove; 2, Dench, Grove; 3, Robbins, Grove.

Long jump—1, White, High School, 17' 9" (last year's record, 18', made by Macdonald); 2, Dench, Grove; 3, Kingdon, High School.

440 yards—Time, 52 seconds—1, White, High School; 2, Kingdon, High School; 3, Strickland, Grove.

Pole vault—1, Blewett, 8' 5", High School. 2, Finlayson, Grove; 3, Tanner, High School.

Mile race—1, Tanner, High School; 2, Strickland, Grove; 3, Nicholls, High School. (The same three boys were winners last year, but in a different order, viz., Strickland, Nicholls and Tanner.)

Owing to the lateness of the hour and the fact that the High School had decisively won the meet, the relay was not run.

The officials were—Judges, Dr. Mackenzie, Mr. Harvey, Mr. Marling; starter, Mr. Wood; timekeeper, Mr. Goldsmith; recorder, Mr. K. A. Mackenzie; clerks, Messrs. Smith and Barrett.

Changes in Officials and Players Mark Opening of 34-35 Season.

AMATEURS TURN PRO

By Elmer Dulmage
(Canadian Press Staff Writer).

TORONTO, Oct. 23 (C.P.).—The National Hockey League takes to ice in a couple of weeks with two new managers, two other managerial shifts and President Frank Calder once again in supreme command. Here are some points of interest in the campaign opening November 9:

Frank Patrick, whom far-westerners have always regarded as a more astute politician and strategical hockey man than brother Lester, is managing Boston Bruins from the bench. He lasted only one season as N.H.L. managing director. Art Ross has moved up to the Boston front office.

From the Stanley Cup home at Chicago, Tommy Gorman has moved to Montreal for a rebuilding job on the Maroons. If the Stanley Cup follows on his heels, the former Ottawa newspaperman will be 'tops' such as few managers have been in years. At least Lionel Conacher has followed Gorman to Montreal.

Eddie Gerard, deposed at Montreal, will boss the new St. Louis club and Clem Loughlin, a great success at London, will handle the Black Hawks.

Predict Big Season.

Friends of Howie Morenz expect the old thunderbolt to have a big season at Chicago if he can steer clear of injuries that kept him on the Canadian bench much of last season.

If Conny Smythe discovers as much real talent among Toronto amateurs as he has always been able to lay hands on, one of the most popular players in Toronto is likely to pass out of the major league. He is Harold (Baldy) Cotton.

The Ottawa ranchise and stock-on-hand included one of the most promising forward lines in hockey—Max Kaminsky, Jerry Shannon and Frankie Finnigan. Kaminsky and Shannon were were freshmen with the Senators last year, both moving straight into the N.H.L. from Niagara Falls seniors.

Amateur players are getting free tryouts with N.H.L. teams but the hard-to-turn-down contracts, with bonus, of a few years ago are missing. Boston Bruins wanted Don Hodges, Toronto amateur, but when Hodges suggested a three-year contract at $3,000 a year was his best offer, the Bruins retreated. They just wanted to see him in practice.

At Detroit Jack Adams regards the veteran John Ross Roach as his best bet to fill Wilf Oude's shoes. Oude, property of Canadiens, was a sensation in the N.H.L. and Stanley Cup playoffs last spring. Now he is back with Canadiens and Adams has an empty goal.

Many hookey authorities believe a penalty shot fired by Morenz will be faster than one fired by Charlie Conacher, because Howie skates faster and ordinarily shoots only a little less hard.

Four of the most noted amateurs in the country have landed with Montreal teams. Maroons signed Sammy McManus and Aubrey Webster of Moncton Hawks, Allan Cup champions, and Canadiens get Nels Crutchfield and Jack McGill, stars of the McGill University team.

Transportation has been resumed in the typhoon damaged area of Luzon in the Philippines.

With an area of only 12 square miles, the Italian island of Patmos, in the Aegean, has 300 churches, or about one for every 12 of the population.

FRANK TURVILLE TAKES LEAD IN INTERPROVINCIAL FOOTBALL

Stirling and Gray Lead O.R.F.U. and Intercollegiate Standings.

SARNIA STAR TOPS ALL.

TORONTO, Oct. 23.—Tall Frank Turville, Hamilton Tigers' lawyer-footballer, galloped past the halfway mark in the East's senior football schedule last Saturday with a display of all-round power that put him at the top of "Big Four" scoring standings.

Turville, pacing the Tigers into the leadership of the Interprovincial Union as they triumphed over Toronto Argonauts, 17 to 9, booted two field goals, three singles and converted Seymour Wilson's 90-yard touchdown to take over the leadership from 'Huck" Welch, Montreal half. Turville had a total of 17 points in the Canadian Press' second scoring summary and a four-point margin over Welch.

While the Hamilton flash put on the day's biggest splurge, Hugh Stirling and "Gem" Gray gathered six and three points, respectively, to hold top place in the Ontario Union and Inter-collegiate point-scoring races. Gray, U. of T.'s field-goal expert, tried three against Queen's and got singles on all attempts, pushing his total to 18 points. Stirling garnered a touchdown and a single that gave him 22 points and made him the highest scorer in the three week's campaigning.

Joe Smith, who came from California to study medicine at McGill, raced into second place in the college group by booting a field goal, two singles and a convert for a complete total of 12 points. Young Bob Isbister, Gray's teammate, dropped to third place with nine points.

Joe Connelly, St. Mike's backfielder, got on the receiving end of two forward passes and scored two touchdowns on them. Besides that he converted them and took second to Stirling in the O.R.F.U. Connelly, with 17 points, led Sarnia's Norm Perry by 2 points.

Chicago Sox To Keep Slugging Al Simmons

PHILADELPHIA, October 23 (A.P. . — Jimmy Dykes, manager of the Chicago White Sox, said to-day he expects to 'pick up a few good players" to put with Al Simmons, slugging outfielder, in the American League pennant race next year.

Far from thinking of trading Simmons, as frequently rumored, he said he plans to pick up the other players at the minor league meetings next month in Louisville.

'Simmons likes to play for Chicago and the Chicago fans like him," Dykes said. "There's no reason why he shouldn't stage a real hitting comeback."

The latest rumor had it that Simmons was headed for Detroit in exchange for Pitcher Vic Sorrell, Outfielder Gerald Walker, and Catcher Ray Hayworth.

Korean Bantamweight In Montreal Tourney

MONTREAL, Oct. 23.—(CP)—Joe Tei Ken, classy little Korean bantamweight, will meet Sixto Escobar, Puerto Rican claimant to the world bantam boxing title, here, Nov. 8 as the tourney to select a champion gets under way, it was announced today by Promoter Amand Vincent.

The bout was originally scheduled to take place tomorrow but postponement was made necessary when immigration authorities refused to allow Tei Ken to cross the border from the United States. Difficulties were finally ironed out and the Korean allowed into the country. Tei Ken had been suffering from a cold and had asked a delay.

REINSTATEMENT FIVE PLAYERS BOLSTER SQUAD

Varsity Will Face Formidable Tricolor Team in Saturday's Battle.

OUT FOR REVENGE.

TORONTO, Oct. 23.—(C.P.)—The six big machines that clawed six other big machines into temporary submission in a hair-raising series of football battles Saturday are preparing to re-enact the whole business. To get a maximum of good from those triumphs they have to beat the same foes again Saturday.

The home teams of last week are the visiting teams of this week and that is the only difference in the schedule. Some of the pre-game favorites, such as University of Toronto and Montreal Wheelers, may conceivably become pre-game favorites all over again.

This return game week schedule carries a larger share of potential dramatics than any of this season because Argonauts sail into Hamilton looking for revenge; Montreal seeks revenge at Ottawa; St. Michael's College has the same object in invading Sarnia, and the Western Mustangs on riding into McGill's backyard.

Out For Revenge.

Revenge will be difficult for all of these invaders. Alone on top of the Interprovincial Union standing, the Tigers must keep on winning and the doughty fighters of Johnny Ferraro are distinctly in the mood to defeat Argos again. Having found their feet, Ottawa is primed to make it two straight over Wheelers and gain on the heels of the Bengals.

Queen's startling victory Saturday over Varsity, placing them in front of the Intercollegiate race, will stand as the season's greatest upset whether or not the Tricolor can repeat here in the return fixture. Reports that five Queen's players who were forbidden to play because of illegal fraternity affiliations may be expelled by the fraternity, then returned to good gridiron standing, heightened interest in Saturday's engagement.

The Tricolor would be more formidable, numerically at least, and Varsity's attempt to tie up the battle for first place would have less chance of succeeding.

Far from being out of the college struggle, McGill can become real contenders with another victory over Western. The red team will be strongly favored to make it two straight over the Mustangs. Frank Shaughnessy's team started slowly, but it has gathered momentum with Joe Smith, the burly Californian and Don Youn, veteran flying wing, leading the way.

Despite St. Michael's fine showing against Sarnia here last Saturday, the Irishmen will be underdogs when they play in Sarnia. Imperials can virtually clinch the O.R.F.U. title with another triumph. The result of the Balmy Beach-Hamilton Cubs game here will make little difference in the final result except it may decide the cellar position once and for all.

"Dit" Clapper, famed hockey stars of the Hastings' clan, arrived at the Boston Bruins' training camp at Quebec City over the week-end and smoked the pipe of peace with Art Ross, hard-headed manager of the squad. The rugged Clapper was the last on the Bruins' holdout list, but it is reported that he and Ross patched up their differences over the salary question. "Dit" and the Bruins' manager have been at odds over the defence star's stipend for this season for some months. It was reported that Ross might trade Clapper, but it appears now that this suggestion was circulated merely as a threat to cause the holdout to come to terms. Clapper is an important cog in the Bruins' machine and is very popular among Boston fans and throughout the N.H.L. circuit.

• • • • • • •

The Toronto Leafs are reported to be getting in much effective training at Galt and Coach Dick Irvine has been much impressed by the early-season form displayed by the young players who are trying to win regular berths with the team. This is particularly true of the starry trio from St. Mike's team of last year. Coach Irvine, it appears, has decided already to keep this trio together as a line to make their professional debut. "Red" Metz has surprised the squad with his speed, while Artie Jackson is a standout with his smooth tactics around the nets. "Pep" Kelly is the other member of the new "kid line."

• • • • • • •

No definite reports have been received as yet concerning how "Biffer" Ranger is showing up in his try-out with the Canadiens. It was learned that the ex-Peterborough star is still with the squad at St. John, N.B. and is working out daily on the front-line. "Biffer" will require little conditioning as he was an athlete who always kept himself in the pink.

• • • • • • •

J. P. Fitzgerald's sport column in the Toronto Telegram the other night carried a note of inquiry from a youthful hockey player who stated he had recently more to this city and wanted to know how best to go about trying-out for a place on the Peterborough team. This young man should get in touch with Frank Buckland, coach of the junior squad, immediately and he will be given every opportunity to earn a place on the team. He must be of a retiring disposition or the hustling junior coach would have the strings on him long before this.

• • • • • • •

That story, carried in this column last week, of an expected eruption in baseball circles in Belleville before next season swings around was verified in the Quinte City on Saturday. It was learned that the situation is just simmering at the present time and is not being discussed openly. Walter Gerow, manager of the Napanee baseball teams, is fully informed also on the contemplated exodus of some of his intermediate "A" stars to points north.

• • • • • • •

The first sod was turned yesterday for the new Lindsay skating rink, although there is still an appreciable shortage in the funds required to construct the building. Several truck owners have donated the services of their vehicles for several days on the project, and it appears that now the start has been made subscriptions will increase. A pro wrestling show was held in the town last week and the fans apparently liked the performance. The success of that show decided the rink committee to hold one for the benefit of the building fund.

• • • • • • •

Peterborough fans are pleased to see the progress the neighboring town to the north is making on its new rink, something that has been badly needed there for years, but as far as local O.H.A. teams are concerned they hope they will not have to play in the new rink unless it is in exhibition games. The Petes prefer to be grouped with teams along the lakeshore than in the northern section which includes Lindsay.

• • • • • • •

Information secured from a reliable source in Belleville over the week-end is that the Belleville Central League club finished the season on the right side of the financial ledger. No news, official or otherwise, has yet been secured on the financial standing of the local club. The Belleville team did not get much better than half the support tendered the Petes by fans during the season.

Promoter Dave Cowan announced today his boxing card for the big Kinsmen Hallowe'en Frolic at the armouries, as follows: Fred Spencer vs. Pete Vitarelli, 132 pounds; Len Minicola vs. Jack Hefferman, 143 pounds; Reg. McMillan vs. Harry Jennings, of Rochester, 150 pounds. According to Promoter Cowan, this Jennings boy from across the border is one of the hardest-hitting leather pushers ever to appear here. All the participants are in excellent condition and every bout should be fast.

Death yesterday claimed Sam Ray, one of this city's outstanding sport figures, in his 85th year. Edwin Allan, sports editor, of the Mail and Empire, in paying tribute to the career of Mr. Ray in sports, writes in his column today:

"A former great athete died yesterday in Peterboro in Samuel Ray, an uncle of Nat Ray, the well-known horseman. Mr. Ray despite the handicap of a crippled foot, was a great cricketer and curler. On one occasion he was the captain of the Canadian international cricket team.

"Speaking about Sam Ray last night, Charlie Snow stated that it was Mr. Ray who taught him how to curl in Whitby. He was a great tutor; moreover, he loved to teach the young boys the fine points of ether curling or cricket. At the latter game his position was point, and according to Mr. Snow, there were few better.

"We recall seeing Mr. Ray play a tankard final here some years ago. He must have then been 60, but despite the fact that the game was played on sticky ice, he turned in a great performance.

"Charlie Snow recalls a curing game in Whitby when Skips Sam Ray and Lou Seibert defeated Jack McMillan and J. D. Flavelle for the tankard group honors. It was played on soft ice, McMillan, a southpaw, shedding his coat and playing his shirt sleeves. This same McMillan was rated the greatest curler ever developed in Lindsay, but this day the Whitby curlers were too good for their opponents."

PENETANG DRAW WITH CHATHAM

Latter Team Leading 3-2, When Game is Called in Eleventh Inning.

GUELPH, October 23.— Chatham "Colored Stars' 'and Penetang Shipbuilders were still deadlocked yesterday in their O.B.A.A. intermediate "B-1" play-offs. They played a ten-inning 2-2 draw yesterday afternoon, the game being called in the last half of the eleventh frame with the colored squad leading, 3 to 2 but the score reverted to the last of the ninth . A reply will be staged.

MONCTON KEEPS HER HAWKS AS BODYGUARD FOR TROPHY

Determined to Retain Allan Cup — Seek Olympic Honors — Players Shy of Pro Contracts — More Money, Less Work as Amateurs.

(By Victor Service)

MONCTON, N.B., Oct. 23.—There isn't a chance in the world of Moncton Hawks, twice in succession amateur champions of Canada, and also in 1934 U. S. champs, being broken up by raids of National Hockey League clubs, according to Percy Nicklin, of Fort Frances, Ontario, coach of the Allen Cup holders.

Percy Nicklin

Sammy McManus of Toronto and Aubrey Webster, of Kenora, wingers on the Hawks, will only work out with the Montreal Maroons, says Nicklin. McManus and Webster were offered contracts by the Maroons, but refused to sign. The vital reason is that the salary offered was not much better than that available from the Hawks. A contributing factor was that the going is much tougher in the N.H.L. than in the amateur ranks. Still another phase is that the Hawks' promoters want to be first to win the Allan mug thrice in succession. Moreover, winning for 1935 will install the Hawks as representatives of Canada at the 1936 Olympic Games.

McManus Returns

McManus and Webster will return to the Hawks for the first game in the Maritime Hockey League, which includes Halifax Wolves, St. John Beavers and Charlottetown Abbies. Bert Connolly, of Montreal, Hawk wingman and centre, tried out with New York Rangers last fall and will repeat this year. There is no doubt about him returning to the maritime hockey wars. The Hawks club is in favor of their players working out with major league rosters, thus gaining valuable experience for the players and the team.

No Pro, Signers

Since the close of the 1934 season potential signers with N.H.L. clubs have repudiated their reported intentions.

Bill Gill, of Broadview, Sask., giant bad man on defence, was to have joined the Boston Bruins or Detroit Red Wings. Jimmy Foster, of Winnipeg, snappy goalie, was rumored replacing the late "Chuck" Gardiner in Chicago Black Hawk cage. Bill Miller, of Campbellton, N.B., centre and defenceman, was scheduled to book with Bruins.

All the championship team of the past two season will be available for the 34-35 season, it is claimed by Pilot Nicklin, who welded together a machine assembled from every province in Canada except British Columbia.

At goal will be Jimmy Foster, of Winnipeg. Foster is one of the best of amateur goalies in Canada. He graduated from Junior championship hockey with Elmwoods of Winnipeg direct to the Hawks.

On the defence the Hawks will have Bill Gill, Len Burrage, Winnipeg, and Gordon McLean, also of Winnipeg. Bill Miller of Campbellton, N.B., will do utility duty on the barrier, but with the acquisition of McLean is expected to be seen more offensively. McLean is new to the Hawks.

"Yes, she was there," Jamieson went on. "When I told her, she laughed a little. She said Reeves had already told her at dinner and that she'd quieted him down without giving away the secret. So then we talked about the party for a while."

"How long did you stay?"

For the first time, Jamieson seemed to hesitate. "I think it was about nine-thirty," he answered at last. "She said then that he'd be home soon so we didn't plan much."

"Mrs. Reeves told you that she was expecting him home at about nine-thirty?" asked Lee.

Jamieson nodded fearfully.

"That's strange. Mrs. Reeves told us this morning that she hadn't seen him since dinner and that he had then told her that he was going away and wouldn't be back," Lee leaned forward as he spoke and fixed the young man with his cold, gray eyes.

Panic crept into Jamieson's face and his voice shook a little when he answered with an attempt at carelessness, "Probably I misunderstood her."

"Perhaps," agreed the inspector. "And you left Mrs. Reeves at the apartment?"

"She's probably already told you that," replied Jamieson with that same anxious effort to be off-hand.

"I am asking you, Mr. Jamieson," replied Lee.

"Yes, of course I left her at the apartment," the boy said. His eyes were on the inspector's face in frantic appeal, trying to discover whether he had guessed the right answer.

The inspector nodded. "Mrs. Reeves said she hadn't been out all evening," he agreed. "What time did you get home?"

"I walked a little before I went in and I suppose it must have been nearly ten-thirty. I really don't know for sure."

Lee sat in silent thought until the men about him moved restlessly. Then he spoke abruptly, his eyes waiting watchfully. "This morning my men found that someone has been living in a room on the third floor. Who was it?" He searched their faces in vain for they all had the same blank look of surprise.

"But there are no keys to the third floor except ours," protested Dr. Wilson.

"Exactly," nodded the inspector. "No keys except those in your possession. Unless someone in the department permitted a duplicate to be made."

Dr. Wilson sank back wearily in his chair. His look pleaded with the group about the table to tell the inspector he was wrong. But no one moved, no one spoke.

Lee shrugged a little. He hadn't expected that they would tell him anything. He had learned long ago that, guilty or not, citizens seldom volunteered useful information to the police.

"Where were you between seven-thirty and eight this morning, Dr. Walker?" he demanded.

"Asleep," Walker answered with a yawn, "where I should still be but for your pressing need of me."

The detective turned abruptly to Wilson. "And you?"

"Eating breakfast. But what happened this morning? I thought that Reeves was—died last night."

Lee didn't answer but faced Henderson. "I was preparing and eating my breakfast," explained the professor. His mild face was curious.

Miss Turner was also getting her breakfast and Miss Edwards was "just arising." Lee had a momentary vision of her in a long-sleeved cambric night-gown. He wondered if she wore them.

Jamieson was the last again. "I left my room to walk to the corners for breakfast at about seven-thirty. I usually start then because that just gives me time before my eight o'clock class."

Lee gathered up his notebook and arose. "That will be all now. Miss Turner is going to type your statements for me and I want you to sign them before you go. You'll not leave the city of course." He started toward the door and Wilson followed him. "The teachers may use their offices there whenever they wish, but no one else will be allowed in the building. I'm leaving the guard here for a while."

The white-tiled lunch room across from the police station was hot. Fans whirled the warm air about. Several taxicab drivers leaned their elbows amply on the counter and a few policemen and clerks from the station sat uncomfortably at the tables. Lee and Tim nodded to the latter as they entered and walked toward a table in the corner.

The detective unbuttoned his coat with a weary gesture and mopped his forehead with a handkerchief. Tim tossed a last edition of his own paper and one of the World on the table as he sat down. Outside they could hear the newsboys still screaming their extras, "English prof found murdered at university."

"Good Lord, Molly, but you look cool," groaned Tim to the pert young waitress in her white starched uniform. "How do you do it?"

"Men are all a pack of fools," she declared as she wiped off their table. "They run around in woolen suits and ask why they're hot. You ought to be ashamed of yourself," she added to Lee. "Why don't you see that those poor cops get cooler uniforms? They're still wearing the outfits they wore last January."

"Molly, Molly," sighed Lee. "Can't I ever make you understand that I don't run the damned department? What do I have to do with uniforms? I'm supposed to catch criminals, not wet-nurse a lot of harness bulls. Bring me some eggs and ham with toast and coffee." The detective was a bachelor and never managed to get any breakfast in the morning.

"Bring me a steak with a lot of sliced tomatoes and about a gallon of ice water," ordered Tim, draining his glass. Molly nodded and her high heels clicked on the tile floor as she walked toward the swinging door behind the counter.

Tim picked up the World as Lee reached for the Sun.

"Not a bad story Flackner has, seeing that he doesn't know anything about it," he muttered a minute later from behind his newspaper.

But Lee was reading Tim's own story and didn't answer.

REEVES OF CENTER U FOUND MURDERED IN ENGLISH HOUSE OFFICE

Young Instructor Dies Like Character In Tale of Bierce, Horror Story Writer Whose Disappearance He Solved; Gun Missing From Death Scene, Caretaker and Watchman Declare to Police

Donald Reeves, 27, brilliant English instructor at Center City university was murdered in his office at the English House on the campus late last night as he sat at his desk grading theme papers, it was revealed this morning when Dan McManus, caretaker, found the body.

Beside the body on the floor was a shiny nickel automatic pistol, McManus and Patrick Callaghan, university policeman, told Detective Inspector Thomas Lee, although when town police arrived the gun had disappeared.

Callaghan swore that the gun was beside the body when he locked the windows and doors of the murder room and stood guard outside until the arrival of police. He said later that he was "completely mystified" by the gun's disappearance, as was McManus.

Inspector Lee said that both would be questioned later in the day after Lee had questioned members of the English department in an effort to obtain information of the dead man and his past which might lead to a clue to the mystery. Lee said that he expected to gain possession of the gun "very soon."

Reeves was shot in the chest by an unknown assailant whose entry into the room caused the young teacher to start to his feet in surprise, scattering theme papers on the desk and flinging the desk chair half way across the room, Inspector Lee said.

The assassin escaped through the door or through either of two open windows leading to the English House fire escape, Lee said. All choices of exit led to the deserted campus across which the slayer fled almost certain of being unseen, according to Lee.

University faculty members were stunned by the revelation of the tragedy, and students, wildly excited, milled about the campus in an effort to reach the murder scene or stood in groups discussing the mystery. All classes were dismissed for the day.

A touch of superstitious horror was given to the mystery by students who recalled that Reeves' reputation as a "promising man" had been founded on a thesis, written for Reeves' degrees as a doctor of literature of Alamo university last year, which lifted the weird veil from the disappearance of Ambrose Bierce, famous and caustic critic and author of tales of mystery and horror.

Reeves' thesis proved that Bierce, after his disappearance in Mexico, had really died in battle as he had wished. It was hailed by critics and teachers as a brilliant piece of research work and one which prophesied a great career for the young teacher.

Students told one another yesterday, with a shiver, that it was strange that Reeves should die in the manner of a character in a horror tale by Bierce.

VETERAN TELLS UNDER OATH HOW HE WON FIGHT

Constipation and Rheumatism Kept Him in Bed for Week or Two at a Time. Never Bother Him Since He Used Fruit-a-tives.

Isaac P. Booth, 70 Wayland Ave., Toronto, suffered for years with constipation and rheumatism brought on by military service. Now he is well again and is so thankful that he wants other sufferers to benefit by his experience. So that you can be sure of the absolute truth of his statement, Mr. Booth kindly consented to make a sworn statement before a notary. His statement reads—

"I had been greatly bothered with constipation, brought on by military service. I tried Fruit-a-tives and found they gave me quick relief. I can always depend on them to keep me regular.

I also suffered from rheumatism. It would keep me in bed for a week or two at a time. Since I have used Fruit-a-tives, however, my rheumatism does not bother me any more unless I take foolish chances in wet or cold weather."

Perhaps you, too, suffer as Mr. Booth once did. If you do, Fruit-a-tives can help you gain better health. You see, Fruit-a-tives are really different. For over a quarter of a century they have brought lasting relief to thousands of sufferers from rheumatism, constipation and its companion ills such as indigestion, sick-headaches, etc. Indeed, so successful have Fruit-a-tives proven that now it is the largest selling remedy of its kind in Canada. Try Fruit-a-tives today. You'll be amazed how their tonic effects will quickly give you new vigor, new health, new happiness.

Copy of Mr. Booth's sworn statement will be sent on request. Write Fruitatives Limited, Ottawa, Canada.

Mother and Daughter Relieved of Skin Disease

As Good For Eczema as For Simple Injuries

"We have used Zam-Buk for over 25 years; in fact, ever since my girlhood days in Lancashire. Recently my little girl's scalp was all broken out in eczema—it was a dreadful sight. With her head being so sore and painful I had to melt the Zam-Buk and then gently apply it to her hair with a soft brush. The result was marvellous. In two or three days time it began to show big improvement and further use of Zam-Buk removed the disease entirely. Last season my arms and legs were swollen up to twice their normal size, and the skin all fiery purplish red. Again Zam-Buk proved a real friend in need and soon rid me of the trouble. I always have Zam-Buk by me in the house."—Mrs. A. Bentley, 2270 Joliette Street, Montreal.

"Living on a farm, where nasty accidents are quite common, we always keep Zam-Buk handy. We often get cut and gashed in the barbed wire, but Zam-Buk is always swiftly soothing and healing."—Mrs. C. Barnett, Fareham P.O., Alberta.

The success of Zam-Buk as a healer of skin troubles lies in its original and valuable formula. Zam-Buk is compounded from certain extracts of herbal origin. These, scientifically blended, attain the maximum of soothing, healing, and antiseptic power.

Zam-Buk is so refined that it soaks through the tiny pores into underlying tissues. It heals from below as well as on the surface. It allays pain and itching, and aids in the growth of new skin. Zam-Buk gets at the root of such troubles as eczema, salt rheum, bad legs, ulcers, scalp disease, poisoned sores, etc. It is also a splendid remedy for piles and a fine all-round first-aid for injuries. HIGHWAY WORK BEING PLANNED

Government Considering Additional Work in Northern Part of County.

ADDITIONAL CAMPS.

While no definite announcement is expected until the middle of November, J. J. Duffus intimated to The Examiner to-day that the government is giving favorable consideration to certain proposals advanced by James Hawthorne and himself for the provision of additional work in northern development road camps in the county.

Yesterday, Mr. Duffus and Mr. Hawthorne were in Toronto, where they conferred with officials of the Department of Northern Development and advanced proposals for the establishment of additional road camps, which Mr. Duffus stated, "were favorably considered and on the way to being adopted to provide additional work for the unemployed."

The proposals contemplate the locating of road camps between Hall's Bridge and Bobcaygeon, and between Apsley and Clanricarde on the Burleigh-Bancroft road, in addition to settlers gangs on the western boundary of the county between Kinmount and Bobcaygeon.

Adoption of a new program by the government, Mr. Duffus believed would also result in the removal of some of the existing road camps to different locations in instances where work on certain sections of the Burleigh-Bancroft road is nearing completion.

"Nothing definite may be expected until the middle of next month," Mr. Duffus emphasized.

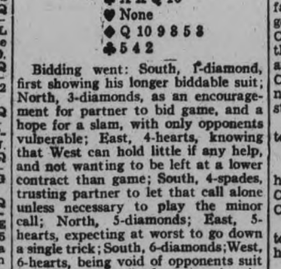
He also provided the assurance, "positively nothing is being neglected in an effort to provide work for the unemployed during the coming winter. Mr. Hawthorne is doing everything possible to secure work."

CONTRACT BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR CENTRAL PRESS
By E. V. SHEPARD

A REMARKABLE RESULT.

One never sees two hands precisely alike. It is just as rare to hold one set of 13 cards, called by name, as to hold 13 cards of a specified suit. In either case there is only one chance in 635,013,559,600. I rarely have heard of a hand closely resembling the one held by East. Any trained player with his wits about him would do just as East did, but the proper method of playing his cards would be a puzzle to any less well-trained player.



Bidding went: South, 1-diamond, first showing his longer biddable suit; North, 3-diamonds, as an encouragement for partner to bid game, and a hope for a slam, with only opponents vulnerable; East, 4-hearts, knowing that West can hold little if any help, and not wanting to be left at a lower contract than game; South, 4-spades, trusting partner to let that call alone unless necessary to play the minor call; North, 5-diamonds; East, 5-hearts, expecting at worst to go down a single trick; South, 6-diamonds; West, 6-hearts, being void of opponents suit and having 4 cards of opponent's suit, without thinking that East might not hold a trump lower than the top heart held by West; naturally North doubled the call, having some strength in clubs, and expecting the opening bidder to win a trick either in diamonds or spades, or perhaps in both of those suits. If North had not doubled his partner would have done so, to save his face as opening bidder, if for no other reason.

The opening lead was the K. of spades, when that held the first trick, the Q. followed. East ruffed. Then he cleaned up opposing trumps in two leads.

Being an odd hand at the game, East next led his ace of diamonds, and had dummy trump, in order to have dummy lead a club towards declarer's double major tenace. North played the 7 of clubs, East had to finesse the 10. When the double finesse held, dummy ruffed declarer's K. of diamonds, then led a low club through North's K.-J. North played the J., and East's Q. won the trick. Of course there was nothing to do except spread the hand and claim fulfillment of the small slam contract, doubled, with 150 honors to sweeten the victory.

The most amusing feature of the deal was North's remarks, as he took his partner to task for opening the bidding without his 2½ quick tricks. Very few practical players consider that necessary when more than a single biddable suit is held. I know that I would have made an opening bid on South's hand.

FLOYD, U.S. PUBLIC ENEMY NO. 1 IS SLAIN IN OHIO CORN FIELD

Braggart Outlaw Had Blazed Crimson Path Over Dozen States.

IN KANSAS MASSACRE.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., Oct. 23 (A.P.).—Charles Arthur ("Pretty Boy") Floyd, infamous outlaw, whose bullets blazed a crimson path over a dozen mid-western states, is dead.

Armed to the hilt, the braggart sought as the "trigger man" in the Kansas City Union Station killings of June, 1933, turned tail and ran when the law caught up with him. Fifteen bullets tore into his body—each one into his back.

The desperado, listed as United States public enemy No. 1 since the death of John Dillinger exactly three months ago, was mortally wounded late yesterday on an isolated farm, seven miles north of here.

His nemesis was Melvin Purvis of the Department of Justice—the man who got Dillinger—aided by three of his agents and four East Liverpool policemen.

So I acking in drama, so quick, was the death of the desperado that it shocked the peaceful countryside only after the full import of the slaying became known.

Hunger Proves Downfall

Floyd crumpled up in a corn field 500 feet from a cornerib where he had taken momentary refuge, before he headed toward a wooded ridge. Only an hour before he had appeared at the Ellen Conkle farm, tired, disheveled, dirty. Hunger had driven him out of Beaver Creek Valley in the sparsely settled Spruceville section. He rapped at the back door of the house. Mrs. Conkle, cleaning a smokehouse nearby, called a response to the stranger.

"I'm lost and I want something to eat," said Floyd.

"I'll pay you."

Mrs. Conkle fixed a meal for him. Floyd was polite, but Mrs. Conkle did not like his looks. Mrs. Conkle grew suspicious.

Floyd ate. It was a good meal. He told the widow as much and paid her a dollar.

Out in the farmyard, he met Stewart Dyke, a brother of Mrs. Conkle, who had been husking corn, and asked for a ride to Youngstown. Dyke refused. He had to go home, he said.

"I'll take you to Clarkson, though," offered Dyke.

The Police Arrive

He backed up the car. Floyd was in the rear seat. Mrs. Dyke sat with her husband. At that moment two automobile loads of officers appeared in their cars. Floyd paled. He barked at Dyke.

"Drive behind the corn crib," he ordered.

Dyke started the car.

"Get going!" shouted Floyd, with a burst of profanity.

The desperado pulled a gun and jumped from the car. In a split second he had sought refuge under a corn crib. Meantime the officers—eight Department of Justice agents and police—scrambled from their hiding, guns ready.

Instead of staying in his barricade, Floyd crawled out and started for the Dyke machine. Again changing his mind, he changed direction and pace and started for a nearby wooded ridge.

"Halt!" yelled Purvis.

Floyd ran.

"Fire!" ordered Purvis.

Fifteen bullets tore into the Oklahoma bandit's body. He went down, fatally wounded.

Purvis approached him. Deftly, handcuffs were slipped on Floyd's wrists.

"Who the hell tipped you?" he asked.

Refuses to Talk

Purvis began questioning him about the Kansas City massacre. But Floyd was tight-lipped.

The officers picked up the wounded fugitive and carried him to the highway. He died before they placed him in an automobile.

The body was brought to a mortuary here. Then the parade of the curious began. A crowd of hundreds gathered at the entrance to the establishment.

They got to view Floyd's body, in spite of the wishes of Floyd's mother, Mrs. Walter Floyd, who telegraphed from Sallisaw to the Chief of Police, asking that he bar the public.

Home and School Association News

CONFEDERATION SCHOOL.

Parents of pupils who formed the graduating class for the entrance examination of Confederation School, together with members of the Home and School Association, were guests last evening at a concert held in the school for the presentation of certificates. Earl Gibson, a pupil of the senior fourth class, made a capable chairman. Mrs. H. B. Jackson, principal, introduced the evening's entertainment, by giving a brief outline of the contests for rural schools, held annually in connection with the teachers' convention. Pupils from five urban schools—Lakefield, Havelock, Norwood, May's and Confederation—take part in competition for recitation, public speaking, spelling, art and writing, a cup being presented to the most successful school. The trophy was won by the Norwood School this year, but the entrants from Confederation School acquitted themselves very creditably, and obtained second place. The program was composed largely of items by pupils who had entered the contests, and included the following: Recitations by Mary Pitchford, Ethelwyn Gibson, Leona Miller, Queenie Holden, June White, Ethel Barnes, Viola Edwards and Frank Harrington; public speaking, "Bells," by Marguerite Hawthorne, and "Celophane," by Marguerite Welch; choruses, "Gliding thro' the Meadow," "Day is Closing," "Come Soft and Lovely Evening," and "Come to the Fair," by six girls from senior fourth class, and community singing. Mr. W. R. Potter acted as accompanist.

The presentation of diplomas was made by Rev. J. D. Paterson to the following successful pupils: Helen Smith, Freda McMahon, Theodora Johnson, Arabella Thompson, Reginald Dunkley, Errol Hess, Norman Thomas, Stephen Curtis, Donald McKinley, Howard McBride, Arnold Pickles, Harold Freeman, Walter Farr, Wilfred Jones.

H. Welch, a member of the Board of Trustees, congratulated the pupils on passing their entrance examination, and also for the very fine showing in the contests at Norwood. He referred to the good condition of the school and grounds, a condition which should be found in all schools.

After the singing of the National Anthem, refreshments were served by ladies of the Home and School Association, under the convenorship of Mrs A. Thomas.

JAPS PRESENT NAVAL PROGRAM

Urge Powers to Agree on Principle of Equality of Armaments, Based on Needs.

ABOLISH 5-5-3 SYSTEM.

LONDON, Eng., Oct. 23. (A.P.)—Japan advanced a far-reaching plan for a new naval treaty today, based upon the principle of equality in defensive armaments and substituting a maximum tonnage limitation for the present ratios.

The eagerly awaited program was laid down in a bi-lateral conference with representatives of Great Britain the two countries are conferring with the United States, preliminary to the 1935 naval conference.

The main points Tokyo wants, it was learned, are as follows:

1.—The powers should first agree on the principle of equality of armaments, based on needs for national defense.

2.—Abolition of the present 5-5-3 ratio system and the substitution of a maximum tonnage limit, each nation to determine her own categories and to have freedom of action in building to the limit if set. (No figures were suggested as a limit).

3.—Elimination of aggressive warfare by a drastic reduction of offensive ships and a reclassification of fleets on a defensive basis.

BEER LICENSES REVENUE IS SET

fair to take the earnings of a hotel in the month of August and multiply it by 12 to arrive at the receipts from the beverage room and wine sales for the year. Obviously, he stated, less beer would be sold in the Winter months than in the Summer. But if the receipts were multiplied by seven instead of 12, a fair average would be struck. The new tax would be on a pre-payment basis as it obviously would be impossible to bill authority holders every three months. If, at the end of the third payment, it was found that an hotel had paid too much, an adjustment could easily be made, the Commissioner declared.

Protests Pour In

From all parts of the province came protests last night against the jump in the fee for authorities. Hotelkeepers learned of the plans of the Liquor Board when circulars arrived telling of the basis of payment. Astonishment was erpressed at the proposal to levy a surcharge over and above the $300 fee. Some hotel-keepers declined to comment until they were able to ascertain the minimum amount of beer and wine they could sell before becoming liable for the surcharge. It was claimed by Mr. Odette that the figures in this regard were in the circular which was mailed to every authority holder in the province.

"If they can't read, it's not my fault," commented Mr. Odette, "All the facts were there."

Dispatches from Niagara Falls, Kingston, Peterborough, and numerous other centres indicated that the various hotel keepers' associations intend to take the matter up with Mr. Odette at an early date. The general feeling was that the charges were exorbitant and would cripple the operations of beverage rooms. Whether this viewpoint will be changed in the light of the pronouncement that up to $5,000 worth of beer and wine may be purchased for a $300 fee, could not be learned last night.

SCOTT, BLACK WIN AIR RACE

This machine, with possible speed of well over 200 miles an hour and flying range of 2,700 miles, carried them perfectly until they were over the Timor Sea approaching Australia, when they had some anxious times. There, under the long gruelling drive, one engine seized. It was repaired at Darwin, but limped off and on the last dash to Melbourne.

The team that drove the machine were in strong contrast. Tall, burly, sandy-haired Scott, who has flown from England to Australia three times now, and each time smashed existing records, wore a Viking beard grown during the flight. As he Stepped from the small glass-enclosed cockpit set amidship his racer, he wore a waterproof jacket, plus fours and brogues.

Slight, dapper, dark-haired Black was similarly clad except he wore a huge pair of fur-lined slippers. Both looked utterly tired, lacking sleep in all but the barest snatches since they had left London.

"It was a lousy trip, and that's praising it," grinned Scott as he clambered to the ground.

Dutch Pass Charleville

The British team finished well ahead of their nearest competitors, the flying Dutchmen, K. D. Parmentier and J. J. Moll, methodically chasing Scott and Black all the way in their big cabin transport plane with passengers, reached Charleville, 787 miles distant from Melbourne, at 6.45 p.m. local time.

The third place American team of Roscoe Turner and Clyde Pangborn, driving their all-metal Boeing, only American entry in the race, reached Port Darwin, landfall on the Australian coast, at 4.50 p.m. (Melbourne time) and proceeded onwards shortly after.

Thousands of persons crowded into Flemington race track, the official finish line, cheered themselves hoarse when the fast red craft came in sight from the northwards. As in all other cities and towns, they had dropped everything to watch the progress of the Britons in the closing stages of their amazing flight.

The plane went to the hangar and after five minutes Scott and Black emerged. Scott tried to make a speech but the cheering was so great no one could hear a word.

Great Welcome

They were paraded down the racecourse in a motor car amidst a storm of cheering. Sir Macpherson Robertson, promoter of the race, the dramatic highlight of Victoria's huge Centenary celebrations, and the Lord Mayor of Melbourne, with other dignitaries, welcomed the fliers on behalf of Australia.

The Lord Mayor was forced to delay his speech while the multitude insisted on singing "For He's a Jolly Fellow."

"Your achievement is a lesson to the youth of the Empire that the great qualities which made the Empire still endure," said the Lord Mayor.

Scott, in reply, said: "A short time ago we feared for our machine. It seemed that we had started centuries ago. Every mile we got nearer Melbourne it seemed we were going back two. It was a terrible mental state.

"Now, I am terribly embarrassed. I don't think I can say much more; as I've been roaring at Black for the past few days and he hasn't roared back much, let him talk now."

Modest Black

Black approached the microphone and declared bluntly: "I never made a speech in my life. All I can say is, I thank you."

The Consul from Holland was introduced to the winners and he presented the fliers with a sheaf of flowers on behalf of the Royal Netherlands airlines.

Scott told Reuters' correspondent "Neither of us got a wink of sleep during the trip. We had to be on the job all the time. We were feeling pretty done up on the run down, but a bit better now.

"We do wish to thank the people here for the marvellous welcome given us all the way across Australia," he added.

Event To Be Remembered

The welcome indeed was an experience not soon to be forgotten. From the time the plane appeared a speck in the distant afternoon sky until it developed into the unfamiliar shape of the streaky Comet, while it hurtled over the course, swung away to the west, circled the ground and finally landed, and until the fliers had shown themselves and been greeted, there were continuous thunders of cheering.

At Laverton Aerdrome, where the fliers first went on arrival, Mrs. Rose Bonney and Miss Peggy Doyle gave the airmen a couple of bottles of beer and some sandwiches.

Wing Commander Cole, deputy chairman of the race committee, declared that Scott and Black "displayed truly amazing pluck and endurance and determination." He commented on their "unsurpassed skill as pilots and navigators of the world's greatest air race victory."

And their victory, said Wing-Commander Cole, was all the more welcome as a triumph of British airmen in a British machine driven by British engines.

Scott is a Londoner, more than six feet tall, former heavyweight boxing champion of the Royal Air Force. He is married, his home being at Mersea Island. Black is also a former Royal Air Force pilot, actively interested in flying and farming in British Kenya. He acted as pilot for the Prince of Wales in East Africa in 1930.

Congratulations

LONDON, Oct. 23.—(C.P. Cable)—Telegrams of congratulation were sent to C. W. A. Scott and Campbell Black, British winners of the London-to-Melbourne Air Derby, today by Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, Lord Londonderry, Minister for Air, and J. H. Thomas, Secretary for Dominions.

"Hearty congratulations on your great achievement, splendid skill and courageous endeavor," said Prime Minister MacDonald.

"Your record achievement has set a high standard of airmanship and demonstrated the outstanding quality of production of the British air industry, and its desgners," said Lord Londonderry.

"Your feat has thrilled us all," said Mr. Thomas. "We are proud of your flight, another triumph for British airmen and British aircraft."

Kennedy Scott, father of the airman, when he learned the news said it was almost incredible they should already be nearly 12,000 miles away.

"It is almost like going into another world," Mr. Scott added. "Thank heaven it is this world."

Mrs. Black, mother of Scott's co-pilot, said: "It seems as if they travelled on a magic carpet."

MANVERS CASE IS PRESENTED

Mike Romanic; that the prisoner was the father of her child and was no longer welcome at the Romanic home. In the meantime, Rogouski had won the favor of the Romanic family, including Olive, and plans for a wedding this autumn had been completed.

On the Sunday of Rogouski's sudden disappearance from the community of foreigners in the township, he had visited his sister-in-law, Mrs. A. Rogouski, and arranged for renting a room for himself and Olive Romanic after their marriage. That day he told Mrs. Rogouski that the prisoner had threatened: 'If you don't keep away from that girl I'll fix you up', and she had advised him to be careful.

Julie Kulchycke testified that Bolejczuk said: "Is Pete better than me. If I don't get Olive no one else will."

The prisoner was seen lurking about the Romanic home Saturday night July 28. Both men were in the neighborhood on Sunday, and their movements were separately traced until late in the afternoon about the time Mrs. Helena Vanderyegt hears screams from the bush when her attention was distracted by the arrival of her two sons with the cows for the evening milking. She did not think of that incident again until the police arrested "Mit" after Rogouski's body was found in the creek on August 22.

In committing the prisoner for trial in the higher court, Magistrate Campbell remarked that the evidence was circumstantial and was rather weak. The same witnesses will repeat their testimony here unless the Grand Jury reports "no bill," and it is understood that several new witnesses have been summonsed.

Judge's Remarks

In his address to the Grand Jury, Mr. Justice Jeffrey expressed regret that there was a criminal docket for the court. Explaining the Jury's duties, His Lordship stated that they were not trying the three cases submitted to them, but would simply hear the evidence adduced by the Crown, and decide in each case whether the accused should be put on trial. He briefly outlined the evidence against Bolejczuk referring to the element of rivalry, and stating that usually in murder trials direct testimony was not available because major crimes were rarely committed before eye-witnesses.

Suit Against the C.N.R.

In the civil suits against the C.N.R., Walter Fox of Murray township is asking $10,000 for loss of a leg which he alleges was due to the negligence of the railway company; and Mrs. Letitia Gunther claims $15,000 damages in behalf of her husband's estate.

A sleigh of wood on which Fox and Dorwend Gunther were driving was unable to move out of a trench cut in the ice approaching the railway. The sleigh was struck by a C.N.R. train at the crossing. Fox suffered the loss of one leg, and Gunther subsequently died of his injuries.

Frank Regan of Toronto is counsel for the plaintiffs and R. E. Laidlaw for the defendant company.

Mr. Laidlaw proposed that these actions be tried without a jury, in a rather long debate following the retirement of the Grand Jury.

Mr. Justice Jeffrey did not decide the motion by Mr. Laidlaw, stating that he would not until some of the other cases had been disposed of.

His Lordship remarked that it might be advisable if all juries were eliminated under the Fatal Accidents Act.

"In nine out of ten cases of that kind the jury does not understand the exact assessment of damages that should be made," said His Lordship, "and for that reason retrials have been necessary as a result of the assessments made by juries."

Gordon vs. Latta

G. N. Gordon's action against Fred Latta of Dartford, Northumberland township, was for $554 solicitor's fees, and $278.52 which Mr. Gordon had advanced as endorser of a note given by Mr. Fred F. Field.

Mr Gordon was counsel for Mr Latta in his suit against Mr. Field and Miss R. Keppler of Field Lodge Farms, Rice Lake.

Last November Mr. Gordon learned that Mr. Latta was consulting Archibald Cochrane of Cobourg and on December 28 received a letter from Mr. Cochrane asking for his bill against Mr. Latta. The account was rendered in detail on January 4, 1934. Mr. Gordon recounted details of financial arrangements which, on behalf of Mr Latta, he had made with Mr. Field to liquidate a liability of $2080. Mr Field was to pay $100 a month and also certain sums received from the sale of Jersey cattle. Promissory notes were discounted by Mr. Latta, and Mr. Gordon eventually was required to pay $226.74 to the bank as endorser. He mentioned his efforts to protect the interest of Mr Latta in Field Lodge Farm chattels, and stated that since this action had been begun he had received from the Bank of Commerce sums from small notes to Mr. Field in payment of cattle which Mr. Gordon was holding in a suspense account. He told Mr. Cochrane he was holding this money which he estimated at three or four hundred dollars to be applied on his claim against Mr. Latta in event of judgment being in his favor.

Mr. Justice Jeffrey interposed at that stage, after the Latta vs Field case and its sequent financing had been reviewed, remarking that Mr. Gordon had obviously performed a great deal of work for Mr. Latta, and had not been paid for all of it. His Lordship declared that Mr. Gordon had acted quite properly in holding recent notes in a suspense account.

"It doesn't take me long to sense the atmosphere in a case," said His Lordship, "and it is plain that a tense atmosphere has grown up in this case. It is not a nice thing for a solicitor to have to come into court. I am going to take a recess, and I would suggest both of you retire somewhere and see if you cannot adjust the difficulty between you. It will save further litigation. Of course I am quite prepared to do my duty, to act as arbiter or perhaps as referee."

J. B. McColl, Cobourg, representing Mr. Gordon, and Mr. Cochrane expressed their readiness to accept His Lordship's suggestion, and later reported the settlement which was entered as judgment.

MOTHER DOING WELL.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23 (A.P.).—Two of the quadruplets born to Mrs. Cecelia Mulligan, 25, of the Bronx, died in Lincoln hospital today after living only about four hours.

The other two infants—both boys—were reported by physicians to be in "pretty weak" condition, but the mother was "doing well."

Three boys were born first, arriving at 10.30, 10.35 and 10.42 p.m. (E.S.T.) last night. A girl was born at 10.48 p.m. The last two to arrive died shortly before 3 a.m. to-day.

The mother had been rushed to the hospital in an ambulance last night, the births being premature by two months. The infants were placed in an incubator immediately. Their total weight was 10 pounds.

The father, Patrick Mulligan, an unemployed truck driver, who received $50 a month for relief, was at home tending their three other children when the quadruplets were born. The Mulligans were married seven years ago.

MRS. GERALD BAKER

(Examiner Correspondence)

HASTINGS, Oct. 23.—The funeral of the late Mrs. Gerald Baker (nee Kathlean Manina Clapper) who died in Cobourg on Thursday was held on Saturday afternoon with services at the family home on Orange street, Cobourg. Interment was made in Trent Valley cemetery here.

The very large number and the beautiful floral offerings showed the esteem in which the young woman was held by a wide circle of friends both in Cobourg and Hastings, her home town.

The bearers were Messrs W. Whitred, E. Whitred, E. Scriver, W. Dodd, L. Scriver and C. Scriver.

ALEXANDER K. RICHARDSON.

(A Tribute)

With the passing this week of the late Alexander K. Richardson has gone a man of great honesty and steadfastness of purpose. His monuments are already erected in his work and will stand the test of time well as will his life since his purpose was to construct well.

The Lake of the Woods bridge, works in Quebec, the Trent Valley Canal system and the city were constructed under his management. For a time he was construction manager of the Dominion Engineering Company, and lastly asked to take the post of operating the Lift Locks, of which he was inspector during the construction. He undertook all things with interest and loyalty, whether it be work or fraternity. He was a Forester and a staunch member of the Masonic Order of the Royal Arthur Lodge and the Corinthian Chapter. It was very fitting that these Masonic brethern with whom he was wont to meet and find so much happiness during his lifetime paid him their last tribute in taking part in his burial service and accompanying him to his rest.

A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches and loving favor rather than silver and gold. Blessed are the pure in heart, for they shall see God.

BROKERS' CALLS COST $20,000 IN SIX MONTHS

Young "Statistician" Admits Advising Company's Clients From Coast to Coast.

HAD NEVER BEEN IN MINE.

Only in Brokerage Office 6 Months—Got Dope From Officials, Newspapers.

TORONTO, October 24 (C. P.). — A youthful 'statistician' who admitted he had never been inside a mine and had been associated with a brokerage office in a secretarial position only six months before accepting his present post, revealed to Ontario Securities Commissioner J. M. Godfrey, to-day, how he had advised clients of John T. White & Co. in all parts of Canada what to do with their stockholdings.

Appearing as a witness at the Commissioner's inquiry into operations of the stock brokerage company, Herbert Dighton, 27, told how he had conducted a column in the company's weekly publication, The Canadian Mining and Financial Record, and had "sometimes worked day and night with five stenographers," advising clients when to sell, when to buy, and when to switch their holdings. He admitted all his advice was based on information provided by the mining companies or their officials, the newspapers and mining news services.

Telephone Figures.

The brokerage company also had organized vast telephone service which stretched across the continent. It was shown by Arthur Jones of the Bell Telephone Company, who said White's account for the last six months had been nearly $20,000 ,the bulk of which was spent on long distance calls. There were Prisoner Enters Personal Plea "Not Guilty" to Murdering Lindbergh Baby.

ALLOWED TO WEAR TIE.

FLEMINGTON, N.J., Oct. 24. — (A.P.).—Bruno Richard Hauptmann entered a personal plea of not guilty to-day to a charge of murdering the kidnapped Lindbergh baby, and Supreme Court Justice Thomas E. Trenchard fixed January 2, 1935, as he date for trial.

When he was arraigned before Supreme Court Justice Thomas W. Trenchard, the indictment returned by a Hunterdon County grand jury two weeks ago was read to Hauptmann by County Prosecutor Anthony M. Hauck, Jr., Hauck then asked the prisoner how he pleaded.

"Not guilty," Haupeman answered in a loud voice.

It was the first time in his several court appearances since his arrest September 19 last that Hauptmann has entered a personal plea in court.

At previous arraignments he pleaded through counsel.

For his court appearance to-day Hauptmann wore a necktie, an item of wearing apparel that has been denied him in prison. His suit was grey.

DAMAGE ACTION AGAINST C. N. R. IS DISMISSED

Action Follows Accident in Trenton Where Man Killed, One Injured.

EVIDENCE CLOSED.

Defense Offers No Evidence—Shallow Trench Caused Accident.

(By Staff Reporter)

COBOURG, Oct. 24.—The double barrelled action against the C.N.R. for $25,000 damages arising out of the fatal accident on Stanley street Trenton, January 26, last, was dismissed at noon to-day by Mr. Justice Jeffrey with costs "if asked for." The trial jury subscribed an affirmative "yes" to the first of seven questions which His Lordship submitted to them, finding that the fatal mishap was simply an acident for which no one was at fault. This finding automatically disposed of the other questions were contingent upon a negative reply to the first.

In this case Walter Fox, Murray township, farmer, sued for $10,000 damage for loss of left leg as a result of injuries suffered when his sleigh of cordwood was struck by a C.N.R. freight train in Trenton on January 29th last. Mrs. Letitia Gunter claimed $15,000 for the estate of her husband who was riding on the sleigh, and died of the injuries caused by the team of horses running away as the fourth freight car side swiped the load of wood.

Mr. Justice Jeffrey said he was in full accord with the jury's verdict. R. E. Laidlaw, Toronto, was for the C.N.R. and Frank Regan, K.C., Toronto, for the plaintiffs.

Mere Accident

"I think it was a mere accident" said His Lorship, "and no negligence could be attributed to the defendants. In regard to costs, the company was brought here at considerable expense. Actions of this kind should not be encouraged. There are too many actions of this kind against corporations. I do not intend my remarks to apply to you, Mr. Regan. As a matter of right the costs should follow the result of the action, but I trust they will not be asked for by the defendant company."

The accident happened about 5 p.m. January 26. Evidence throughout yesterday morning and afternoon recast the simple details of the fatal occurrence. The shallow trench 5 or 6 feet long and a few inches wide was dug as closely as possible to the outside edge of the ties, as one witness related, where the railway occupies and parallels part of the public street. It was not a crossing accident, but it happened on Stanley Street near the corner of Alberta Street.

Travelling at ten miles an hour in the same direction as the sleigh load of hardwood, the train overtook and was passing the sleigh The horses were somewhat frightened, and the runners on the side of the sleigh next to the railway slid into the trench. The fourth car of the freight struck the sleigh, in some manner, causing the horses to run away, scattering the wood, and injuring both the driver, Mr. Fox, and his companion, who died a short time afterward in the Belleville hospital.

One of the witnesses stated that

CLAIMS NATIONS MUST BROADEN WORLD OUTLOOK

Tugwell Admits U. S. Been Over-Resentful of Agrarian Nationalism in Europe.

MORE REFORMS COMING.

ROME, Oct. 24 (AP)—A forceful plea for a world system of planned economy, under which each nation would look after its own yet contribute to the welfare of all humanity was made here by Rexford G. Tugwell, United States Undersecretary of Agriculture.

His speech to the International Institute of Agriculture had been awaited with high expectations. And there was no possibility of misunderstanding his proposal, for to make double clear what he had in mind he said:

"We have been over-resentful, perhaps, of what we have called agrarian nationalism in Europe.

"We could see no reason for the small-field cultivation of wheat when our large-scale operations had reduced costs so greatly. And we thought that this was the kind of thing on which rational men might agree, given the opportunity of negotiation."

In other words, let the United States sell wheat to Europe and let the European wheat raisers turn to some other article which they could produce at a lower cost than the United States.

He suggested then that the Institute concern itself with world-wide control of trade.

Biting Criticism

Tugwell, known as "Number One Brain-Truster" at home, was unsparing in criticism of what his and other nations had done in the past. He conceded the United States has "not recovered and we shall not until we have learned to reform."

"The time will come when governments, now so preoccupied at home, can raise their eyes and look abroad again," he said, "and what they have learned at home they are not likely to forget in the shaping of their international relations.

"They will not go back to laissez faire any more than they will continue simple protectionist. . . .

"Somewhere between the international anarchy which we have called free trade . . . and the protectionist nationalism, which logically would stop any trade at all, we shall find a way to build a more substantial structure of equal exchange."

Tugwell drew a comparison between the proposed world economy and the new plan now being tried in the United States.

"The enemy we face (at home) is not yet demoralized," he said, "but it is in retreat, and we have good ground for hope. That enemy is the system of unco-ordinated enterprise we inherited and which had become deeply entrenched in privilege."

The struggle, he asserted, includes experiments with "control of industry" which "must at all costs be achieved."

CHESTER TAYLOR ESCAPES PRISON IN LONDON CASE

Given Suspended Sentence After Pleading Guilty to Attempting to Obstruct Justice.

LIABLE TO 2 YEARS.

Mrs. Mae Turnbull is Carried Into Court to Give Evidence on Extortion Plot.

LONDON, Ont., Oct. 24.—(CP)—Charged with attempting to obstruct justice, Chester Taylor, son of Mrs. Mae Turnbull and brother of Frank Taylor sentenced last week to five year terms on extortion charges, pleaded guilty before Magistrate T. W. Scandrett today and was given suspended sentence. Taylor chose summary trial after admitting that he had induced Gordon Erskine, now under arrest, to go to the United States to prevent him giving evidence at the trial of Mrs. Turnbull and V. C. Foley, London lawyer. Erskine, was arrested in Detroit.

While agreeing to suspend sentence, Norman Newton, Acting Crown Attorney, pointed out Taylor was liable to a two year term.

Three more charges in connection with the recent extortion cases in London are being heard by Magistrate Scandrett.

Mrs. Turnbull Carried In

Shortly before 12 o'clock noon, Mrs. Mae Turnbull was carried into the court room by a jail turnkey, and city detective, placed in the seat reserved for women, Mrs. Turnbull collapsed in a faint and was not revived for some minutes.

When she was brought into the room, Mrs. Turnbull appeared very pale and seemed to show the effects of her imprisonment and recent trial.

TORNADO TAKES TOLL OF THREE

Dozen Seriously Hurt, $300,000 Damage Done Over Missouri.

TRAIL OF HAVOC.

MARYVILLE, Mo., Oct. 24 (AP) —A toll of three dead, one missing, four critically injured and 12 others severely hurt was counted to-day as rescue workers surveyed the wreckage left by a tornado that tore through this city, venting its fury on a veterans' Conservation Corps Camp.

Damage to buildings and other property in the city and the camp, was placed at about $300,000.

The dead were Guy R. Allen, Shelbina, Mo.; Ralph E. Hare, Alley, Mo., and H. S. Newton, Bevier, Mo., all Great War veterans. They were fatally injured in the collapse of one of the camp barracks.

Little hope was held for the recovery of J. J. Stack, St. Louis; Samuel Morrow, 54, Bevier, Mo., and Lee Dobbins, Kansas City, all members of the camp, and G. Sterling and A. Runyan.

Harvey Drake, Kansas City, a member of the camp, was missing. More than 50 persons received treatment for minor injuries.

The storm gathered late yesterday, dipped down suddenly in the central part of the city and swept toward the camp, leaving a path about three blocks wide and a mile long strewn with wreckage.

Two barracks buildings were lifted from their foundations and dumped and demolished 120 feet away. Two others were twisted about on their foundations.

BOARD EXPECTS $255,584 SPENT ON BEER IN CITY

Under New License Levy Beverage Rooms Should Sell 851,946 Quarts.

39 QUARTS PER PERSON.

Citizens here will spend a total of $255,584 on beer in local beverage rooms during the next twelve months, if the licenses levied on Peterborough beverages by the Liquor Control Board are a correct approximation of the beer sales here.

Considered further, by the licenses charged local beverage rooms, the Liquor Board expects that local citizens will purchase 851,946 quarts of beer during the next year. This is 39 quarts for every man, woman and child residing in the city.

These astounding figures, calculated upon Liquor Board's levies on beverage rooms here, are arrived at easily.

According to the announcement of E. G. Odette, Liquor Board commissioner, the minimum license fee under the new regulations will be $300 which entitles a hotelkeeper to buy up to $5,000 worth of beer. Purchases above $5,000 are to be taxed five per cent.

Mr. Odette has gone further than this. He has levied a license tax on each beverage room for the next year, estimating this upon the amount of beer he expects each beverage room to purchase.

For example the license tax on the Windsor Hotel here for the year has been fixed by Mr. Odette at $1,425. But $300 of this $1,425 charged the Windsor Hotel covers the first $5,000 worth of beer bought by this hotel. Therefore to calculate the amount of beer the Liquor Commissioner estimates this hotel to purchase during the year, one must first subtract this $300 from the total license of $1,425 charged the hotel. This leaves $1,125, five per cent or one-twentieth

Simcoe Heads List In Tax-Collecting

SIMCOE, Ont., Oct. 24.—(C.P.)— Distinction of leading Canada in tax-collecting is claimed by Simcoe, county town of Norfolk, where the tax arrears are only 82 cents per capita.

Several centres have recently laid claim to the honor. Truro, Nova Scotia, started the competition by announcing its unjaid taxes were only $4.75 per head. Paris, Ontario, went one better by claiming tax arrears of only $3.17 for every man, woman and child in the town.

Following these came a blast from nearby Tillsonburg, which claimed leadership over all with $1.46 per capita tax arrears.

Simcoe, however, rises to challenge them all. Pointing to low per capita tax arrears, the town indulges in a boast of its well-managed municipal financing.

GUNMEN SEIZE $3,280 PAYROLL AT HAMILTON

Force Mill Official's Car to Curb at Pistol Point.

GRAB VALISE, FLEE.

Desperado's Machine Disappears Down Avenue Baffling Police.

HAMILTON, Ont., Oct. 24. (CP). Crowding the paymaster's car to the curb at Sherman and Princess streets this morning, armed bandits in a fast automobile stole the $3,280 payroll of the Cosmos Imperial Mills.

Percy Dawson, who was in charge of the company's cash, with his guard, Ken Horton, were proceeding down Sherman avenue towards the big plant with the money for the employees from the bank. As they reached the corner of Princess street, an automobile which had been following them, suddenly pulled abreast and forced the Cosmos Mills car against the cement curb.

The driver could do nothing but stop. As he did so, three men leaped from the bandit car, pointed a revolver and ordered the paymaster and his associate to put up thier hands. Dawson and Horton did so, and the bandits seized a valise containing the cash, threw it into their car and fled.

One of the bandits was described as between 40 and 42 years of age, dark complexion, and apparently a foreigner.

A second man was about the same age, 5 feet 9 inches tall, and the third man's description is not available.

The bandit car continued on down Sherman Avenue and escaped. A call was immediately put in to the police, but no trace of the automobile has yet been found.

TOWN'S LIGHTS FLASHED CODE SAVING DUTCH DERBY AIRLINER

Wireless Operator Tells How Fliers Were Directed to Albury Race Course.

IN TERRIFIC STORM.

MELBOURNE, Australia, Oct. 24. (AP).—The "worst experience of my career" was the way Van Brugge, wireless operator of the Dutch "Flying Hotel" which finished second in the Melbourne derby, described to-day the plane's battle against a series of terrific thunderstorms.

The storms were encountered yesterday after the plane left Charleville.

"We got off our course in a series of storms," Van Brugge related. "We attempted to get below them and then, as this was unsuccessful, we rose to a great height.

"Sometimes we were forced to the right and sometimes to the left by terrific thunderstorms. It was a trying time, especially as our petrol was giving out.

Raises Melbourne

"I tried to get Melbourne on the wireless but all I could get was Moscow and atmospheric disturbances. Eventually, however, I succeeded in contacting Melbourne and discovered we were near Albury.

"The broadcasting Commission got busy asking people to look for the missing Dutch plane and set everybody in Australia to gazing into the sky. Soon we saw the wonderful thing being done by Albury to help us. The town's electric lights were being controlled at the power station and the entire supply was being utilized for flashing visible morse messages to us. It was an amazing and very sporting thing to do.

"The messages advised us of preparations to receive us at the racecourse and we were soon able to follow the glare of lights from assembled automobiles to a safe landing place."

Boy Is Left Lying On Guelph Highway

The youth has been unconscious since he was admitted to the hospital.

He was pushing a bicycle towards Kitchener, about three miles from Guelph, when he was struck by an automobile which threw him on to the shoulder of the road, and hurled his bicycle into the ditch.

The number of the car was obtained, and city and Provincial Police are still busy in an endeavor to check up on the driver.

Young Man Aged 20 Is Feared Drowned

OTTAWA, October 24 (C.P.). — Police were to-day dragging the Ottawa River near the Parliament Buildings in an effort to locate the body of Arthur Crooke, 20, believed to have been drowned.

Crooke last night was searching along the river bank with three companions for his bicycle which had been stolen earlier in the day when his comrades heard a splash, and on rushing to the spot were unable to locate Crooke. They then notified the police, who continued the search throughout the night. Early to-day he had not been found and dragging operations were started.

Run over by an automobile in warm South Africa, a cyclist escaped because he wore a vest, jersey, waistcoat, jacket and overcoat.

Three Coal-Pickers Are Killed By Slide

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Oct. 24 (AP)—High bank of anthracite and gravel which furnished fuel to destitute coal-pickers brought death to three youths and injuries to two others as the weight of 1,500 tons crumbled down upon them.

Between 25 and 50 other men and children, quietly seeking out the lumps of coal from the fine dust and dirt refuse yesterday were terrified as the avalanche suddenly descended upon them.

They fled, just in time. But Joseph Frawdzik, 12; John Conti, 16, and William Dvornicky, all of Plains Township, were buried beneath. Several others, including one woman, Mrs. John Rihel, 35, were partially interred.

Because they are non-conductors of electricity, leather helmets will replace the brass headgear now worn by London firemen.

Dutch Finish Second in Air Derby

AMERICAN PAIR PULL IN THIRD 2 HOURS LATER

Scott and Black Finish First in Handicap as Well as Speed Race.

HAVE CHOICE OF PRIZES.

Australian Millionaire Announces New Race to Tasmania for $2,500.

MELBOURNE, Australia, Oct. 24.—(AP)—An unofficial check indicated today that England's brilliant airmen, C. W. A. Scott and T. Campbell Black, finished first in the handicap as well as the speed race in the England-Melbourne derby. But the Dutch entry, which came in today two hours and 42 minutes ahead of the American team of Col. Roscoe Turner and Clyde Pangborn, stands and excellent chance of getting the handicap first prize of $10,000.

Under the rules for the derby a pilot cannot win prizes in both races, but must choose between them.

Ten hours lost at Albury by K. D. Parmentier and J. J. Moll, of the Netherlands, probably cost them their chance of beating the Englishmen's time in the handicap event. Had they remained at Charleville or Narromine, checking points, this time would not have been counted against them. All time spent between checking points counts as time in the air.

Should Parmentier and Moll get the $10,000 handicap prize, the second prize of $7,500 in the speed race would go to Turner and Pangborn. At any rate the Americans are assured of the $2,500 third prize in the speed race.

It will be some days before official results can be announced, since times and "pay loads" must be

ITALIAN, GERMAN PRESS PEEVED

Hit at British Sportsmanship Following Air Derby Victory.

CLAIM RULES WITHHELD.

LONDON, Eng., Oct. 24. (C.P. Cable).—Curious assaults on Britain's sportsmanship in certain newspapers in Italy and Germany were one aftermath of the victory of C. W. A. Scott and Campbell Black in the London-Melbourne air derby.

Italy entered two machines in the race. Neither of them were ever officially withdrawn, but neither appeared at Milden-Hall aerodrome, the starting point.

One Rome newspaper claimed no country other than Britain was informed in time of the rules and regulations of the race, thus giving the British an advantage and enabling Britain to build special machines.

The Berlin Angrieff said that when the Australians won the cricket test match series Britain protested; that she protested again when the United States won the America's Cup yacht race series and that when Col. James G. Fitz-Maurice appeared to be a dangerous opponent in the air derby he was eliminated. (Race stewards ruled his loaded ship did not meet airworthiness specifications, and the Irish flyer withdrew rather than have his flying range reduced).

KNOX W.M.S.

HAVELOCK, Oct. 23. (Examiner Correspondence).—Making preparations for a concert on November 8th, and a special drive of individual members to raise a dollar talent money to bring up the remaining unpaid allocation for the current year were the highlights of the regular meeting of the W.M.S. of Knox Presbyterian church.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. James Griffith on Monday. Mrs. Robert Scott, the president, occupied the chair. After the devotional exercises had been concluded Mrs. (Dr.) A. S. Thompson gave an excellent talk on "Our task in Formosa." Each member is to expend some special effort in order to raise the individual dollar talent money to bring up the 1934 allocation. An attempt will be made to exceed the amount raised last year. This will be in keeping with other years.

A delightful hour of social intercourse was then enjoyed. A short program was much enjoyed and dainty refreshments were served in conclusion.

You will find many things in the Classified Ads of The Examiner.

His Last Job

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—(C.P.)—John Robinson, father of two children, had been out of work three years. Finally he landed a job. It meant his family could get off the relief roll and he left for work with a smile on his lips.

"You look 30, John," Mrs. Robinson said as he left, "but remember you're 50. Take it easy, but hurry home for supper."

Robinson never reached his job. He died of a heart attack on the street. The excitement had been too great, the doctors said.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Wheat prices gained fractions yesterday on buying stimulated by bullish foreign news, but corn showed weakness and acted as a drag on the market.

Gainsof as much as 1½c in wheat were whittled down in the closing hour as holders let some of their recent purchasers slip in sympathy with falling corn values. Liquidation pressure in the corn pit was in evidence throughout the session.

The early spurt of wheat buying followed a sharp recovery of the Liverpool market in which price losses were erased and replaced by closing gains of 1c to 1¼c. Firmness at Buenos Aires and Winnipeg also encouraged local buying that continued until profit-taking appeared near the close. The days advances in wheat ranged from ¼c to ¾c a bushel, with May closing at 97⅜c to 97⅞c after touching a high of 98⅜c. Corn showed a net ⅛c to ⅞c loss. May going to 76¾ to 76⅞. Other grains were about steady.

WINNIPEG WHEAT.

WINNIPEG, October 24. — Responding to upturns at Liverpool, wheat futures on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange shot ahead at the opening yesterday, and remained practically motionless for the balance of a dull, featureless session. At the close values were ⅝c to ¾c higher.

Reports of rush infection in the new Argentine wheat crop appeared responsible for the ⅝d advance in the English market. Responsive to this leadership, local futures disregarded the absence of export demand for Canadian wheat, October closing at 76⅝c, December 77⅝c, and May 81⅝c to 81⅞c.

Indicating the hedging pressure of Canada's new crop is waning, offerings again were light yesterday, enabling values to retain the advance without difficulty. Country deliveries of wheat on Monday totalled only 1,487,000 bushels.

Good demand was in evidence for high-grade wheats in the cash grain division, spreads closing fractionally better. Coarse grains futures were slow, prices following the lead of wheat.

HENRY REFUNDS REPAIR COST

Car Repair Cost for Private Automobile Totals $3,145.

ASKED FOR CHEQUE.

TORONTO, Oct. 24—Hon. George S. Henry has paid his bill for repairs which the government garage made to his car—his own car, not old No. 1, the Provincially owned auto which used to be reserved for the use of the Prime Minister of Ontario.

"You will note on my desk," observed Premier Hepburn yesterday, "a cheque for $3,004.45, signed 'George S. Henry.' Mr. Henry has returned this money to the Government at the request of the Provincial Auditor, whom I instructed to ask for it. It cover the amount spent for gas, oil and repairs for Mr. Henry's car over a period of two years or so."

The new Premier made it clear that this bill was not for car No. 1, "chich cost the people $3,145 in upkeep during 1932," but for Mr. Henry's "own, personal, family car." Mr. Hepburn said he had asked for return of this money, with the alternative of court action against Mr. Henry. Almost by return mail, said the Premier, came Mr. Henry's cheque, with a note: "You will find enclosed cheque to cover service which the Department of Highways gave to my car."

Mr. Hepburn commented: "He had absolutely no more right to go over there (to the Government garage) for service than had any other citizen. He was taking advantage of his position."

Asked whether any other former Ministers owed similar bills, the Premier said he was having the accounts checked.

GUARDS PLACED BEFORE SCHOOLS

Mexicans Aiming to Eliminate Catholic Church, Possibly Catholicism Itself.

NO CHURCHES IN 5 STATES.

MEXICO, D.C., Oct. 24. (AP)—A few armed soldiers patrolling in front of schools in the capital presented the only visible evidence to-day that momentous changes are underway throughout Mexico.

Within a short time the Catholic Church, if not Catholicism, itself, may be completely eliminated, for the present at least, as a factor in the life of the country

The National Revolutionary (Government) party is still withholding action on a proposal to exile all Archbishops and Bishops from Mexico, but the anti-church sentiment which first broke out in 1857 and reached high intensity in 1915 and again in 1926 under General Plutarco Elias Calles is being put into concrete form in many states where churches have been closed and priests expelled

The states of Sonora, Tabasco, Chiapas, Colima and Guerrero, five of 28, are entirely without churches. Bishops and priests have been given 72 hours in which to leave Guerrero. A similar action was taken by the state of Mexico but was later reconsidered and a definite decision was postponed.

Cathlics as yet have made no unified protest against the government's acts.

FRIEND RECALLS DEED OF SCOTT'S

Dashed Into Flames of Burning Plane to Save Passenger in Mountain Wreck.

SCARRED FOR LIFE

WINDSOR, Ont., Oct. 24 (C.P.)—Courage and bravery of Lieut. C. W. A. Scott who collaborated with Capt. Campbell Black in piloting their scarlet De Haviland comet to victory in the London-to-Melbourne air race was recalled to-day by Charles Spears, who knew Lieut. Scott very well in Brisbane, Australia.

"One time," he said, "Scott and his plane had been chartered by a rancher to take him from one part of the country to another. Scott was flying through fog with the rancher, through the mountains back to Adelaide, when his plane cracked up. When Scott came to, the plane was in flames. He managed to get clear of the wreckage as it lay on the side of the mountain and started off, knowing the plane would explode. Then he realized that the rancher was inside. He went back, dashed through the flames, and pulled his passenger out. The man's life was saved, but Scotts face was permanently scarred."

Mr. Spears described Scott as "a marvellous flyer" and a typical Imperial Air Force man." He said there was great rivalry between Scott and Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith but when Kingsford-Smith was lost Scott was one of the first to go out and look for him.

ONTARIO LEADER HOLDS PROJECT AS UNFEASIBLE

Openly States 1932 Agreement With Ottawa Will Not be Ratified.

DELAYED IN U. S.

Dominion Endorsation Shelved to Avoid Aggravating Washington Opposition.

TORONTO, October 24 (C.P.). — There will be no support coming from Ontario for the proposed St. Lawrence Seaway project as long as Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn heads the Provincial Government. A firm stand against the project as unfeasible in the face of the railway problem and present conditions has been taken by the Government head.

There will be no ratification by the Government of an agreement announced in 1932 by Prime Minister R. B. Bennett and the former Conservative Premier, Hon. George S Henry, Mr. Hepburn declared last night. The agreement called for distribution between the Dominion and Province of costs involved in the seaway, but no legislative action was taken by the Conservative Government at the time as the United States Government failed to approve the treaty for development of the St. Lawrence by Canada and her neighbor.

In reiterating his opposition last night, Premier Hepburn declared: "If Ottawa thinks my Government is going to pass legislation to validate that agreement, they have another think coming. I certainly never will authorize any such legislation. And that's that."

Ottawa Agreement.

Under this agreement, the Dominion was to assume the cost of works for navigation purposes, the province was to pay for power production structures and equipment, and the two governments were to divide on a pre-arranged basis the cost of works for use as joint navigation and power facilities. The only reservation to Ontario's full right to Canada's share of the power flow resulting from the development of the international rapids section was that Ontario was to provide at cost to the Dominion such power as might be required for the operation of navigation works or for related purposes.

This agreement was announced jointly by Prime Minister Bennett and then Provincial Premier, Hon. George S. Henry. At the 1933 Legislature session Mr. Henry was ready, it is understood, to introduce legislation to ratify the agreement, but, on the reported request of Mr. Bennett, held his hand. Considerable opposition to the United States end of the seaway development had arisen at Washington and Mr. Bennett is said to have feared that any legislative move by Ontario might create the impression abroad that Canada was overly-anxious to get on with the job, and that Washington oppositin might, as a result, increase. In any event, the Henry validating bill got no farther. Whatever Mr. Henry had in mind for the 1934 session may never be known. The United States Senate ditched the seaway late in March, and after that action Ontario—if it had a bill prepared — probably felt there was no justification for proceeding any further.

ROME, Oct. 24. — (C.P.)—Thirteen was an unlucky number for every lawyer in Italy to-day. That is the percentage their fees will be reduced if the bill Minister of Justice Pietro de Francisco presented to the Chamber of Deputies is approved.

CHICAGO'S FAIR NEARS CLIMAX

Over 38,000,000 Have Visited $10,000,000 Spectacle in Its 2-Year Run.

FINAL FIREWORKS OCT. 31.

CHICAGO, October 24 (A.P.).—Another week and Chicago's World's Fair, a Century of Progress, will be history.

The $10,000,000 spectacle will end its two-year run with its most pretentious fireworks display on the night of October 31.

Nero-like, the doomed Fair fiddles away its remaining hours and carries on its resolve to die in a blaze of glory. Its closing event will be Chicago's biggest Hallowe'en party, with all concessions and exhibitors taking part.

When the gates close at midnight, October 31, more than 38,000,000 paying guests will have been admitted. Of these 22,565,859 passed through the turnstiles last year. The 15,000,000th visitor of 1934 is expected to-day.

The end of the Fair will see many of the 30,000 persons now employed within the ground treading the pavements in search of new jobs.

From a financial viewpoint, the Fair has been the most successful of its kind ever held, M. M. Tveter, Exposition Comptroller said to-day. On November 1 another payment will be made on the Fair's $10,000,000 bond issue, bringing the total returned to bondholders to 94 per cent., exclusive of interest payments.

KINGSFORD-SMITH FAILS IN TAKE-OFF FOR HONOLULU

SUVA, Fiji Islands, Oct. 24.—(A P)—A false start of the big plane Lady Southern Cross delayed the flight of Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith and Captain P. G. Taylor to Honolulu until tomorrow.

An attempted take-off from nearby Naselai Beach this afternoon failed when the plane ran into shallow water. The Lady Southern Cross was eventually hauled to safety.

He tentatively set the start of the 3,197 miles over water flight to the Hawaiian Islands at 1 p.m., Thursday (8 p.m., Wednesday, E.S.T.)

They safely negotiated the first 1,760 miles from Brisbane, Australia, Sunday, and after [illegible] delayed by a tropical downpour moved the plane to Naselai Beach.

"It is an entirely new 'strain' of Yeast..

much stron quicker-acti

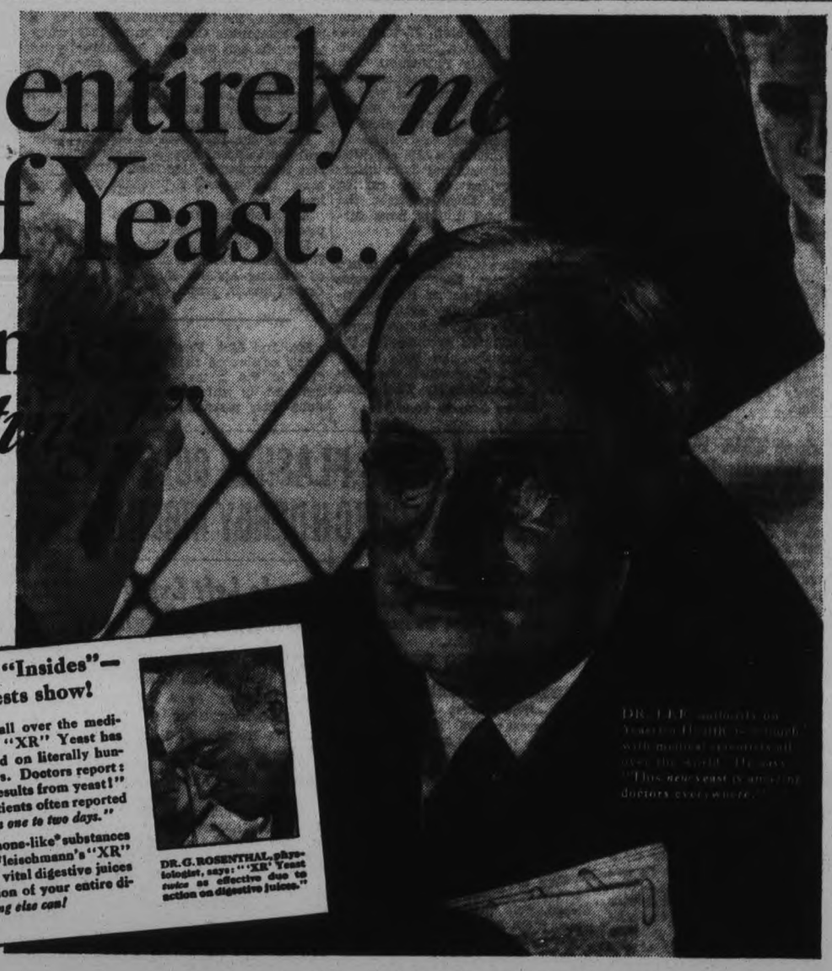
explains

DR. R. E. LEE

—prominent director of Fleischmann Health Research



...speeds Digestive Juices, strengthens "Insides"—important tests show!

IN 25 leading clinics all over the medical world, the new "XR" Yeast has been thoroughly tested on literally hundreds of stubborn cases. Doctors report: "Never before such results from yeast!" "Remarkable!" "Patients often reported that they felt better in one to two days."

The reason is: Hormone-like* substances abundant in this new Fleischmann's "XR" Yeast stimulate your vital digestive juices and the muscular action of your entire digestive tract as nothing else can!

DR. G. ROSENTHAL, physiologist, says: "'XR' Yeast twice as effective due to action on digestive juices."

Corrects constipation, indigestion and related conditions faster. Rich in hormone-like* substances. (Newly added Vitamin "A" helps combat colds, too!)

HAVE YOU TRIED IT? Everybody is talking about the new "XR" Yeast. From hundreds of questions, Dr. Lee answers these:—

1. Just what is "XR" Yeast?

It's a new, stronger "strain" of fresh yeast—a new variety—discovered by a famous bacteriologist in a great medical college. It acts more vigorously . . . faster!

2. Why is it Important to Health?

A majority of common health troubles come from a slowing up of your digestive juices . . . and digestive action.

*"XR" Yeast, through its richness in hormone-like substances (natural body "activators") stimulates these juices to flow faster and strengthens the digestive muscles from the stomach on down.

Your food is thus better "churned"—digested—moved through your body faster. Indigestion, that "stuffed" feeling after meals—and constipation—soon go!

3. Does it contain any Drugs?

No! It's a food. Entirely unlike harsh cathartics which act often by irritation! New "XR" Yeast "normalizes" you . . . corrects constipation, etc., naturally.

4. Does the Skin clear quicker?

Yes! By clearing you out "inside" "XR" Yeast purifies your blood. Actually, your skin gains "tone," becomes healthier. Pimples, boils and related disorders of the skin disappear sooner.

5. How about frequent Headaches?

Poisons absorbed from the intestines, or (as some doctors hold) constipation pressure on abdominal nerves, cause many headaches. "XR" Yeast clears up the underlying condition. Headaches often cease.

6. Do Colds occur less frequently?

"XR" Yeast combats colds by cleansing the system—and by supplying newly added Vitamin A, the "infection-preventing" vitamin! Each cake is also rich in Vitamins B, D, G—four vitamins!

START TO EAT IT NOW!

. . . 2 cakes a day—plain or dissolved in one-third glass of water—preferably half an hour before meals. If you're taking cathartics, discontinue them gradually. Eat Fleischmann's "XR" Yeast regularly and after you've got quick results . . . until you're thoroughly well! Buy 6 cakes (for the first 3 days) and start now.

"Acts quicker!" says Mrs. Kinneer

"It is more efficacious," writes Mrs. Mabel Kinneer. "Several years ago my doctor prescribed yeast to 'regulate' me . . . my improvement was remarkable. Lately, I felt sluggish and nervous again. I ate the new 'XR' Yeast . . . now I feel wonderful. It acts quickly. I'm telling my friends."

(As good as ever for baking!)

COUPLE WHO MISTRUSTED BANKS CHANGE MIND WHEN HOARD IS LOST

Neighborhood Youths Investigate Blanket Covered Windows—Nab $7,000.

ALL BUT $260 RECOVERED

NEW YORK, Oct. 24 (A.P.) — Banks, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Burdi decided to-day, are better than strong boxes after all.

It wasn't always so. Just a few weeks ago, the Burdis had so little faith in banks that they transferred $7,000—their fruit of the past; their store for the future—from a bank to an oaken strong box in their own home.

Even then they didn't feel secure. They entered and left the house stealthily. Every night they pinned a blanket over the window. They mistrusted their own neighbors.

That mistrust was repaid. The neighbors, who always knew the Burdis as a patient couple suspected and its secret was penetrated.

They returned home from work one night to find their strong box ripped open, their money gone.

They took a cab to the police station. The officers told them it looked like a neighborhood job; a good chance to get back their seven precious $1,000 bills and the $500 in small bills they had added to their little hoard.

This gave the Burdis hope. They watched three neighborhood youths who blossomed forth in sudden and inexplicable prosperity. They communicated their suspicions to the police.

The boys, of course, denied it. But a shrewd officer, questioning the boys, said to one of them:

"It's no use, son, the girl friend talked."

It was a good hunch. It worked. There was a girl friend, though she didn't know about the robbery. The boys told.

Digging in a coal pocket in Hoboken, the officers recovered most of the money, buried in an old coffee pot. Another $1,240 was recovered from the young woman to whom one of the boys had entrusted it, without telling her what was in the box.

The boys face the police lineup and court.

But the Burdis are happy. As soon as he gets his money—all but $260 of it—from the property clerk, Burdi told detectives, he's going straight to the bank.

checked. But for winning the speed race Scott and Black got $50,000 and a $2,500 gold cup.

Aviation followers were enthusiastic over the flights of the first three planes in from England and the thrilling race for second place between the Dutch and American pilots.

U.S. Team Average 120 M.P.H.

Turner's average speed for the flight was 120 miles an hour.

Motor trouble slowed up the plane's progress across Australia when it had an excellent chance for second place, while the Dutch were bogged in the mire at Albury, only 170 miles from Melbourne.

John W. Dye, American consul, welcomed the fliers and introduced them to the crowd. Turner and Pangborn stood up in the plane and smiling happily, acknowledged the greetings.

Their appearance was in great contrast to that of the well-groomed Dutch pilots. Both had not shaven since they left England Saturday morning and looked tired, despite their cheerfulness.

In answer to loud demands for a speech, Turner said:

"Hello friends and Australians. We are glad the flight is over. Thank you."

"Our first impression of Melbourne is a very good one," said Pangborn. "I suppose we will see a lot of you in the next few weeks."

Both then went to the hangar and refreshed themselves with beer. Reappearing, each briefly addressed the crowd again.

"It was a great trip, but I don't want to make another right away," Turner admitted. Pangborn said the trip reminded him of the one he made in 1931 when he flew around the world, but added "This was a much harder job. We were in the ship all the time."

Their wireless operator, Reid Nichols, said "It was a long trip and a very tiring one and I am glad it is over."

Sir Macpherson Robertson, Australian millionaire who donated prizes for the Derby, announced he was sponsoring a race from Melbourne to Tasmania and invited Derby fliers to enter. A prize of $2,500 will be posted.

Britishers in 4th Place.

Fourth position in the air Derby is held by Cathcart Jones and Ken W. Waller of England who took off at 2.46 p.m. (11.46 p.m. Eastern Standard Time on Tuesday) from Port Darwin for Charleville. Their plane is a duplicate of Scott's De Haviland Comet.

The Americans, John H. Wright and John Polando, were last reported flying over the Persian Gulf from Bagdad.

Latest positions of others still in the race included: Squadron Leader Malcolm MacGregor and Henry Waller of New Zealand, left Singapore at 2.45 a.m. (E.S.T.); Lieutenant M. Hansen of Denmark and Squadron Leader D. E. Stodart of England left Allahabad, India, at about the same time; G. J. Melrose of Australia arrived at Jodhpur, India, at 2.11 a.m.

Flight-Lieutenant G. Shaw, a Briton, remained at Bushire, Persia, where the undercarriage of his plane was smashed in landing.

Scottish Cheesemakers to Study Canadian System.

Officials of the Milk Marketing Act in Scotland asked Mr. S. L. Joss during his recent visit there to make arrangements whereby they might send two men to Ontario to study our system of manufacture of factory cheese. They feel that the quality of their factory cheese is not quite up to that of Ontario cheese. They are anxious that their men be on hand at the beginning of the season.

The T. Eaton Company have donated a very fine clock, valued at $15.00, for competition among the cheesemakers of Campbellford district.

the road was icy with a central crown slightly sloping toward the railway. An inference that was mentioned during the trial was to the effect that the restive horses caused the sleigh to slide toward the track, causing the runners on the adjacent side to lodge in the trench.

Mr. Regan's contention was that the sectionmen in digging trench had thrown on to the street the ice and snow which they had chopped out, and further that this material caused the slope on which the runners slid into the track as the train was passing the sleigh. He argued that this was the major act of negligence on the part of the C.N.R. employees, and also that the engine crew was at fault in having noticed the frightened horses as the train approached the sleigh from behind, and not having done something to prevent the accident.

Mr. Laidlaw decided not to submit any evidence for the defence, and moved for non suit on the ground that there had been no evidence of negligence by the defendant company.

While this motion was being argued the jury was excluded from the court room, and an extended debate ensued between Mr. Regan, Mr. Laidlaw and His Lordship.

Mr. Justice Jeffrey, at that stage, declared that there was no evidence of the train crew having acted carelessly or negligently. The evidence showed that the engine had passed the sleigh which was struck by the fourth car. If it was proposed that every time enginemen saw restive or frightened horses they should stop their train, there would be a serious delay in the movement of freight, and railway traffic would be seriously inconvenienced.

At one point in the discussion His Lordship said: "The sleigh slid down to the ditch because of the icy condition of the road, and after the engine had passed on. There is not a scintilla of evidence to support the assertion that the runner of the sleigh lodged in the trench and the train ran down the sleigh."

A Statutory Right

Mr. Laidlaw declared that the railway had, by statue, a right to dig the trench, and they did so. It was incumbent on the plaintiffs to show that the trench had been dug in a careless or negligent manner. Mr. Laidlaw's argument was to the effect that the mishap was a "pure accident." He also remarked that the sleigh should have taken the farther and, in the circumstances, the safer side of the street, but Mr. Regan replied that it had been held in other trials that the driver of the sleigh was entitled to either side of the street.

"The only real difficulty I have," said His Lordship, "is in regard to whether the contents of the ditch were properly thrown onto the roadway. There is no evidence of negligent construction of the trench, and there is no evidence of negligence by the operators of the train. As to the excavated snow or ice having been thrown out on the highway, there is some evidence that this caused the accident in as much as the plaintiff Fox says that owing to the material being there on the highway it caused the sleigh in some manner to slide toward the trench. On that point I think there is sufficient evidence to go to the jury, and on that point I shall reserve my decision on the non suit."

Boy Jumped Off

George Gunter, son of the deceased, was riding on the sleigh as it turned into Alberta Street. He heard Mr. Fox say: "Here comes a train." Witness jumped off the sleigh and walked over to the sidewalk.

He noticed the front end of the sleigh turning in toward the train.

"It was not until after the engine had passed the horses and sleigh that the sleigh started to slide toward the train. I just got on the sidewalk when I heard the crash."

Witness said he did not see the runners get into the trench.

Mr. Laidlaw, in cross-examination, read a statement given by the witness to a C.N.R. claims agent three days after the accident. In the statement young Gunter, who is sixteen years old, said that the horses reared up, causing the front part of the sleigh to slide toward the track.

Gunter in his evidence declared that the horses turned out to avoid the train.

His Lordship: Why did you say in your statement that the horses reared up?

Witness: I thought it was, at first. But I knew afterward that they turned out.

"As the train went past the horses kept cutting up," the boy had also affirmed in the written statement.

"I don't remember saying that," he testified on the stand.

His Lordship: But you did read your statement before signing it.

Gunter: It is not true except that the horses were throwing up their heads.

He swore that he did not know why he got off the sleigh, and in the written statement he said: "I figured the horses might cut up so I got off."

Yesterday, the boy declared that explanation was not correct.

His Lordship: Surely you wouldn't sign something that was not true.

BUSINESS WOMEN'S CLUB TO BE FORMED

Business and Professional Women Are Asked to Attend.

A new activity at the Young Women's Christian Association is the projected formation of a Business and Professional Women's Club. All those interested in such an organization — and it should have a wide interest for local women and girls—are asked to attend a meeting at the Y.W.C.A. at eight o'clock on Friday evening.

F. E. Robson of Toronto has been secured as speaker of the evening, in the interests of organizing such a club. And it is hoped that Mrs. P. E. Foster, National Field Secretary of the Y.W.C.A., who is coming earlier in the week to address several meetings at the 'Y', will also be present to tell something of various clubs and their work throughout Canada.

Frederick E. Robson has, during a three-year period, travelled 72,000 miles in twenty-three countries, developing trade opportunities for British manufacturers. He is, therefore, a qualified and experienced investigator.

He has been an honored guest in many foreign lands, including Iceland, Finland, New Guinea, Palestine, Japan, China and Africa. Last year he went to Russia to investigate conditions in that land and their probable effect on the rest of the world. In Russia, he travelled over 5,000 miles and over 2,000 miles on Soviet ships. For five years, he and his wife have taken care of a Russian educationist and have thereby gained considerable knowledge of the Russian people and their language.

In his social work, he was president for five years of Central Neighborhood House, where foreigners are transmuted into Canadian citizens. He was for five years president of the Big Brother movement—taking care of and guiding underprivileged boys—and is therefore, a well qualified and sympathetic leader in social welfare work.

Mr. Robson is a Britisher, an ardent Imperialist and a Rotarian. He is president of the F. E. Robson Company, Limited, Trade Consultants, is vice-president of Ridpaths, Limited, and was for three years president of Loblaws Stores, Limited.

His background of world-travel, and his years of interest in welfare work and the study of many social and public problems, provide him with a wealth of knowledge and first-hand information of many lands as well as of the mysteries of the Soviet Union, which will form the subject of his address on Friday evening.

MRS. H. M. MOXON

(Examiner Correspondence)

MARMORA, Oct. 24.—The death occurred in Picton on Thursday, Oct. 18th of Annie, beloved wife of H. M. Moxon, former hardware merchant of that town.

Deceased was the daughter of the late John L. Aunger and Catherine Stanbury of Blairton and was born in Campbellford in the year 1867. After a short residence in Blairton, the late Mrs. Moxon moved to Picton where she accepted the position of telegraph operator.

Two sisters who survive her, Mrs. (Dr.) W. J. Sprague Barkers, N. Y. (Emma) and Mrs. Frank Tice Oswego, N.Y. (Belle) also were telegraph operators for a number of years. Y.; Harry, Ottawa; George, Marmora; William, Blairton and Lillian, Picton. The deceased had not been in good health for several years and the illness which proved fatal extended about eight weeks. During the Great War she assisted efforts through which comforts were sent to the soldiers. She was a skilled worker in embroidery and exhibited at fairs some years ago with much success.

The funeral took place at the Church of St. Mary Magdalene, Picton on Monday afternoon, the rector Rural Dean C. C. Winter officiating after which the cortege proceeded to Glenwood Cemetery for interment.

Out of town relatives attending the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Aunger, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Aunger, Mr. and Mrs. Will Aunger, and Mr. George Aunger.

Garvey, whose sudden death occurred in Detroit on Saturday last, was held from the residence of his sister-in-law, Mrs. James Drain, Victoria Street, on Tuesday. Rev. Father C. J. Phelan, of St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, celebrated Requiem Mass. Mr. Garvey was a former resident of this town, and was for many years connected with the Smith flour mills, and later with the Rathbon Lumber Co. He is survived by two sons, P. J. Garvey of Lindsay and John Garvey of Seattle, and four daughters: Mrs. Loveley of Detroit, Mrs. John Hogan of Williston, North Dakota, Mrs. G. J. Mickler of Toronto, and Miss Genevieve Garvey of Toronto. The pall-bearers were Messrs. Peter Corkery, Richard Cook, Patrick Collins, Robert Lee, Frank Lee and Patrick J. Anderson. LEONARD BRISBIN

ROSENEATH, Oct. 24 (Examiner Correspondence) — The funeral of the late Leonard Brisbin, who passed away on Monday (Thanksgiving Day) in his 76th year at his residence in the village of Roseneath to the United Church and was attended by a very large number of friends and relatives, who came from far and near to pay tribute to one who was highly respected by all who came in contact with him.

Deceased was the last surviving member of the Brisbin pioneer family and was born in Haldimand Township, near the village of Fenella on a farm which is widely known as the Brisbin homestead. A nephew, Cephas Brisbin now lives in the old home.

The late Mr. Brisbin was cheerful and helpful in disposition, a true neighbor and friend to those in need. He was quiet and unassuming in his manner and led a most consistent and beautiful life. He and his devoted helpmate (Cynthia Harper) were faithful members, in fact they were two of the pillars of the former Methodist Bethany Church which is better known as the Macklin Church.

About nine years ago Mr. and Mrs. Brisbin left the farm and came to live in retirement in this village. On February 26, 1933 they celebrated their 50th anniversary of their wedding day and were "at home" to a host of friends and neighbors who called to offer hearty congratulations.

During the service loved hymns of the deceased were sung "Jesus Lover of My Soul" and "Safe in the Arms of Jesus' and Mrs. L. W. Scott sang a solo appropriate to the occasion, "He wipes the tears from every eye." Rev. L. W. Scott spoke most impressively and sympathetically from Isaiah 64-6: "We all do fade as a leaf."

Who of us is there that does not love the beautiful spring, with its promise of new life and beauty, and such is the life of childhood. We watch with loving eyes, the little child growing, developing and maturing, to manhood or womanhood. And who of us is there, that does not feel a touch of sadness in autumn, when we see all nature, with a few exceptions, beginning to fade away, preparatory for the cold winter, which must follow.

Surviving are his sorrowing widow and two daughters, Mrs. Alex Brown, Roseneath and Mrs. Storey Redshaw of Oakville. His family predeceased are Frank who was killed at Grafton station a few years ago; Bessie, Mrs. E. Honey, Western Canada; Elma Brisbin and Ida, Mrs. J. Curtis, also his two sisters and one brother, Mrs. Henry Montgomery and Mrs. J. Cross and Henry Brisbin.

The pall-bearers were Messrs. Arthur McFiggin and Lawrence Isaac of Bomanton, Harry Mouncey, Albert Halstead, Charles Grigg and Wesley Pacey.

There were friends from Toronto, Cobourg, Oakville, Plainville, Harwood, Cold Springs, Baltimore, Castleton, Warkworth, Havelock, Fenella, Hastings and Bomanton.

Interment was made in Bethany (Macklin's) cemetery.

LARGE ATTENDANCE AT CHURCH SUPPER

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 24. (By Examiner Correspondent). — Between six and seven hundred people attended the fowl supper and musical entertainment at St. Johns United Church on Tuesday evening—and nobody was disappointed—the supper was excellent and the entertainment which followed just a little above the average. When one considered the price of admission, they began to realize what mass prodcction really meant, and the ladies of the congregation are receiving great praise for the appetizing appearance of their bountifully laden tables, one man remarking "that it was no wonder that there were so many happy homes in Campbellford when there were so many good cooks."

The musical part of the program under the capable direction of Mr. Albert Hazell, was all that could be desired. Miss Bernice Arbuckle, a talented elocutionist from Belleville, declighted the audience with her selections. The principal speaker for the occasion was P. C. McLaurin, principal of the Belleville Collegiate, who took for his subject "The Average Man." Others whose contributions were greatly appreciated were: Soloists, Miss Elva Mowat, George Lucy, Ionic Quartette—Messrs. Dr. H. O. Richardson, Major J. M. Bygott, Albert Hazell and Walter Henson; mixed quartette—Mrs. Dr. Richard. Miss Nellie Hoover, Walter Henson and Dr. H. O. Richardson; cornet solo by Captain Houslander. A joyous evening was brought to a close with the singing of the National Anthem.

Pleasing Program At Millbrook Meet

MILLBROOK, Oct. 24 (Examiner Correspondence)—The Young People's Society of Grace Presbyterian Church met on Monday at 8 p.m. instead of Tuesday as usual making the change out of deference to the fowl supper in the sister church, St. Andrew's, on the latter evening, the president, F. J. Deyell, taking the chair for the business and devotional period.

Gladys Bothwell assisted with the worship service and it was decided to hold the next regular meeting on Tuesday, November 13, with the missionary committee, Mrs. F. J. Deyell convenor, in charge. The Y.P.S. and the Sunday School are uniting for a big Hallowe'en party on October 30.

Dick Williams took the chair for the program which took the form of an illustrated address on "Formosa, the Beautiful," Jos. Thorndyke operating the lantern and over sixty beautifully-colored slides being shown. Among the facts made clear were the ownership by Japan, the second largest trees in the world being indigenous to the island, and the chief industry, camphor making. The latter part of the lecture was concerned with an outline of the life of the famous missionary, Dr. MacKay, and his successors in this foreign field.

The pastor, Rev. H. R. Williams, B.A., pronounced the blessing for dismissal following the singing of a missionary hymn.

From the earliest times music has been connected with the religious cult of all nations.

SEPARATE VOTE POSSIBLE.

The Examiner is indebted to A. B. Cunningham, whose letter appears elsewhere on this page to-day, for setting us right in the matter of a local option by-law and the amended act which now makes it possible for a vote to be taken on the beverage room question without affecting the status of Government liquor stores.

As Mr. Cunningham says, the original act would have prevented a separate vote, and we must admit that we overlooked the amendment that has so materially altered the situation.

The law now permits any community which does not wish the sale of beer by the glass to get rid of beverage rooms by passing a local option measure.

There are numerous complaints in regard to the present system; if the public is serious in this criticism and is sincerely desirous of getting rid of beverage rooms, it would seem that the way is open to secure the submission of a local option by-law and to carry it, if the present trend of public opinion is being interpreted correctly.

Developments along this line in the near future would not cause a great deal of surprise.

WHAT THE RACE SHOWS.

The Examiner heard the question asked more than once during the last few days, "What useful purpose is served by air races, such as the London to Melbourne contest?"

One obvious answer, of course, is that tests of this kind serve to demonstrate the possibility of fast air transportation service over long distances; in addition to encouraging engineers, pilots and manufacturers of aircraft to develop faster, more powerful and more durable machines and the technique of handling them to the best advantage.

Another advantage is pointed out by the Border Cities Star which stresses the fact that the England to Australia race illustrates the extent of the far-flung British Empire.

In this aerial derby across half the earth one condition was that the contestants had to stop at five definite control points en route—and every one of these points is in British-controlled territory.

First, the contestants were required to check in at Baghdad in Iraq, 2,551 miles from London, then they had to stop at Allahabad in India, 2,301 miles farther on, then jump another 2,200 miles to the British naval and air base at Singapore, from there 2,083 miles across the Indian Ocean to Darwin in northern Australia, another hop of 1,384 miles to Charleville in central Australia, and the final lap took them 786 miles to Melbourne.

The contestants, in fact, were under the Union Jack at every compulsory stopping point along the whole 11,323-mile route, surely an effective demonstration of the extent of the British Commonwealth of Nations.

AN ASTOUNDING PERFORMANCE.

The astounding flight from London to Melbourne of C. W. A. Scott and Campbell Black, two former officers of the Royal Air Force, ranks as one of the greatest achievements of a decade that has been marked by wonderful feats in aviation.

These intrepid Britishers, flying a machine manufactured in Britain and powered by British engines, covered the distance of 11,323 miles in a little less than three days; the hop from England to Port Darwin in the north of Australia being actually covered in not much over two days, cutting more than four days off the best previous mark for the flight, surely a performance bordering on the miraculous.

The endurance, the courage and the navigational skill of the two veteran British flyers speak for themselves in this magnificent effort; the daring pair went practically without sleep as their comet plane hurled itself over half the world at a rate of sustained speed never before equalled.

Their achievement has thrilled Britishers the world over as a convincing proof that Britain lacks neither the engineering skill to produce record-breaking aircraft or men of courage and endurance to drive such machines to victory.

The great showing of the Netherlands entrants, K. D. Parmentier and J. J. Moll, who finished second in the air marathon, should not be overlooked; their performance was perhaps a more convincing proof of the practicability of a regular passenger service between England and Australia than was the record-breaking dash of the winners, for the American-built Netherlands plane carried a complement of passengers, made regular stops throughout, and yet completed the long air voyage to Australia in much faster time than ever before done, except, of course, by Scott and Campbell.

THOSE BEER LICENSES.

The official explanation of the new beer licenses as made by Liquor Control Commissioner E. G. Odette includes a statement from the Commissioner that if any of the levies should prove to be unjust and the amount of beer purchased falls below the figure named adjustments can be made later on.

Beverage room proprietors, Mr. Odette explains, are to be charged a $300 license fee, and in addition, a tax of 5 per cent. on all the beer they purchase during the fiscal year exceeding $5,000.

The official notices sent to the hotelkeepers, however, contain no such explanation; in each case a definite amount is named and the applicant for a license is notified that he will have to pay a specific sum every three months during the next year.

Incidentally the levies applied to six local hotels—the seventh now in operation has not yet received notice—considered in the light of Mr. Odette's explanation that beverage rooms are being charged a $300 license fee and a five per cent. tax on their purchases exceeding $5,000, show that the Government expects these six places to buy $160,000 worth of beer during the next twelve months. Judging from the figures named in the official communication, the smallest amount that will be bought by any local beverage room will be $22,500 worth and the largest $35,000. It is safe to assume that the seventh place, if in operation, would buy at least $22,500 worth, so that altogether Peterborough's beverage rooms are evidently being counted upon by the Government to buy at least $182,500 worth of beer during the coming year.

This beer is, of course, bought by the hotels to be sold, and if it is retailed to the patrons of the beverage rooms at an advance of, say some 40 per cent. over the cost to the hotels, these figures mean that thirsty Peterboroughians and their neighbors from the surrounding countryside will be expected to spend on beer by the glass during the fiscal year 1934-35 a total of $255,500, which, added to the large amount spent in purchasing beer from the brewery warehouse, will make this community's outlay for the malt beverage run into quite conspicuous figures.

Peterborough spent on education last year—and the size of this expenditure comes in for criticism from many quarters—a little more than $286,000.

Yet apparently, according to the Government's method of estimating sales, we are going to spend within $30,000 of this amount next year on beer by the glass alone, to say nothing of what is spent for beer at the brewery warehouse and for liquor and wine at the Government store.

HUMAN NATURE.

The love of a bargain is so much a part of human nature that the recent decision by the British General Post Office to charge for long-distance calls at a fixed rate, regardless of distance, must have resulted in many unnecessary and uninspired conversations, notes the New York Sun. Prior to October 1 the average number of long-distance calls put through London between 7 p.m. and midnight was 1,700 a day. That might be represented as the norm. But on the evening of October 1, with the new rate in effect, more than 6,000 calls were put through in five hours. It is difficult to believe that all of the customers were speaking with the voice of necessity, but had theretofore subdued necessity to economy.

There will be jokes in England, and elsewhere, about the 420 calls to Aberdeen and the 540 to Glasgow and the 500 to Edinburgh that London reported on the first night of the change. That would seem to support the theory that the change was preponderantly economic in its effect. But no doubt Scottish residents of London are just as fond of a bargain as other folk. What impelled the new talkers to talk will interest economists, engineers, sociologists and the like. But the question of real interest is this: What did the 4,300 newcomers find to say that had to be said? The General Post Office was compelled to cut off most of the users of long-distance lines at the end of six minutes because of the number of calls, so that many and many a bargain hunter must have been hushed just when he was having his brightest thought.—St. Catharines Standard.

TRADE WITH NEW ZEALAND.

If the chairman of the Meat Producers' Board of New Zealand, Mr. David Jones, is to be believed, that Dominion is far from satisfied with the manner in which Canada is carrying out her part of the Empire trade agreements as they affect articles exported from New Zealand.

Arriving in Victoria a few days ago from a trans-Pacific voyage, Mr. Jones is reported to have remarked that "New Zealand is getting tired of the way in which Canada is carrying on." "Unless the spirit of the Ottawa agreements is more liberally interpreted in this country, it will not be long before we will be compelled to adopt measures which will be more to our advantage," he added. "Canada is selling us a wide variety of things under the trade agreement and British preferences, but has practically closed the market to our export commodities, notably butter. There should be some reciprocity. We are beginning to believe it would be more satisfactory for all concerned if our butter, for instance, to this country were admitted under a fixed tariff. We would then know what to expect and do. As it is now, the shipments are made and we never know when it is going to be marketed."

As against the contention of Mr. Jones that there is no reciprocity in Canadian-New Zealand trade at the present time, we have the report of C. M. Croft, the Canadian Trade Commissioner stationed in Auckland, that during the first six months of 1934 there was a gain in both imports from Canada and exports to this Dominion. Canada's exports to New Zealand rose from £444,535 to £671,745, while Canada's imports increased from £241,048 to £511,920. There would appear to have been a much larger gain in Canada's purchases from New Zealand than there was a gain in Canada's sales to that Dominion, and while the balance is still in favor of this country, it is not particularly pronounced.

It is true, as Mr. Jones asserts, that there have been difficulties in regard to New Zealand's shipments of butter to the Canadian market, and all attempts to reach agreement upon this score seem to be useless. As long as Canada also produces butter in the volume that is now ruling, it will be exceedingly difficult for a mutually acceptable understanding to be reached between the two Dominions. New Zealand naturally thinks that she should be allowed to market part of her surplus butter output in Canada, and Canada just as naturally thinks that her first duty is to protect her butter producers from New Zealand importations. As things now look, the only time when New Zealand will be able to market her butter in this country in the volume that she believes she should do so is when there is a shortage of butter of domestic production here.

Apart from the question of butter, trade between Canada and New Zealand seems to be moving along quite satisfactorily. If we are selling more goods to

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

British pilots, British engines and a British plane have combined to produce the most amazing speed flight in history.

Newspaper commentators are busy trying to figure out Premier Bennett's future moves, but the Prime Minister, in maintaining a discreet silence, is not giving them much help.

Beverage room proprietors, faced by new and unexpectedly large license fees, are by no means convinced that the depression is over.

Hotelmen are being asked to submit a photograph of their premises in making application for a new license. That is probably because inspectors with so much territory to cover can't get round often enough to identify all the standard hotels.

With aviators going as high in the air, as far and as fast through the air, this is indeed a remarkable era.

ALL IS CHANGED.

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Sir, — Over half a century ago, Mrs. Catherine Parr Trail, who is well known to the people of Peterborough and vicinity, sat at the window of Westove residence on the 20th of May, and watched the birds as they twittered and built their nests in the budding trees and shrubs made utterance to this wonderful practical thought. I have often thought that before sin marred the harmony of nature the birds and animals were not afraid of man, but rejoiced in his presence. That Adam understood their language, and they knew His will, obeying the voice of their Master. Now, all is changed. The timid and defenceless flee from man, as from an enemy. His presence awakens hatred and fear in the wild denizens of the forest, while the roar of the lion and the howl of the wolf inspire his dread.

It was not so once, and there is a promise that the old harmony shall be restored. Now, if those in high places, both in church and state, would be more practical and less theoretical, would be more democratic and less autocratic, would be leaders and not bosses, would be more anxious to lift up than to trod down, we would soon have a better world. I hope that our young people, whom as an average our city can well be proud of, will receive some inspiration from these few thoughts and be example to us who are older.

From a friend who has passed the year for the space.—I remain,

W. H. MERRELL.

NO CONFUSION.

Peterborough, Ont.,
October 22, 1934.

Editor Examiner.

Dear Sir,—In your editorial today you express the general opinion that the beverage rooms cannot be voted out without the liquor stores going out also. This is quite true of the original act, but the act has been amended to meet the present situation.

The amended act provides four separate questions that may be submitted to the people.

Question 1.—The abolition of all places for sale of liquor. This includes both stores and beverage rooms.

Question 2.—Provides for sale of wine and beer in standard hotels and other premises.

Question 3.—Provides for sale in standard hotels only.

Question 4.—Prohibits beverage rooms entirely and does not affect liquor stores in any particular.

Only one of these questions can be submitted at any one time, so there is no confusion of issues.

The fact that we can dispose of the beverage room without including the liquor store meets The Examiner's view, which is undoubtedly the desire of the public in general.

The beverage room from a business standpoint is seriously cutting into retail trade, increasing relief, affecting rents and taxes.

This economic barnacle was forced upon this community without their consent and in spite of strong protest. The Examiner's stand in the matter is most commendable, and it is only a normal right that the people be given an opportunity to protect themselves and say whether they desire its continuance or not.

Apart from its moral aspect and that it is the illegitimate child of the political parties, it should be submitted to the people at the municipal election that their verdict after a few months' trial may be given.

It is of more importance than daylight saving, and the people should deal with it.

Yours truly,

A. B. CUNNINGHAM.

THE GIRL WHO LOOKS LIKE HEPBURN.

Did you notice that young girl who just got on that street car? That youngster, hardly more than a child—not more than thirteen or fourteen years old—the one with the big mop of hair and the skinny legs? . . . You didn't? That's a pity, because she looks like Katharine Hepburn.

Honest she does! Almost exactly like Katharine Hepburn. The same build, the same awkwardness, same nice eyes, same tangle of hair, same freckles, same everything, just like the movie actress.

Does she know she looks like the lady you see on the screen and in the magazines and on enormous posters in front of the theatres? . . . Certainly she knows . . . How could she help knowing? Didn't you hear those youngsters that were with her? They were calling her "Katie" and "Hepburn" and she was answering as if they were her own names. She knows, all right, and you can't help wondering what influence that resemblance has on her life, her character, her happiness.

Though it must be quite a chore keeping up with an actress you don't know and don't see except in stories on a film . . . One day you're an aviator. Next month you're Jo in a "Little Women" story. And a few months later you're a spitfire hill-billy girl with a mountain accent . . . And all the time, in your background, you're just Mr. and Mrs. Smith's little girl, that sort of skinny little thing who was just one of the children in the neighborhood until an actress named Hepburn became well known.

It's a funny kind of life, isn't it? A life in which your happiness can be shaped by such an accident as that. When a little girl becomes the most popular one in the crowd because she looks like a young woman who becomes for a while a great success in the movies? And all the other little girls gather around and make a lot of her—and the little boys tease you about it but they all want to dance with you—and a miracle like that can happen to you . . . It's too bad you didn't see that youngster. You'd have enjoyed her happiness, the glow in her cheeks, the light in her eyes, and you wouldn't have begrudged her the tiniest scrap of her joy in being alive and looking like Katharine Hepburn.

By FRANK H. WILLIAMS

WINGHAM, ONTARIO.

This town takes its name from a town in Kent, England, and since local history is not certain as to when or how the town was named it is presumed one of the early settlers either came from Wingham, England, or treasured happy remembrances of the place.

Wingham was established as a village about 1870 and was finally incorporated as a town in 1879.

Havelock

In addition to the regular meeting of the Havelock Albion Club on Thursday evening last week in the club's quarters, a fine large time was had by about fifty members and honorary members at a "hamburg supper" and smoker. To make preparations for the coming winter hockey was the real object of the big "feed"; but so far the park board hasn't made any plans for a water supply for the rink.

A few small business matters were dealt with at the meeting. In the absence of President H. W. Ketchen, G. W. Kennedy occupied the chair. F. M. McLaughlin acted in the absence of the secretary-treasurer, D. K. Chiles.

Perseverance has always been a strong point in the club's favor and they purpose using every inch in their attempt to get some action from the reeve and park board with regard to providing a good skating rink this winter, before it is too late.

The progress of the most energetic executive appointed to get action will be watched with much interest. Certain of the members are determined they will not pass another winter like last year.

After the supper a fine impromptu program entirely of club talent was much enjoyed. W. D. Hutchinson presided at the piano. The Miller brothers, "Duke" McMullen, E. Prod, O. Parcells, amused the large gathering with old favorites, modern and classical numbers as well as favorite parodies. Messrs. E. Prod and F. M. Voyer proved efficient chefs when it came to preparing the hamburg supper.

Dr. G. H. Gardner, H. T. Mathison and P. Yuill were among the honorary members present.

ON THIS DATE

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

OVER NIAGARA FALLS IN A BARREL.

On this date (October 24), 1901, a woman went over Niagara Falls in a barrel, the first person to accomplish the feat. Mrs. Anna Edson Taylor, a widow, rowed out from the Canadian shore to the swift rapids above the falls, entered the specially prepared barrel, said good-bye to her boatmen and consigned herself to fate. She was lucky. She got through alive. Eighteen minutes after she was started on her journey the barrel was caught below the falls by men in boats, towed to the shore and opened. She was uninjured and conscious but declared that the moment she felt the jump over the cataract she lost her senses, and only recovered when she felt the barrel being rescued. Thanking God for her safe passage she warned others not to attempt to repeat the foolish trip.

But her warning was unheeded. In 1911, one Bobby Leach, after twice leaping from the arch bridge and going through the whirlpool, made up his mind to try the barrel feat. He also won out, but at the cost of a broken jaw and a fractured arm which kept him in hospital for three months. Nine years later he dropped 3,000 feet in a parachute from an airplane, landing on the brink of the Horseshoe falls. Had he been a few yards out in his calculations he would have been beyond rescue. Fate had its revenge on Bobby. He went out to New Zealand to do some of his stunts, but had to wait some days. Going down a street in Auckland he slipped on an orange peel and died from a fractured skull!

If you are interested in the various fool stunts at Niagara Falls, let me commend an article on the subject in The Canadian Magazine for October by Percy Cole. It is illustrative of what some people will do for notoriety.

GENERAL GAINS MINING BOARD

Noranda Closes With Net Advance of 75 Cents After Early Session Decline.

BIG GOLDS STRONG.

TORONTO, Oct. 24. — (C.P.)— Heavy buying this afternoon pulled the mining section of the Toronto Exchange out of the decline which hit the market yesterday and at the close gains were general over the Board. Noranda absorbed an abnormal amount of selling in the morning session on a price decline to 31.75 and then recovered to close at 33.75 for a net gain of 75 cents. Most of the big golds and most of the secondary issues closed with something to the good.

BAPTISTS SHOW $1030 DEFICIT

Home, Foreign Missions to be Dropped Unless Revenues Increase.

CHALLENGE TO MEMBERS.

LONDON, Ont., October 24 (C.P.) —With a deficit for the year ending September 30, 1934, of $1,030.46 the Union of Regular Baptist Churches of Ontario is faced with a problem that must be answered at once, the Rev. W. Atkinson, secretary-treasurer, told the convention in session at the Central Baptist Church to-day. The Rev. Mr. Atkinson had just completed the annual report of the Executive Board of the Union, in which all financial statistics for the year were set forth. The report was adopted.

"Our people are only averagling four cents per member per Sunday," he said, "I am ashamed to admit it. What is wrong with our Baptist people? Have they no interest in our foreign and home missions? Have they no interest in the great work of the church? Only as the membership stands behind this Union, can the Union go on."

The speaker said that it was a question whether instead of $13,000 the membership should be asked for nearer to $22,000 this year.

"If we must reduce our expenditures in our work. We must cut home missions and foreign missions. God knows we do not want to do that."

Receipts Under $12,000.

He said that from the 6,100 members in 50 churches, less than $12,000 had been received. "If ever there was a time when this Union needs to take stock, it is now," he challenged.

"Yesterday afternoon, I was glad to give up my speaking time voluntarily when it seemed the Holy Spirit had spoken to all in this gathering. There were confessions of change of heart from all over the convention hall.

"And so I was convinced for the time, but it was with great interest that I watched the collection plate when it was passed last night. Frankly, I never saw so many nickles of the large variety on one plate."

The Rev. Alexander Thomson of Toronto, said that what was needed was a genuine revival in the hearts of the church membership.

The report proper was adopted, and the suggestions made were were referred to the Budget Committee which is to report to-morrow.

OILS AND NICKEL IN STRONG DEMAND

Food and Miscellaneous Shares Shares Also Harbor Fair Representation of Gains.

TORONTO, Oct. 24 (C.P.) — Industrial share prices improved as the session advanced to-day and in good afternoon buying the morning losses, with a few exceptions, were erased. Volume spread from the oils, nickel, and the Canada Cement shares to some of the beverage issues, Ford "A" and Consolidated Bakeries. Food and miscellaneous shares harbored a fair representation of gains and the Canada Cement stocks, in active last-hour buying made up part of the early losses.

WALL STREET

NEW YORK, Oct. 24 (AP) — Stocks backed and filled rather nervously to-day. Moderate forenoon recessions were largely cancelled in the late trading as buying in various specialties lifted prices generally. Wilson Company "A", Douglas Aircraft and Spiegel-May-Stern rose 1 to 2 points net. U.S. Steel, General Motors and American Telephone showed fractional gains in the last hour. Transfers approximated 600,000 shares.

FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

Italian Plane Mark Official at 440 M.P.H

DESENZANO, Italy, Oct. 24.—(AP)—An official timing of 709.209 kilometres (440.6759 miles) an hour was established today for yesterday's seaplane flight of Lieut. Francesco Agello, nicknamed "The Crazy Boy" of Italian aviation.

The new record—the fastest man ever has travelled is 97 kilometres an hour faster than the previous record of 682.076 kilometres 423.822 miles) an hour, also held by Agello. He established that record here on April 10, 1933.

Agello received a promotion today and said that now he was able to marry.

BROKERS' CALLS COST $20,000

23 'phones in the office, he testified.

Dighton said most of the information published in the paper, was supplied by himself. Some of it, he said, had come from various sources. "Obviously," commented the commissioner, "the way the paper was got out was to give the impression it was purely an unbiased newspaper."

Subscription rates were quoted at $10 per year, Dighton said but some times 15,000 copies were sent out free of cost.

Dighton said he had never been in a mine and had only been associated with a mining company as a secretary for six months prior to his joining the White Company. He admitted he had given advice to clients and advised them when to buy and sell. Some times, he said, he would recommend sale of one stock to purchase another.

Dighton said he advised purchase of McFarlane Long Lac Mining Company stock into which Mr. Godfrey said an investigation "also probably will develop."

Information concerning the company, Dighton said had been obtained from its officials and Dighton said he had based his advice to clients on this information. "I'm not qualified or prepared to say," Dighton replied when commission counsel J. R. Stirrett questioned him as to identity of the editor. He thought, however, White would be considered editor, "in that he pays for and publishes the paper." He could not place responsibility for the editorials.

"Tipster Sheet"

The paper, described by the commissioner, as a "tipster sheet", was strong in its praise of the McFarlane property and advised clients to share in "the most outstanding bargain in the amazingly rich find."

Dighton said he could not say for what purpose the paper was published, and the commissioner interrupted.

"If you haven't enough intelligence to see this whole scheme is to promote sale of McFarlane Long Lac then you haven't enough intelligence to be editing a newspaper."

The commissioner also said he was anxious to find how the price was increased from between 25 to 28 cents to 45 and 50 cents.

As far as Dighton was concerned he knew only White as head of the Company but added that "Mr. Applebaum" was around the office "most of the time", and often gave instructions to the staff.

Dighton said he sometimes "worked day and night, employing five stenographers," providing information to the public.

Albert Ackerley, 26 year old "advertising man," said he "had to fill the pages", of the paper and was responsible for selection of "impartial news items". He denied responsibility for any editorials but said he had aided in preparing a circular, the mailing list for which some times reached 18,000 copies weekly.

Identifies Statesment

Inspector Thomas W. Cousans of the Ontario Police, who has been in charge of the police investigation in company with Detective Gavin Monahan of the City Detective Department since the cleanup was launched by Acting Crown Attorney Norman F. Newton some weeks ago, was called to the witness box to identify a statement made by him by Erskine, before he had been placed under arrest. It was taken from Erskine, on Sept. 22.

The statement was to the effect that Erskine first came in contact with Foley when he went to see the lawyer about some garage accounts, which were outstanding and collectable."

The statement read: "One day he asked me if I knew a Mrs. Mac Turnbull. He later told me to go to her house on Lorne Avenue. When I arrived it was dark and there was only one light burning. I was in the back yard when I saw a man climb over the rear fence. He klocked at the door and was admitted by Mrs. Turnbull.

"He remained in the house about 15 minutes. After he left the house I went to the door and Mrs. Turnbull asked me if I had seen a man in the yard. I said I had seen a man climb over the fence both before he entered the house and after he came out.

Not for Husband's Ears

"Mrs. Turnbull then told me I wasn't to tell her husband anything about the incident. When I later saw Foley he asked me about the man and I told him I had seen him. On another occasion when I was going to see a Mr. Fisher who works at the Ontario Hospital about a garage account, I saw two cars parked on the road near the hospital. Mrs. Turnbull was in the back seat of one of the cars, while Mr. A. Was standing beside the hood at the front. As I drove past them, Mrs. Turnbull shouted "Is that you, Erskine, you damned sucker?"

The statement continued with references about papers being sent to Foley's summer home after Mr. A. had started a civil law suit to recover money paid.

FOUR CASES OF SCARLET FEVER

Patients Three Small Children and Adult, All of Mild Type.

ESCAPED OUTBREAKS.

All of a mild type, four cases of scarlet fever are reported in the city by the medical officer of health. The patients are three children and one adult, who are all being treated at their respective homes, which have been placed under quarantine restrictions.

Commenting on the fact that Peterborough is happily free of any dangerous outbreak of infectious diseases, Dr. G. Murray Fraser stated: "We are very free of communicable disease just now, and are still fortunate in being without any cases of infantile paralysis."

The M.O.H. believed that one of the reasons why Peterborough had escaped an outbreak of infantile paralysis, which was quite severe in some sections of the province, was that a large propertion of the children of the city had been immunized against diphtheria. In support of his contention, Dr. Fraser quoted Dr. A. R. Foley, epidemiologist, Provincial Bureau of Health, Quebec, as follows:

"Dealing with the question which is repeatedly asked, is it possible that diphtheria immunization should protect against poliomyelitis (infantile paralysis), or decrease its virulence? Dr. Foley points out that poliomyelitis appears to be less severe in counties where a large propertion of the children were immunized against diphtheria. He takes as an example two groups of counties at an equal distance from the focus of the epidemic in the city of Quebec. It was found that the counties where no immunization against diphtheria had been done showed a morbidity rate of 47.2 per cent. higher than the immunized counties."

TRUSTEES ACTED ON THEIR OWN DEFENCE CLAIMS

B. D. Hall Claims Collins Trustees Well Informed as to Their Liabilities.

PURCHASE OF BONDS.

Testimony by Basil Hall supporting the defence claim that the three Collins trustees acted strictly on their own judgment and were well informed of the liabilities of trustees in making purchases of so-called non-trustee bonds, featured the case of the executors of the J. D. Collins estate against B. D. Hall and E. H. D. Hall as the hearing proceeded before Mr. Justice Kingstone in Supreme Court this morning. Taking the box shortly after 3.30 o'clock yesterday, he continued his testimony in answer to questions from his counsel, R. S. Robertson, K.C., throughout this morning.

Discussing the purchase of the 200 St. Clair Avenue, Limited, bonds, Durham Collins, one of the trustees, seemed to favor the purchase of them since the purchasers would not have to pay a commission on the transaction. Mr. Hall testified. The witness said he had explained to Durham that he received his remuneration through a 3 per cent. commission from the Stewart Scully bond house in Toronto.

Did Not Like Them.

Mr. Hall said he told Mr. Collins he did not like the St. Clair bonds on account of sinking fund provisions in connection with them. He related further that his dealing with the St. Clair bonds at that time was the first occasion on which he had had anything to do with apartment house securities.

When a purchase of St. Clair bonds was finally made, $1,100 worth in January, 1926, a further discussion of trustee investments with Durham Collins took place. Mr. Hall said he pointed out again the nature of the step the trustees were considering. He asked Durham if Alexander knew of his plan, and was told that Alexander knew and was in favor. Durham Collins said on making the decision to purchase the bonds that, even though the trustees were taking a risk in buying non-trustee securities, nobody could blame them for doing their best.

The idea of making the purchase of Clarendon Apartments bonds which transpired in May, 1927, originated in April. Durham, in conversation during that month, spoke of the fact that they had a Toronto General Trust bond was maturing, and said we ought to see what we can do with it, Mr. Hall said.

He told of an effort on behalf of Mr. Collins to have the debenture renewed at its original rate of interest. Unable to do that, he sought a good mortgage in which to put the $5,000, on Durham's instructions. No satisfactory mortgage could be arranged at the time, so Durham said the money might as well be put in Clarendon Apartment bonds, the witness related.

"I told him it wasn't right to do it just like that. I told him the other trustees should be consulted and he agreed that that would be the proper procedure."

The purchase of the Cladendon bonds was made by the trustees with a full realization of the risky nature of the action as trustees, he continued. Durham said they wanted to increase the trust incomes as much as possible and were willing to take a few chances.

A decision of the trustees to make a future purchase of Clarendon Apartment bonds and some newly-issued Clarendon Property bonds was reached by the three trustees in Mr. Hall's office on December 10, 1927, further evidence indicated. Durham Collins had said they would like some more Clarendon Apartment bonds. Mr. Hall told them that the issue was sold out and that it had been oversubscribed, but that he had some himself. He told them that the first apartment had been such a success, according to information he had, that the owner was going to put up another apartment across the street, and that securities in the new venture, Clarendon Properties, were available. He showed them a prospectus of the Clarendon Properties.

Mr. Hall said he went to the safety deposit box in his office to ascertain what total of Clarendon Apartments bonds he owned. When he came back, the trustees had decided on their purchases, he said.

"I bought $6,000 of Claredon Apartment bonds at $101, and charged them $102. Including my own bonds, I got them $18,000 of the Apartment bonds. I bought $36,000 Clarendon property bonds for them from the J. A. G. Clark Company by 'phone. The bonds came down on December 14."

"Was there anything said about a commissions on the transactions for Durham?" Mr. Robertson asked.

"Well, Durham had been thinking of going into the bond business."

"We heard about that in earlier evidence."

Share in Commission

"He asked if he could share in commissions with me. I told him I couldn't share the commissions on Dominion of Canada bonds but I could give him some commission on the apartment bonds."

"Did Alex know you were going to share commission with Durham?"

"Alex. asked me if I was going to give Durham a commission. I said 'Yes.'"

"I understand that Durham shared commissions from the time of that big transaction—the $56,000—onward," Mr. Robertson said.

"Yes."

Nothing to Do With Affair

Concluding his examination, Mr. Robertson asked later about E. H. D. Hall's connection with the trust dealings and transactions. The witness said his father had practically nothing to do with the affairs beyond, possibly, endorsing the occasional cheque.

Commencing his cross examination, Mr. McCarthy probed Mr. Hall's activity in the bond business. In reply to questions, he stated he started dealing in bonds by selling war bonds during the war. Profits from any business done were shared in the firm. Previous to 1924, the firm advertised under the firm name as being in the bond business.

Toward the end of 1923, E. H. D. Hall expressed the opinion that the firm was wasting time dealing in bonds, Mr. Hall said. "After that, I took all the commission." He said he continued to take all commissions until the admission of Stevenson to the firm in 1929.

U. S. FLEET TRIES DASH TO PACIFIC

Officers Hope to Rush 88 Ships Through Panama Canal in 40 Hours.

SURPRISE MOVE.

CRISTOBAL, Panama, Oct. 24. (AP).—The United States fleet is rushing from the Atlantic to the Pacific to-day in a surprise manoeuvre.

Without advance notice, the fleet sped into Limon Bay last night in total darkness and then awoke terminal cities with a blaze of lights. A bustle of activity, reminiscent of war-time followed as the passage through the Panama Canal began.

Officers, it was said unofficially, hoped to complete the transist of 88 ships in less than 40 hours, as compared to the Pacific-Atlantic crossing of 110 ships in 47 hours in a spectacular test last April.

The mine sweepers rail and stern cleared Gatun lock at 11.09 last night and 28 destroyers followed them. Other vessels streamed into Limon Bay, leading to the lock.

Light and heavy cruisers followed the destroyers through the lock and battleships began the actual canal transit at daybreak. Aircraft carriers were to follow the battleships. All commercial traffic was suspended for the second such attempt in the canal's history.

JAPS PRESENT ROUGH OUTLINE

Japanese and U. S. Naval Delegates Meet in Conference.

MEETING IS SHORT.

LONDON, Eng., Oct. 24. (C.P. Cable).—The Japanese and United States delegates to the preliminary naval talks with Britain, to-day held their first meeting.

It lasted just half an hour while the Japanese presumably presented to the Americans the rough outline of their proposals for a complete revision of existing naval treaties, giving Japan the right to equality in "defensive" naval armaments in principle. This plan was laid before the British yesterday.

The United States and the British are to meet next after which it is understood the British will again meet the Japanese, perhaps giving the latter a reply to their proposals.

The present talks are designed to pave the way for the naval conference which is tentatively scheduled for January.

32 ARE INJURED IN TRAIN WRECK

Eight Coaches of Cincinnati Night Express Jump Rails.

11 HOUR TIE-UP.

FOWLDER, Ind, Oct. 24 (A.P.).—Thirty-two persons were injured, none seriously, early to-day as eight cars of the Cincinnati night express of the Big Four Railroads were derailed a mile south of Earl Park, Ind.

The engine and five cars of the 13-car passenger train passed safely over the east end of the Earl Park switch, but then the rear part of the train, including coaches and Pullmans, left the rails, jolted along the ties, and several cars turned over.

As a wrecking crew set to work to clear the tracks, a job estimated by the railroad to require 11 hours, Division Superintendent D. F. Schaaf of Indianapolis arrived on the scene to open an investigation into the cause of the wreck. Officials said little could be determined until an examination of the cars, and of the tracks.

BOARD EXPECTS $255,584 SPENT

of the hotel's total beer purchases for the year as estimated by Mr. Odette. Therefore multiply the $1,125 by 20 and to this total add $5,000. The answer to this simple problem in arithmetic is $27,500.

But to carry the thing further; this $27,500 is only the purchase price paid by the Windsor Hotel for the beer Mr. Odette expects it to sell during the year. It can be safely estimated that beverage room sells the beer at a gross profit of 40 per cent in order to clear itself for overhead and sales expenses. Therefore the amount the public will pay for this beer sold at the Windsor Hotel will be $38,500.

At 30 cents a quart, the sale price of the beer, this $38,500 represents 128,333 quarts of beer, which Mr. Odette expects the Windsor Hotel to sell during the next year according to the license he has levied upon this particular hotel.

Similarly The Examiner took the license levied on the other beverage rooms and calculated the city's beer bill for the year as estimated by Mr. Odette in fixing these license charges.

CHESTER TAYLOR ESCAPES PRISON

Newton told the court it would be in Mrs. Turnbull's own interest if she could possibly give evidence.

At this point Mr. Newton said he would proceed with the preliminary hearing against Gordon Erskine, former local garageman, who is alleged to have acted as a "detective".

Erskine is charged with conspiring, during June 1933, with Mrs. Turnbull and Foley and others unknown, to demand with menace, the sum of $1,500 from Mr. B.

A. B. Siskind, is acting for Erskine.

Mr. B's Evidence

Mr. B. told the court of being registered at a local hotel during May, 1933, and of being visited by Mrs. Turnbull and another woman. He said he later received a telephone call from Mr. Foley to come to his office.

"After certain arrangements had been made Foley said he would call the detective and see what could be done about the matter," said Mr. B. "Detective Allen then came to the office. That was the first time I ever saw him."

The sum of $2,000 was first mentioned by Foley to the detective. He told Allen the money would be paid in cash—not in cheque—and he would advise him to take it and then forget all about the matter.

Foley told the detective he thought it would be wise if he took the money as times were tough."

Witness said he and his friend, Mr. C., later paid $1,500.

AN OPPORTUNITY FOR ALL PETERBORO AND DISTRICT TO DANCE TO THE WONDERFUL MUSIC PROVIDED BY

LUIGI ROMANELLI

A PERSONAL APPEARANCE WITH HIS FAMOUS RADIO BROADCASTING ORCHESTRA OF TORONTO

"Luigi Romanelli is unquestionably one of Canada's most notable contributions to the modern world of music and radio, and it is no exaggeration to say that his name is more widely known than that of any other musical director in the Dominion.

The Monarch of Melody and his King Edward Hotel Orchestra was the first feature ever transmitted from Toronto over the nation-wide network of the Columbia Broadcasting System. That was in October, 1930, and since then the band has been heard weekly over the chain which now includes 52 stations in the United States with CFRB in Toronto as the key station.

During the time of the Rogers-Majestic trans-Canada hook up (temporarily off the air) Romanelli and his orchestra probably had a greater weekly coverage than any other orchestra in America. That's a broad statement but consider the combined coverage of the CBS and Trans-Canada networks and you have the answer. The Canadian broadcast took in twenty stations from Halifax on the Atlantic Coast to Vancouver on the Pacific Coast, and the CBS stretched to far off California." RADIO GUIDE.

READ WHAT FAMOUS PEOPLE THINK OF HIS ORCHESTRA:—

"The Private Secretary is desired by the Prince of Wales to express to Mr. Romanelli and the members of his orchestra His Royal Highness's appreciation of the music they provided during the dinner and dance given by the Province of Ontario at the King Edward Hotel, Toronto, on August 6."
August 12, 1927.

Dear Mr. Romanelli:
It gives me great pleasure to inform you that a large number of guests who attended the Official Banquet tendered by the Province of Ontario to our distinguished guests, The Prince of Wales, and his brother, Prince George, and the Prime Minister of England, The Right Honourable Stanley Baldwin and Mrs. Baldwin, were generous and unanimous in their expression of appreciation of the excellent musical program you provided. Those who remained for the dancing after the dinner were particularly loud in their praises of the performance of your orchestra.
Yours very truly,
Signed, E. H. FERGUSON.

A. A. MARTIN IS CLUB SPEAKER

Public School Inspector From Brighton Speaks at Campbellford

EDUCATION IN ONTARIO.

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 24. (By Staff Correspondent).—The Rotary luncheon Monday was what might be termed an "educational luncheon." Public School Inspector A. A. Martin of Brighton was visiting speaker, while Principal Charles S. Haig of the Public School staff was dinner guest for the occasion, and Rotarian Earl C. Greig, High School Principal, introduced the speaker. There was a good attendance. President Stanley H. Neale occupied the chair, informing the members that the next regular meeting would be held on Tuesday, October 30th, as the District Governor, James Dunwoody of Erie Pa., would be here to address the meeting on that day.

In his opening remarks Mr. Martin told his listeners that he liked coming to Campbellford, that these meetings together were a fine thing and that the efficient work done by the club in connection with the children's clinic was splendid and was greatly appreciated by his department.

"Education at large is an interest to every one of us. Ontario is a white man's area, it is not so very old, but among the first settlers of the province there was great concern regarding the welfare and education of children. Little was accomplished before the year 1800. Governor Simcoe, who was a product of the public schools of England, had compelled the government to set apart land for public schools—but the English system was not suitable for Canada. What was wanted here was education for poor and rich alike—so later a grant was obtained from the government and a wholesale plan of education was brought from the United States whereby schools were established, sometimes only log houses, where even twenty children could be gathered together, but they were not taught by real teachers in those days—just any old broken-down men who were not much good for anything else; even cripples having charge of classes in the early days, but the teaching profession rapidly grew and was soon on a totally different standard in each community.

According to records, schools were built in Brighton in 1830 and just a little later one was built in Campbellford. From then on the government became a little more generous with grants—each community paying their portion. After the Civil War or Rebellion of 1837-'8, education in Ontario almost ceased and the public became alarmed and decided to put a man at the head of affairs and make a real job of it.

In 1840 there was a great influx from both Ireland and the United States, also a decided increase in wealth was noticed in 1841. It was then definitely decided to have a local school superintendent for each county or district. Times were better, a great many people got jobs in 1841. The chief superintendent was the provincial secretary of Lower Canada—he was the chief superintendent of education. Nothing much was really done until 1844 when the Rev. Dr. Egerton Ryerson at that time assistant superintendent of Canada West, a man who had a vision of what education should be in Ontario, came along and established classes for the Indians in the Alderville district, and as his friends described him— "To know him was to love him". This man was the orginal founder of the Public School System of Canada.

On the 8th of September, 1844 Dr. Ryerson asked permission to visit Europe and study educational systems there. On October 31 of the same year that permission was granted; he went over, visiting England, France, Germany, Switzerland and Ireland and decided the Irish system was the best—and here it might be stated that the principal of the first Normal School came from Dublin Ireland.

On his return in 1845, Dr. Ryerson set up offices in Cobourg, moving to Toronto in 1846, during this year he made his report, recommending the Superintendent of Education to establish a Board of Eduation from whom he might get advice, but under no obligation or control; also arranged for the training of teachers and the establishing of Normal Schools, and sent a man to the United States and Ireland to see how a Board of Education should be run and eventually our system was based on the Dublin system.

The speaker then outlined the various improvements made as the years rolled on, calling attention to the better class of schools which were being erected; was also pleased to report that the average attendance in this district was good—perhaps due to the efficient work of the truant officer, and said that parents should not hesitate in sending backward children to school. "Give them a chance and we will make something out of them."

Rotarian Alex. MacColl expressed the thanks of the club to the speaker for his most interesting address which was conveyed to him by President Stanley Neale.

A couple of groups reported quilts made, others had made donations of clothing. The president requested that any other supplies be left at Mrs. Hunter's home before the November meeting.

No calls have yet been made upon the Institute for relief, and the secretary was requested to write the department to find where relief is most needed.

52ND ANNIVERSARY HELD IN MILLBROOK

Rev. W. R. Archer of Lakefield Special Preacher at St. Andrew's Church.

MILLBROOK, Oct. 24.—(Examiner Correspondence).—St. Andrew's United Church observed its fifty-second anniversary with special services morning and evening on Sunday, October 21, large congregations gathering for worship in spite of adverse weather conditions, and inspiring messages being delivered by Rev. W. R. Archer, B.A., of Lakefield, secretary of the Peterborough Presbytery. Rev. Mr. Sisco, pastor of St. Andrew's, took the work on the Lakefield circuit for the day.

Special music was provided by the choir, under the leadership of Mrs. H. W. Johnston, selections in the morning including two anthems by Semper, "The Lord is in His Holy Temple" and "The Lamb Shall Lead Them," the soloist in the evening being Mr. J. T. George, of Port Hope, and the choir also singing an anthem.

The visiting minister's theme for the day was, in the morning, "The Mysterious Power, Attraction," based on John 12:32, "And I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto Me." And at night, "The Mysterious Power, Influence," and the text found in Romans 14: 7-8, inter-related lives being the idea developed. From natural phenomenon, such as the attraction of the sun holding our earth within its orbit, the speaker showed how attraction works in the natural world, and continuing in the spiritual realm showed how lives, polarized by the same magnet, Jesus Christ, are held in the path of righteousness and service. The closing appeal was, "Let Him have His way with you, and large doors of opportunity and service will be opened before you, reconstructing your life and making it rich in joy, fellowship and attraction."

The larger share of the six hundred dollars asked by the officials of the church as a thank-offering was placed on the plates, and many envelopes are yet to come in, with also the contribution from the Women's Association.

TRENT RIVER, Oct. 24. (Examiner Correspondence).—The Young People's League meetings are becoming more intersting each week with a large attendance. George Armstrong presided at last week's rally. The hymns were along the line of citizenship; Scripture reading from Psalm 8 was led by the president.

The members arranged to hold a debate for next Friday night—"Resolved that cities and towns offer greater opportunities than the country." The affirmative will be upheld by Messrs. George and Clifford Chaplin while the negative will be supported by Messrs. R. W. Umphrey and Jim Inkster. Miss Leatha Davidson then took charge of the program. The topic, "Citizenship" was given by George Armstrong in which he said that good citizenship meant helping the sick, helping missionaries, being willing to accept positions in the community. Citizenship should begin at home—obedience; in the school—pupils learn to obey their teacher; at Sunday School they learn teachings from the Greatest Teacher of all. We must be sympathetic; let all bitterness and wrath be put away.

A reading, "Gratitude" was given by Miss Helen Brown; reading, "My Idea of a Man", read by Miss Florence Shearer and composed by F. H. Petty of Campbellford. Miss Leatha Davidson had charge of a musical contest. The sides grouped for the contest, the Roses winning the highest numbe- of points. There were 36 in attendance.

ST. JOHN'S CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

Large Attendance of Young Men Pleasing Feature of Meeting.

EVERY MONDAY NIGHT

Members of St. John's Church Men's Club are evidently awake to their responsibilities. At the recent annual meeting and election of officers held in the newly decorated parlor of the Parish House, every chair was occupied, there being forty members in attendance.

Archdeacon Dr. R. C. Blagrave occupied the chair during the election of officers, which resulted as follows: President, H. A. Lemmings; vice president, J. S. Bell; executive, C. Coleman, G. E. Groombridge, F. Biddle and C. Ireson; social committee, G. Groombridge, C. Sporle, B. Shane, A. Glenn; visiting committee, T Davis, J. Vollans; secretary, H. Burrows, 251 Park street north; treasurer, R. N. Stuart.

The most pleasing feature of the meeting was the presence of so many young men between the ages of eighteen and twenty, whose cooperation is greatly appreciated by the older members.

The boys have already entered their team in the City Carpet Bowling League, and have made an auspicious start. The club has three teams now entered in the league.

Members of the club meet in the Parish House every Monday night during the fall and winter months and competition is very keen in bowling, bridge, darts and other games. All young men are heartily welcome.

G. Groombridge, the retiring secretary, reported that owing to other important business, he could not accept nomination for re-election. His decision was regretted, and words of appreciation were expressed by several of the members for the valuable work performed by him in the past.

After the meeting adjourned, the members retired to the recreation room to participate in games of their choice. During this period the social committee engaged in the preparation of supper.

SPACE LIMITED DISPLAY WARES

Local Health Authorities Are Seeking to Have By-laws Enforced.

12 INCHES ON SIDEWALK.

While merchants of the Danforth section of Toronto are waging reprisals against sidewalk fruit vendors, the local health authorities are seeking to enforce by-laws governing the open display of fruit and other produce.

There are two by-laws in force here—one governing the open exposure of meat, poultry, fish, fruit and milk that is offered for sale on the street or market square, and the other limiting the space which merchants may occupy on the sidewalks, in front of their places of business. Both by-laws are being violated, fruit merchants being possibly the only offenders.

Dr. G. Murray Fraser, medical officer of health, recently circularized all fruit merchants in the city again directing their attention to By-law No. 1,165, a section of which reads as follows:

"No persons shall expose for sale upon any street or upon the market square or in any public place in the Town of Peterborough, the carcass of any animal or any meat, poultry, game, flesh, fish, fruit or milk unless the same be so protected as to avoid contact with or contamination from dust, water, or other noxious or offensive matter or substances which might tend to render the same unwholesome or injurious or objectionable for the purpose of food."

In his letter to the fruit merchants, Dr. Fraser added, "Last month I requested all fruit dealers to cover exposed fruit with netting to protect it from flies. I had special reference to foodstuffs which in the usual course of events are not washed before being eaten, such as grapes, apples, pears, plums, etc. The result of this request was disappointing. Most merchants complied with the request for a few days and then gradually reverted to the original display without any protection whatever."

"This question was discussed at the last meeting of the Board of Health and as a result of that discussion, I am instructed to advise you that in future all fruit exposed for sale on the street must be covered with mosquito netting. I am asking your co-operation in this matter in order that stricter enforcement of the bylaw be not necessary."

The second-bylaw prohibiting the obstruction of sidewalks, limits the space which merchants may occupy for the display of wares outside their premises to twelve inches. Goods, the bylaw insists, must be displayed at least 24 inches above the ground.

AMEND CLAIM OF PLAINTIFFS IN COLLINS CASE

Plaintiffs Close Case and Basil Hall Goes in Box.

DEALINGS TRACED

An amendment of the claim of the plaintiffs to include a demand of damages for negligence was a development in the case of the executors of the J. D. Collins estate against Basil D. Hall and E. H. D. Hall as the hearing proceeded before Mr. Justice Kingstone in the Supreme Court here yesterday afternoon. The amendment was allowed after a protest by R. S. Robertson, K.C., who, with R. R. Hall, K.C., is acting for the defendants.

Standing in addition to the original claim for recision of contracts for the purchase of the bonds involved in the case, the further claim is technical in significance. However, the amendment may change the entire complexion of the case, Mr. Robertson argued in expressing his disapproval to the bench. He suggested that the amendment was induced by the evidence which has now been brought forth in the case rather than the original facts.

Other demands in the amended claim are for the return of alleged secret commissions obtained by the defendants, for the payment of interest lost by allegedly improper investments, and for interest on the sums which may be found due the plaintiffs.

Basil Hall, the principal figure of the two defendants, took the stand at the call of Mr. Robertson as the plaintiffs' lawyers, D. L. McCarthy, K.C., and V. J. McElderry, K.C., completed their case late in the afternoon.

Mr. Hall said he began practicing law in this city in 1909 and was admitted to partnership in the firm of Hall and Hayes in 1911. After 1914, he and his father, E. H. D. Hall, continued the firm alone until Mr. Stevenson came first as an employee and later as a partner.

Had Dealings.

He testified that he had known the late J. D. Collins for many years.

"Did you ever have business dealings with Mr. Collins before 1924 " asked Mr. Robertson.

"Yes. Once in a while I asked him if he would lend money on mortgages."

"You knew him as a person with money and so he was a natural person to go to when you had applications for mortgages—was that it?"

"Yes."

Relating the circumstances of the creation of a trust by Mr. Collins for his children in 1924, Mr. Hall told of a conversation with Dr. Leeming whose daughter married Fred. Collins, son of J. D. Collins, in which Dr. Leeming suggested the creation of a trust for the son in view of a similar action he was contemplating in regard to his daughter. Mr. Hall said he asked Mr. Collins what he thought about such a trust and Mr. Collins was agreeable with the idea of establishing one. Later Mr Hall suggested that, with the trust for the one son agreed upon, Mr. Collins might feel disposed to create trusts for the rest of the family, and the suggestion was accepted.

"Who named the trustees?"

"Mr. Collins named the three."

Continuing, the witness told of the selection of the securities to go into the trust by Mr. Collins himself. Mr. Hall said he then aided Durham Collins in dividing the securities as equally and fairly as possible into nine groups.

Discussion in Office.

Mr. Robertson questioned Mr. Hall as to what else transpired in his office in the presence of the sons.

"Was there any discussion?"

"Yes. They asked questions about several things. They asked what was meant by trustee securities. Mr. E. H. D. Hall and I answered their questions to the best of our abilities."

"Did you explain about trustee investments?"

"Yes. I told them what trustee investments were."

"What did you tell them?"

"Government bonds, municipal bonds and first mortgages that were not more than fifty per cent. of the value."

Mr. Hall said they discussed the safety of mortgages and he told them that their father had considerable faith in that type of investment. They arrived at a decision that fifty per cent. of the trust money should be left in mortgages. A further discussion followed at a meeting in his office for the signing of the documents. Mr Hall said, Durham Collins suggested an investment of fifty per cent. of the trust in Government bonds, twenty-five per cent. in preferred stocks and twenty-five per cent. in common stocks. The witness said he pointed out that they had no power to invest in the preferred and common stocks and would have to confine themselves to Government bonds and mortgages. They came to no agreement in his presence he stated.

Protested Agreement.

Mr. Hall told of his part in the drawing up of the agreement early in 1925—put in as an exhibit earlier in the trial of the case—by which the trust securities were to be converted fifty per cent. into good mortgages, twenty-five per cent. into Dominion of Canada bonds and twenty-five per cent into provincial or trustee securities or "good industrial securities." When he was drawing up the agreement he told Durham Collins he did not like it, but Durham, who had been in communication with Alexander Collins, said Alex. wanted it and directed him to go ahead, the witness testified.

The letter dated July 28, 1925, from B. D. Hall to J. D. Collins, trustee, recommending the disposal of short term bonds valued at $16,000 and the purchase of 200 St. Clair Avenue West, Limited, securities, filed earlier by the plaintiffs, was again brought to light. The letter pointed out the liabilities of the trustees in the event of the purchase of such securities as the St. Clair Avenue bonds.

Asked what came of the recommendation, the witness told of a conversation in his office with Durham Collins. "Durham asked what the law said about trustee investments. I read him first a little book on the duties of trustees. Then I read him sections of the act dealing with the duties of trustees. Durham said they would rather take the risk of lending more than fifty per cent. on mortgages than on the bonds."

The $16,000 short term bonds were sold and $7,000 was re-invested, he related.

Summaries Put In.

Earlier in the afternoon, as the plaintiffs were bringing their case to a conclusion, W. R. Morris, of this city, a certified accountant, testified in regard to an examination he made of the books kept by the late J. D. Collins and of other records pertinent to the transactions and investments connected with the case. In answer to one of Mr. McCarthy's questions, he expressed the opinion that the late Mr. Collins' books were quite inadequate, considering the size of the trust he was looking after.

Mr. Robertson objected to admission as exhibits of summaries of the books prepared by Mr. Morris. Running down the objection, Justice Kingstone allowed him an extensive cross-examination in regard to the sources used in preparing the summary. The contention of the defending lawyer was that certain dates in the summaries conflicted with dates already established by evidence in a misleading manner.

Thomas MacKay, manager of the Simcoe street branch of the Bank of Montreal, produced sheets from the bank ledgers on which the transactions of the account of the firm of Hall and Hall, later Hall, Hall and Stevenson, were recorded. Cross-examined by Mr. Robertson, he testified from records regarding dates and hours of numerous visits of the three trustees and later B. D. Hall to two safety deposit boxes in the bank.

B. V. Moore, accountant of the Toronto Savings and Loan Company, submitted ledger records of four accounts—B. D. Hall, personal; B. D. Hall, in trust; Hall and Hall, later Hall, Hall and Stevenson, firm account, and Hall and Hall, in trust.

"Is all this necessary?" Justice Kingstone asked.

"I must trace the transfer of certain funds," Mr. McCarthy replied.

IN MEMORIAM

WEAVER—In loving memory of our dear father, Mr. Robert Weaver, who passed away Oct. 24 1923.
God knew that he was suffering—
That hills were hard to climb,
So he closed his weary eyelids
And whispered, "Peace be thine."
Deep in our hearts is a picture
Worth more than silver or gold;
It's a picture of our dear father
Whose memory will never grow old.

ICY STARE PROVES TOO MUCH FOR RAIDING CHINESE BRIGANDS

Nova Scotian Woman Tells How She Escaped Being Kidnapped.

SAW SHIP LOOTED.

HALIFAX, Oct. 24 (C.P.)—An icy stare and a portable phonograph saved her from Chinese brigands, Mr. Margaret F. Van Driest related here as she prepared yesterday for the last leg of her trip from the Orient to her home in Mahone Bay, quiet little Nova Scotian town.

A thrilling story of her voyage on board the steamship Hellkon when it was captured by Chinese pirates was told by the Nova Scotian woman who is back in the province to visit her parents, after 13 years globe-trotting.

The brigands cut off wireless communication, overpowered officers and crew, caused two drownings, carried away loot, and took five persons as hostages. Mrs. Van Driest and Mrs. Edith C. Boynton of Sebaga Lake, Maine, were the only two occidental women aboard although there were nearly 400 passengers.

The pirates captain pounded on her stateroom door just after the ship's master had warned the Nova Scotian to hide her jewelry valued at $3,000.

Searches Cabin in Vain

"I opened the door and there was the pirate chieftain with a gun in his hand. He told me he meant to search my cabin. He turned the place inside out without finding any hidden articles."

Then the Chinese bold, bad man, took a fancy to her phonograph. He ordered her to move it into the lounge. But the Oriental gangsters took a violent dislike to American jazz music and there were grumblings of disapproval until Mrs. Van Driest substituted Chinese records which were more to their taste.

Although "pretty scared" the Nova Scotian woman who kept a curio shop in Hong Kong said: "I put up the coldest look I could muster. In fact it was so cold I thought I'd freeze myself. They turned and walked the other way."

Your handwriting illustrates an openhearted and very friendly disposition, and reveals a tender sense of humor which should be instrumental in assisting you over many difficult problems as they present themselves in your life. You are fairly easy going and no doubt rather too generous with your worldly goods. You have an excellent imagination, and it should be the means through which you plan your daily work, because it is not the visionary type of imagination which has for its background nothing but castles in the air. Your widely-spread capital letters indicate many artistic talents and denote a keen interest in musical events. You are honest and trustworthy and very seldom have anything which you feel is necessary to keep secret. The cultivation of flowers should appeal to you because you have an especially well-depicted eye for beauty. You are kind, loving and very forgiving, and no doubt at times quite sentimental without being actually temperamental.

Some of the occupations which you could undertake with equal success would be: Teaching, nursing, housekeeping, bookkeeping and horticulture.

If you choose housekeeping, you have the happy faculty of entertaining, and making your guests feel at home and comfortable and this attribute is one which requires a good deal of cultivation in most people, and then very few ever acquire the necessary requisite which you already possess.

Frank H. Paylor,
R. R. No. 4, Havelock, Ont.

Your handwriting seems to be that of one who has English ancestors and denotes genuine qualities. You are most persistent, and try very hard to accomplish things which perhaps are too difficult for your years, for yours is the spirit of progress, and I do most sincerely hope that you will attain your ambition through your own courage and intuition. Your type as a rule seem to be quite difficult to understand, and either progress very rapidly or remain unchanged throughout the years. You should have a good memory, especially for numbers and dates. The greatest drawback that I can see in your writing as it is presented now, is lack of self-confidence. It is as though you fear that others might expect more of you than your mentality can give, but if you feel this way, it might interest you to know that the power lies within you to give more than the average person, but do try to develop perseverence and courage. Try not to worry too much about little things, tell yourself that all will work out well if you believe in yourself. You have what we term a scientific mind, and it might lean towards work in connection with electricity later on. Your deeper nature is quite religious, and it is well for you to keep this ever before you because it will help you to gain instincts which will ennoble your character.

Your type as a rule do not boast, but honestly try to show the work of their hands as positive proof of their accomplishments. On the debit side of your character there is a slight tendency towards moodiness, but you can cultivate a cheerfulness which will make friends for you wherever you go. Your number is five. Your birthsign Pisces The Fishes. You are ruled by Neptune. May or June are fortunate months. Saturday is your lucky day.

George H. Dean,
Bailleboro, Ont.

Your writing, which is so very variable in shape and size, reveals impulsiveness and a changeable disposition. You are very much given to doing things on the spur of the moment and then being sorry for them afterwards. You should have a jovial nature, and seldom worry about what is to come, but this characteristic is more of a drawback than a help.

You may find that you are able to make friends quickly, but that you soon lose interest in them because there seems to be something lacking. This tendency is caused through your own natural tendency to make friends on sight without first inquiring as to their character. You appear to be quick-tempered, and when you do become angered, nothing seems to be of any use, for arguments will not pacify you; yet, were some one to require love and sympathy, you would readily forgive and forget. Such is your make-up.

You have a fair talent for money-making, but do not seem to be able to keep it, due to your changeful nature and impulsive spending.

Your type are usually very much attracted to the opposite sex, but are not really very constant.

Your lucky number is eleven, and should give you an incentive to learn all that you possibly can about religious matters. Your birthsign is Leo the Lion. You are ruled by the Sun. January and October are your best months. Sunday your most fortunate day. This sign usually had control of affairs of the heart, so it would be well for you to exercise the greatest care from now on. Keep your blood pure, build up your constitution and watch your diet.

BEHIND the Scenes in HOLLYWOOD

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 24.—All Ann Harding fans are hereby invited to help the star find a lucky peacock's feather, if there is such a thing.

Ann Harding

Ann wants to borrow or rent it to wear in her forthcoming all-color film for Walter Wanger, "Peacock Feather."

In case you didn't know it, the plumage of this brilliant bird is supposed to be a harbinger of the worst sort of misfortunes.

Ann isn't exactly superstitious, but she is trying something new in the color film and doesn't want to tackle the task under any hard luck omen.

Incidentally, "Peacock Feather" will be one of the four all color features to be made in Hollywood during the year. The film companies got together and agreed on this limit, so as not to glut the market. Samuel Goldwyn's "Wizard of Oz" will be another of the color films and Jock Whitney's "Becky Sharp" a third. The last is supposed to be made either by Warner Brothers or Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

LIKE MOST of the film people, C. Aubrey Smith doesn't like his charities to become known, but the English actor has just done a very generous deed. Smith had the same chauffeur ever since he came to Hollywood. The other day he found out that the man was about to be evicted from his home for non-payment of a $3,000 indebtedness. The actor immediately stepped in, paid the money and gave his chauffeur the deed as a reward for faithful service.

ADD TO GRAND retorts the one recently made by the well-beloved Mme. Schumann-Heink to an arty young interviewer. Receiving the press man with her usual kindness, the veteran singer listened carefully to his questions on freakish cults of modern music.

Madame Schumann-Heink

When he paused importantly, the diva replied in her gentle, husky tones:

"Young man, when the good God made Schumann-Heink, he gave me a pretty good voice but not much in the head. I'm sorry, but I don't know a thing of what you are talking about."

WITH THE INCEPTION of talking pictures the influence of the stage upon the screen has become more pronounced with each successive production. That influence reached a new high point with the making of "Whom the Gods Destroy," the Columbia picture featuring Walter Connolly, Doris Kenyon and Robert Young, which comes to the Regent Theatre. Every member of the cast and the director served his apprenticeship in the spoken theatre, and in most cases their theatrtical background covered years.

Your Health

By DR LOGAN CLENDENING

The human body is a machine which converts food into energy and tissue. The first tissue which is made from food is muscular or protein tissue, but as soon as that need is satisfied, when there is a surplus supply of food, the body immediately begins to create another tissue—fat.

In this statement we have the words, "surplus supply of food", and that must be understood first by anyone who wishes to direct a program for reducing wright intelligently. The food supply is measured by units of energy, which are called "calories". They are units of measurement just the same as an inch is a unit of linear measurement, or an ampere is a unit of electrical measurement. A calorie is the amount of energy which is released by a certain amount of food. It is also the energy which the body uses up in consuming a certain amount of food. The potential energy of the calorie in the food is converted into the active energy of the calorie in the body.

Now, we can calculate very accurately the number of calories which any human body uses in a definite period of time. It depends on certain factors: (1) the person's weight, (2) the amount of work or activity which the body performs, and (3) the individual's age.

Thus, to cover the first point, a man whose ideal weight is 150 pounds, naturally needs more calories, more food, than a person whose weight is 100 pounds. Secondly, an athlete playing in a football game will need more energy than a clerk sitting at a desk. An actively growing child will use up more energy than an adult who has acquired his full growth.

In general, we can say that an adult with moderate activity will use about 15 calories per pound of body weight per day. For a person weighing 150 pounds this comes to 2,250 calories. It is also mathematical that any food which is eaten in excess of the actual energy needs of the body, will either be excreted or deposited in the form of extra fat.

There are many adjustments which keep track of this somewhat complicated procedure. Most of us when we have overeaten feel stuffy, and within an hour or two want to take some exercise. This is an instinctive attempt to destroy the unnecessary extra food. One of the most remarkable regulators in the body is the appetite, which tells us quite accurately when we need food. But these adjustments frequently break down, especially as we get older. We are creatures of habit, and sitting down to three meals a day, we eat whether we are hungry or not, and we do not always obey the dictate of the feeling of stuffiness, and hence the fat accumulates.

There is also no doubt that there are certain things that we cannot entirely explain absolutely mathematically. There are some people, I am sure, who are prone to harbor fat, and whose food tends to be stored rather than burned or excreted. In most cases, however, this is a poor excuse, because under proper dieting these people also lose weight. The thing that is less easy to explain is the tendency of fat to deposit itself in certain parts of the body. The only explanation of that is simply to say that there are certain fat depots, but it results in the fact that bay-window stomachs, and large buttocks and breasts are the fate of the over-eater.

All of these things can be leveled, however, by adjusting your diet to the number of calories which you should have for an ideal weight. In order to do this, you have to learn something about the number of calories in different kinds of food.

Be Beautiful

By GLADYS GLAD.

The charming Bette Davis, who is said by critics to possess the most seductive voice on the silver screen, seldom uses much rouge. Bette has that lovely, transparent sort of skin that requires only the accent of lips and eyes. This famous star, however, when she does use rouge, generally employs the paste variety. For she believes that this type of rouge helps to keep the skin soft and smooth.

No cosmetic ever requires half so much skill in its application as rouge. For whether you use the dry, paste or liquid rouge, you've got to know just where and how to blend in on your skin, just how much to use for your particular type, and just what shade harmonizes best with your natural coloring.

I do think, however, that the paste rouge generally requires more skill in its application than the more commonly used dry rouge. Because of its consistency, it is more difficult to blend smoothly on the cheeks. Yet it is an ideal type of rouge for wear during the cold months. For, as Bette claims, it does help to keep the skin of the cheeks smooth and supple.

There are a good many women who, when the cold season approaches, switch from dry to paste rouge. But not all of them use this type of rouge to advantage. To really use paste rouge properly, you should first thoroughly cleanse your skin and apply your preferred powder base. Then, using the tip of your finger, place three small dots of the paste rouge on the high point of each cheek, in the shape of a triangle, and blend the rouge delicately into the skin. Blur the edges softly with your fingertip, so that no hard lines of color are apparent. Then apply your powder over the entire face, laying it smoothly over your rouged cheeks. As the final step, use your dry rouge to touch up the color in your cheeks a bit. Of course, if your make-up begins to fade during the day, the best course is to cleanse your face and reapply your cosmetics. But if this isn't possible, you may also use the dry rouge to repair your paling complexion whenever necessary.

The lighting of a room may be for any one of many purposes besides mere illumination. For example in a dressing room or bedroom the light is needed to assist in discovering whether one is most attractively presentable. In a library, writing room, or living room illumination is both for dispelling darkness and for throwing the rays on book or paper, or on card table, on sewing or whatever occupants require light directed onto.

* * * * * * *

Each room should be illuminated to suit its specific requirements and with an eye to adding artistry to the looks of the place whenever this does not conflict with the necessities of the lighting purpose. The idea of making a room brilliant with illumination should be avoided except for special occasions of entertaining. A glare is too much illumination should be avoided, even then. It is unattractive.

* * * * * * *

For artistic effects pure and simple, there is nothing to compare with sufficient candlelight. It is soft and mellow. In it everyone and everything appears to best advantage. There are homemakers who so light their rooms on special occasions where brilliant illumination is not required. Sconces and candelabra, pairs of single candlesticks, and tall standard candlesticks come in variety for such illumination.

* * * * * * *

But in these days of convenient electricity with the thousands of different lighting fixtures, most homemakers use this current for illumination. Candlelights can be simulated in electrified candelebra, sconces, etc. There are candlelight bulbs of low wattage which are excellent especially when delicately toned in yellow or red flame colors There are shield and round shapes of shades to further candelight effects. For a dining table these are sometimes so connected that they can be on the table. Regulation candlesticks, so easily portable and minus wires, have no equal for convenience and for mellow illumination.

* * * * * * *

In a dressing room an overhead electric light is recommended as well as lights, one either side of the dressing table mirror. In a library or living room, there should be lights by chairs and davenports, as well as one chief light on a table, or perhaps at each end of a mantelpiece. The reading lights may be standard and low so that rays fall directly on book or work. There are endless styles of bridge lamps. For reading in bed, there are bedside lamps and lamps which can be adjusted to the headboard. Similar ones come for pianos. These do no illuminating except on what is directly below in their limited radius.

* * * * * * *

The function of indirect lighting is exactly the reverse. It is recommended for use when there is to be a speaker or an entertainer or a musician playing before guests, since the light fills the room without appearing to have a definite focus. The difficulty with indirect lighting is that the diffusion of light from the ceiling eliminates shadows. Whether out of doors in the sunshine or indoors by artificial illumination, shadows are essential to beauty.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR CENTRAL PRESS

By E. V. SHEPARD

DON'T HURRY BIDDING.

One of the greatest advantages of suit-over-suit bidding is keeping the contract as low as possible until both partners feel that the best declaration for the joint 26 cards has been reached. Then the contract may be made as great as cards justify. Sometimes a bad break of a suit renders an apparently inferior call the best one possible for the side. Last evening my partner and I held the North and South hands shown. As I dealt, I made an opening bid of 1 spade. What happened and what might have happened are interesting to note.

	♠ 9 2 ♥ A K Q 8 7 3 ♦ A 10 3 ♣ K Q
♠ None ♥ J 9 6 ♦ Q 8 7 6 5 4 ♣ 8 6 4 3	N. W. E. S.	♠ K Q J 6 3 ♥ 10 5 4 2 ♦ 9 2 ♣ 7 5
	♠ A 10 8 7 5 4 ♥ None ♦ K J ♣ A J 10 9 2

Of course North had to show his hearts. Had he bid 2, I would have rebid. Had partner considered that we might have a slam at some make, he might have bid 3 hearts, to announce his opinion. Instead of doing either of these rational things North jumped to 5 hearts. I passed. Had I rebid spades or bid 6 clubs he stated that he would have bid 6 hearts, which would have been too bad, as we were vulnerable. West ruffed an opening lead of the K of spades, then East won a trump trick, just enabling North to fulfil his contract.

Being inexperienced, North thought that a 6-card suit headed by the three top honors is established, even if partner holds a singleton. As a matter of probabilities such a condition will find the suit established only 35 times in 100.

Partner probably was no better off at 5 hearts than I would have been at 5 spades, bad as the trump situation would have been at spades. Two leads of spades from dummy should have caused me to lose only 2 spade tricks.

On account of the normal break of 4-2 in adverse clubs, a grand slam should have resulted had we played the hand at clubs. Of course there is no reason to presume that my partner would have supported clubs strongly enough to give us such a contract. Any opening lead against a club call must have allowed me to make 7-odd. There are 5 trump tricks. By ruffing a single heart there will be 5 heart tricks made. The diamond tricks and a single spade trick will yield 7-odd, without taking a finesse.

Against any opening lead there may be made 5-odd at no trumps, without taking a finesse: 1 spade, 3 hearts, 2 diamonds and 5 clubs. Against any opening lead except a spade, there should be made a small slam at no trumps. My partner picked the wrong call. That was all.

POOR PROGRESS IS BEING MADE REPORT ADMITS

Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec Meeting in Toronto.

BRANDON COLLEGE.

TORONTO, Oct. 24.—"Evangelistic efforts must result in a betterment of social conditions through regenerated lives, and social service that does not originate from spiritual lives will be largely valueless," was one of many frankly stated axioms put to the Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec yesterday in Park Road Baptist Church in a report by the Committee on State of Religion and Convention Welfare.

Admissions of failure and the charge of a lack of spiritual progress in the country and in the Convention itself were contained in the report, which was received with candid admission of the charges by several ministers in the congregation.

"We have failed God," said Rev. M. C. Johnston of Brantford, "and we should be humble enough not to care who knows it."

The report on State of Religion suggested causes for the difficulties faced, among them being that religion, like most present-day activities, does not seem to be either going anywhere or doing anything. "We can report no revival; we cannot even report a steady and progressive work," was the admission of the committee.

Brandon College Needs

The afternoon sessions were occupied chiefly with home and Western missions reports. In connection with the Western missions, a motion to appoint a special committee to consider the needs of Brandon College was passed. In this connection Albert Matthews spoke on behalf of Brandon College, extolling its student body, professors and the services rendered, and asking for a generous support of this school. He considered that $35,000 should be raised for the adequate support of this work.

"I think that we pay too much attention to geographical boundaries, and that we should disregard such in considering our support of Western and Eastern work of this kind," said Mr. Matthews.

It was urged in the twenty-sixth report on Western Missions that a forward movement more commensurate with his home mission opportunity should be launched in Western Canada. Emphasis was put upon the great needs of the Peace River and Mackenzie areas and the Macedonian section of Northern Saskatchewan, as well as upon Christian efforts among other new Canadians in Western mission fields.

In an extensive report of the Home Mission Board, the need of a spiritual revival was again stressed. A principle adopted in regard to work among the new Canadians through a resolution made during the year regarding the anglicizing of the work was reported upon. The principle recommended and adopted was that no language other than English be used in the Sunday schools with the exception of adult classes where the English language is not understood, and that all work among young people as far as possible be conducted in English.

Changes in the Baptist Hymnary were discussed, and the report of the Revision Committee indicated some seventy new hymns to be considered.

WOULD CARRY ON THOUGH MARRIED

Women Must Have That Right and Opportunity, Declares Lecturer.

CAPE TOWN, South Africa, Oct. 24 (CP)—References to a "man-misruled economic system" and "the sentimental view of marriage as the subservice of a woman to her husband" were made by Mrs. Ellen Haines, wife of Prof. Haines, in a lecture on "Feminism and the Child' at a meeting of the Cape Society for Equal Citizenship.

Mrs. Haines said the greatest practical point in the attempt of the feminist to achieve true equality, was to secure both the right and the opportunity of the woman to carry on after marriage the paid work for which she was trained. The custom of a woman leaving her work on marriage not only interfered with her chance of adequate training, but served to depress women's wages and to justify the prejudice against employing a woman.

The imposition of the ban on the paid work of married women as a cure of unemployment was an expedient which might bring temporary relief, but which, in the long run, would be found to have made the situation worse, Mrs. Haines believes.

The establishment of nursery schools, Mrs. Haines argued, would make way eventually for the economic independence of women. At present the great obstacle to married women working was the care of their children, and nursery schools would largely remove it. They offered children of all classes advantages which it was impossible to given them in their homes. People admitted that a nursery school cared for a child as no working-class mother was able to do, but failed to see that the same was true in the case of the child of a middle-class mother.

Church To Boycott All Indecent Movies

(By Robert Bunnelle.)

SAVANNAH, Ga., October 24 (A. P.). — The United Church in America is summoning its members to a general boycott of "indecent" movies and plans to point in the direction of centralized control of benevolent funds.

Action to direct a campaign against motion pictures portraying crime and immorality came late yesterday after the church had addressed to Chancellor Hitler a protest against "the reported efforts of the leadership of the German Reichskirche to force the pastors of the German church into the service of a political program."

In resolutions adopted by the Church Convention, the church declared for church members to attend indecent pictures makes them "accomplices in this crime against the moral well-being of the individual and social order."

Fire Chief Injured In Fall From Roof

WALLECEBURG, Ont., Oct. 24.—(CP)—Fire Chief Ed O'Neil of the Wallaceburg fire department suffered serious injuries to his right leg last night in a fire that gutted the residence of Emile Malo, 519 Nelson Street, causing loss approximating $3,000 to house and contents.

Chief O'Neil was directing operations from a verandah roof from which firemen were operating hose on the flames. Water pouring down verandah roof made it slippery and Chief O'Neil slipped to a cement sidewalk about 15 feet below.

Dr. S. A. Richardson, owner of the house, rushed O'Neil to his office and examination revealed severe injuries to thigh and ankle.

INSIDE THE PADDOCK

BY ART MURRAY

IT MAY seem strange to many but nevertheless it is a fact that things are just as busy around our tracks even though the season closed last Saturday. Horses that have been in training all summer cannot be just put in the barn to remain there until next spring. They must go through the process of unwinding which is the reverse to the hard training grind they experience each spring prior to the season's opening. Each day now they are given a long slow gallop, which in the course of two or three weeks dwindles to a walk, and usually by that time they can be taken to the farm and turned loose in a field to do their own exercising.

During the long winter months they are walked a little each day and after a heavy snowstorm they are asked to wade through it, as all trainers claim there is nothing as good as snow to strengthen a horses legs. Each of our tracks have what they call their winter colony. Nipper Rowe the well known starter conducts a school at the Woodbine track, Toronto until things actually freeze up. At this school, owners bring their yearlings to become accustomed to a barrier and starting gate, and they are sent over distances up to a half mile. The jockeys are not allowed to use a spur or a whip, and these babies who have really not finished growing, are just asked to run freely. January the first every year is every horses birthday, that is on that day two-year-olds become three-year-olds and yearlings become two-year olds and so on irrespective of when they were born.

HARRY HATCH who maintains a large stable has a wonderful breeding farm near Agincourt. On the farm he has a quarter mile covered track which enables his horses to canter all winter no matter what the weather conditions are outside. Mr. Hatch has intimated that he may dispose of all his holdings and withdraw from the racing game. We hope this will not materialize as it would hurt the breeding industry to a very large extent. During the past summer Mr. Hatch's trainer Lloyd Gentry was suspended by the Canadian Racing Association inasmuch as he was refused a trainer's license. He then issued a writ hundred thousand dollars against them for one and this action is still pending.

It looks now as if the Ontario government will establish a Racing Commission to govern the sport in Ontario and if this is done it will be better for all concerned. Mr. Hatch when interviewed the other day said if a Commission was appointed he would remain active in the game. Some of the owners who were campaigning at Dufferin took in the six day bicycle race at the Maple Leaf Gardens on Monday, and said the track at that place reminded them of Dufferin on account of the sharp banked turns. It is needless to state that these gentlemen's horses were none too successful at Little Saratoga. The Campbell - Foden string have gone to Thorncliffe for the winter and that place will be the Dude's headquarters for the next few months. Conny Smythe will also winter his string there, while he is busy with his hockey duties.

Gorman Decides On Maroons' Front Line

LAST YEAR'S ACES TO FORM MONTREAL LINE

Smith, Northcott and Ward Will Again Team Up For Gorman's Offensive Duties.

LEDUC AT OUTS.

(By The Canadian Press)

Tommy Gorman is giving the youngsters every chance to make good at Montreal Maroons' Winnipeg training camp but they have shown nothing yet to make him consider breaking up his ace front line of Smith, Baldy Northcott and Jimmie Ward.

After watching the veterans in practice the former Chicago Black Hawks manager has decided the trio are as good as ever. They will be Maroons' chief offensive weapon in the National Hockey League campaign opening in two weeks.

Gorman seemingly has not yet made up his mind about Sammy McManus and Aubrey Webster of last year's Moncton Hawks, Allan Cup winners, although he has termed their showings in practice "sensational." Either that or they have not agreed to his contract terms for they have not yet been signed.

The amateurs, however, have advised Hawks they will not stay amateurs very long and will not be available for the Moncton team this season.

If McManus and Webster are holdouts they join a selected company who value their services more highly than their employers do. Earl Seibert and Ching Johnson have not yet arrived at New York Rangers' Winnipeg camp and the Chicago owners have given up negotiating with Goalie Lorne Chabot.

Absence of Johnson and Seibert, the reguar Ranger defence, leaves Patrick with little defence material unless he dips into the amateur field and he probably would be unwilling to break in two novices at the same time.

Newsy Lalonde, Montreal Canadien manager, has uncovered some clever minor league talent at the Saint John camp, and last night named three players he considers prospects for the Habitant farm, Quebec Beavers. They are Bob McCully, formerly with Providence Reds; Paul Rangers, Cleveland Indians, and Gordon Savage, Calgary.

Unless Albert "Battleship" Leduc comes to terms with Quebec to sign as playing manager, Leo Bourgeault, the former Rangers, Ottawa, Boston and Canadien defencemen will be given the job.

Toronto Leafs had two players on the injured list as they continued their practice to-day at Galt, Ont. Charlie Conacher, ace shot, injured a leg in yesterday's workout, and Art Jackson, promising Toronto amateur, is suffering from leg poisoning.

Conacher may not be idle more than a day, but it will be some time before Jackson can get into action.

Irvin has started an unique training method. He lines up two defencemen before the goalie and then sends the forwards down in waves of three to see what they can do Occasionally the defencemen get relief, but seldom the goalie

Terriers-Vancouver Squared On Series

VANCOUVER, Oct. 24.—(C.P.)—Orillia Terriers and Vancouver St. Helens were all square to-day in their post-season exhibition lacrosse series. In a third game played here last night, St. Helens defeated Terriers, conquerors of New Westminster Salmonbellies in the recent Mann Cup finals, by a score of 14-11. Each team has won one game and one was drawn.

A sturdy defence and a fast stepping forward line halted the Terriers' attack in the third game. St. Helens led 8-5 at the end of the second quarter and held the margin until closing minutes of play. The two teams will play a fourth game to-night. And victory will go to the side winning three games.

English Shock Line For '34 "Flying Frenchmen"

French-speaking hockey fans of Montreal, accustomed for years to a front line of obviously French names in their Montreal Canadiens, must accustom themselves this year to an English line of shock troops. ABOVE are left to right, Joe Lamb, obtained from Boston, Nels Crutchfield and Jack McGill both last year McGill U. ice stars. Crutchfield will pivot in this first all-English line the famed Flying Frenchmen have presented. They will be the opening offensive for the Redshirts.

VIEW MORE GOALS IN PENALTY RULES

Conacher Brothers Agree Tallies Will be Thicker With New Regulation.

TORONTO, Oct. 24 (C.P.) — Charlie Conacher, most prolific scorer in the National Hockey League last season, and said to have the hardest and fastest shot in professional hockey, thinks a lot of goals will be scored this coming season as a result of the new penalty-shot rule.

The rule is designed to punish a defending player who trips or otherwise fouls an attacking player to prevent the latter getting a clear shot on goal, when the attacker has eluded all players but the man who fouls him. The offence calls for a free or penalty shot to be taken at the offender's goal by any player of the attacker's team not serving a penalty at the time. The shot is to be made 38 feet from the goal net.

"Yes, I think a lot of goals will be scored as a result of the new penalty shot," said Conacher to The Canadian Press. The big right winger of Toronto's Maple Leafs added he thought the rule also would tend to curb much robust work hitherto resorted to by defencemen to prevent almost certain goals.

Asked which of the opposing goal tenders he thought would be toughest to beat with this kind of a shot, Conacher replied he believed Roy Worters of New York Americans, would be highly successful in defending his net against this particular type of drive on goal.

Brother Lionel Conacher, defenceman with Chicago's Black Hawks when they won the Stanley Cup last season, but this year with Montreal Maroons, said while he had not given the matter much thought, he agreed with Charlie's view that the new rule would result in a "lot of goals."

Dick Irvin, Toronto coach, who played in the old Pacific Coast League when that now-defunct organization introduced the penalty shot some years ago, said that he expected to see 40 per cent of the penalty shots on goal result in scores.

"Two out of five should find the net," said Irvin.

MACK TO REBUILD ATHLETICS AGAIN

Veteran Owner of Philadelphia Club Plans 1935 Comeback.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 24 (C.P.). —It takes more than a run of bad luck to defeat Connie Mack, the baseball veteran.

Prize optimist at 72, Mack is planning a comeback for his team next season. Twice before in his career he has rebuilt after breaking up his club, and he figures he can do it again. The fact that the Athletics haven't drawn well at home this year he dismissed as "nothing to worry about."

"When times get better," Mack said, "attendance will get better. I am facing the 1935 season without the slightest misgiving."

The Irish Free State's imports from the United States in the first half of this year were $4,660,000.

Chatham All-Stars Win O.B.A.A. Honors

Defeat Penetang Shipbuilders 13-7 to Capture "B-1" Title.

GUELPH, Oct. 24.—(C P)—Chatham Colored All-Stars are the 1934 O.B.A.A. intermediate "B 1" champions. They defeated Penetang Shipbuilders here yesterday by a score of 13 to 7. After playing a 2-all tie game yesterday the teams went on a rampage this afternoon and did a lot of wild slugging and scoring.

The difference between the two teams today lay in the fact that "Big Flatfoot" Chase, the Chatham pitcher, was able to do a comeback inside 25 hours, while Marchildon, the young Penetang hurler, was troubled with a sore arm. Marchildon started, was batted out, but later came back to the hill to hurl good ball. Chase didn't start, but had to come in after the Penetang team had put its first three batters of the game on the paths. He then went the route. In between Marchildon's bits of toil, Shortstop Crippen essayed to hold the colored boys in check, but without success, being wild and also unable to throw the ball where it couldn't be hit safely.

MONTREAL TEAM SCHEDULED FOR TROPHY BATTLE

Will Clash With New Westminster Salmonbellies Early in Spring.

TO INVITE U. S. TEAM.

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C., Oct. 24—Montreal Verdun and New Westminster Salmonbellies will play a Dominion championship lacrosse series early next spring for possession of the Mann Cup, forfeited by the suspended Orillia Terriers, if plans of the Canadian Amateur Lacrosse Association materialize, President Dan McKenzie announced yesterday.

Mr. McKenzie stated such a series might be held either in British Columbia or in Montreal. He said the Salmonbellies Club favored the proposal and that he understood Montreal would also endorse it. Orillia defeated Verdun in the Eastern final, played at Montreal.

The C.A.L.A. refused to sanction a post-season exhibition series between the Terriers and Vancouver St. Helen's in Vancouver and announced the clubs and players participating in the series would be suspended indefinitely and the Mann Cup taken from Orillia.

"I will recommend expulsion of the St. Helen's and Terriers to the C.A.L.A." President McKenzie stated.

He also announced that, immediately following the Mann Cup games, the champions of the United States Intercollegiate Association, would be brought north to stage a series against an all-star Canadian team for the P. J. Lally Trophy, at present held by the Johns Hopkins University team, which won the title two years ago.

Quebec Officials Pleased

MONTREAL, Oct. 24 (CP)—Officials of the Quebec Amateur Lacrosse Association, of which Verdun Athletic Club's team is champion, welcomed the idea of a spring series here between Verdun and New Westminster Salmonbellies for the Mann Cup, which was forfeited by Orillia Terriers, now under suspension by the Canadian Amateur Lacrosse Association.

The suggestions of Dan McKenzie, C.A.L.A. President, was favored by E. A. Pilon, Q.A.L.A. President, and Martin Conway, Secretary-Treasurer, last night, when they were told of McKenzie's action.

Fred Pilon said he was delighted, and that every co-operation would be given by his organization. He said: "Verdun, I think, is the best team in Canada."

Conway stated the series should draw well here in April or May, and both were pleased with the progress of lacrosse here during the past season when attendance records for many years were shattered. He said that the series may be played under new rules, such as those in vogue the past season here. Orillia played a slower game, but the Mann Cup series, although properly belonging to the 1934 season, may be decided under 1935 rules, which are expected to speed up the game considerably.

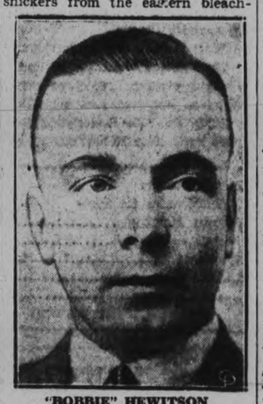
Central Press Canadian Sport Writer

TORONTO, Oct. 24.—For east is east and west is west and never the twain shall meet....not on a western Canadian gridiron, at any rate, according to the decision of the Canadian Rugby Union.

The Union has virtually told its western members that if they are really anxious for a Dominion final on a western gridiron, they'll have to come east and get it. In other words, not until the west captures the Canadian championship will the eastern squads leave their home grids.

Wrong Impression Given

Western reaction to this news could be heard from Victoria to Halifax and protestations of several thousand rugby enthusiasts on the prairies and westward should be received with more than polite snickers from the eastern bleachers, though the east takes no responsibility for the fact that almost every western sport writer was misled by the Canadian Rugby Union into believing that the Dominion title would be contested in the west this year.



"BOBBIE" HEWITSON

R. W. "Bobby" Hewitson, secretary of the C.R.U., takes pains to point out that in spite of his protests this impression got abroad last spring.

Perhaps it was a wrong impression but the decision of the Intercollegiate Union to withdraw from the play-offs on the grounds that teams would not be able to make the journey seems to give strength to the impression.

What actually transpired in that February meeting of the Canadian Rugby Union in Toronto was that Dr. E. A. McCusker of Regina, now president of the Union, reminded the assembly that last year the west had been virtually promised the 1934 play-offs.

Resolution Aided West

So Dr. McCusker and George Ballard, representing the Interprovincial Union, were sent out to draft a resolution.

Here is what they presented to the meeting:

Resolved: "That this Union go on record as favoring alternate play-offs on the following basis, i.e., that commencing this year 1934 the eastern winner play in the west, and that in the event of the eastern team defaulting that the western team be declared Dominion champions and the location of the final game remain in the west until a final play-off has been decided in the west, after which the plan of playing alternately east and west shall be continued, regardless of winner. Similarly, if the western team fails to come east, the location of the final play-off shall remain in the east until there has been a final decided in the east, and that this matter be referred to the Unions concerned with the request for their early consideration and report."

The resolution was formally presented and moved for adoption by George Ballard, with John DeGruchy, of Toronto, second vice-president of the Union, seconding it.

The resolution came before the meeting and everyone remarked what a nice resolution it was. In fact, it passed and everyone present was enthusiastic but only over the idea. For in the last clause the eastern representatives showed their colors.

Clubs Object

You see, these gentlemen were not in a position to express the wishes and opinions of the bodies which they represented, they were solely and individually expressing their own personal opinions.

The answer of the various bodies composing the Canadian Union was an emphatic negative. So the Union members in a thirty-minute meeting re-disposed of the question. They announced that the Canadian title would once again be decided on the gridiron of the team winning eastern laurels. For the present it would seem that the west's buoyant hopes of a play-off performance have burst.

"If the west won the championship, the east would then be obliged to go west in an attempt to win it back?' we suggested to the Canadian Union secretary.

West Made Many Trips

The Regina Roughriders made five consecutive excursions east in efforts to lift the coveted Grey cup, commencing in 1928. These trips, every one a failure, were expensive undertakings but were primarily a sporting gesture.

In 1933 Winnipeg, too, made a fruitless jaunt to the east. Sometimes the clubs even journeyed eastward minus the services of valuable players. There is no denying that the visiting team is under a disadvantage, playing on a strange grounds, under strange conditions, and after a three-day train ride. But the western teams have continued to come east and meet eastern champions in spite of these handicaps. They believe that these handicaps may have something to do with what is generally known as eastern supremacy.

This year they believed they could prove it.

SOUTH-ENDERS WIN FIRST GAME SCHOOL SERIES

Both Teams Play Clever Soccer For Possession of Alex Kay Trophy.

FINAL SCORE 3-1.

A real cup tie battle took place yesterday afternoon, on King Edward Park, when King Edward and Prince of Wales School teams played the first game of a series for the possession of the Alex. Kay Soccer Trophy that is emblematic of the Public School Soccer championship. The south-enders won the opening canto three goals to one. Their team combination being productive of success that was backed up by effective defensive understanding. Csumrik and Hollingsworth were best for the losers.

The return game will be played on the same field on Thursday night at four o'clock.

Goal in a Minute

From the kick off, King Edward penetrated the Prince of Wales' defence to leave Murduff in possession of the ball who touched it away out of the reach of the custodian. The West-Enders transferred the play into the South-Enders' territory to test Ferguson with a high shot from the foot of Whatman. Time and again, Hollingsworth and Leal, on the left wing, baffled the full back—Leggitt—with their clever combination but Howden was always behind awaiting a long punt up-field. Csumrik kept peppering the sphere back into goal, where King Edward goalie reigned supreme. Nice combination by Nokes and Mackness terminated in Campbell and Patterson blocking their progress as they tore in upon the goal. Hollingsworth trapped the ball from the clearance and dribbled his way past Leggitt, but again Howden relieved the pressure with a punt. Mid-field tactics held sway, neither front rank frustrating the half-back divisions, with D. Leal being outstanding with his intercepting of Murduff when he was in possession of the ball. Half-time: King Edward, 1; Prince of Wales, 0.

Perfect Combination

Prince of Wales opened up the second period with a barrage of shots upon Ferguson's charge while Leggitt and Howden relied upon their superior weight to take the ball away from the dangerous attacking front rank as the Prince of Wales left winger outwitted the full back to send a lightning drive across the goal. Grose cleared out of danger, but Leggitt brought down an opponent outside the dreaded area. Csumrik drove a rocket shot against the upright that was worth a counter; Hollingsworth met the rebound to hit the other upright. Tarkington trapping the ball to send it out of danger. King Edward replied with a continuous onslaught upon Jones' charge, who held the winners' attack with a smart display of goal tending.

King Edward centre headed in a gentle touch from Mackness, but Campbell headed out. From a scrimmage that ensued later, Prince of Wales had to concede defeat when Grose banged a loose ball through a sea of legs to beat Jones, with no chance to save. From a breakaway by Nokes, Murduff registered the third counter. With five minutes to play, Prince of Wales bombarded the winners' goal to gain a penalty kick when Leggitt brought down a player illegally. Csumrik delivered a rocket drive from the spot kick to beat Ferguson all the way. The losers were pressing as final whistle blew. King Edward 3, Prince of Wales 1.

Goal scorers—King Edward, Murduff (2), and Grose. Prince of Wales—Csumrik.

Prince of Wales—H. Jones, goal. A. Campbell and E. Patterson, full backs; D. Leal, S. Csumrik and G. Curtain, halves; B. Leal, A. Maldover, J. Hollingsworth, M. Williamson and R. Whatman, forwards. Subs.—T. McDonald, A. Todd and T. Jackson.

Under the critical eye of H. Bamforth, coach of the P.C.I. senior gridiron team, the local intermediate O.R.F.U. squad worked through a strenuous practice at King Edward Park last evening as a starter in their preparation for their crucial contest here next Saturday with Belleville. Every player was on hand and enthusiastically participated in the stiff drill. All reported themselves as completely recovered from the aches and pains suffered in consequence of the hectic struggle last Saturday in the Quinte City. Coach Bamforth taught them several new plays, which should prove very helpful. Another hard workout will be given the squad this evening, and then drilling will be gradually slackened off so that the squad may be in top form when they hit the gridiron at Riverside Park on Saturday.

• • • • • •

Coach Bamforth received the warm thanks of the Petes for his advice, particularly owing to the fact that the intermediates know that the P.C.I. mentor is having his own rugby worries these days. On Saturday his Garnet and Grey team invades Lindsay and will strive to topple the huskies of the Scugog school team from the leadership of the interscholastic league. It will be the hardest game of the season for P.C.I. and the one for which Coach Bamforth has been preparing for the past two weeks. It was to have his squad right for this struggle that caused Coach Bamforth to keep four of his regulars, suffering from minor injuries, out of the game in Belleville last week.

• • • • • • •

A win for the Garnet and Grey over Lindsay will earn them tie with that team for first place. P.C.I. were outlucked more than outplayed when they lost to the Scugog squad at Riverside Park a week ago last Saturday. With the team at full strength and a fair share of the breaks going their way, P.C.I. might well gain a win but it is a difficult assignment.

• • • • • • •

Commenting on the Petes' intermediate O.R.F.U. victory in Belleville, the Quinte sport scribe states that the better condition shown by the winners was a big factor in the game. "Lack of condition was noticed in the Belleville ranks as the visitors showed more power as the game progressed," is one of his comments. He makes much of that touchdown Belleville failed to get when the home squad had the ball on the Petes' three-yard line and could not get it over in three downs. One of his suggestions is that the Quinte team was robbed, that the ball was carried over the line. Then he criticizes the Belleville quarter for sending three bucks through centre in trying to plunge it over, instead of mixing up his plays.

• • • • • • •

It is probable that Hilton, captain and backfield star of the Belleville Collegiate team, now that his team has been eliminated from any chance for the league title will play on the half-line of the O.R.F.U. squad. He is a fast open-field runner and P.C.I. tacklers found him a difficult man to stop. Coach Shields could find good use for him on the big Belleville team, particularly as the Belleville sport scribe states that two more players, Roy Covert and George Holgate, suffered injuries to their ankles that may keep them out of the game here.

• • • • • • •

Don Crawford's King Edward School soccer team seems bent on winning the Alex Kay Cup, emblematic of the Public School soccer championship, again this year. Sweeping along with smart combination, the south-end school defeated the Prince of Wales' squad yesterday afternoon 3-1 in the first game of the finals for the cup. The game drew a large number of spectators and an even larger group will be on hand Thursday afternoon to view the second contest.

• • • • • • •

The winner of the rugby game here Saturday will probably be drawn against Oshawa Blue Devils or Mining World Eastsides, of Toronto, in the first round of the intermediate O.R.F.U. playdowns. Oshawa and Eastsides are busy playing a two-game series for the championship of their group, and the series will be over Saturday. The Blue Devils, with one or two exceptions, are composed of players who graduated during the past few years from Oshawa Collegiate teams.

Wearied by the hard grind, the Dean brothers have decided to take no more chances with their pitching arms and finished their barnstorming jaunt yesterday in Pittsburg. The Deans will appear for a week in vaudeville along Broadway and then retire to their homes for a well-earned rest. It has been suggested that the St. Louis Cardinals may have to sell one of the brothers before next season to recuperate the treasury.

Bill Morgenstern Ret s From Gloom With Brilliant Wins of Chicago.

MIKE TOBIN COMING BACK.

(By PAUL MICKELSON)

CHICAGO, Oct. 24. (AP).—Who suffers the most mental anguish when the proud old university's football team takes it on the chin Saturday after Saturday? The coach His wife? The team captain or students, who wager and lose the last dollar of their allowances? All wrong!

It's the weary university athletic press agent. There's a man who really suffers when the team is riding the rocks.

Take the Big Ten conference for instance.

For many autumns, the gloomiest man in all Big Ten circles was Bill Morgenstern of Chicago. When Chicago felt its way along the conference bottoms, Bill was a confirmed pessimist who figured Chicago surely would fumble on its own one yard line. His copy was searched in vain for superlatives unless it told about the Maroon gym or tennis team. To-day it's different. The Maroons are winning, Bill is smiling and his copy sparkles.

Mike Tobin of Illinois wrote himself out during Red Grange's touchdown era, fired unheard of superlatives at the unsuspecting sports writer. Then came the Illinois football depression. Mike slumped and took each defeat harder than Coach Bob Zuppke himself. Now the Illinois are marching to victory again, and Mike is rising to the occasion.

When Notre Dame lost its first game of the season at home for the first time in almost half a century, Joe Petritz wasted away to a shadow.

CLUB-HOUSE OPEN WINTER MONTHS

Lawn Bowling Executive Plans Activities to Help Defray Expenses.

At a recent meeting of the House committee of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club, it was decided to keep the club house open for the coming winter months. Just how to do this advantageously was the problem that has given this committee a lot of serious thought and consideration. After several meetings however they came to the conclusion that by carrying on several social functions and by renting the club rooms to parties for dances that not only would they be meeting the wishes of many interested persons but that all these activities would help to carry the expense of heating the club house and other expense connected with such an undertaking.

The first event of interest to bowlers will be the opening night on Tuesday evening, 8 p.m. It will be a carpet bowling tournament mixed, and a small fee will be charged. This is meant as a cordial invitation to all and this committee would appreciate the co-operation and support of all bowlers and their friends.

B. Chesler is the chairman of this committee and anyone desirous of booking the club house for a party can reach him by telephone.

Church Basketball League

At a Church Basketball League executive meeting held last night at the Y.M.C.A., with J. C. McClenaghan, Harry Walsh, Walt Ward and Don Charlton present, the schedules for the coming season were drawn up. A record entry of teams was announced by the secretary, Don Charlton—eight Juvenile and six Junior. The league is fortunate in also securing time each Saturday night for the next six weeks for an extra game. The Y.M.C.A. were kind enough to offer the use of their gym. floor for an extra hour, giving the league an opportunity to have four games per night until the City League starts in December.

The Juvenile section is split into two divisions with Knox, St. John's, Trinity and Murray Street in one series, and St. Andrew's, George Street, St. Paul's and St. James' in the other. These are according to a draw made a week ago. Each series will play a double schedule with the first of "A" series meeting the 2nd team of "B," and the first team of "B" series meeting the second team of "A" series in sudden-death games. The two final teams playing a two-game, total-point round.

The Junior section is the same as published before, except for the withdrawal of St. Andrew's and a last-minute entrance of St. John's. St. James', Trinity, Murray Street, George Street, and St. Paul's complete a fast six-team loop. These games have been and will be further held back so as not to interfere too much with players who also play school rugby.

The teams were drawn to play in the scheduled order as below.

This section will play a single schedule with the leading four teams playing a second schedule. The two teams leading on total games will play a two-game total-point round.

It was decided at last night's meeting that all games will be forfeited until a team has handed in its entry fee of $1, also their list of names. These can be given to any member of the executive: Jim McClenaghan (chairman), Harry Walsh, Walt. Ward, Nels Stanger, or Don Charlton (secretary-treas.).

WALKER RESIGNS CUBS' PRESIDENT

P. K. Wrigley to Take Over Presidency During 1935 Season.

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—(AP)—William Murray Walker, who recently told baseball writers there would be some "startling changes" in the Chicago Cub lineup next season, found himself today to be change number one.

Either by choice, request or both, Walker resigned the presidency of the club yesterday after selling his 1,274 shares of stock to Philip K. Wrigley, who announced that he would take over the presidency and run the club along his own ideas.

Wrigley, who didn't take much of an interest in baseball until the death of his father, William Wrigley Jr., in January, 1932, said Walker's resignation came without any quarrel or clash, but admitted that he and the former Cub chief had divergent aims and policies.

Walker, second largest stockholder whose interest in the club dated from the dissolution of the federal league in 1914, had nothing to say about his resignation. Today, he returned to his fish business, which made him a wealthy man.

Professional Hockey For Maritime Clubs?

HALIFAX, October 24. — Rumor that clubs in the Maritime Hockey League might turn professional for the 1934-35 season were published by the Halifax Mail yesterday.

Words to this effect have been floating from mouth to mouth among local sportsmen for the past week or ten days, it was stated, and "greybeards of local sportdom openly predict a major break in the situation that exists at the present time."

Difficulty of securing the transfers of importees, upon whom the league depends for most of its players, from the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association and branches, was given as one of the outstanding reasons for the possibility of a change. Not one of the newcomers to the line-ups of Charlottetown, Halifax and St. John teams have yet received cards permitting them to play with the respective clubs.

According to the rumors, the league would "open its 1934-35 schedule as an organized professional ice circuit affiliated with the National Hockey League, and fully adopting its rules and regulations.

CHAPTER 12

Molly came back with their orders and Tim silently moved the paper back from the table and went on with his reading. Lee dipped into the sugar bowl she drew near his cup and murmured vague thanks. Molly flounced away resentfully.

The story in the Sun went on:

As far as police could discover Reeves left his home at 2486 Ranning road last night after a strange and incoherent conversation with his wife, in which he intimated, Mrs. Reeves said, that he intended to commit suicide.

Mrs. Reeves, tall, quiet and distinguished, received the news of her husband's death with apparent unconcern. The couple had been married about two years.

"He said, 'You'll never see me again,'" Mrs. Reeves told Inspector Lee.

Mrs. Reeves said that her husband had said on leaving the house at about seven-thirty that he was going to his office to work.

"He must have been trying to tell me he was going to commit suicide," Mrs. Reeves said. She said she was at home all evening.

Inspector Lee said that he would question Mrs. Reeves in detail later in the day. The inspector also said that he was sure that Reeves had been murdered.

Reeves had been an instructor at the university for only a year, Professor Malcom Wilson, English department head, said. He was quiet, did not associate a great deal with fellow teachers and was considered by the student body to be unduly sarcastic. He was famous on the campus for his sharp tongue.

Professor Wilson said that Reeves had been invited to come from Texas to the university because of the Bierce thesis.

"I feel that I speak for the president as well as for the English department when I say that we are stunned by the untimely death of this brilliant young man," Professor Wilson said. "We are more than anxious to help police in a solution of this dreadful crime although, of course, we are all at a terrible loss to account for it. There is nothing we know in the life or the associations of this young man which would account for the tragedy."

The light on Reeves' desk was burning when the body was found and it presumably had burned since the murder. McManus said he probably did not notice the light when he passed the window because of the bright sun.

McManus said he arrived at the university to begin his usual routine at seven-fifteen. Shortly before eight he opened the door of the office which Reeves shared with Ralph Jamieson, a fellow instructor, and saw the body between the desk and the door.

McManus said he ran out of the office to summon authorities and met Callaghan walking across the street in front of the English House.

Accompanied by McManus, Callaghan went to the office, examined the body and told McManus that nothing in the room must be touched until the arrival of detectives. Callaghan said he particularly noted the revolver.

Callaghan said that with McManus he closed the two windows, locked the door, and went across the hall to telephone police, returning to stand guard until the arrival of Inspector Lee.

When police arrived the revolver was gone.

Late this morning the murder office was guarded by a police detail who shooed away hundreds of curious students.

Reeves' body was taken to county morgue and was undergoing autopsy by County Coroner D. A. Holmes this afternoon.

Tim was chuckling loudly when Lee finished. The detective laid down his paper questioningly.

"Flackner must have been somewhere near when you made that crack to Brown," said the reporter. "Listen to this:

"'Detective Inspector Thomas Lee, in charge of the investigation, refused this morning to see a reporter from the World or to give him any statement regarding the case. When told by a policeman that reporters wished to see him or to have him issue a statement, Inspector Lee retorted loudly, "Tell them we're having a garden party in here and that the Duchess of York is pouring tea," and entered the room where police were examining witnesses, slamming the door behind him.

"'With him at the time was a reporter for the Sun, who had arrived at the English House with the inspector in a police car and had been permitted to listen in on all questioning of witnesses.'"

Lee banged his fist on the table and exploded, "That cub! I'll make him damned sorry for that!"

"Sh," murmured Tim, "Molly'll get sore at us if we get noisy." Then seriously, "Never mind, inspector. Flackner isn't a cub and naturally he's sore —you can't blame him. And the World will probably take you for a ride tomorrow in an editorial. Let it go. I've got an idea that will take your mind off all that."

"You mean this business about the gun?" queried Lee, hopefully tapping a paragraph of Tim's story.

"Yeah, but first we've got to talk over the witnesses' statements."

"O. K. Better be skimming through them while you eat," replied the detective handing Tim the sheaf of papers which Ruth Turner had typed.

They were silent for a while except for the crisp paper rustling in Tim's hands. Once Lee called, "Molly, another cup of coffee."

Finally Tim pushed back his plate and leaned forward earnestly. "You know, inspector, there isn't a one of them that has an alibi that will hold water. Wilson was driving around with a headache. Henderson was home alone and so was Miss Edwards. Walker was with his wife and she'll say whatever he tells her to. Ruth Turner was with Jamieson till nine and then she was home alone too."

"Jamieson was with Mrs. Reeves from nine to nine-thirty, you'll notice, but it took him an hour to get home after that and a cripple could walk the distance in half an hour," pointed out Lee. "At the same time, it'll be difficult to prove that any of them weren't where they say they were. No witnesses that they were at home means none that they weren't, too. Don't forget that."

Tim was tracing patterns on the tile with his pencil, circles with interlocking triangles. He always drew them when he was puzzled. "But if Jamieson spent any time at all with Mrs. Reeves and they were as friendly as he says they were, why didn't she tell you this morning that he was there, instead of saying she was alone all evening?"

Lee shrugged. "Don't ask me why she said or did anything. She's a question mark. Either she's a darned good actress or she really believes it was suicide. As for Jamieson, he's worried about something—something that happened last night. I'd lay a bet that he didn't leave her at her apartment at nine-thirty. Either he went earlier or later or she went with him when he did go. He was too anxious to find out what she had said about it before he answered my question."

"You're scenting a triangle."

Lee nodded heavily.

AGREEMENT RECEIVED

TORONTO.—Hon. David Croll, Ontario Minister of Public Welfare and Municipal Affairs, said to-day he had received from Ottawa, a copy of the unemployed relief agreement between the Dominion and the Province.

There could be no announcement, however, until he had gone through the report, the minister said. "It's a bulky thing and there's a great deal of checking to do before we can say anything for publication."

THE TUTTS By Crawford Young

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Thursday, October 25

According to the lunar transits intervening on the affairs of this day there is likely to be much friction, inharmony and unpleasantness in all relations of life, both business and concerning the private associations. In the latter a sign of jealousy and contention is foreseen, while in business contacts there is need to refrain from quarrels, impetuosity, rash and headlong moves.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves confronted by a year in which much may depend on the poise, restraint and self-control brought to bear upon passing events. There are indications of tempestuous, impulsive and passionate tendencies which are likely to find unpleasant and unhappy reactions and complications in both business, social, domestic and affectional matters.

A child born on this day may be inclined to be rash, turbulent, headstrong and indulgent in its private as well as business life, although merry and lively.

NOTE THREATENS MILLIONAIRESS

Mrs. Vanderbilt Told to Meet Unknown Person at Theatre if Gloria's Life Valued.

POLICE TRAP FAILS.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24 (A.P.)—The forbidding brownstone front of Mrs. Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt's home frowned down to-day on a police guard, established after Mrs. Vanderbilt received a threat against the life of her little millionairess daughter.

"If you value the life of your child, do not fail to meet me in front of the Metropolitan Theatre in Brooklyn at 10:30 p.m., Friday," said a crude note delivered last Tuesday at the Vanderbilt home. "I will be waiting for you. If you do not keep the appointment you will hear from me again."

Anxiously Mrs. Vanderbilt communicated with police and a guard was posted about the home here.

The child Gloria is at the old Westbury, Long Island estate of her paternal aunt, Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, with whom Mrs. Vanderbilt is engaged in a court contest over custody of the ten-year-old heiress.

The threatening note, scrawled in pencil on paper that apparently was torn from a cheap copybook, bore two circles, fashioned after those of the mystic symbol in the Lindbergh kidnapping notes, but there was no mention of the word "kidnap," and no demand for money — simply notice of the appointment.

Mrs. Vanderbilt vetoed a suggestion by police that she keep the rendezvous, acting as a decoy to catch the writer. A police woman took her place, powdering her nose before the theatre at the appointed hour, in accordance with instructions.

Detectives stood on all sides, ready to spring the ambush, but no one appeared.

How to Make Better Cough Remedy Than You Can Buy

A Big Saving, and It's So Easy! No Cooking!

Cough medicines usually contain a large quantity of plain syrup—a good ingredient, but one which you can easily make at home. Take 2 cups of granulated sugar and 1 cup of water, and stir a few moments until dissolved. No cooking! No trouble at all.

Then get from your druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a 16 oz. bottle, and add your syrup. This gives you 16 ounces of truly wonderful cough remedy, far better than anything you could buy ready-made, and you get four times as much for your money. It lasts a long time, never spoils, and children love its taste.

This is positively the most effective, quick-acting cough remedy that money could buy. Instantly, you feel it penetrating the air passages. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm, soothes and heals the inflamed membranes, and makes breathing easy. You've never seen its equal for prompt, lasting results.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, the most reliable healing agent for severe coughs. It is guaranteed to please you, or money refunded.

PICCARDS LAND GREAT BALLOON IN OHIO WOODS

Ruin Gas Bag But Save Gondola and Instruments Intact.

SOAR OVER 10 MILES.

CADIZ, O., Oct. 24 (AP)—The skylarking Piccards and Lilly the Turtle are back on earth.

The first flight by balloon into the stratosphere—a rare atmosphere belting the earth where man needs a mechanical oxygen supply—in which a woman has participated, ended without ceremony in a woods near here late yesterday. Prof. and Mrs. Lean Piccard just pleumped to the ground and it was over.

With them was Lilly, the tiny turtle mascot, named Fluer de Lys at birth.

An eight-hours quest for information about the cosmic ray by aid of delicate instruments carried the naturalized Swiss scientist and brother of another stratosphersit, Auguste Piccard, from the Ford Airport at Dearborn, Mich., across Lake Erie and on to the gentle rolling terrain of Eastern Ohio.

After Ray Data.

The profit in the flight, in which the Piccards did not try for any great altitude, will lie in what they contributed to the knowledge of the cosmic ray. Dr. W. F. G. Swann, Franklin Institute ray expert at Swartmore, Pa., said last night he expects to learn a "great deal" through the Piccards' efforts.

The Piccards reached a probable height of more than 10 miles—the exact height awaits calibration of their barograph at Washington—cruised serenely above a dense blanket of clouds for hours while bright sunlight flashed from their craft, and came down four and a half miles south-west of here.

They might have gone further, opined Mrs. Piccard as she restored her makeup, but the sun failed to expand their oxygen and the Appalachian Mountains were getting uncomfortably close.

The landing itself, in her words, was a "mess." The voyagers settled a little bumpily into the trees. Practically ruining the gas envelope, but the gondola and instruments were safe.

J. A. Fox, of Wingham, was re-elected vice-president, and George W. Doxsee, Toronto, secretary-treasurer. The directorate appointed was as follows: J. M. Anderson, Galt; J. A. Cudmore, Toronto; J. A. Dr. W. C. Schultze, president of the National College of Chiropractic, of Chicago, speaking before delegates at the annual convention of the Chiropractors and Drugless Physicians of Ontario in the Royal Connaught hotel last night, stated that every person who had ever been in an accident should seek an examination at the hands of a good doctor of chiropractic, in order to have his or her "line-shaft" checked up for torsions, stresses, strains and subluxations which often leave in their wake physical difficulties of far-reaching importance.

ARMY IS COUNTRY'S TRAGEDY DECLARES SAVANT OF RUSSIA

But Necessary to Prevent Destruction by Surrounding Nations, He Adds.

EDUCATE FOR PEACE

(By Coralie Van Paassen, Central Press Canadian Writer.)

MOSCOW, Oct. 24.—Both Russia and Germany have tremendous armies. But there is one difference. In Germany the government does everything in its power to make the population war-minded with newspapers day in day out exalting war as the noblest human experience, the highest good to be attained being death on the battlefield, while in Russia it's just the other way around. They think and they say here till it becomes almost monotonous to hear, that war is the most barbarous and futile thing that can be imagined. I doubt whether there is another country in the world where so much peace propaganda is made as here in Russia.

"But human nature is human nature and wars have always been and are likey to stay with us forever," I said to Nicolai Bucharin, to whom I was introduced at the Literary Congress.

"Now, that is exactly where you are wrong," replied Bucharin.

"Human nature can change and is changing and we see it change before our very eyes. Why should war be eternal when nothing else is? Humanity got rid of pestilence and black death and cholera. Why shouldn't we succeed some day in eradicating the greatest scourge of all?"

Bucharin is a professor of philosophy and socia science. I take it that he is something of a Bolshevik brain-truster. But just because he is a savant he talks a little in the manner of the schoolmaster; I mean he lays down the law to you and is impatient of contradiction.

Can't Disarm

"Some day is a long way off," I said in reply.

"Not as far as you think," he came back. "We are isolating the germ of war. We know what breeds war. If we remove the cause we shall also eliminate war, just as science will soon find a cure for cancer if only the cancer garm can be isolated."

"You talk a lot of doing away with war in this country," I remarked, "but it really looks to me as if you don't take your own medicine. You must have about the biggest army in the world. Why don't you show the way then, if you know the way?"

"Yes, we have a big army and we dreadfully sorry about it," said Bucharin. "We think it is a terrible waste of time, money and effort. But if we send our soldiers home, you know what would happen; we would be pounced upon from all sides and our country would be divided into colonies for the capitalist powers to exploit. Don't think we have never envisaged the idea of total and immediate disarmament. We have," went on Bucharin. "We have often wondered if we should not disarm in spite of everything and take the risk."

Armaments a Tragedy

"It would be the greatest event in the history of the world," I said.

"Yes, it would be, you are right," he replied, "but we would not survive a year. We would be destroyed in a year's time by the so-called Christian states. The land-grabbers are watching us even now and we have to spend billions and billions of gold roubles every years for crazy things like tanks and guns, where we need hospitals and medicine and schools and things of that kind. That is our tragedy exactly. If we did not have this terrible burden of our war machinery to support, we would soon show the world what socialism means to a people who give it a try. Now the process is much slower.

Pity Militarists

Bucharin was not the only one to talk that way. Everybody feels the same way about it here. The idea, so frequently expressed abroad, that the Russians are building up a big army to conquer the world, you don't encounter here, not a trace of it.

If they envisaged world conquest, they would have to start out by teaching people to hate other nations and that is just exactly what they don't do in the U.S.S.R. They are not even taught to hate the Japanese. They are sorry for the Japanese people if they should listen to their militarist chiefs who preach war by conquest. They are sorry for the German people. But they hate nobody. They don't look down on any people, not even upon the most backward.

They don't advocate "civilising" anybody by force of arms. They believe that any and every people can rise to the highest degree of civilisation if given a chance.

And that's the finest thing I have encountered in Russia—that spirit of friendship for all.

CANADA'S UNSOLVED MYSTERIES

No. 7—Murder of a Lone Trapper

By CAMPBELL CARROLL

(Canadian Press Staff Writer

HULL, Que., Oct. 24 (C.P.). — A trapper's shanty in the northern woods was the locale of one of the most baffling crimes in the list of unsolved murders in Quebec.

The victim was Joseph Durant, a 30-year-old woodsman of Pontiac County, who lived the life of a hermit in a rude little hut he had himself constructed about 150 miles north of Campbell's Bay.

On April 19, 1928, a fellow trapper, A. Sammon, returning south after several months in the bush, called on the Durant shack. His knocks going unanswered, he pushed open the door of the hut. On the floor lay the body of Durant with blood still trickling from a bullet wound just beneath the heart. There was no sign of a struggle. The interior of the place was neat and tidy.

Sammon placed the body on a camp bed under a small crucifix before which Durant used to pray and made the best speed possible to Bryson where he passed word of his grim discovery to the authorities.

The Attorney-General of Quebec immediately ordered a thorough investigation. Two of the ablest detectives in the province were sent to the scene of the crime. They covered the 150 miles from Campbell's Bay to the trapper's hut by dog sled.

An examination of the premises confirmed Sammon's report but the detectives' task was rendered difficult by a fall of snow which had obliterated all traces of snowshoes or footprints.

Reconstructing the crime as far as possible the police believed Durant had been shot while eating a meal. It was thought he was given no warning of attack as there was no indication that he had made any effort to get to his rifle which hung on the wall.

TANKER LIMPS TOWARD HAVEN

Captain Reports By Wireless After Hours of Silence in Typhoon.

APPROACHES GUAM.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 24 (AP)—Battered by the terrific force of a South Pacific typhoon, the Richfield oil tanker Larry Doheny limped toward a haven at the Island of Guam to-day.

The fate of the vessel and its crew of 40 was uncertain for hours yesterday after the raging storm apparently damaged its radio equipment and silenced frantic distress calls.

Communications were established with the tanker late last night and Captain Wilder notified the Radio-Marine Corporation here that he was proceeding to Guam for inspection and repairs.

Three other ships, the United States navy transport, Gold Star; the freighter Olympia, and the Japanese freighter Oregon Maru, sped to the aid of the stricken tanker.

The typhoon, the third in the last ten days, roared toward the Philippines and storm warnings were out again at Manila.

BATTLE TO 1-1 TIE.

GLASGOW, Oct. 24 (C.P. Cable). —Hearts and Hamilton Academicals who have been locked in a remarkably even race in the First Division of the Scottish Soccer League, today battled to a 1-1 tie.

The result put the clubs in a deadlock with Rangers and Clyde for second place to St. Johnstone, three points ahead.

Winnipeg Monarchs Not Play In England

LONDON, Oct. 24 (CP)—Winnipeg Monarch, named by the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association to officially represent Canada at Davos, Switzerland, this winter to defend what is known as the world's amateur championship, will not perform in England at all, it is learned here.

Satisfactory financial arrangements could not be made between British sports interests and the Monarch who will tour several European countries.

But England may have a "Canada versus England" series of test matches anyway unless Canadian authorities take steps to have the series named something else. P. K. Reynolds, European representative of the C.A.H.A., said he will vigorously fight the plans.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—(A P) —Torn ligaments in his chest have forced Roland Mackenzie, Congressional Club golf professional, to resort to one-handed playing. The former Walker Cup star yesterday turned in an 83 using only his right hand.

DRYS IN MINDEN MAKE PROTEST

Two Beverage Rooms Flourish on Main Street—One in Banned Area.

LINDSAY FAIR HAS PROFIT.

LINDSAY, Oct. 24 (Examiner Correspondence).—A peculiar situation has developed in the village of Minden. Two beverage rooms are in operation at that point. One is situated on one side of the main street which is in the township of Minden, a dry area. The other does business on the other side, which is the Township of Anson and Hindon. This situation was not considered when the authority was given to the hostelry in the dry area. It is understood the matter is being brought to the attention of the government.

Tribute was paid yesterday by local veteran curlers to the late Sam Ray and the late Thomas Brightman, the last of the veteran curlers of Peterborough. "Bob" Knowlson, who has been a member of the local curling club for over fifty years, and is still active, and Edward Gregory, another old member, were deeply moved when informed by The Examiner. "They are the last of the old boys," said Mr. Knowlson, "and finer curlers and better sports it would be hard to find. They curled because they loved the game. I am the last of the old timers in Lindsay, but we one and all had a warm welcome for Tom Brightman and Sam Ray whenever they visited Lindsay."

A profit of $2,617.92 is shown by Lindsay Exhibition this year after all accounts are paid, is the report presented by the directorate following a recent meeting. The surplus will be applied to the paying off of $2,000 from the outstanding bonds. It was decided to give more prize money in future for prizes in grain and seeds and practical farm products and less in fancy breeds of fowl.

The Liberal-Progressive Association of Victoria and Haliburton are holding a convention here on November 1 to nominate a candidate for the Federal election. Hon. W. D. Euler, former Minister of National Revenue, will be the speaker. It is understood that Bruce McNevin, President of the local Liberal-Progressive Association, will be the candidate.

LONDON, Ont.—During the past year 966 persons were fed in London on 11½ cents a day each and got fat on it. They were the "guests" at the Middlesex county jail. Sheriff Donald Graham has just completed his annual jail report for the past 12 months. It shows that during the year 890 men and 76 women spent time behind bars. Of the men 294 were married and the rest were single. There were 37 married women.

MUNICIPALITIES WILL BE SAVED $70,000 YEARLY

Boards to Go in Cities Under $70,000—Judges, Magistrates to Handle Applicants.

FIRE MOST INSPECTORS.

System to Cut Wait for Decisions From Months to About 2 Weeks.

TORONTO, Oct. 25. — Change in administration of the Old Age Pension Act, "which will unquestionably be in the interest of efficiency and fair treatment of applicants and pensioners, and will permit of saving of at least $30,000 a year to the province and $70,000 to $80,000 a year to the municipalities," was announced today by Hon. David Croll, Minister of Public Welfare.

At present, the minister said, applicants for old age pensions and pensioners are under supervision of local boards, who make the recommendations re-checked by inspectors whose salaries and expenses are paid by the Department of Public Welfare, at an annual cost of approximately $36,500. Inspection cost is borne by the province though cost of the pensions is borne 75 percent by the dominion, 10 percent by the municipality and 15 percent by the province.

Work for Judges, Magistrates

Mr. Croll said after a careful survey of the system, which he said had been planned as temporary, he decided applications and reviews "might better be handled by county judges and magistrates who are immune from local influences and political pressure, and who are best qualified to pass upon the genuineness of applicants, judicial training is of special importance in this connection."

Hon. Wesley A. Gordon, Dominion Minister of Labor, has given his assent to the change in behalf of the Dominion said Mr. Croll and the new system will be brought into operation by order-in-council effective Jan. 1, 1935.

Mr. Croll, who expressed the belief, "Because of its merit it would not be surprising if other provinces should adopt it after watching the results in Ontario" said in brief the plan includes these points:

"1. The Provincial inspection system is to be done away with, with the exception of perhaps three inspectors, for special investigations and for the northern part of the province.

Diversion to be Made

"2. Three types of municipality will be recognized—cities of over 70,000 population, (Toronto, Hamilton, Ottawa and London) counties, cities under 70,000 and separ-

HEPBURN WANTS GOLD TAX BACK

Premier Fails to See Dominion's Right to Levy on Province's Product.

BRING IT UP AT PARLEY.

TORONTO, Oct. 25 (C.P.).—Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn said definitely to-day the Province of Ontario would endeavor to recover what it considers it's share to the tax levied on gold production.

The Premier said he questioned legality of the Dominion "to step in here over our heads and tax our gold. They might just as well tax our fish or any of our natural products." The matter "undoubtedly" will be discussed at the interprovincial conference with Dominion Government authorities at Ottawa, he said.

The people of Ontario had paid for cost of developing the northern section of the province, and at present are paying for construction of the new power developments, said Mr. Hepburn, and he didn't consider the Dominion had a right to derive the benefit from any tax levied on gold production.

INDIANA HOME YIELDS GUNMEN $60,000 IN LOOT

Kidnap Town Marshal, Use Him as Decoy at Movie Union Head's Home.

NAB JEWELS, UNION FUND.

Five Desperadoes, All Masked, Leave Three Occupants Bound and Disappear.

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., Oct. 25.—(A.P.)—Five armed men kidnapped the town marshal of suburban Long Beach late last night, and using him as a decoy obtained entrance to the home of Thomas Maloy, head of the Chicago Motion Picture Operators' Union, robbing it of cash and jewelry reported to total $62,000.

Town Marshal Thurman Riordan said that he was halted by the gang on a Long Beach street and forced to go with them to the Maloy home, where they ordered him to knock on the door.

Riordan was known to the family, he said, and the door was opened, whereupon three of the gang rushed in, overpowering Mrs. Maloy and two others in the house, while two remained on guard outside.

They tied up Mrs. Maloy and Mr. and Mrs. Gascogne, then ransacked the house, escaping after taking the money and jewelry from its hiding place in a closet.

The prisoners shook off their bonds about an hour after the robbery occurred. Of the loot $50,000 was reported to have been in cash, and investigators assumed that the money was a union fund. Maloy, a prominent figure in the Labor world, could not be reached for comment. He was reported to be on a hunting trip in Canada.

Both Riordan and the Michigan city police were reluctant to discuss the robbery, but it was learned that the robbers, all of whom were armed and masked, seemed to know that the house contained a large sum of money.

Derby Winners Given Their Victory Ship

MELBOURNE, Australia, Oct. 25.—(A P)—The aeroplane in which the British flyers C. W. A. Scott and T. Campbell Black slashed all speed records from England to Australia was given to them today by the backer of their flight and owner of the plane, A. O. Edwards of London.

Scott and Black received half of the first prize of $50,000. The machine (De Haviland Comet) will be shipped to London in Nevember.

A leading Australian air line offered £20,000 (about $100,000) for the "Floating Hotel" in which the Dutch pilots, J. D. Parmentier and J. J. Moll won second place. It is of American (Douglas) make.

The Weather

A year ago yesterday we had the first heavy snowfall of an unusually severe winter. Four and a half inches of heavy, wet snow fell, necessitating the bringing out of the city's snow plow equipment. Snow also fell on the 25th and 28th, but disappeared. It again fell on Nov. 7th, and was continuously on the ground until the end of April. The first zero weather was Nov. 15th. This was the earliest zero weather for 90 years. Four zero days occurred in November and twelve in December, with the most severe on Dec. 29, with 34 below. I have noticed that when the winter begins early, and is severe, it continues that way, and last winter was an example.—W.P.

MAJOR RAILWAY ECONOMY LIES IN UNIFICATION

So Beatty States in Replying to Fullerton's Maritime Speeches.

POINTS TO DEFICIT.

$644,000,000 Piled Up Since 1923 Equals 98 p.c. Income Tax in Same Period.

MONTREAL, Oct. 25.—(C.P.)—An emphatic declaration that only by unification of Canada's two railway systems can the greatest economies be effected, was made here to-day by E. W. Beatty, K.C., President of the Canadian Pacific Railway, replying to speeches made recently in the Maritime Provinces by Hon. C. P. Fullerton, chairman of trustees of the Canadian National Railways.

Mr. Beatty stated that accumulated Canadian National Railways deficits since 1923 totalled $644,000,000, then drew some comparisons.

The deficits were equal to 21.5 cents per bushel of wheat, including flour, exported during the same period; they exceeded the total gold production of Canada by $175,000,000 during the same period; the production of Canadian fisheries by deficit tax of $3.45 on every pair of deficit tax of $3.45 on every pair of shoes manufactured in Canada; were equal to 98.6 per cent. of the income taxes collected from persons and corporations during the period, or to 93.6 per cent. of the sales tax, which Mr. Beatty pointed out, enters into the price of practically every comomdity purchased in Canada.

His Fullerton's Attitude

In his prepared statement Mr. Beatty declared: "It is unfortunate that Mr. Fullerton in stating his opinions, should endeavor to minimize the disastrous effects of those recurring deficits and that he should proceed on the assumption that the country will be satisfied with the threadbare assurance that time and tide in some mysterious way will convert a crushing liability into an asset.

"In reply to those who advocate unification, he does suggest that all the economies possible under plan proposed could be accomplished through co-operation. Such a statement is palpably absurd, unless it is assumed that no substantial economies will be permitted under either system. . . .

"I have always anticipated that if the principle of unification becomes acceptable to Canadians as a whole they will get behind all efforts to effect the economies so badly needed and if this theory is not entirely unsound there can be no doubt that the maintenance of two independent systems cannot, with the greatest possible co-operation approach the economies possible through the unification of management of the two systems."

Britain-U.S. Protest Jap Oil Monopoly

(C.P. and A.P. Cable.)

Britain, the United States, and Holland to-day made representations to Japan over the announcement of an oil monopoly in her puppet state of Manchukuo, asserting this monopoly, harming foreign oil interests in Manchuria, was a violation of the open door policy which Japan has recognized by treaty and statement.

At the same time in London British and United States naval representatives let it be known they could not accept the Japanese proposal for equality in principle in naval defence.

MONTREAL AREA SEES 11 KILLED SINCE SUNDAY

Four-year Girl and Sherbrooke Youth Are Latest Two Victims.

ALL AUTO ACCIDENTS.

MONTREAL, Oct. 25 (CP) — Eleven deaths was the toll to-day in an almost unprecendented wave of automobile accidents that has swept Montreal and the surrounding district since Sunday.

The wave failed to show any sign of lowering last night as two more names were added to the rapidly lengthening list of fatal accidents. In the north end of Montreal four-year-old Therese Lalibertte was killed outright when she was struck down by a car as she attempted to dash across the street.

At Marieville, Que., a few miles out of Montreal on the highway to Sherbrooke, Francois Boisvert, 25, a Montrealer, was found dead on the road, his head badly crushed and with multiple fractures of bones in his body. Driver of the truck which struck him is being sought by police. He failed to stop after the mishap.

Boys Badly Hurt

Two boys were seriously injured last night and were taken to hospital after a runway car had crashed into them while they stood talking on the curb of a west end street. The car, parked on the crest of a hill, suddenly slid down, knocking down the boys and stopping with a crash against another parked car.

Early yesterday morning Miss Bellanda Bellerive, 20, and Miss Marie-Anne Bellemare, 17, were instantly killed and two men suffered serious injuries when their car crashed into a street car.

Others to die in motor accidents since Sunday are "Little Georgie" Roberts, 48, well-known old time lacrosse player, Henry Sword and Miss Sally Clarkson, 30, all killed when their car turned turtle in a ditch; Nestor Blanchette, 37, killed Tuesday when struck by a car; Marie-Anne Demers, 38; Ald. Albert Lemieux, 45, of Laval-Des-Rapides, a suburb of Montreal, and John Wheeler, 48.

BRITISH TE AM WIN 4TH PLACE IN PLANE DERBY

Not in Money Unless Dutch Take Handicap Award Instead of Speed Prize.

9 SHIPS STILL COMING.

Two Americans Lose Chances By Being Jailed in Persia.

MELBOURNE, October 25 (A.P.) —Great Britain took fourth as well as first honors in the England to Melbourne speed race to-day when Cathcart Jones and Ken Waller landed at 2.54 p.m. (11.54 p.m. Wednesday) (E.S.T.) on the sun-flooded Laverton Field.

Their plane is a duplicate of the one in which C. W. A. Scott and T. Campbell Black won first place (a De Haviland Comet).

The appearance of Jones and Waller relieved anxiety occasioned by a lack of news from them after they passed over Cobar this morning. A message had been broadcast asking for reports on them.

A heavy rain, bringing low visibility, ended shortly before the fliers' arrival.

May Get No Cash.

Although they took fourth place in the starting field of 9, Jones and Waller will not win a prize unless the Dutch pilots, K. D. Parmentier and J. J. Moll, who finished in second place, win a handicap prize and choose it in preference to the second speed award.

Nine planes, including that of John H. Wright and John Polando of America, stuck to the long Derby route to-day in the wake of the four finishers.

CROSS-COUNTRY TRAIN RECORD TUMBLES IN U.S.

Stream-lined Express Travels From Los Angeles-New York in 56 Hrs. 55 Mins.

14 HOURS UNDER OLD TIME.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (AP)—The record-breaking streamlined train of the Union Pacific, the M-10002, rolled into Grand Central Station at 9.56 a.m. E.S.T. to-day, completing its cross country run from Los Angeles to New York City in 56 hours and 56 minutes.

The running time for the coast-to-coast trip set a new record by 14 hours and 31 minutes over the previous record set in 1906, when the late E. H. Harriman, then chairman of the Union Pacific, travelled from San Francisco to New York City in 71 hours and 27 minutes.

Aboard the new record setter today was W. A. Harriman, present chairman of the Union Pacific and son of E. H. Harriman.

As the M-10001 pulled into the station crowds serged forward to get a flirst glimpse. The Red Cap Band blared forth and the carpet ordinarily reserved for use of distinguished passengers aboard the Twentieth Century Limited was spread.

The party aboard the train was welcomed by John McKenzie, New Yorw City Commissioner of Docks in the absence of Mayod Laguardia.

Slowed Up at New York.

The train was held to the 18-hour running time of the Century Limited. Crowded conditions of the train yards around New York forced it to slow up as it neared its destination.

The tube-shaped flyer set a world's speed record of 120 miles an hour yesterday, but over the final lap of the journey its speed sometimes was less than 80 miles an hour.

The 376-foot train, powered by a 900 horse-power Deisel engine, left Los Angeles at 10 p.m. (P.S.T.) on Monday.

JURY ARRIVES AT ITS VERDICT IN OPEN COURT

Bolejczuk is Found Not Guilty of Murdering Peter Rogouski.

PRISONER DISCHARGED.

Defence Submitted No Evidence, Moved For Dismissal.

(See Pages 2 and 6 for Wednesday's evidence)

COBOURG, Oct. 25. — Without the jury leaving its box, Dymtro Bolejczuk was acquitted today of the charge of murdering Peter Rogouski in Manvers Township last July 29.

Immediately the Crown had completed its case this afternoon, Fred C. Richardson, of Cobourg, Bolejczuk's counsel, moved for dismissal. Mr. Richardson argued that the Crown had failed to prove in any way that the prisoner was connected with the murder. Mr. Justice Jeffrey concurred in that view, but said that the case would go before the jury on its merits.

Defence counsel said he would not produce any evidence. The case was given to the jury, following a brief summing up by the judge. Deciding it was unnecessary to leave court room to reach its decision, the jury then brought in its verdict acquitting Bolejczuk and Mr. Justice Jeffrey discharged the prisoner.

COBOURG, Oct. 25. — (CP) — Threats alleged to have been made by Dymtro Boleczuk on trial here for the murder of Peter Rogouski were related this afternoon by Julian Kulchyck, fellow countryman of the accused.

"Dymtro told me that he wanted to marry Olive Romanick. I told him that Peter was going to marry Olive and he said "Is Peter a better man than I am. If I don't marry here no one else will", related Kylchyck.

CALLANDER, Ont., Oct. 25 (CP). —Linemen to-day started stringing wires along the line of poles from Callander to the new Dafoe hospital in which the Dionne quintuplet sisters are housed, and the babies soon will be drinking from their bottles by electric light.

Advent of electricity to the home of the famous 150-day-old sisters will permit use of many appliances in the hospital not available at present, among them thermostat control of the heating plant.

The babies spent five hours out-of-doors to-day, gaining strength from the sun's rays and the fresh air.

All the children except Annette gained weight to-day, and she lost only one-quarter of an ounce.

Hopes For International Harmony on Reaching Price Stabilization Policy.

LEAVES DOOR OPEN.

Stresses Point Bankers Are Not Equal to Nor Independent of Government.

WASHINGTON, October 25 (A.P.-. — Out of President Roosevelt's address to he American Bankers' Association there arose to-day clear indications that the United States Government hopes for international harmony on a policy of arriving at price stabilization "as quickly as possible."

In a speech in which he challenged the banking fraternity last night to speed the flow of credit, the President included this paragraph:

"With respect to international relationships, I have been glad to note the growing appreciation in other nations of the desirability of arriving, as quickly as possible, at a point of steadiness of prices and values. This objective of a greater steadiness we have constantly kept before us as our national policy."

Special significance was attached to this because sources close to the administration expressed the belief it was one of three salient points in the speech. They did not elaborate on it, however.

No Pledges.

The remarks on price stabilization are not a pledge for currency stabilization which many bankers desire. Many of the 4,000 delegates who crowded Constitution Hall to listen regarded the speech as leav-

TAVERN KEEPER MISSING 2 DAYS

Wife of Montrealer Fears He Has Met With Foul Play or Been Abducted.

SEARCH STARTED.

MONTREAL, Oct. 25 (C.P.).—A search was instituted to-day for Victor Aaron, 42, who has been missing from his home since Tuesday, and who is feared the victim of kidnapping or foul play.

Aaron, co-proprietor of a tavern in the east end of the city and well-known in business circles, complained to police some time ago that he had received threatening letters containing hints he might be kidnapped.

On Tuesday Mrs. Aaron reported to police her husband had been missing since early in the afternoon. She said he was regular in his habits and had never failed to arrive home more than half an hour after leaving his place of business. He left his office at three o'clock, and when he failed to arrive for the evening meal Mrs. Aaron had notified police.

Members of his family said they knew of no enemies he might have had, nor did they believe he had any worries. His business was said to be in sound condition.

The pictures depicted the many trials and hardships endured by the inhabitants of that district and how gradually conditions have improved.

Mr. Blackburn's address was a real treat, and was thoroughly enjoyed by a highly appreciative audience, who will be anticipating another visit in the near future. Mr. Blackburn then close the meeting with prayer.

ONTARIO GRAIN

Approximate prices track shipping point: Wheat, 92c to 94c; oats, 32c to 35c; barley, 45c to 47c; corn, 87c to 90c; rye, 50c to 52c; buckwheat, 40c to 42c; malting barley, 65c to 67c.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Late upturns scored by wheat prices yesterday resulted more or less from buying based on belief President Roosevelt's address to bankers last night would prove constructive.

Anxiety over reports suggestive of wheat crop damage in Argentina served as an additional market stimulus. Furthermore, there was a continued dearth of moisture in domestic winter wheat terrtiory southwest.

Wheat closed firm, ¼ to ¾ above Tuesday's finish, May 98⅛c to 98½c; corn ¼ off to ⅝ up; May, 77c to 77⅛c; oats at ⅝ decline to ⅛ advance, and provisions varying from two cents setback to an equal gain.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

Cheese prices advanced on the Montreal Produce and Dairy Market yesterday.

The spread between white and colored cheese narrowed with white gaining ¼c. No. 1 Ontario white was quoted at 9½ cents a pound, with colored at 9¾ cents, while No. 1 Quebec white sold at 9 cents and colored at 9¼ cents. Rail receipts were 1,601 boxes.

Top brands of graded shipments of eggs in carlots or less were up a cent a dozen at 39c to 40c for A-large and 36c to 37c for A-medium. A-pullets at 29c to 30c, B at 22c to 23c and C at 19½c to 20c were unchanged. Arrivals by rail were 3,346 cases.

Fresh No. 1 butter was unchanged at 19¾c a pound. To retailers solids were 20½c and prints 21 a pound. Receipts were 28 boxes.

On the potato market Quebecs were 35c to 40c. New Brunswicks 40c to 45c and Prince Edward Islands at 45c to 50c per 80-pound bag.

WINNIPEG WHEAT.

WINNIPEG, October 25. — A burst of selling in the mearket's closing stages wiped out earlier ¼c advances and left wheat futures prices ⅛c to ¼c lower on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange yesterday. October at 76½c, December 77¼c to 77¼c, and May 81⅝c to 81¾c.

The closing flurry was the market's only sign of activity. Holding small gains for almost the entire session, futures had traded sluggishly within a narrow range. Continued absence of export interest in Canadian wheat restricted trading, only small sales being reported.

Again advancing on rust-infection reports from Argentina, Liverpool prices closed ⅝d to ¾d higher, imparting strength to local values which held until the final minutes.

No. 2 Durum and Red Spring wheats were in demand in cash grains, spreads on these varieties closing½c to ¼c higher. Coarse grains futures were quiet, following the trend of wheat.

STORM DARKENS ABOUT SINCLAIR IN CALIFORNIA

Wire to Washington Gets No Reply of Endorsement From Roosevelt or Lieutenants.

DOWN ON STRAW VOTE.

(By Sam Robertson.)

NEW YORK, October 25 (C.P.). —The not-so-low rumble of a growing political storm rolled out of California to-day.

And it seemed Socialistic Upton Sinclair, seeking the Governorship of that state on the Democratic ticket, would have to face it without the prayers of Washington Democrats that he survive.

Sinclair desisted from expounding his end poverty in California (epic) plan long enough to telegraph President Roosevelt;

"Every daily newspaper in California is opposing my candidacy. They first misquote a speech making me claim (Democratic Party) support, then get a denial from another person and feature that as a repudiation of me."

The reply of endorsement Sinclair might have hoped that would bring, either from the President or one of the Democratic chieftains,, was not forthcoming There was only deep silence in official Washington. Unofficially it was said the White House has decided on a hands-off-California policy.

Indications were not lacking around party headquarters that first lieutenants believed Sinclairs scheme was too far to the left.

Merriam Leads Vote

First returns from a straw vote on sentiment in California gave rotund Acting-Governor Frank Merriam, Conservative Republican, opponent of Sinclair,, a two-to-one lead. That seemed to indicate some of the thousands who helped roll up the Socialist-Democrat's big vote in the primary,, had taken fright at the flight of dollars out of the state and the flight of jobisss into the state.

Sinclair said reports reached him that Republicans were paying 25 cents for ballots in the straw counting. He admitted uncertainty as to their truthfulness.

The end poverty plan, among other things, would turn appropriated land over to unemployed for cultivation of products exchangeable with other unemployed who would work state-acquired factories. When the primary swept Sinclair into the race, Democrats sought to have him make his plan less socialistic and more like the new deal. He changed it little.

Swings With Public

Merriam and his Republicans, well aware of the popularity of some aspects of the new deal enjoy, charted their course accordingly. Merriam announced himself 'at no variance' with Roosevelt principles generally.

Elsewhere, verbal political firing also was heavy. Only 11 days remain before voters go to the polls to fill 432 seats in the House of Representatives, 34 seats in the Federal senate and many state offices.

Democrats, highly optimistic of opening the next congress with increased majorities in both chambers, could find several points for assurance of business in the address Mr. Roosevelt delivered at Washington last night before the American Bankers Association.

The president held out the promise that government activities in the banking field would be curtailed when private agencies took up the slack, and again stressed he is for the profit system.

Divided Programme Campbellford Circle

CAMPBELLFORD, October 25 (Examiner Staff Correspondence).—The regular meeting of the Young Women's Mission Circle was held on Tuesday, Otaber 23, at the home of Mrs. Russell Emmons, Front Street. The president, Miss Hazel Atkinson, opened the meeting. The Scripture reading was read by Miss Geraldine McMullen. The topic for the evening was dividde in two sections, Miss Marion McArthur reading a very interesting paper on Dr. Robert Laws and the work he carried on until his death; and the latter being taken by Mrs. MacMillan on "Freda Matthews." A solo, "Fiddle and I," was given by Mrs. Charles Milne, after which a dainty lunch was served, and thoroughly enjoyed by everyone. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Emmons for giving her home and the enjoyable evening spent.

The next meeting will take the form of a tea. Watch for further announcements.

Time to Duck

BALTIMORE, Oct. 25 (CP)— A taxicab driver cannot be held accountable for the action of ducks, Judge Albert S. Owens ruled in the Court of Common Pleas here to-day.

Dorothy Price, a passenger in a taxi operated by James Webster last Christmas Eve, sued Webster's company for damages she received when an eight-pound duck, flying north on the street on which the cab was going south, struck the windshield, and broke the glass.

Judge Owens declared in his decision that when a motorist meets a duck going in the opposite direction, it is impossible for the driver to determine what the duck might do or what course it might take.

CAPE TOWN LIKES ALL-IN MATWORK

Unknown Masked Wrestler Had Things His Own Way in Recent Tussle.

CAPE TOWN, Oct. 25 (CP)—This South African city is beginning to take its wrestling seriously. It has "gone all-out for all-in wrestling," as The Argus says. The paper in its general news pages thus describes "this grim sport":

"Two modern men, stripped of the veneer of civilization, sweating and struggling like cave men beneath fierce arc-lights in a roped ring. At the ringside, women screaming hysterically at the referee. Police who leap over the ropes to protect the referee from the attack of the beaten wrestler. And, for an hour, the scene dominated by an unknown wrestler, a sinister figure in black tights and black hood like a medieval executioner."

MURDER TRIAL OF FOREIGNER GETS UNDER WAY

Girl Witness Declares She Saw Prisoner Near Woods Sunday Afternoon.

SECOND MURDER CASE.

Call Sent to Attorney General For Second Interpreter.

(By A Staff Reporter)

COBOURG, Oct. 25.—The Crown levelled at Dmytro Bolejczuk its accusation of the murder of Peter Rogouski, in the continuation of the assize of the Supreme Court of Ontario here yesterday with Mr. Justice Jeffrey on the bench.

For the second time in twelve months a foreigner of comparatively recent arrival from Europe has been indicted on a capital charge in this court. Last October Yrgo Laurila, a Finlander, was found not guilty of the murder of Fred McLaren, a Cavan farmer.

In the present trial the scene moves a short distance westerly to the sand dunes of Manvers township where in a community from the Ukraine Peter Rogouski, a carpenter, was slain on Sunday, July 29, and his body concealed in a trout stream known as Squire's Creek. The body was found badly decomposed on August 22 and Dmytro Bolejczuk ("Mit" Boleychuck) was arrested and charged with the crime. He was committed for trial at Bethany by Magistrate Campbell of Port Hope, and yesterday a jury was empanelled to hear the Crown's case against the accused.

Ragouski was to have married this month Olive Romanic, sixteen-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Romanic of Manvers, who had previously been intimate with the accused and might have married him if her parents had not been told that he had a wife in the old country.

The Crown alleges that the prisoner waylaid Ragouski as he was returning about 6 p.m. July 29 from a visit to his sister-in-law, attacked and choked him, dragged the body into a swamp and covered it with brush material in the trout stream.

J. Douglas Peck of Gananoque is special Crown Prosecutor, and Fred C. Richardson of Cobourg is defending the prisoner.

List of Jurors

The trial jury was empanelled as follows: Asa Minnifie, Hamilton township; Robert Mason, Hamilton; John Pewtress, Cobourg; John A. Maher, Cobourg; Robert Spicer, Hope; Cecil Manley, Hamilton; Bruce Plumpton, Murray; Ernest Mitchell, Seymour; Frank Isaac

MARMORA ENJOYS CHICKEN SUPPER

Sacred Heart Annual Affair Ably Sustains Former Reputation.

MARMORA, October 25 (Examiner Correspondence). — The fourteenth annual chicken supper under the auspices of the Sacred Heart Church was held in the Town Hall on Wednesday evening, when the large number who attended were unanimous that it well sustained its good reputation. From the fine bevy of cooks in the kitchen to the agile waitresses upstairs, every arrangement went smoothly and nobody at the tables showed signs of dieting. On the other side of the hall the annual bazaar did good busiess.

The fancy work table was, as in former years, staffed by Mesdames J. Marvin, E. Deacon, and Miss Hilda Hughes, while Mrs. Hannah Auger and Mrs. James Brady were at their accustomed places behind an imposing array of home cooking. Girls of the Sodality operated a tempting candy booth Those on duty this year were Josie Shannon, Mary Brady, Helen Gaffney, and Kathleen Doyle. For the younger generation the fish pond proved as inviting as ever. Those who catered to the anglers were Rose Auger, Theresa Crawford, Lorraine Gaffney, and Rose Shannon. Other attractions were a bingo game run by Harry Dunlay and Gordon McWilliams, and a blanket board operated by Will Shannon and Fred Callery. The supper and bazaar is continued on Thursday, while on Friday evening, following supper, cards and dancing will be the chief attractions.

Mishaps Delay U.S. Fleet's Canal Trip

CRISTOBAL, Canal Zone, Oct. 25 (AP)—The transit of the United States fleet through the Panama Canal was expected to-day to require 44 hours for the 88 vessels.

The movement was seriously delayed when the aircraft carriers Lexington and Saratoga sideswiped lampposts during lockage yesterday. It took the Lexington nearly 12 hours to make the usual six-hour transit, and the Saratoga longer.

Last April 110 vessels were moved from the Atlantic to the Pacific in 47 hours. Fog and rain also hampered operations of the surprise manoeuvre last night.

Rear Admiral Joseph M. Reeves, Commander-in-Chief, announced the entire fleet would depart for California at daybreak to-day. The waships will engage in manoeuvres on the way to the west coast.

CHEAPER MONEY FOR BUILDING WHAT IS NEEDED

President of Canadian Association Would Have Government Set Up Fund.

WOULD CREATE WORK

TORONTO, Oct. 25. — A call for cheaper money for the financing of new buildings is sounded by W. H. Yates, Jr., President of the Canadian Construction Association. Mr. Yates would make it available through the creation of a fund by the Dominion Government from which prospective owners might obtain loans at reasonable rates of interest. He believes that such action is necessary because of the great difficulty of securing financing through existing channels, and because unemployment cannot be alleviated until construction projects, deferred on this account, are put under way. Mortgage and insurance companies are asking about six or six and a half per cent. for building loans, and then will lend only on heavily gilt-edged security.

No Subsidy Asked

In the United States, a proposal somewhat similar to Mr. Yates' has already been adopted. According to Washington reports, the Federal Home Owners' Loan Corporation has closed loans totalling $20,374,000, as of September 7th. This money will be used in repairing and building homes. Mr. Yates' proposal is that the same assistance might be extended in Canada not only in residential construction but to every other type of building as well. He emphasizes that he does not seek a subsidy for the building industry but urges that it be utilized to solve the unemployment problem.

"According to the economist of the Royal Bank of Canada," Mr. Yates states, "this depression has hit with exceptional severity the manufacturers of permanent improvements, or architects, builders and contractors, and the manufacturers of heavy machinery. To quote a recent issue of the Royal Bank's money review: — "Where consumption of many kinds of food and clothing has been reduced by from ten to fifteen per cent., the reduction in orders for buildings and machinery and other items of this nature has amounted to from eighty to ninety-five per cent . . at the depth of the depression in the United States there were only about one and one half-million unemployed in the consumption goods' industries as against six and one-third million in the building and durable goods' industries.'

"There is no reason to believe that the figures for Canada are proportionately different. Do they not show the paramount importance of encouraging building operations?

Delayed for Funds

"A comprehensive survey indicates that over $100,000,000 worth of sound building is being held up because of inability to obtain financing. Insurance companies and other sources of money are either not in a position to make loans, or demand an exhorbitantly high rate of interest, and in some cases are only interested in small loans. If these companies feel that they have no responsibility other than purchasing Government bonds then it appears that the only source of finance would be through the Government.

"If it were possible to find the money to undertake a reasonable part of the building that is being held up, an appreciable difference in the amount of unemployment would be brought about. If this work was started, carpenters, masons, plasterers, plumbers, painters, electricians, all the better paid trades, who have, many of them, been out of work for two or three years, would become employed. They would circulate their wages, and create additional work. Hundreds of unskilled workmen would also become wage-earners. Railways, lumber mills, and factories, would resume their former activity.

"Let the Government create a fund from which loans may be secured at rates in keeping with to-day's conditions. It would make owning a home profitable. It would permit large property owners to demolish old and unsuitable buildings and erect new ones that would be greater assets to the community."

SPLENDID RALLY AT SPRINGVILLE

Special Anniversary Services Are Followed by Annual Fowl Supper.

OVER 500 ATTEND.

SPRINGVILLE, Oct. 25. (Examiner correspondence).—Anniversary services were observed in Springville United Church on Sunday, Oct. 21. Rev. Mr. Williams of Centerville was in charge of both morning and evening service.

Special music was rendered by the choir assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Hanbidge, Mr. H. McBain, and Miss Hazel Hall. At the morning service Messrs. Hanbidge, McBain and Preston sang in trio, while Miss Hall sang a solo in the evening.

Despite unfavorable weather conditions the attendance at both services was good.

Successfull also, was the fowl supper held on Monday evening when over five hundred persons were served in the basement of the church. Entertainment was provided for those waiting upstairs before and after supper by Mr. H. McCannon and his orchestra.

Later in the evening a splendid program was enjoyed. Rev. Mr. Seymour, pastor of the church and chairman for the event, spoke a few kindly words of introduction before the curtain was drawn presenting the first act of the play "Mary's Castle in the Air". This three-act comedy was ably given by artists from St. James' Church, Peterborough. Between-act numbers consisting of a piano solo by Mr. Clairemont Morgan and readings by Misses Ruth Farr and Velma Staples were keenly enjoyed.

Rev. Seymour extended a vote of thanks to all who contributed toward making the entire evening a success.

ing the door open to whatever monetary strategy may be deemed advisable to attain the desired price level and then keep it stable.

It was recalled that the President has expressed a wish for a dollar that would remain steady in purchasing power over a long period—in other words, a managed dollar.

Another point stressed in administration quarters to-day was the President's remark that bankers are not equal to nor independent of the Government.

Old Notion Passes

He said "the old fallacious notion of the bankers on the one side and the government on the other as more or less equal and independent units has passed away."

"Government" he said, "by the necessity of things must be the leader, must be the judge of the conflicting interests of all groups in the community, including bankers. The government is the outward expression of the common life of all citizens."

The other point stressed as salient was his challenge to the banks to "resume their responsibility" and expand the flow of credit.

"Just as it is to be expected," he said, "that the banks will resume their responsibility and take up the burden that the government has assumed through its credit agencies, so I assume and expect that private business generally will be financed by the great credit resources which the present liquidity of banks makes possible."

"To-night I ask the bankers of the country to renew their confidence in the people of this country," he said, " I hope you will take me at my word."

Borrowers Hang Back

The bankers' contention is that they have been eager to lend, but that borrowers have been reluctant.

Francis Marion Law, retiring president of the Bankers' Association, which concludes its 60th convention to-day, said of the President's speech:

"Out of the suggestions made by the President and Mr. Jackson Reynolds (who also spoke) there can and should be worked out a sound program of far-reaching co-operation between the government, the banks and the other groups named by the president, the kind of program that would be a real contribution to the cause of recovery."

Other bankers received the speech with comments that ranged from "excellent" to "disappointing."

One high authority said privately before the speech that bankers hoped for assurances as to budget balancing and private profits.

The President said nothing about the budget, but he did enunciate a belief in private profit the words that "Wealth should come as the reward of hard labor of mind and hand. That is what we call the profit system."

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 25, 1934

MR. HENRY SHOULD EXPLAIN.

It would seem that a word of explanation is in order from ex-Premier George S. Henry as to why he had his own private automobile serviced at the Government garage and did not pay the $3,000.45 bill until called upon by the provincial auditor to return the amount.

The official car furnished Mr. Henry cost the province $3,145 for upkeep in one year, and that was bad enough without expecting the people of Ontario to provide a similar amount for the former Premier's personal family car.

If Mr. Henry has been in the habit of having that particular machine looked after by the Government garage and has been paying the bill from time to time, he most certainly should lose no time in saying so.

Just at present the fact that he did not cover this account until he was requested to do so by the provincial auditor does not show the former Premier in a very favorable light.

In view of the salary he received as Premier, the cost of the official car provided for him by the province and his own comfortable financial circumstances, there does not appear to be any reason why the people of Ontario should have been expected to foot the bill for the upkeep of his personally-owned automobile, which is the inference that will be drawn from the refund Mr. Henry has now made, unless it is followed by an explanation that will give the transaction a different appearance.

BETTER THAN FOR TWO YEARS.

That Canada has entered upon the last quarter of the year with conditions in production, distribution and consumption distinctly better than during the previous two years, is the cheerful statement made in the current business summary issued by the Bank of Montreal, which adds that the volume of business in general has been well maintained.

While crops the country over are admittedly below the average again, the bank's summary points to the significant facts that they are somewhat larger than last year and selling at higher prices, so that the buying power of the farm population should be increased during the succeeding months to the advantage of trade generally.

Expansion of output has occurred in such major industries as lumber, newsprint, motor vehicles, rubber goods, minerals, artificial silk, textiles and coal, while car-loadings, bank clearings and bank debits make favorable comparison with last year.

The building trades, after a long period of dullness, the Bank of Montreal's statement remarks, has shown signs of revival, aided to this end by the construction of public works by the Dominion Government.

In the gradual enlargement of international trade Canada has had her full share.

During the first nine months of the current year Canada's foreign commerce has risen to $836,416,000 from $640,984,000 in the same period last year, a gain of 29 per cent., imports and exports both contributing to the marked improvement.

According to the report of the League of Nations, it is pointed out, Canada ranks fourth among the nations in the percentage of increase of exports and third in percentage of increase of imports, surely a condition that gives room for satisfaction.

BETRAYING THE SERVICE CLUBS.

The closing of the Victoria Industrial School and the transference of the inmates of that institution to the Boys' Training School at Bowmanville may be, as Hon. David Croll, Minister of Welfare and Municipal Affairs, claims, a new deal for delinquent boys, but it most certainly must be regarded as a doubtful deal for the service organizations of the province who have contributed generously to the building of the Bowmanville school.

The Bowmanville institution was established some seven or eight years ago as a training school in which boys who were threatening to get beyond control and in danger of becoming juvenile delinquents could be given a new slant on life. One of the basic principles of the school was that boys could not be committed to it by the courts, and it was to be maintained as a training establishment that would save unruly youngsters from police court and industrial school careers.

It was on this basis and on this understanding that the active support and co-operation of the service clubs was secured; it was on this basis and on this understanding that the first 100 acres of the present school property was donated by Rotarian Jory of the Bowmanville Rotary Club; it was on this basis and this understanding that the Rotary Clubs of Ontario raised the money for building and equipping the school gymnasium and the Kiwanis Clubs financed the erection of one of the dormitories at Bowmanville.

The institution was a new experiment in boy training, and as such made a distinct appeal to Ontario service clubs, who gladly co-operated with the Government of the day in establishing the school.

Now Mr. Croll, overnight as it were, destroys the basic principle upon which the experiment was founded. He is changing the whole status of the Bowmanville school by transferring to it delinquent boys sentenced by the courts to terms in the Victoria Industrial School at Mimico, and by that action has, of course, completely transformed the character of the place.

"There will no longer be a preferred class," declares the Minister.

Surely Mr. Croll cannot be ignorant of the fact that it was because there was to be a preferred class that the service clubs donated thousands of dollars to the Bowmanville school, and that Rotarian Jory of Bowmanville was public-spirited enough to make a free gift to the Government of one hundred acres of land upon which the first buildings were erected.

If the policy announced by the Minister of Welfare and Municipal Affairs is persisted in, the Government will be guilty of a gross breach of trust if henceforth the Bowmanville school is to be maintained as an institution for dealing with all juvenile delinquents, including those convicted in the courts and sentenced by the magistrates, there is a moral obligation on the part of the Government to return to the service clubs of the province the large sums donated by them and to pay for the land donated by the Bowmanville Rotarian.

These donations and this gift of land were made on the understanding that the institution was to be conducted as a training school for boys of a certain type; now that the decision has been arrived at to make the Bowmanville school take the place of the Victoria Industrial School the whole scheme has been abandoned, and certainly those organizations and individuals who contributed to the original plan have a right to feel that they have been betrayed.

Surely there must be some one in the present Government who understands the situation, and who will intervene in time to prevent the Welfare Minister from committing what is not only a serious mistake in judgment but is a violation of an understanding entered into in good faith by the Government of Ontario and the service clubs of the province.

The latter, partners in the undertaking since its inception, have not even been extended the courtesy of being consulted as to the right-about-turn now announced by Mr. Croll; it has been left to them to read in the newspapers that the noble experiment in boy reclamation that they by their donations helped to establish has now been, to all intents and purposes, made part and parcel of the provincial prison system.

RESTRICTING THE PRESS.

The desire to put restrictions upon the press has evidently spread from Ontario to Quebec. In a despatch from Montreal this morning Mayor Houde is quoted as saying: "There will come a day when you newspapermen will print only what you are told to print. The day has come in many countries in Europe, and it will come to this country, too."

As the Whig-Standard pointed out last week, the freedom of the press has been very seriously curbed in some important European countries, and the desire on the partof political leaders to control the press seems to be spreading westward.

Politicians are only human beings like the rest of us, and the public should try to place a proper value upon some of their statements before endorsing them. Any attempt to restrict the rights of a free press is an attack upon the rights and liberties of a free people, and should be carefully guarded against.

We do not suggest that the press is always blameless or that, at times, public men have not just cause for complaint. Because, however, one or two newspapers break faith with the public man, or publish in their columns matter which might better have been left out, it is unfair to condemn all the newspapers or to endeavor to impose restrictions upon them.

Battles have been fought; blood has been shed; and many sacrifices have been made to gain for the British people free speech and a free press. These dearly bought privileges must be carefully guarded against the encroachments of temporary officialdom. —Kingston Whig-Standard.

OLD LONDON IS DIFFERENT.

There are many cities where street widening programs have been carried out and the process has been extremely mechanical. That is, buildings have been removed or altered, and they were just buildings; there was no special significance attached to them and local history was not sacrificed.

But it is different in London. The Port of London Authority finds that when cargoes are landed at the docks many of the roads in the vicinity are so narrow and crowded that it takes a truck an hour to go one mile. Now it is planned to widen and straighten streets to the extent of $7,500,000 so delivery from the docks can be made in less time.

And it is here that the process of reconstruction is going to ride over and through history. Famous Nightingale Lane, leading past the Mint, is to be widened. Well, what of it? In 1629 a stag hunted from Wanstead by Charles I. was killed in a garden here. A new bridge will be built at the end of Nightingale Lane, and right there the notorious Judge Jeffreys was captured in the Red Crow Inn, on the site of which the "Town of Ramsgate" Hotel now stands.

Wapping High Street will be widened by forty feet. Once more a person might ask, "Well, what about it?" And the answer would be that in olden days Execution Dock was located there. Sailors guilty of crimes on the high seas were hanged there and their bodies were exposed on poles fixed in the river.

Surrey commercial docks are included in the plans and around them will run a new road, and that place was famous in Roman times for its vineyards and in 1696 was headquarters for the Greenland whaling trade.

Yes, London is different. It seems that at every corner and in between the corners something of interest has happened and in that city tradition does not die nor does history perish. Possibly that is what makes it the most interesting city in the world.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

It is a safe wager that the opinion of W. J. Bragg, Liberal member for Durham, was not sought before the change in the status of the Bowmanville Boys' Training School was announced.

Evidently the Ontario Government counts the beverage rooms of the province among its liquid assets.

Saskatchewan reports crocuses blooming and a second crop of peas. Whatever these signs may mean, the conditions are at least a pleasant contrast to those prevailing a year ago.

Bush workers who have remained on the job in the Sault Ste Marie district have been warned that unless they join the strike they will be forcibly ejected. Those charged with the maintenance of law and order should have something to say about that.

Mr. Bennett declares that foreign speculators will not be permitted to raid the Winnipeg grain exchange to the detriment of Canadian wheat producers. The Government should have the support of the whole country in any action along that line that it may take.

What's in The NAME

of Canadian Cities and Towns?

By FRANK H. WILLIAMS

TIMMINS, ONTARIO

This city has grown faster since its origin than any other place in Canada. The Hollinger gold mine, close by, was staked in 1909 by a prospector named Ben Hollinger. Hollinger sold his claims to Noah Timmins, who laid out a townsite known as the Timmins townsite. The town derived its name from the leading citizen. Although its population at the present time is 18,257 which warrants the status of a city, it still remains a town. The town was incorporated in 1912.

ALL OF US

I....I....I....

I'll eat string beans, if you insist, but you can't make me say they are my favorite vegetable.

I havent any favorite vegetable.

When I can't think of anything I want to eat, I usually decide on scrambled eggs and bacon.

I can type without looking at the keys of the machine. So can hundreds of thousands of little girls in offices, but the majority of newspaper men punch the typewriter with their index fingers only.

Once upon a time I saw a chance to make a pun and resisted the temptation....But I can't explain how it ever happened.

My favorite dessert is lime sherbet, I prefer canned milk in coffee to the best of cream, and my idea of something special is to kick around in the dead leaves at the foot of an apple tree after the first frosts and find a slightly frost-bitten fruit and feel it crunch between my teeth and taste its delicious sweetness.—Mmmmm!

I like waitresses, carpenters and plumbers—but the man behind the ticket window never seems to like me.

If you want to bet that I don't know the size of the shirt I wear—I won't bet.

I'm not a good judge of human nature.

Once upon a time I had long, yellow curls that came 'way down to here.

When I was about 12 years old a little girl sent another small boy around to tell me that she "loved" me....And I never went past HER home again.

I can do hard manual labor all day and not feel so terribly tired... But if I tag around after anybody that's shopping, in less than an hour my back is breaking and I want to go home.

I don't own a single stiff white collar.

I like to hear the wind howling around the house.

I wish I were about four inches taller than I am....But, on second thought, that wouldn't be so convenient, because none of my old clothes would fit me.

I have many prejudices, but I call them convictions.

Having alterde its course in four places, the River Pakchan, the boundary between Siam and Burma, has given each country two acres of land and taken two, and the new channel is to be the official frontier.

Popular Astronomy

Locating Autumn Constellations

BY H. W. L. MAHOOD

You were instructed where to find Pegasus one of the prominent autumn star groups. Stand looking south east. Pegasus is just a little removed from the zenith. You will note a square. Three of the stars are bright. They are not of the first magnitude. But they are of the second. The star farthest to the South East is of the third magnitude. Pegasus is known in astronomy as the Winged Horse.

Pegasus has a colt. On the chart this splendid foal is named Equus, or Equuleus. Make certain of the pronunciation of the colt. The first E is long, the next syllable is natural—as kwoo, le is long, and the final syllable us is short. There now, practice on that word. Pronunciation in astronomy is as important, as it is in reading modern literature. When a fuller account is given of each of the constellations more will will be written of Equus. Omar Khayham in the Rubaiyat alludes to this bright group of stars. It is located a little to the south and west of Pegasus.

Directly west of Pegasus is the diamond shaped constellation of Delphinus. Another name has been given this group of stars. The name is rather morbid. It reminds one of the large space given morbid news in many newspapers. The picture of King Alexander in his coffin was lurid. The space given Dillinger's picture after he was killed was discreditable. Refined taste calls for something quite different. The other name for Delphinus is Job's Coffin. The name hurt my eyes. Here we enter a protest to all morbidness in poetry, and novels, and all youth literature. Job's Coffin is a relic of an age that was over morbid. Morbid literature does not increase the number of readers. Nor does it create a taste for the noblest that has been written. Simply because the morbid has been featured in so many ways a taste for the best is disappearing. Peterborough folks might well spend much time with the poetess who lies buried in Little Lake cemetery. He poems are creative of good taste.

HEPBURN'S SEAWAY STAND ROUSES OTTAWA INTEREST

OTTAWA, Oct. 24. (CP) — The statement of Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn that he will not ratify the 1932 St. Lawrence Waterway agreement between Ontario and the Dominion, aroused interest here. As the Ontario agreement was, however, contingent on the Dominion and United States going ahead with the project, the question is not regarded as pressing. While officials declined to-day to express definite opinions as to whether or not the agreement signed by the Henry Government is legally binding on its successor, the view was stated that it should be ratified by the Ontario Legislature in order to bind the new government.

RADIO CHARGES LAID.

WINDSOR, October 24 (C.P.). — Norman L. Spencer, special prosecutor, announced to-day 13 more informations have been laid in this area under the Radio and Telegraph Act. Six were laid in Windsor, two in Walkerville, and five in Sandwich.

All but one are charged with unlawfully operating radio sets. The 13th, Mrs. Mary Boyan, Windsor, is alleged to have unlawfully established a radio telegraph station.

A Thought

RELIGION

Religion is not a perpetual moping over good books. Religion is not even prayer, praise, holy ordinances—these are necessary to religion—no an can be religious without them. But religions is mainly and chiefly the glorifying of God amid the duties and trials of the world; the guiding of our course amid adverse winds and currents of temptation by the sunlight of duty and the compass of Divine truth, the bearing up manfully, wisely, courageously, for the honor of Christ, our great Leader in the conflict of life.—John Caird.

ON THIS DATE

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

THE MAN WHO SAVED THE C.P.R.

On this date (October 25) 1871, John Henry Pope, M.P. for Compton was first sworn of the Canadian Privy Council and became a member of the cabinet of Sir John A. Macdonald. Mr. Pope had been in public life from 1857 and represented Compton in the House of Commons until his death April 1, 1889. After accomplishing much for agriculture he was in September 1885 transferred to the Railways portfolio, and in that capacity averted disaster to the Dominion, for had the C.P.R. failed at its inception Canada would have been ruined for years.

The political and financial opposition to the Stephen Company was so bitter that it had to appeal to the government for additional financial aid in the form of a loan of $22,500,000 in 1884. But a year later a new crisis was reached; the company was at the end of its purse; work would have to cease unless assistance was given, for there was no money to pay the men and the supply dealers. George Stephen and Donald Smth went to Ottawa, interviewed Sir John and he promised to consult his colleagues and his part. Their attitude was hostile. The cabinet was divided. A. W. McLelan of Nova Scotia, minister of marine, actually wrote his resignation. Sir Alexander Campbell and Mackenzie Bowell were opposed; Sir John had to tell Stephen that there could be no aid.

In a final attempt to convince the prime minister of the critical situation Stephen and his colleagues made another trip to Ottawa. Again Stephen saw Sir John; again the answer was refusal. Stephen, disheartened returned to the Bank of Montreal cottage with the bad news. Mr. Pope was there. He declined to accept the answer. Jumping into a cab he drove down to Barnscliffe, saw Sir John, convinced him that aid must be forthcoming, and in the dawn of the morning returned with the news that the loan would be made. The C.P.R. was saved! The government came down to Parliament with a bill for a loan of five million dollars. The party whips got busy with no good grace the recalcitrants swallowed the pill and the bill was passed in spite of bitter opposition from the Liberals. Both loans were paid. When Mr. Pope passed on Sir George Stephen wrote of the "Supreme importance of Pope's support and finesse in standing by the C.P.R. all through the company's difficulties from 1882 to 1887." John Henry Pope ranks among the true Makers of Canada.

SOLD 1,500,000 LOST UMBRELLAS

Which With Lost Gloves and Elephant Bones Bulked Large in Forgotten Baggage.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—(CP).—The latest sale of unclaimed baggage lost by passengers on the Southern Railway led H. A. Flower, auctioneer, to recall some of the strange things left at Waterloo station during his 30 years' experience of railway auctions. During that time, he says, he has sold nearly 1,500,000 umbrellas and 750,000 pairs of gloves. A coffin was once left with the usual accumulation of suitcases and trunks.

A batch of lost luggage during the war years included the skeletons of two elephants, unloaded at Southampton docks and never claimed. On another occasion a pair of elephants' tusks was put up and sold for $140.

Duce Orders His Cabinet To Do "Trick" Of Guard Duty At Fascist Exposition

ROME, Oct. 25.—(A.P.)—Premier Mussolini took another step to-day to let his cabinet ministers and other high officials know their jobs do not consist of simply wielding pens.

Members of the Government and the Grand Council of Fascism were ordered to do guard duty at the National Fascist Exposition Sunday, just before its close after two years of existence.

The guards will march to the Exposition building in uniform and stand holding a rifle, with bayonet attached, at the portals until their trick is over.

Marquis Guglielmo Marconi, inventor of the wireless, General Italo Balbo, now Governor of Libya, and other high dignitaries form part of the Grand Council, but the orders did not reveal whether the entire membership would be called out.

The announcement that "the Government" will furnish some of the guards leaves the way open for Mussolini himself to do a short trick. (In addtion to being Premier, he is Minister of Foreign Affairs, the Interior, Corporations, War, Marine and Aviation).

SECOND GOLDS LEAD ACTIVITY

Noranda is in Lively Demand on a Rising Price Trend.

SOME GAINS FORFEITED.

TORONTO Oct. 25 (CP). — Lively morning action in the mining shares flattened out to some extent in the early afternoon and some of the early gains were forfeited. The list closed however with a good tone ruling over the board with the day's turnover showing mainly in the secondary gold issues. Silvers were slow and also the base metals with exception of Noranda which traded actively on a rising price trend.

MUNICIPALITIES WILL BE SAVED

ate towns; and provisional judicial district.

"3. In the four large cities there will be a local boarl of five members appointed by the municipal council. The present form of admission will be continued except that when the application form has been completed by the official designated by the local board, the applicant shall appear before a judge or magistrate and attest to its truth. If a judge or magistrate is not available a justice of the peace or the secretary of the local board may take the statutory declaration.

Clerks to Handle Forms.

"4—In all counties and separated towns and cities under 70,000 population, the local boards will be abolished. In the counties the township clerks only are to complete applications. In villages, towns and cities the municipal clerk will do this. No fees are to be payable by pensioners.

"5.—On receipt of the completed application the Old-Age Pension Commission at Queen's Park will decide the amount of pension payable and inform the munilpal clerk at once.

"6.—In the provisional judicial districts the Provincial investigator for the district will complete applications and take statutory declarations.

"Under the present administration it usually takes two to three months for an applicant to receive a decision. That is a long period of time for an aged man or woman who is in want to wait. Under this new plan it should be possible, generally, to make application and receive a decision of the board within two weeks."

BAPTISTS URGED TO FORCE REPEAL BY LOCAL OPTION

TORONTO, Oct. 25.—(C.P.)—Action to force repeal by "local option" campaigns of the legislation setting up beverage rooms in Ontario was urged upon all Baptists at the Ontario and Quebec Baptist convention here to-day.

An emphatic resolution urged all members of the denomination to practise total abstinence themselves, encourage temperance education, protest against the beer and wine legislation and urge repeal of it.

The preamble to the resolution charged extension of the liquor laws had resulted in increased menace to highway traffic safety, in dangerous environment for young people, and had increased drunkenness among both men and women.

LOW WATER DELAYS BARGE

MORRISBURG, Ont., Oct. 25 (CP)—More than six hours were spent in locking the diesel barge, Blue Cross, into the canal at Morrisburg yesterday, due principally to the extreme shallowness of the St. Lawrence River, and partially to her heavy cargo of coal. It was necessary for divers to descend at one time, and some damage was done to the locks here. The boat itself, although undamaged, was aground different times in various places in the locks and canal during the ordeal.

FINDS NO CAUSE FOR COMPLAINT

James Hawthorne Back From Camps Says Charges Groundless.

CONDITIONS GOOD.

Back from an inspection trip to Camp No. 6 located north of Apsley on the Burleigh Falls-Bancroft highway, James Hawthorne reports that he found the complaints of three young men who were recently discharged to be groundless.

Mr. Hawthorne went back to the camp yesterday, following charges of discrimination and maladministraiton levelled against the superintendent and foremen, made to him by Ralph Hanrahan, Peterborough; Roland Graham, Lakefield, and Harry Dayment, London.

The three youths who were discharged from the camp on Saturday last, claimed that the superintendent had shown discrimination against them in "firing" them and keeping other men employed; that the men at the camp were being "slaved," and that the "bosses" had lost control of the camp.

All angles of the situation were investigated by Mr. Hawthorne and he has concluded that the camp is being properly administered.

So far as charges of "slavery" were concerned, Mr. Hawthorne remarked that all that the superintendent demanded of the men was a fair day's work. The three youths being unwilling to contribute their fair share of work, had been dismissed.

The trio were present at the camp when Mr. Hawthorne made his visit of inspection yesterday, they informed The Examiner, and Mr. Hawthorne had promised them he would recommend them for further employment on the construction project when the anticipated additional camps were opened up in the course of the next three weeks or more.

GLORIA PREFERS AUNT TO MOTHER

Does Not Dislike Mrs. Vanderbilt But Hasn't Seen Much of Her.

TELLS JUDGE.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (AP)—The New York Times says 10-year-old Gloria Vanderbilt doesn't want to live with her mother, Mrs. Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt, but wants to remain with her aunt, Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney.

That, the paper says, is what she told Justice John F. Carew of the Supreme Court yesterday when the jurist questioned her in his chambers. Justice Carew has been presiding in the habeas corpus proceedings brought by Mrs. Vanderbilt to regain custody of Gloria.

The Times says the child told Justice Carew she has been having a good time since she went to live with her aunt at Westbury, L.I., two years ago. Before that time she lived with her mother, mostly in London and Paris.

The Times says the child made it plain she does not dislike her mother, but had not seen very much of her.

Mrs. Vanderbilt testified yesterday in the habeas corpus proceedings but was too overcome to continue. Sessions will be resumed today.

Torch Blast Fatal Smith's Falls Man

SMITH'S FALLS, Ont., Oct. 25 (CP)—Martin Crawford, plumber, died in hospital here to-day from burns received when a blow-torch exploded. He leaves a widow, four sons and one daughter.

While working in an apartment yesterday, the torch Mr. Crawford was carrying exploded, spraying him with blazing gasoline. With his clothes aflame he leaped from an upstairs window and bystanders beat out the fire. He was rushed to the hospital, but failed to survive the terrible burns to his hands, face and back.

No Province-Wide Referendum On Beer

TORONTO, October 25 (CP). — There will be no Province-wide referendum to gain a public expression of the open sale of beer, Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn declared to-day, adding: "That's that, and that's final."

Discussing an editorial directed against beer parlors, the Premier said the people had a right to take a vote to decide whether they wanted to have beer sold in their municipality. They had this local option right, he said, "and they may as well stop their agitating against the beverage rooms, and start working to hold a plebiscite in their own municipality."

This way was open to all municipalities of the Province, said the Premier, and the Government was ready to respect the people's will.

England has banned the selling of parchment records not approved by an expert.

slain man, in regard to alleged threats made by the accused against Rogouski.

Twenty-Dollar Bill.

Wanderings of a $20-bill were related by Crown witnesses. Harry Dumczuk testified that in April he paid a $20 bill to Peter Rogouski, the man later murdered. Mrs. Lilian McMahon, recalled that in August, prior to the discovery of the murder, the accused tendered a $20-bill when he made some purchases at her store in Pontypool.

In the examination of John Serhenwick, owner of the farm where Dymtro lived, the Crown was unable to obtain positive identification of the rope found at the scene of the murder with rope on Serhenwick's farm. To defence counsel, witness tetified that Dymtro was home for supper on the evening of the murder. The slaying is believed to have taken place around 6.30 p.m.

Mrs. John Serhenwick also testified that Dymtro was home for supper on July 29.

"After supper Dymtro left the summer kitchen and went into the house. Whether he went out of the front door, I don't know," she related.

William Serhenwick told of seeing the accused lurking around Olive Romanick's house on the night before Peter disappeared. Peter was in Romanick's house at the time.

"When I saw Dymtro that night, he told me to go back in and keep quiet."

"Have you ever seen Dymtro there before?" asked Mr. Peck, the Crown prosecutor. "Sure, he has been in the house playing cards with Peter. That was about two or three months before and they seemed the best of friends," replied Serhenwick.

Had Supper With Accused.

On the day of the murder, witness said he was berry picking, returning in the evening to his home, where he had supper with the accused.

"I left the house after supper before Dymtro did, and went over to Romanicks. When I came home about eight p.m. Dymtro was home," related Serhenwick.

Before returning to his home, he had brought a cow along the road at 7 p.m. leading by the swamp and saw nothing unusual. It was along this road, according to Mrs. H. Vanderyecht's testimony last night, that Peter had been seen walking, by her, and it was on that road that William Argue's horse had shied at a spot on the side of the road some 540 feet from where the body was found. The ground, Argue had stated, was trampled at the point where the horse had shied.

MIDLANDS HONOR FAMOUS BUILDER

Birmingham Fete Recalls Joseph Hansom, inventor of Cab, Also Built Town Hall.

BIRMINGHAM, Oct. 24.—(C.P.)—This metropolis of the Midland Counties has been indulging in a small round of festivity in celebration of the centenary of its Town Hall. It is recalled Birmingham was an unkempt, ill-equipped township until the late Joseph Chamberlain started to reorganize its civic life.

Amidst its depresing surroundings the Birmingham Town Hall was a noteworthy building. Its architect was Joseph Aloysius Hansom, whose name is even more widely commemorated in the fact he was the inventor of the Hansom cab, predecessor of the tax.

Hansom was a man of 27, the son of a carpenter of York. He secured the commission for building Birmingham Town Hall over the heads of such formidable competitors as Sir Charles Barry, who designed the Houses of Parliament, and Samuel Beazley, who was novelist, dramatist and soldier as well as architect, and who built Drury Lane Theatre. Through entering into imprudent commitments imposed upon him by the Birmingham authorities the building of the Town Hall forced Hansom into bankruptcy.

The famous Birmingham Musical Festivals began as soon as the Town Hall was completed, and were continued until the war cast them into obscurity. Birmingham Town Hall has been the scene of many notable political meetings. It was from this biulding that Lloyd George, clad in a policeman's tunic, was obliged to escape from the anger of the mob when he espoused the cause of the Boers during the South African war.

CHATHAM, Ont., Oct. 24.—(CP) —Gordon Peans, Detroit, early this afternoon was acquitted of a charge of criminal negligence in connection with a motor car accident on No. 3 highway near Blenheim on August 15 which ended fatally for Nick Murdyk, 19, a transient.

Dismissal of the charge in police court followed the finding of a coroner's jury which investigated this morning. Peans, driving east, struck the young man as he walked across the highway after enquiring his direction from a farmer in a wagon. He died in hospital here three days later from injuries. The jury found that Pean's speed was not excessive, that his brakes were not in perfect condition and that Mudryk was careless in not moving with more precaution on a heavily travelled highway.

MURDER TRIAL OF FOREIGNER GETS UNDER WAY

Cramahe; Clifford Rogers, Murray; John Simmons, Campbellford; Henry H. Matthews, Hamilton.

Among the fifteen petit jurors who were challenged were two Manvers farmers who were rejected by the defence.

The indictment was read to the prisoner, and translated by William Igel of Oshawa, at 11.15 o'clock, and the jury was completed in fifteen minutes.

Wm. A. Logan, Port Hope, civil engineer, the first witness, identified a plan of the section of Manvers where the body of Rogouski was found. He also indicated the position of the homes of several of the families who appear as witnesses in this case.

Mike Romanic's home is 200 feet off the road which runs northwesterly through the community and winds around knolls toward the creek. John Saranhuk's house is north of the road and one-tenth of a mile west of Romanic's. Mrs. Helena Vanderyegt lives south east of the creek where the body was found, and Mrs. Annie Rogouski, sister-in-law of the murdered man, is eight miles from Romanic's.

Mr. Peck told the jury that Peter Rogouski was a laborer and occasional carpenter. In July he was working for Romanic and on Sunday the 29th walked to his sister-in-law's home, returned in the evening but never reached the Romanic house. His absence did not excite any question in the Romanic household, as it was thought he was remaining with his sister-in-law. Several weeks later, when Romanic wanted the carpentry job finished he drove to Rogouski's and learned that Peter had not been there since July 29. Ultimately the police were notified of his absence.

Mike Romanic, one of the more comfortably circumstanced of the Ukrainian colony, said that Rogouski had worked for him eighteen days last summer building a shed. During that period Peter had visited his sister-in-law four times. Sunday July 29 was the last.

Olive Romanic

Olive Romanic, 16, the leading feminine figure in the trial, testified that she first met Peter Rogouski four years ago when he built her father's house. He returned the next year and built a barn. She said she was friendly with the prisoner for two years. He is the father of her baby born on March 30, 1934.

"Mit said if I wanted he would pay for the doctor. He wasn't asked to pay. I don't know where Mit was living in March; just wherever he could, I think. After the baby was born, Daddy didn't want Mit around the house, but he came around. He didn't come in the house.

The girl said she had promised to marry Peter Rogouski this month. He left the Romanic house at seven o'clock Sunday morning, July 29, to visit his sister-in-law.

"I was with my father at the gate when Peter left."

About 8 p.m. on the Saturday evening Miss Romanic went out to the milk separator house. She saw "Mit" in the dusk as she was returning to the house.

Offered Cigarette Cards.

"He caught hold of my hand and said he had some cigarette poker cards for me. I told him I didn't want them and ran in the house. Bill Saranhuk went out then. I told Peter Mit was in the yard, and he pulled down the blinds. Afterwards there was a knock on the boards on the west side. My sister Patsie looked out the window and saw a man."

Witness said the prisoner had previously told her he wanted to marry her.

"I told him then that I didn't want to marry him. He said there were lots of other girls besides me. He came to the house on the Saturday evening after July 29. He saw me and Mother and Patsie. He brought me a dress. I told him I didn't want any present from him. He left the parcel on the table. I opened a corner of it, and when I saw what was in it I threw it into the stove.

The next Saturday night he came from Pontypool and was outside the house. My sister was with me. "Mit" was talking to us about Pontypool. She showed me some money, and said he was saving to save more and go back to the old country. He said he had $27 and had $24 left. I don't know what the bills were."

Prisoner Smiles.

His Lordship remarked that was a convenient way of counting and Mit laughed in the prisoner's dock as the interpreter translated the incident.

"On the following Tuesday 'Mit' came again and said he was going to Manvers, and there were some nice coats there. He said he would buy me one if I went with him. I told him I didn't want any. The Saturday night before the body was found he came in and said 'Good evening. My father was not there."

Olive told Mr. Richardson that Peter Rogouski wanted to marry her when she first met him, but she was then going to school.

Mr. Richardson: When did you talk over plans to marry him this October?

"When he was working at our place this summer."

"That was when he was working there 18 days?"

"Yes."

Saw Face At Window.

"Patsy" Romanic corroborated her older sister's evidence of the prisoner's visit on July 28.

"I looked out the window and saw a man crouched down outside. My sister said it was 'Mit.' I was surprised and frightened at first."

The girl had stepped on to the stand smiling broadly as at the preliminary trial.

"Young woman," His Lordship admonished her, "this is a very solemn occasion. That man is on trial for his life and I don't want you laughing and snickering."

Promised Her Shoes.

Continuing her evidence, a new incident in the Crown's case, she said she met "Mit" Sunday morning July 29 when she went berry-picking in the bush. He asked her if Peter Rogouski was at our house, but she did not answer him.

"About 5.30 in the afternoon I saw him again when I was driving the cows home. He was carrying the sticks near the swamp. I asked him what they were for. He said they were for horses, and went on towards the creek.

He told me not to tell anyone that I was with him that afternoon and he would buy me a new pair of shoes."

Mr. Peck asked Patsie whether the prisoner had enquired about Peter while they were talking on Sunday afternoon.

"Yes. He asked me if Pete was home. I said 'yes like fun'."

He said "go on; tell me right."

I said, "No, he's gone."

Witness said Peter Rogouski was a smaller and thinner man than the accused.

Mr. Peck: What kind of man was Peter?

"He was good."

"Did you ever have any trouble with the prisoner?"

His Lordship: What kind of trouble?

Mr. Peck speaking in a low voice replied that he was enquiring about moral relations.

"A grossly improper question," Mr. Justice Jeffrey replied, putting a period to the direct examination.

Mr. Richardson quoted Patsie's evidence at the preliminary hearing when she testified that she had seen the prisoner only once on July 29.

"You said 'Mit' was looking for Bill Saranhuk that Sunday morning, that 'Mit' went home and you did not see him again that day. How do you account for that statement and what you have told us today?"

Patsie: "The first time I forgot about seeing Mit the second time that Sunday. A week after I got it in my head that I had seen him a second time and I told Annie and she told Constable Smith.

Mr. Richardson: It is possible you got your Sundays mixed?

"I don't know."

His Lordship: How many times did Mit promise you new shoes?

"Just the once."

His Lordship: Was it that Sunday he promised the shoes if you did not tell you were with him?

"Yes."

"What do you mean by 'being with you'?"

"Dad didn't want us to talk to 'Mit'."

His Lordship: Did you sometimes meet 'Mit' in the fields and woods.

"Yes."

"Did he know your father told you not to see him?"

"Yes, I told him."

Mrs. Annie Romanic

The next witness was Mrs. Annie Romanic, mother of the two girls and wife of Mike. Her testimony regarding the Saturday night and Sunday morning events corresponded with preceding evidence by Olive and Patsie.

Mr. Peck: Did 'Mit' ever come to your place while Peter was there?

"No."

'Did you see them together in July?"

"I did not."

Witness saw the prisoner on the road about 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon July 29 when he was going for berries. At 4 p.m. she saw him on the adjoining Porter farm. He was going from the woods to John Saranhuk's.

Going Toward Creek.

"At 5.10 I saw him going in the direction of the creek. He was about in the middle of the Porter farm and was going from the Saranhuk house.

Mr. Peck: Did Dmytro ever tell you he wanted to marry Olive?

"Yes. Last June."

"Was that after Olive's baby was born?"

"Yes. We didn't want her to marry him. We were told he had a wife in the old country."

"Did 'Mit' ever talk to you about anyone else marrying Olive?"

"He said he would marry another girl if Olive didn't want him."

"How did Mit act toward Olive after the baby was born"

"He denied parentage at first. I told him it was no use denying it and I told him he could marry her. I did not know then about a wife in the old country."

Mr. Richardson—Did you ever have a conversation with the accused about giving him a plow and cow if he married Olive?

"My husband said he would give him a cow when he married Olive."

His Lorship—A European custom I suppose.

Mrs. Romanic said 'Mit' brought Olive a dress Saturday, August 4. He then said he had $24 and had spent $7. He came back a week later with another dress.

Another Language

The trial was temporarily interrupted by a deficiency in the available facilities for interpreting the evidence.

Mrs. Annie Ragouski, sister-in-law of the murdered Peter, the next witness, is a Lithuanian, and as unacquainted with English as Mr. Igel with the Lithuanian language.

The Crown proposed to call Joseph Petraitres as a pinch-hitter in the role of translator, but there were doubts about his command of Lithuananian. Mr. Justice Jeffrey suggested an emergency request to the Attorney-General's Department for a qualified interpreter, and Mrs. Ragouski was replaced on the stand by her son Frank who learned English in a Manvers School.

The young man stated that his uncle visited his house on July 29, had supper and set out for Romanic's shortly after 5 p.m.

"I was talking with him in the yard during the afternoon and he told me he had $50 on him.

Witness said Peter Rogouski usually crossed the fields, returning west to the Romanic neighborhood, a distance of eight miles.

Joe Petraitres

A neighbour of Mrs. Annie Ragouski, the next witness, Joe Petraitres, said he had known Pete Ragouski from the first day he came to Canada. Their last meeting was on Sunday, July 29, when Peter visited his sister-in-law.

"Peter gave me a smoke that day. He had a new package. He said he got it just for a try. I'm not sure of the name, but I think it was 'Comfort'."

Witness said he recognized Ragouski's body in Millbrook undertaking room.

"I knew him by his face and flat nose, his brown boots and belt. Before he came to Canada he had a double thumb. He thought they might not let him into this country so he went to a doctor and had an operation to take the growth off his thumb. I knew him by that mark and saw it on his thumb in Millbrook."

Vera Petraitres, daughter of the previous witness, related that she saw Ragouski passing her house about 6 p.m. Sunday, July 29 on his way back from his sister-in-law's place.

Mrs. Helena Vanderyegt who lives to the east of the creek (the Romanic farm is west of it) saw Pete Ragouski passing her house between 6 and 6.30 p.m., Sunday, July 29. A short time afterward she heard three screams from the direction of the woods. It was then about fifteen minutes to seven.

"The screams or yells were like when a person is in agony. I heard them again only lower, like fading away."

To Mr. Richardson, witness said she saw Bill Saranhuk, shortly after six o'clock, driving a cow on the road in an easterly direction toward Manvers. The next person passing the house was Peter Ragouski was was walking westerly as if from Manvers. Later Mr. and Mrs. William Argue drove by.

Horse Frightened

William Argue testified that he drove along this road in the evening of the 29th, returning from Decoration Day at Ballyduff.

Mr. Argue lives east of the creek, beyond Vanderyegt's.

"It as about half past seven when I passed the bridge over the creek. Eight or ten rods east of the bridge I noticed a trampled spot about two yards square in the centre of the road. When I got up to this spot the mare gave a few jumps and reared to the south side of the road.

It did not do that in the morning and the road was not tramped then. I stopped for a bout five minutes at Vanderyegt's gate. Bill Saranhuk passed me."

Found the Body

John Fallis of Manvers described the wooded nature of the land in the vicinity of Squire's Creek. He said a man could easily conceal himself behind trees near the road. Mr. Fallis was the first of a searching party to see Ragouski's body in the water part'y covered with poles and sods. It was about 30 rods northeast of the bridge at the road.

Mr. Fallis identified two empty purses, previously described as belonging to Ragouski, which he saw Bill Saranbuk pick up on the bank of the creek where the body was found.

Mr. Richardson: Did you see them on the ground?

"Saranbux was stooping over in the act of picking them up. He had just said, 'Look what's here.' They were in his hand as if he had just picked them off the ground."

Organized Search Party

Provincial Constable Smith recounted the search made for the body of Ragouski.

"I have called at several of the homes and told them to organize a search party.

"When they were starting on the search and most of the party had set out from Saranbuk's, the accused was still near the house. I suggested that he go along with the party, and he did so."

Witness found near the creek in the bush a package of "Comfort" tobacco about two-thirds full.

"When the body was taken out I noticed a deep compression around the neck. I though it was a rope at first, but it was just a depression right around the neck. At that point the swamp is strewn with stumps and "dead fall" and is quite thick, but a man could get through by making a detour of the stumps."

The constable produced a seven-foot length of rope which he found on August 23 in the woods toward the creek and two longer pieces of similar size in appearance found on the Saranbuk premises.

From the road near the bridge to the place where the body was found is 540 feet.

Performed Autopsy

Dr. E. R. Frankish, medico legal adviser in the Department of the Attorney-General, performed an official autopsy on the body of Ragouski. He observed two large bruises on the back of the neck, and the mark of a burn as if caused by a rope. The stomach contents indicated that a meal had been taken about two hours prior to death. Drowning was the immediate cause of death.

His Lordship: That is to say he was alive, but not conscious no doubt, when thrown into the creek.

The largnyx was fractured probably by throttling rather than by a rope, Dr. Frankish said.

"There is no doubt he breathed after being thrown into the water. He might possibly have been conscious, because of the extreme helplessness caused by fracture of the largnyx."

Gave $20 Bill

Harry Damczuk (Damchuk) of Manvers stated to Mr. Peck that Ragouski had worked for him in April.

"I paid him $2.50 and still owed him one dollar. Later I met him and paid him. I gave him a $20 bill, and he handed me $19."

"He said he'd like to keep the $20 bill."

"Strike that out," His Lordship instructed the court reporter.

When Dress Was Bought

Mrs. A. McMahon, storekeeper at Pontypool, told the jury that accused had been in her store a number of times, the last being Saturday night, August 11.

"He bought a pair of work boots and a dress for $3.60, and handed me a $20 bill. Before that, he turned and looked at a baby's dress, asked the price of it, but did not purchase it. When I gave him the $16.40 change he muttered something about a mistake, so I counted it out to him. I saw some other money in his hand, but I don't know how much it was."

The court was adjourned last night at 10.40.

REGRETS FOLLOW USE OF CHEAP SOAP-CHIPS

MYSTERIOUS HOLES AND TEARS—FADED COLORS—TRACED TO STRONG BLEACHING ALKALIES

"Clothes Pay the Price," Women Complain. "Cheap Chips Use Up Faster, Too!"

Think of the dollars you waste when one garment, even, is ruined by cheap soap-chips! Can you afford this risk for the sake of penny-saving on soap? Thousands of women are now saying NO! Let their experience save you from making their mistake.

Poor suds . . hard rubbing . . strain clothes

Where is the saving when handful after handful of cheap chips slither down in the water . . . won't make real suds? Skimpy suds won't loosen dirt. In fact, they "set" it . . . give clothes that dull, grayish look. You have to rub and scrub. And every minute of this hard work rubs strength and newness out of your clothes!

Look out for strong bleaching alkalies in cheap soap-chips

Then think of your colored clothes! Even "fast" prints are gradually dulled and changed by repeated attacks of strong bleaching alkalies and strong water-softeners. Only a fine, rich soap which softens water and dissolves dirt by its volume of suds, can keep your colored clothes from looking "washed out." Chipso makes rich suds. Isn't it a good deal cheaper to protect your clothes every washday with Chipso than to let cheap chips hurry them into the ragbag?

Strong alkalies "eat" thread!

Harsh, strong alkalies released into your clothes by cheap, crudely made soaps "eat" into the cloth . . . weaken threads so that they split and tear easily. Don't risk clothes you have spent good money for by washing them with cheap soap-chips. Chipso is safe. It is not adulterated with harsh, "dirt-cutting" substances. It is SOAPIER. That is why Chipso suds leave your hands smooth when you use Chipso for washing dishes. That is why Chipso makes all your clothes wear longer.

Keep clothes sweet, bright, SAFE with Chipso

"I love the fresh, clean smell of my Chipso wash," Mrs. Theodore Whaley says. "When I tried cheap soap-chips, the clothes had an unpleasant odor."

There are no free fatty acids in Chipso . . . no rancid oils . . . only fine, fresh ingredients unadulterated with harsh chemicals. Chipso smells fresh. It gives you a fresh, sweet, odorless wash that looks bright because Chipso takes out all the dirt.

Store Won't Make Good

Hostess Humiliated After Using Cheap Soap-Chips

"Cheap soap-chips cost me plenty—and gave my pride a bad blow, besides," says Mrs. M. E. Holmes. "I thought I was being thrifty, but the first thing I knew my table linens began going to pieces! My husband and I were both frightfully embarrassed one evening when a guest in our home unfolded a napkin that was full of holes. I've learned my lesson—I'm back to Chipso now for good and all."

"UGH! SCUMMY SUDS . . SOUR SMELL!"

"My cheap soap-chips were horrid for dish-washing," says Mrs. H. J. Carr. "They roughened my hands. The suds wouldn't last—just formed a nasty, flat scum on the water—made the dish-mop smell sour."

SMILES NOW! "DISHES SPARKLE AFTER CHIPSO SUDS!"

"I'm glad to get back to Chipso," smiles Mrs. Carr. "Chipso is actually more economical—it doesn't use up so fast. The suds last . . . smell sweet . . . save time on the dishes . . . leave my hands smooth."

MADE IN CANADA

"WE'RE CURED," WOMEN SAY, "GENUINE CHIPSO GIVES BIGGEST SAVING"

These women have learned that there is no worthwhile substitute for fine, rich, well-made soap that gives GOOD SUDS. You can prove Chipso's suds for yourself. When you use the same amount of Chipso which you have always needed with an inferior soap, your Chipso suds spill over the top of the tub!

And your Chipso suds are creamy . . . active. They don't "peter out." That's why your big box of Chipso, which is safe for everything in your family wash—and for which you pay such a reasonable price!—actually outlasts three or four times the quantity of cheap soap-chips!

"Clothes wear longer"

"Chipso saves work and it saves the clothes," Mrs. P. F. Foertsch says. "Those grand 3-inch suds 'hold up'. They soak dirt loose in 15 minutes. I never have any hard rubbing to do."

Chipso suds give your white clothes the kind of whiteness which new cloth has—not that dull, dead, bleached look. Chipso does its quick work with RICHER SUDS. It is SAFE even for your nicest things.

"Colored clothes look lovely"

Chipso protects your colored clothes! "My little girls' Chipso-washed dresses stay bright and new-looking until they are outgrown," says Mrs. G. J. O'Brien. "When I let hems down, the top side and the under side are the same color!"

Get Chipso from your grocer this week.

SERVICE CLUBS WILL PROTEST MOVING SCHOOL

Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs Aided in Building Bowmanville School.

BREACH OF FAITH.

Plan is Close Victoria School, Move All Boys to Bowmanville.

Strong opposition to the scheme announced by Hon. David A. Croll, Minister of Welfare and Municipal Affairs, of removing boy prisoners from the Victoria Industrial School and placing them in the Boys' School at Bowmanville was expressed to-day by members of the Peterborough Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs.

Members of the local service clubs stated their clubs had contributed more than $1,000 to the establishment of the Boys' School at Bowmanville on the understanding that it was to be maintained as a school for "problem" or "incorrigible" boys who needed only proper environment and guidance to set them on the straight road of life. The school had been so maintained and club members here have taken a great interest in the remarkable success of the school in turning out splendid types of young manhood.

On the other hand, it was pointed out, that inmates of Victoria Industrial School were much different types from those at the Bowmanville Boys School. They had been sentenced to the industrial school by police magistrates after several appearances in juvenile courts.

Local Kiwanians and Rotarians considered it a very poor policy to mix the two types and considered that the progressive work of character building accomplished at the Boys School at Bowmanville could not help but be retarded in consequence.

James Juby, a past president of the Rotary Club, said that the club here had donated $500 to assist in building a gymnasium at the Bowmanville school. "I certainly take strong exception to this plan announced by Hon. Mr. Croll," Mr. Juby said. "It is contrary to the program for the school outlined to us when we contributed funds to its establishment. The boys at the Bowmanville school were not convicted of an offence and were placed in the school merely to give them a better start in life, while the inmates of the industrial school are far different type. Mixing them in the same institution is a bad policy. I think it will meet with the opposition of every Rotary and Kiwanis Club and I shall certainly bring it to the attention of our club."

Isaac P. McNabb, a past lieutenant-governor of the Ontario-Quebec-Maritime district of Kiwanis International, also considered that change suggested by Hon. Mr. Croll would retard the work accomplished at the Bowmanville School. He said that members of the Peterborough Kiwanis Club had taken an active interest in the progress of the boys at the school, visiting the school frequently and making numerous gifts to it, including a boat on one occasion. He stated that he was well acquainted with the previous supervisor at the Bowmanville School, Dr. Raymond, and considered that the school had carried on a splendid work.

J. A. McKone, secretary for years of the Kiwanis Club, criticized the change in policy of the Bowmanville Boys' School as planned by Hon. Mr. Croll. "It is bad to put boys who have been convicted of offences with other lads who really require only a little special guidance. The boys at the Bowmanville School were never designated as prisoners or inmates and they were not sent there by magistrates. The Peterborough Kiwanis Club with other clubs built lodges at the school and assisted the work of the school in every way possible. I certainly intend to bring before the members of the club this change in the school's purpose."

Mr. McKone said the local Kiwanis Club had contributed $650 to the Bowmanville School.

Lost: Wife With Hat Visible 10 Miles Husband On The Skyline With Telescope

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.— There is one man in the world who knows what his wife's hat looks like.' His story was told yesterday at A Century of Progress by Bernard Roloff, secretary of the Travelers' Aid, who said:

"This strange man was an Iowa farmer by the name of Henry Krause and I saw him twice. The first time he said he had lost his wife somewhere on the grounds. Well, we found her for him.

"Next day he returned,' saying, 'I've lost her again—haven't seen her for hours'."

Said Roloff:

"Hours? Then why didn't you report earlier?"

The farmer replied::

"Didn't like to bother you again. Anyway, I thought I could find her. I went to the top of the skyride and spent $1.50 putting dimes into telescopes. I couldn't spot her. Of course, even with a telescope, I wouldn't have expected to make out her features at such a distance, but I figured I could recognize her hat anywhere within a range of ten miles. I've known that hat for years and years."

Marketing of Fish to be First of Many Problems on List.

SCOPE SPREADING.

OTTAWA, Oct. 25.—(C.P.)—The Stevens Commission on mass buying and price spreads—a continuation of the House of Commons committee which enquired into these matters last session—will get under way next Tuesday. In a statement issued last night the chairman, H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, outlined the scope of the commission's work.

The marketing of fish will be the first problem to be tackled. This has already been before the commission, as a parliamentary committee. L. W. Fraser of Halifax, engaged by the then committee, presented an interim report covering a survey he made of the fish marketing situation in the Maritimes. Further evidence from ministers will be taken next week.

Other industries into which investigation will be continued are the livestock and packing business, the canning, milling and baking industries. Additional to that the commission will probe the textile business, while large-scale buying on the part of departmental and chain stores will also be further enquired into.

Three Derby Teams Unite At Reception

MELBOURNE, Australia, Oct. 25.—(AP)—A gruelling and hazardous flight behind them, the winning entries in the London to Melbourne speed race were merry and carefree tonight at a reception given by the Lord Mayor.

Colonel Roscoe Turner, American who finished third, heartily greeted C. W. A. Scott, the Englishman who came in first.

"I sure want to congratulate you," Turner said. "Boy, you certainly did deliver the goods."

T. Campbell Black,. Scott's co-pilot, the Dutch fliers who finished second, K. D. Parmentier and J. J. Moll, and Clyde Pangborn, Turner's co-pilot, joked and laughed with one another.

The Lord Mayor proposed toasts to the queen and to President Roosevelt, while Parmentier toasted the King and Queen. In a speech praising the fliers the Lord Mayor said the pilots made Melbourne known to the world as it had never been before.

OPPOSITION.

WALKERVILLE, Ont., Oct. 24.—(C.P.).—The request of a committee of Windsor, East Windsor and Riverside representatives for a by-law authorizing a referendum of the question of the Border Cities amalgamation has been turned down by Walkerville Town Council. Such a step will be taken only when a group of representative citizens petition for it, council decided.

PERSIANS HOLD TWO U.S. FLIERS

Clamp Derby Racers in Jail When Forced to Land— Later Free Them.

SPOIL PRIZE CHANCES.

BAGDAD, Iraq., Oct. 25. (AP).—John H. Wright and John Polando took off from Shaiba, Iraq, early to-day for Karachi, India, after giving details of their unhappy experience as the prisoners of Persian authorities for more than 24 hours.

The American fliers in the Melbourn derby were forced down Tuesday near the Persian border.

Just before taking off this morning, Wright, in a telephonic conversation with the Associated Press in Bagdad, said: "What causes me anxiety is that we again have to fly over Persia. Heaven knows what will happen if we are forced to land again.

"We had a devilish experience day before yesterday," he said. "We were compelled to land because of trouble with our fuel supply but came down safely. The Persians were greatly excited. Some helpful Britons hid me away, but the Persians got hold of my colleague Johnnie (Polando), who was immediately placed under police guard.

Refused Even Drink

"He had a stiff time. They wouldn't even give him a drink of water. Later I joined him, so we suffered together. We did our best to point out there was no possible reason for our arrest, since the passports were visaed by the Persian legation in London, but they would not listen to us.

"We spent a most unpleasant night. Yesterday the Persians thought better of their extraordinary behavior and released us. I believe our British friends who made representations to them were chiefly responsible for our release. We flew back to Basra (Iraq), where we had the best possible treatment.

"The cause of the trouble which compelled us to make a forced landing was not definitely traced, but British mechanics made some readjustments and I hope we'll have no further trouble.

"It makes us furious to think our detention in Persia removed all possibility of getting a good place in the handicap race."

PRAISES DRAMAS OF MIRSKY BOOK

Reviewer Outlines Author's Story of Arctic Search From Earliest Times.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (C.P.). — Lewis Gannett reviews in The Herald Tribune, a book by Jeannette Mirsky "To The North," which Stefansson considers one of the best of the histories of Arctic exploration.

"Miss Mirsky is a member of the anthropological department at Columbia University. She is of Russian descent, but American-born, and she writes dramatic English. I do not know that she has herself ever seen the eternally frozen North, but she must have talked with men who have struggled in the ice hummocks; her book has the quality of living experience. And it puts the English and American explorations, of which we have heard most, in a truer perspective. She gives the great Russians and Dutchmen, and the Scandinavians, their due.

"For she is little interested in the mere discovery of a pole. She is not at all certain that Peary, a careless scientist, as proved by his mistakes on other expeditions, ever reached the precise North Pole; she is very certain, of course, that Dr. Cook did not. Byrd's spectacular flight over the police, she says, 'had no value to Arctic exploration. It seems a strange goal on which to have lavished so much energy and planning and money. Like so many grand gestures, when seen in retrospect, it does not seem to matter greatly.'

"Her story begins with Pytheas of Marseill, who, about 330 B.C., visited the tin mines of England, sailed north to a land of winter night, past the limits of agriculture, and returned, after six years, to be branded an unmitigated liar.

"Nor is the drama less in the story of the mapping of the islands north of Canada, for all the stupidity of the Admiralty expeditions that failed to rescue Sir John Franklin. Or in the still incomplete exploration of Greenland, culminating in the story, told in 'Northern Lights,' of the five months a young Englishman passed alone buried in the heart of the ice cap."

McLaren was absolved of all blame in the matter.

FISH FROM THE NORTHERN LAKES WILL FEED AMERICAN CITIZENS

Air Transport Makes Possible Delivery Fresh From Nets.

NEW INDUSTRY FOR CANADA

By JAMES MONTAGNES
Central Press Canadian Writer

REGINA, Oct. 25.—United States cities in the middle west and as far east as New York are to have fresh fish caught in the lakes of western Canada this winter, according to an announcement made by a Saskatchewan air transport operator. Fish caught in the frozen lakes of northern Saskatchewan will be flown to Chicago and other American cities.

Fishing in the prairie provinces has in recent years become big business, running annually into about $4,000,000. The fishing industry in the Canadian west is but a few years old, but air transportation to Canadian cities, and now to United States cities, in winter time, has partly accounted for the rapid growth of the industry. Fresh fish in winter was formerly a scarce article in central western cities. But now with aeroplane transport, fish caught in the morning several hundred miles north of a western city, is delivered in time for lunch.

Take Radio Along

In addition to aerial transport, motor tractors hauling sleds with heavy loads of fish are being used to reach ready markets. Each tractor with its trailer carries about half a carload of frozen fish.

In the late autumn, just before freeze-up, scows are built, powered with outboard motors, loaded with nets and fishing supplies, with a radio. Transportation to fishing grounds as fast as possible to prevent a sudden blanket of ice marooning the fishermen far from their destination.

Once at their chosen spots, they quickly erect a cabin, store provision and and a supply of wood, set up their radio to keep in touch with the outside world, and cut holes in the ice to insert nets.

Eight or ten nets are strung out on one line under the ice, and daily the catch is hauled up. The fish are dressed on the ice, packed in wooden boxes, and shipped out as fast as sleds or aeroplanes can be loaded.

Fishery experts point out that in these northern waters, which remain cold the year round, trout and whitefish have a firmer flesh than fish caught in warmer waters.

While most lakes where winter fishing is an industry are seldom more than 300 miles from prairie cities, commercial fishing is carried on at Lake Athabasca, which is practically on the boundary of the North West Territories. Here special machinery has been placed at the fisheries for slicing the catch and packing with wrapers revealing the northern grounds from which they come.

LARGE ATTENDANCE MILLBROOK SUPPER

St. Andrew's United Church Observes Fifty-second Anniversary.

MILLBROOK, Oct. 25.—(Examiner Correspondence.)—A fowl supper, attended by approximately six hundred people, continued the observance of the fifty-second anniversary of St. Andrew's United Church on Tuesday evening, beginning at 5.30 p.m., and continuing until all comers had been abundantly served.

The basement was lovely with fall foliage, and the tables centred with runners in yellow and black suggestive of the approaching Hallowe'en season, hollowed-out pumpkins filled with marigolds and crimson vines completing the decorative scheme. The president of the Woman's Association, Mrs. F. J. Smith, and an army of willing helpers, served the guests, and after healthy appetites had been fully satisfied, adjournment was made to the auditorium upstairs where the community orchestra, under the leadership of G. E. Burnham, supplied music while the audience was gathering.

The pastor, Rev. A. L. Sisco, capably filled the position of chairman and Rev. Mr. Seymour, of Springville, led in the opening prayer. Greetings from the sister churches of the village were brought by Rev. H. R. Williams, B.A., of Grace Presbyterian, and Rev. William Simpson, B.A., of St. Thomas' Anglican, F. W. Bowen, M.P. of Newcastle, M.P. for Durham county, also making a brief address.

The program opened with a piano duet by Misses Margaret Simpson and M. L. Collins, and the quartette from Lakefield, Mrs. Hamblin, Mrs. McMillan, Messrs. Huggins and Payne, with Mrs. Payne as accompanist, were heard in several selections to the great pleasure of the listeners. Miss Bernice Smith chose for her reading, "The Ladies' Aid," and Miss Jean Burnham, "How We Kept Mother's Birthday"; Mr. Mizen, of Port Hope, was warmly encored for his cornet solos, Mr. Stanley accompanying at the piano, and vocal duets by Messrs. Donay and Roberts, of Port Hope, were much appreciated, their second number, "The Rosary," being especially popular; Mr. Snelgrove was the accompanist.

Over two hundred dollars was realized from the supper, the exact amount being not yet fully determined; some cooking wa ssold at the close of the program, and the visiting artists entertained at lunch before leaving for home. Altogether this annual event, which involves a vast amount of work and organization, reached the usual high standard of success as a feature of this year's anniversary. The thanks of the Women's Association are due Mrs. Harold Bigelow for the courtesy of preparing and roasting the fowl at his bakery, to the Jeffrey Brothers for cooking the potatoes at their creamery, and to R. H. Edmunds for the use of room back of his shop where bags of this vegetable were peeled on Monday evening by a committee of W. A. members who gathered early for this purpose.

WORLD'S BEST IN THEATRES BUT HUNDREDS MINUS BEDS

WELCOME CRITICISM

(By Coralie Van Paassen, Central Press Canadian Writer.)

MOSCOW, Oct. 25.—In spite of thousands of books which have appeared on the subject of Soviet Russia in the course of the last few years and the mass of information made available in tens of thousands of newspaper articles and magazine essays, I am convinced that the world outside little realizes yet what is going on here in this vast territory. In the first place Russia is no paradise. There is still an awful lot of poverty, ignorance, dirt and inertia here. On the other hand neither London, Paris, Berlin or New York can compare with Moscow on the matter of theatres. What we have seen here this week is perhaps best summed up in the words of the theatrical critic of the London Observer: "It is tremendously impressive. No, that expression is too weak. It is overwhelming. No, that is too weak yet. Nothing like it has ever been seen on earth." And this does not apply solely to the fortnight of the theatrical festival.

Show Best Films

The sixty-four legitimate theatres of Moscow, not counting the movie houses, are jammed the whole year around, except during the summer holidays, of course. And if you think maybe it's just propaganda they give in the plays, just look at the programs, Shakespeare, Shaw, Bjornson, Moliere, Rostand, Gogol, Pushkine, Goethe, Schiller, O'Neil, Bloch; the best, the finest of all nations and of all times. Of course there are also presentations by young Soviet playwrights.

And this is the finest part of it all. Every clubhouse has amateur dramatic societies and musical schools for young people and any child showing aptitude and talent for a singing career, for dancing, for music or acting, is immediately encouraged, helped, pushed forward till success is attained. In this country no child has the slightest limitation. The poorest child, from the most backward parents has a full chance to move ahead in the world. The idea that only children of party members have privileges is just propagandistic poppycock from the other side of the fence.

Has Both Sides

I have seen magnificent apartment houses for workers, with a movie theatre in the lobby, sunrooms on the roof, a kindergarten in the gardent where hundreds of little ones were playing under supervision of trained nurses and where they had the best food obtainable absolutely without cost to the parents. But I have also seen barracks where whole families, fathers, mothers and children slept on the bare floor and on benches. Bad as this is, it ought to be remembered that formerly 95% of the people of Russia slept on the floor and on benches and now only a very small percentage.

If you go to Russia to find dirt, you can find it. But if you go to Russian to find hopeful signs for the future, you can find more of them here than in all the rest of the world combined. For here things are decidedly on the upgrade, which is not true of any other country I know. The Soviet Union is a vast country. It is not Switzerland, or Poland or Germany. It covers one-sixth of the habitable surface of the world and it takes a long time to wash and sweep a sixth part of the world. It takes a long time to teach human being to be neat, to have regard for their own health and the hygiene of others. It takes a long time to inculcate a sense of beauty and to fill a vast land such as this with joy and laughter. But it's being done. A Herculean labor, but they shrink from nothing here. Nothing is considered impossible. And because they succeed and see their own success, the rhythm of improvement is always increasing. Nothing produces so much success as success.

Seeking Further Progress

The youth of the land has been won for the cause of progress. No question about that. The young people consider the work they are engaged in the greatest adventure that can be imagined. Their royal road to romance is to build a better world and they detest war to a man. That is what a few years of education have done. The material civilization of Germany, England, and America is still superior to that of Russia, but it won't be forever. If these people can avoid a war, they'll surpass us all, and that in a few years.

They take things and themselves tremendously seriously over here. Now that this Literary Congress which many of the greatest writers of the world are attending. The government sponsors it. The papers are filled from cover to cover with the speeches and remarks of writers from other countries. They printed a special edition when Jean Richard Bloch, French novelist, had spoken of Henri Barbusse, or Tokyama Settana, a Japanese poet. They think it important here what a writer has to say. They think that men and women who have made the study of life their life's business, ought to be heard. The government wants to hear what they say. The people want to hear. In western countries the writer is an entertainer, the poet is a subject for wise-cracks, the novelist belongs to a class standing aloof from society. Everybody is afraid of criticism in the west. Here they ask for it and they clamor for it. That's fine. I like it.

Modern Inventions

"There is no use going to Russia," I was told. "They only show you what they want you to see." I am seeing exactly what I want to see and when I want to see it. The Russians imagine because you are a bourgeois that you want to see the things they show you in bourgeois countries, old churches, museums, palaces, and they are willing to take you to those places. But when you tell them: "I have seen so many of those old mouldering things elsewhere, that I am sick of the sight of them, show me something new," they brighten up, for that's their feeling also and they show you parks of culture and rest homes where men and women can go for twenty-four hours to rest up completely, projects for model cities, films revealing the chasing of dirt, ignorance and disease from the dark places of the Asiatic continent, farming machinery, new surgical instruments, movies playing on a screen attached to the ceiling for hospital patients who cannot sit up, homes where women go during pregnacy, and thousands and thousands of healthy little children.

They are on their way here!

Wiggle of Chicago Beauty's Toes, Hope for Sleeping Sickness Girl

CHICAGO, Oct. 25—New hope for the awakening of Patricia Maguire, Oak Park's famed "Sleeping Beauty," has come from England, where Victor S. Cleave, of Folkstone, victim of sleeping sickness for four years, has "returned from death."

Slight signs of improvement have been noted in Patricia, who has been sleeping for thirty-two months. But slight as they are, they are encouraging to her mother, Mrs. Peter Mylie, and her sister, Mrs. Gladys Hansen, who have cared for her during the long illness.

Cleave has been discharged from a hospital and has returned to his family. He has no recollection of the events occurring during his long illness, which came as the result of war-time wounds.

Describing Patricia's improvement in recent months, Mrs. Hansen said:

"She is able to move her fingers and toes when requested. She seems to be more sensitive to sound from the outside world. We have abandoned heat treatments as unsuccessful and also discontinued the serum treatments. But we are still hopeful that she will recover."

THE Carnation Milk you buy is a Canadian product. But more important is the fact that this good milk from fine Dominion herds, processed by Carnation care and skill is a better milk for baby's bottle and for all the uses of kitchen and table.

Carnation Milk is much easier to digest than cow's milk in any other form, because it is heat treated and homogenized. Carnation supplies the same vitamins and minerals that are found in the best bottled milk. Its uniformity prevents upsets. Its safety, insured by sterilization, is an invaluable protection.

Carnation Milk produces finer results in cooking. Finer texture, richer flavour—that is what you get when Carnation Milk is used in cream soups and sauces; in chocolate and cocoa; in ice cream and candy. WONDROUS CURES ARE CLAIMED FOR MANITOBA'S MIRACLE MAN

"Doctor" John Love Refuses Interviews and Photographs.

METHOD A MYSTERY

By FRANK H. WILLIAMS
Central Press Staff Correspondent

WINNIPEG, Man., Oct. 24.—An aura of mystery, tinged with the mysticism of the orient, and painted against a background of misery and suffering, held Winnipeggers enthralled as they endeavored to analyze the occult powers credited to John Love, who is treating hundreds of cases daily in the kitchen of a farmhouse on the fringe of this city.

Love, whose origin and former place of residence are as mysterious as his method of treating cases, makes no charge for his treatments and accepts no presents. Food and vegetables offered by some patients are presented to the household giving them quarters.

"I do not need anything; my wants are simple and are provided for," is the message given to the public through his wife, who acts as his official contact with the public. Love refuses to be interviewed and will not pose for pictures. He has an aversion to publicity of any description.

Love, who is believed to have relief places him in the category of a "faith healer," or one who professes to cure by the "laying on of hands." His wife declares he does not require the presence of a person in the room to effect relief and a cure. He offers no explanation for the possession of extraordinary powers.

Hundreds of autos block the road daily around the farmhouse where he has his temporary abode. They are received in the order of their appearance, which has caused desperate cases to remain on the premises all night. The rush of work was so heavy that Love decided to create office hours, but the patients would have none of it and he was compelled to abandon the plan.

One Known Cure

Love, who is believed to have been a former resident of Oshawa, Ont., is described by those who have seen him at close range as being about 45 years old, five feet six or seven, and to weigh about 150 pounds. He has piercing eyes and his appearance is of a decidedly ascetic nature.

The only known cure claimed for him is the case of John Fitch, in whose farmhouse he first took up his abode. Fitch was afflicted with a bladder and liver condition which he claims was cured by the mystery man. Love refused to accept anything for his services.

"Let me buy you a new pair of boots," Fitch insisted.

Love looked down at his well-worn footgear."

"No, these are quite comfortable," he said.

Fitch then asked to be permitted to repair the shoes, to which Love agreed.

When the farmer called at the shoemaker for the repaired shoes the shoemaker refused to accept any pay.

"Do you know whose shoes they are?" Fitch inquired.

"No," responded the shoemaker, "but when I had finished the job a voice whispered to me to make no charge for them."

And the mystery of this man deepens in the fact of manifestations of this sort.

FIRE COMPANY FIRST FORMED IN APRIL 1854

Fires Were Always Great Menace in Pioneer Days in Peterborough.

OLD-TIME BRIGADE

(By Roger Roundabout)

To the early pioneer dwellers in this city fire was ever a very serious menace. Fire protection, as we understand it, was practically non-existent, and such as there was being primitive in the extreme. Not only was there the risk of fire in the town itself, but forest fires were a continual threat. In Sept., 1851, first of this description threatened the town; the fire brigade was summoned to Nassau to fight the flames and dense smoke rolled through the streets. Several farms within view of the town were swept over, and the buildings destroyed.

The first fire-fighting company was organized on April 15, 1854. The first fight-fighting appliance, a hand-power engine was brought to town in all its glory of red paint and shining brass fittings. The officers of the first Peterborough Fire Brigade were: R. Swayne, capt.; J. T. Henthorne, 1st lieut.; E. C. Hall, 2nd lieut., B. Mowry, engineer; George Ross, R. Thompson, and Poole Eastland, branch men; Wm. Croft and J. Nesbitt, axemen, and Thomas Menzies, secretary; volunteers all.

Name Painted on Engine

The name, "Brittania Fire Co. No. 1" was painted on the engine in letters of gold, and the motto "When duty calls, you'll ever find us." A uniform, too, was provided. The call of fire brought out the whole population to help handle the pump. It was considered an honor and a distinction to belong to the brigade, and the annual ball was a great social function.

Later on came the first steam fire-engine, under the management and care of James English, and in 1908 the old Volunteer Fire Brigade passed away after a 60 years' existence and its place was taken by the present paid brigade.

But in those 60 years many interesting things had happened, which can be briefly outlined. In 1859 the Council appointed E. Poole as chief engineer, with Messrs. W. Lundy, W. Arnott, C. Bradfield and W. Brownlee as fire wardens. Then in 1871, the Council ordered a new steam fire engine, of which some details may be given in order to compare it with modern equipment. It was known as a No. 3 Rotary with a capacity of 4,000 gallons a minute, and was bought, with 500 feet and a hose-cart, for $4,500. On Nov. 27, 1871, it arrived and was tested; using a 1¼-inch nozzle, it threw a stream 184 feet and with a larger nozzle 205 feet; with a thousand feet of hose and 1¼-inch nozzle it threw water over the Town Hall. James English was appointed engineer at a salary of $150 a year.

Col. Poole Retired

In 1873 Col. Poole retired as chief and Chas. Stapleton succeeded with W. H. Wrighton, assistant chief.

In 1876 the brigade was reduced to 30 able-bodied men at $15 per year, and the old fire engine sold to Campbellford for $600.

In 1882 fire protection was greatly increased by the formation of the new waterworks and watermains were laid in the principal streets. Continuous efforts were made to increase the efficiency of the brigade in equipment and personnel, and in 1890 a new electric fire alarm system was installed by the Bell Telephone Company, on the order of the Council.

In Dec., 1892, serious trouble arose; there had been an enquiry into recent mysetrious fires in the town, and the chief, T. Rutherford, and the brigade resigned en masse.

In March, 1894 the Council heard a report from the Fire Underwriters' Association condemning the then existing organization, and in August 6, 1900, Alderman Dawson expressed himself as being "sick and tired" of being chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee.

There had long been an urgent need for a new fire hall and equipment, but in 1904 a bylaw to raise money for that purpose was defeated, the proposed cost being $25,000. In 1905 this bylaw was again rejected, but in 1906 it was passed. The present site was bought for $3,000, and in April of that year the contract for a new fire hall was let to H. Carveth for $9,875, with $1,049 additional for heating and plumbing.

Formal Opening

On January, 1908, there was a formal opening, and in February it was decided to have a permanent paid brigade; the volunteer system which had existed for 60 years being superseded. The new system to come into force on July 1.

The city advertised for a fire chief and the whole brigade resigned, including the chief, T. Rutherford, who had been in office 28 years, and in the brigade 40 years.

There were long and often adjourned discussions in the Council, but at last on June 15, W. A. Howard was appointed chief, out of 300 applicants at a salary of $1,250. The first paid permanent brigade was as follows, Chief, W. A. Howard; Engineer, S. Wainwright; and W. Taylor, J. A. Brumwell, F. J. Burke, F. Reynolds, G. H. Hawkes, J. Weir, W. J. Nelson, W. J. Mulhall, and R. Parnell.

Thus the old order was changed and a new era began and our present fire brigade is the result.

Bus, 12 Aboard Upsets, Kills Two

INDIANA, Pa., October 25 (A. P.). — A bus carrying 12 passengers upset and plunged into a stream off the Benjamin Franklin Highway near here yesterday, killing two passengers and injuring 10.

The dead were not immediately identified.

Passengers said the front wheels of bus, en route from New York to Chicago, "seemed to shimmy," and then the huge vehicle left the road. It turned over twice, going down an embankment.

Hundreds Of People Are Flocking To Farm House

He will not be photographed nor interviewed. The layout shows, LEFT, the farmhouse and crowds gathered waiting their turn. PHANTOMS MAY HOLD REVEL AT HALLOWE'EN CELEBRATIONS

Do Not Confine Their Activities of Lone Night Each Year.

LONDON TOWER HAUNTED

By RAY COLLETT
Central Press Canadian Staff Writer

TORONTO, Oct. 25.—When the black cats of Hallowe'en go sneaking round the corner, when Jack-o-Lanterns smoke and splutter on every post, when the wind moans strangely around the windows and the night is dark and glowering, what of the "real" ghosts which are said to haunt the eerie places on earth? Do the spectres of murdered men and women, the spirits of departed humans unable to find rest in death, driven eternally to wander and roam unseen, untouched round the places they knew, choose this night to hold carnival? Do they re-live again the incidents that drove them to their restless wanderings?

London Tower Haunted

If they do, what strang and fearful processions must the grim old Tower of London see, or Glamis Castle, home of the Duchess of York, still haunted by the ghosts of former owners, according to legend.

London Tower probably can lay legitimate claim to more phantom bodies than any other building. In spectral form Isabella, wife of Edward II, Henry VIII and his wives, Catherine and Ann Boleyn, Sir Walter Raleigh, beheaded in the tower, and Oliver Cromwell, whose body was disinterred and hanged on Tyburn Gallows, still haunt the city and keep, according to eminent psychical experts who discuss the spirits with all seriousness.

Unhappy Queen Walks

Elliot O'Donnell, who compiled a census of London's ghostly visitants, is authority for many a story about these visitors from another world. His spectral catalogue includes lunatics and murderers, suicides and courtesans, kings and queens, and ranges from recitals of mere mystic tappings to processions in which knightly figures tramp along carrying their heads under their arms. One night a light was seen in the Tower chaptel. A warder climbed to a window and looked in. A phantom procession, courtly knights and beautiful ladies paraded down the aisle. Anne Boleyn, murdered queen of Henry VIII, led the assembly. She was rehearsing her unhappy marriage to the Merry Monarch. Bluff King Hal is still said to roam the gardens of Richmond Palace where he waited for the rocket which announced the beheading of his queen.

Queen Isabella, driven by remorse for the murder of Edward, in which she was suspected of participation, wanders aimlessly, hopelessly, in the churchyard of Greyfriars, a figure in streaming white, with lean, haggard features and flame-shot restless eyes. Oliver Cromwell parades on stormy nights through Red Lion Square. In the Royal Museum, up and down the corridors, wanders the spirit of Katebit, priestess of Amman Ra at Thebes of ancient Egypt, whose mummy cannot confine the unhappy girl's spirit. Even Westminster Bridge has its ghost—the wraith of Jack the Ripper; it jumps from the bridge into the black waters below each night of the old year just as Big Ben tolls the stroke of midnight.

Mystery of Glamis

But up in Scotland, where the Strathmores of Glamis have their ancestral home, there is a mystery which has defied all attempts to solve. Only three people in the world know the secret, the Earl of Strathmore, his son and heir, and the factor of the estate. Glamis Castle is now a peaceful place. Royal children play in its gardens but Glamis Castle was not always like that. It was here that MacBeth murdered Duncan. Here Sir John Lyon, first Baron Glamis, was done to death in a duel in 1388, and a long train of tragedies followed his death. The beautiful widow of the sixth Lord Glamis was burned as a witch after a mock trial in which her own son was tortured until he falsely accused her.

The man who wove the mystery of Glamis was Charles, the sixth earl. Gambler and drunkard, one Sunday night he called for cards. None would play with him. He swore then he would play with the devil and locked himself into his room. A knock! "Come in," roared the earl, and a tall, dark figure entered. Without a word they sat down to play. Losing desperately, the earl cursed his ill luck until angered by the gathering servants he tore from the room and swore to kill the first who again crowded the doorway. Returning, he found his partner vanished into thin air. Every Sunday evening after that the room resounded to the oaths of the earl—when he wasn't there at all—until one day he was stabbed to death.

Still the tumult continued in the barred room until the family had it walled up. Was this the secret room which exists in Glamis Castle to-day, the secret of which only three men know? What awful terrors does it hold....? Do spirits of hapless earls and murdered kings foregather there to wail in anguish in their restless torment? These three men never tell. It is the unrevealed secret.

Canada's Ghost

Perhaps Canada's best known phantom is the "Lady of the Twilight," who once haunted the St. Lawrence River. She has not been seen for years, yet sailors dread her reappearance. It means death and disaster. Her hobby is destroying boats and laughing at the crews struggle in their efforts to escape.

When the vesper bells ring from churches along the river "The Lady of the Twilight" was rowed to the centre of the stream by a male companion. She hailed a passing vessel, asking for passage. So attractive was she that it was invariably granted but when she came aboard her presence exerted some evil influence on the captain and crew who left the vessel unattended to crash to disaster. As the boat sank among rocks the laugh of the beautiful lady would float over the waters.

Paris Style—Snappy

CHICAGO, Oct. 25. — "Eh bien!"

Manager Edward Martin knew he should have said something like that when the president of the Socite des Couturies de Paris registered at the Devonshire Hotel. When he cashed the distinguished visitor's check for $30 something told him he should have said—

"Mais non!"

As the manager really doesn't ever remember what he wants to say in French when he wants to say it, he called in Detective Martin Joyce. After looking at the check, Joyce made a telephone call and said, as he led the president to the police station—

"Ix-nay!"

New Trenches Under London Tubes Aimed To Ease Recovery Of Suicides' Bodies

LONDON, Eng. Oct. 25. — (CP)— Many a platform of the London "tube" stations is just now encumbered with long piles of loose rubble, making it to look not unlike the bigger dug-outs of the western front in the War.

These piles of rubble are excavated from underneath the rail track, the clearances being made in the dead of night, during the few hours when the "tube" is free from passing trains.

The railway authorities have resolved to make a trench below each stretch of track alongside every platform. The reason for this is a sinister one. The number of people who take their lives by throwing themselves in front of a "tube" train as it enters a station has steadily risen. Coroners have commented upon the fascination which the "tube" seems to hold for the intending suicide.

It is unlikely that the new trench under the track will do much in saving a would-be suicide's life, but it will make it more easy for the body to be recovered, and will thus obviate a prolonged delay in restarting the train service.

Anti-Catholic Move Sees First Killings

MEXICO, D.F., Oct. 25.—(AP)—The first deaths resulting from the current official movement against the Catholic Church in Mexico were reported today from Queretero. Mistaken identity caused them.

Delayed dispatches from Hercules, Queretaro, just outside the state capital, said police and soldiers exchanged fire when each force mistook the other for a group attempting to prevent carrying out of the governor's order to close all churches. Several were killed and a number wounded.

Anti-Catholic elements, encouraged by the support of General Plutarco Elias Calles, moved to bring about the expulsion from Mexico of all Archbisops and Bishops.

The former president and "supreme chief" of the revolution told deputies and senators who visited him at Cuernavaca that Mexico Catholics were planning a subversive movement but the government "will know how to meet it."

To banish that cleaning-day frown,
Use seismotite upstairs and down,
Just ask for Old Dutch,

This old friend of scratchless renown.

Written by Mrs. Helene Bedard, Brockville, Ont.

Old Dutch is unique in the service and satisfaction it gives. No other cleanser can equal Old Dutch because one of its important, valuable ingredients is seismotite . . . a scratchless cleaning and polishing material which is absolutely different in its cleaning action from anything else, and therefore in the results it gives.

You can use Old Dutch on any surface water will not harm. It doesn't scratch; cleans quicker; saves your time and energy.

Saves you money, too, because its flaky, flat-shaped particles cover more surface and do more square yards of cleaning per penny of cost. Try Old Dutch.

HOPE AND DESPAIR MIX IN CALL TO EPISCOPAL CHURCH YOUTH

Pastoral Claims Moral Sag Has Sapped Strength of the Nation.

HITS PLAYS, NOVELS.

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., Oct. 25—(A.P.)—The 51st triennial General Episcopal Convention was at an end to-day but reading of the "Bishop's Pastoral," the review of church and world affairs at yesterday's concluding session aroused much discussion.

It was a message in which hope and despair were mixed. Addressed to the youth of the church it called for a militant discipleship which "must take a firm stand against evils that threaten the very security of church and state."

The Rt. Rev. James E. Freeman, Bishop of Washington, D.C., read the pastoral letter to a small gathering of lay delegates, bishops and presbyters.

Decrying "creed and selfishness, unrest, hunger and multiplied disorders, civil strife in cities and despair in the broad fields of agriculture," the pastoral said there is a "moral sag" which has "sapped the strength, impaired the confidence, exhausted the reserves and reduced to a low plane of importance, this nation and the nations of the world."

Condemns Plays, Movies

Plays and novels "immoral and grossly licentious, cleverly conceived and written, suggestive and indecent," motion pictures which have "aroused the wrath of self-respecting people who had demanded the right of decency," were condemned.

"The menace of Reno,—child life blighted and its future obscured by darkened homes,—the appeal to foreign courts which have given us an unenviable distinction quite without parallel, even among so-called pagan people"—these were termed the result of divorce.

"This unchecked and growing evil, largely indulged in by people of wealth and position, destroys the sanctity of marriage and gives it the character of legalized prostitution,' the pastoral declared. "A wicked and adulterous generation makes no reckoning of the disaster and misfortunes that inevitably attend its evil and justful ways.".

"We refuse to keep silence in the face of a situation that strikes at the very foundation of the social order."

To the youth of the land and to religious faith, the pastoral turned for its hope of a better future world.

Be a Falcon's Pal! Actor's Assignment

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 25.—Actor Henry Wilcoxon to-day drew Hollywood's strangest assignment—to spend the next two months making friends with a falcon which he must carry on his wrist during most of the action of "The Crusades."

The star plays Richard the Lion Hearted in the new Cecil B. De Mille spectacle, and history reports that Britain's warrior king nearly always rode with his favorite hunting bird on his wrist.

The studio has set up a sanctury for the falcon candidates in Wilcoxon's hotel so they'll have more opportunity to be friends.

HITLER STRONG FOR MUELLER

Official Quarters Reveal New Bishops Appointed to be Sworn in Thursday.

DISPUTE UNABATED.

BERLIN, October 25, (A.P.) — An indication was given to-day that Chancellor Hitler will continue to support Reichsbishop Ludwig Mueller in Germany's acrimonious Protestant church rebellion.

Official quarters revealed that Bishops appointed by Mueller and Dr. August Jaeger, Nazi Commissioner for Protestant Churches in Russia, will be sworn in on Thursday.

The church quarrel had been saddled upon Hitler, with opponents of Muleler's vigorous dictatorship in the Nazi-inspired drive for a unified Protestant Church, demanding the Reichsbishop's removal.

In an address at Thursday's ceremony Hitler is expected to treat all phases of the conflict, including Mueller's decrees and leadership, the Nazi's relation to Catholics and to outline a program for achieving religious peace.

There is a widespread belief among Nazis that their leaders are still considering an idea of forming a national "Reichschurch," embracing all Christian creeds.

The revolt against Nazi church policies gained strength yesterday when 30,000 delegates to a Catholic Youth Day at Cologne gave fervent pledges of loyalty to their church leaders. These youths were recently welcomed into the Nazi fold.

Large Attendance at Zion Anniversary—Church Prettily Decorated.

WARSAW, Oct. 25.— (Examiner Correspondence. — Considering the storm and fog which alternated on Sunday evening a good number attended Zion anniversary services on Sunday evening, Oct. 21. Rev. J. W. Wilkinson preached on the responsibilities of present day conditions. Warsaw United church choir led the singing and rendered two anthems acceptably. The church was prettily decorated with plants and harvest products.

The annual social given by the Presbyterian ladies in the town hall on Tuesday evening, Oct. 23, was well attended. The program was presided over by Dr. Munro, who gave an interesting talk on present day conditions.

Miss Vance had some of her little children sing unaccompanied, two songs. A contest to fill in words to rhyme in the story of a ride in a car was interesting.

Under Miss Vance's direction the little ones sang "O Whither Are You Going" and "Now the Day is Dying." Mrs. Munro and Mrs. Frank Davis sang "Mother Machree," accompanied by Miss Jean Munro. Guessing the contents of small bags was amusing. Five was the largest number correct out of eighteen. Music partners was interesting. Supper was served and a merry party broke up.

Variety Program Hastings Meeting

HASTINGS, Oct. 25 (Examiner Correspondence) — Monday evening's meeting of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Young People's Society was of unusual interest, in the form of a shower, a varied program and an interesting debate, with seventy-five in attendance.

After an opening hymn and prayer, Miss Pearl McMillan read the scripture followed by the topic "How may we help to put the spirit of Christ into economic life" by Howard Porter. The program consisted of readings by Gordon Hill, Philip Ford and Miss Jessie Whitred with instrumentals by Misses Flora Yule and Ruth Kerr.

The program was also featured by a highly interesting and rather humorous debate "Resolved that a clean, cranky woman makes a better housewife than a slovenly, good-natured woman," and was chosen especially for the evening's proceedings. Supporting the affirmative Miss Alice Whitred and Stanley Fife presented some forcible arguments. Mrs. Stewart Whitred and Fred Richardson ably upheld the negative, showing careful and thoughtful preparation.

A surprise feature formed a pleasant interlude between the program and the debate as Miss Annie Spooner, president of the Young People's Society, on behalf of the many friends of the congregation, read an appropriate address to Miss Madeline Dodd, a bride elect of November, who was presented with a complete set of green and ivory kitchenware.

A short address was given by Rev. Mr. Hill extending his good wishes to the young couple, especially Miss Dodd who has been pianist of the Sunday School and has helped in work in connection with the church.

Mr. Roy Johnston, the groom to be replied for Miss Dodd. The evening's entertainment concluded with a dainty lunch served by the ladies.

To Relieve Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness And Head Noises

Persons suffering from catarrhal deafness, or who are growing hard of hearing and have head noises will be glad to know that this distressing affliction can usually be successfully treated at home by an internal medicine that in many instances has effected complete relief after other treatments have failed sufferers who could scarcely hear have had their hearing restored to such an extent that the tick of a watch was plainly audible seven or eight inches away from either ear. Therefore if you know of someone who is troubled with head noises or catarrhal deafness, cut out this formula and hand it to them and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. The prescription can be prepared at home and is made as follows:

Secure from your druggist 1 oz. Parmint (Double Strength). Take this home and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar, stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

Parmint is used in this way not only to reduce by tonic action the inflammation and swelling in the Eustachian Tubes and thus to equalize the air pressure on the drum, but to correct any excess of secretions in the middle ear, and the results it gives are nearly always quick and effective.

Every person who has catarrh in any form or distressing rumbling hissing sounds in their ears, should give this recipe a trial.

TIME EXTENDED TELEPHONE AWARD

Judge O'Connor Given Until December 1 to Publish Award.

TORONTO, Oct. 25 (C.P.)—Mr. Justice McFarland made an order in weekly court at Osgoode Hall granting an extension of time until December 1 for the publication of an award of Judge L. V. O'Connor fixing the sum that the Township of South Monaghan should pay for a portion of the telephone system of Millbrook Rural Telephone Co. Ltd., that the municipality expropriated in 1930.

His Lordship acted upon a motion that George T. Walsh, K.C., made on behalf of the telephone company. Mr. Walsh maintained that the township decided to establish a municipal telephone system in 1933 and expropriated a portion of the Millbrook Company's system, which portion was within the boundaries of South Monaghan. The question of the compensation to be paid by the township to the Millbrook Rural Telephone Co. was submitted to Judge O'Connor under the provisions of the Arbitration Act. Judge O'Connor had found that the sum payable to the telephone company was $2,370, with interest at 4 per cent from September 1930. The formal award had not yet been published, Mr. Walsh said, and in order that it might be valid it was necessary that an order extending the time for publication be made.

T. J. Carley appeared for the Township of South Monaghan as to the terms of the formal award, Mr. Justice McFarland said.

In accordance with a wish expressed in the will of the late Sir Thomas Lipton, Osidge, his residence at Southgate, England, is to be converted into a nurses' home.

FARMERS TURN ON C.C.F. POLICY

Manitobans Express Disapproval of Planned Economy Program.

By Sam G. Ross
(Canadian Press Staff Writer).

BRANDON, Man., Oct. 25 (C.P.)—More strongly entrenched in seclusion from political warfare than even, the United Farmers of Manitoba to-day swung into the closing sessions of its annual convention here.

After urging tariffs for revenue purposes only and elimination of "artificial restrictions" of trade, the delegates yesterday grew critical of tariff policies of Conservatives and Liberals and voiced disapproval of the planned economy sponsored by the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation.

Led by R. C. Brown, Pilot Mound, a former secretary, and L. D. McKillop, director for Dauphin district, who submitted the tariff and taxation report, a score of speakers criticized the political parties declaring they offered no program to aid the farmer or solve problems of the day. Mr. Brown caustically remarked that possibly there was room for even one more party. Just at present, he added, farmers of Manitoba had to choose the lesser of three evils.

Separate Wing Formed.

As an organization, the United Farmers of Manitoba divorced politics in 1928 and again took a firm stand against political activities last year when it declined to affiliate with the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation as was done by similar organizations in Alberta and Saskatchewan. A separate Manitoba farm wing of the C.C.F. has since been formed.

To-day the convention will debate adjustment legislation, farm mortgages, resolutions and finish up with an address by Premier John Bracken of Manitoba on the drought situation in the south-western section of the province. A resolution setting forth steps to aid people in the drought area will be presented after the Premier speaks.

OTTAWA MAYOR OPPOSES PROBE

Sees Nothing Useful by Investigating Ross Charges Against Hydro.

EXPLAINS SITUATION.

OTTAWA, October 25 (C. P.) — Mayor P. J. Nolan can not see how anything useful could come out of an investigation by a Royal Commission into charges of P. D. Ross against the Ontario Hydro Commission.

"My understanding in regard to the high rate charged per horsepower to the Ottawa Hydro is due to the Provincial Hydro contracting for a fixed quantity with the prices for supplies to various Hydro municipalities being on a co-operative basis.

"Owing to the industrial depression the Provincial Hydro lost many contracts in industrial centres. The contract we had turned out to be unattractive because of this, since Ontario Hydro had to increase the rate to us as well as other centres to make up for the loss in the industrial business. They had to take the full supply of power contracted for, and we all had to bear the cost entailed.

"Business now appears to be coming back to normal and the pendulum should swing the other way as soon as the surplus supply of power is put to the use intended, for manufacturing purposes. The cost to us should then go down. That is my understanding of the situation.

"If there are other reasons for the investigation, why, it is all right as far as I am concerned, but I would like to say that there is no act of mine during my term this year on the Commission which I am afraid to have investigated."

The Mayor said the matter would have to wait until the chairman, J. A. Ellis returned to the Capital. Mr. Ellis is on a holiday in the West Indies at present, and it will be 10 days or two weeks before he gets back.

Dr. R. H. Parent, the new Commissioner, was non-committal as to his stand in the matter. He said he was in no hurry to decide in regard to the suggested investigation or anything else until he had a chance to make himself fully familiar with what had transpired. He was satisfied that the Commission in Toronto was looking after everything satisfactorily.

WHAT, NO ONE TO SCRUB YOUR BACK? USE BRUSH

By GLADYS GLAD

A famous world traveler, who spent quite some time in Tokio, recently told me that in some of the hotels over there, the gentlemen guests all dine in private, but bathe in public. If you wish to bathe in those hotels, you must step into the huge tub provided for that purpose, whether there are others in it or not. And there are polite serving maids to scrub your back for you.

In this country, of course, people all bathe in private. And they don't have serving maids to scrub their backs for them. They do their own scrubbing. And they know that a proper scrubbing implement must be employed to cleanse the body perfectly. Such a cleansing implement should always be chosen with care. It should not be so harsh that it irritates the skin. It should not be so soft that it proves ineffective. And it should not be one that cannot be easily sterilized.

Sponges as bath accessories have, in recent years, lost a good deal of their popularity—for which I am thankful. For when you consider how some families employ a sponge, you can readily understand the dangers that accompany its use. The sponge is placed in the bathroom and used day in and day out. It is never once treated with an antiseptic. And yet a sponge can prove a most effective germ carrier.

Some sponges really cannot be effectively antisepticized. Your rubber sponge, for instance. I don't know any antiseptic that won't take all the pep out of a rubber sponge after three or four dosings. And boiling water also proves too much for a rubber sponge.

Some people still go in for such crudities as soap-filled rubber sponges, scratchy luffa sponges, and a number of equally inappropriate implements as assistants in cleaning their bodies. But I'd suggest giving up all the doo-dads of this sort, and resotring to the good old washcloth that can be boiled and sterilized, and to the flesh brush that can have antiseptic poured over it without harming it. Both these cleansing implements are most effective, and yet can also be kept healthfully clean and free from germs.

Your Health

By DR LOGAN CLENDENING

A person who is under the necessity of reducing weight, in the course of time will follow will-o'-the-wisps and false prophets. Except in a few individual cases, it is certain that there is only one way to do it, and that is unfortunately by intelligent, hard work.

Of the various drugs that have been used for the purpose, none can be recommended except under the care of a physician, and even then none are entirely without danger The new drug which produced such a furore last year, dinitrophenol, was found, when used on an extensive scale, to have a very definite element of danger. Under any circumstances its method of operation was not very much different from that of dieting, except that it worked at the other end of the scale. It burned the food up faster than normal. In fact, its action was exactly the same as exercise, except that it operated more rapidly.

Thyroid extract, which is the active ingredient in many reducing tablets, is certainly effective and considerably less dangerous than dinitrophenol. In certain individuals whose overweight is due to lack of thyroid secretion it, of course, operates well, but under any circumstances it is liable to cause nervousness, sleeplessness, and to have an overstimulating effect upon the heart.

Such methods of treatment as baths, massage, and the use of salts internally, are not effective except when used with diet and exercise.

The intelligent use of diet for reducing, sometimes with and sometimes without, exercise, is a method which can be generally recommended. The latest views of those who have made a special study of the problem indicate that diet will remove excess weight, no matter what it is due to, whether a hypothetical glandular insufficiency or simple overeating, and no matter where that weight is distributed. Fortunately, also, the foods which are used in diets for reducing are advantageous in the correction of those disorders, such as diabetes, kidney disease and high blood pressure, which are so often associated with overweight.

Whether exercise should be combined with diet is a matter depending on circumstances. Overweight people are naturally hard on their feet and arches, and excessive exercise may be painful and crippling to them until their body weight is reduced to reasonable proportions.

Anybody can construct a diet for himself for reducing overweight if he will study the simple principles of food and nutrition, and while there are certain diets which I am prepared to recommend and I will describe later in the week, I believe that it is desirable first to understand what they are.

STARTS INTO WILDS SEEKING FOR SONGS

Music by Savages Lures English Lady Into Dangerous Trek.

LONDON, Oct. 25 (C.P.C.)—With a revolver in her belt and a music book in her haversack, Miss Julia Chatterton, founder of the International Folk Song and Folk Lore Society, will soon set out alone on a camel across the Moroccan deserts in search of songs.

Miss Chatterton left London Oct. 5 to travel by easy stages to Tangier, where she will hire camels and donkeys for a six weeks' trip into the Moroccan interior.

She will sit obstrusively by quaint village gatherings and jot down the songs that are sung — songs that perhaps have never been written down before, and yet have been sung to the same curiously rhythmical chants throughout the centuries.

Miss Chatterton has already had adventures in many lands in her quest for traditional music of little-known countries. She expects to meet with more adventures in Morocco and the famed country of the Riffs.

Hamilton Coke Is Being Sold as 'Homco'

Announcement is made by the Hamilton By-Product Coke Ovens Limited, that in future their coke will be retailed to the Ontario public under the name, Hamco. In view of the interest attached to this change of name from the lengthier one of Hamilton By-Product Coke so familiar to the citizens of the province, A. J. Mullen, sales manager, in an interview, sets forth the reasons which prompted the change.

"It is generally recognized that coke as a domestic fuel has enormously increased in popularity in recent years," stated Mr. Mullen. "It is a commodity on which thousands of homes rely, and to simplify ordering, we decided to shorten the name to Hamco. This name, Hamco dustless coke, tells the whole story to everybody, and also indicates that it is a purely Canadian product, manufactured in Hamilton."

The Social, Hygenic and Economic Aspects of the Nose

(Dr. T. P. McCullough)

In discussing the social, hygienic and economic condition of the nose, we shall not go back too far into the dim and hazy past and recount the origin of the name, or the various contributors covering many hundreds of years. We shall confine our task to a more recent date up to the present time, and discuss each sub-division of the subject, hoping to avoid confusion.

SOCIAL

We cannot consider the social aspect of the nose without taking up that oft-discussed science physiognomy (general appearance) if one may designate it as such. Levator's Essays on physiognomy, illustrated by numerous profiles is a splendid guide to the study of the human face. Herbert Spencer and notably Darwin (1872) have also made extended observations on the expression of the face in laughter, pain, fear, blushing and other human emotions.

It may be observed that the more cultured and refined the race, the finer is the nose—the more graceful in lines and expression, thus conforming with the intellectual development. In the lower races, the noses are much alike but with the advancement of the race, there is a greater variety observed. Each nation has certain general characteristics. However, comparison shows that no two individuals are exactly alike, nor are any two noses alike. The size, shape and intellect of individuals are suited to the nature of their environment, and as the environment changes, physical and mental characteristics correspondingly change, the physical influencing the mental and vice versa, and in none of the human features have we greater evidence of this than the nose. Leonardo da Vinci states: Noses are of ten species, according to whether they are straight, arched, hollowed, elevated above or below rather than in the middle, aquiline, snub round or pointed. These directions only hold good for noses seen in profile. From the front there are eleven forms of noses; they may be equal, thick in the middle, thick at the point and thin at the junction. They may have wide or narrow nostrils, high or low, with the apertures laid bare or hidden by the point. In considering the nasal characteristics of nations, we must look to the science of Ethnology for information in regard to shape. According to Samuel A. Wells, there are five classifications of racial noses based on the profile, the Roman, Grecian, Jewish, Snub and Celestial. The typical nose of the race can only be found in a nation which has lived for ages in a certain isothermic zone. When the species begins to migrate from hot to cold zones or vice versa, the shape of the nose begins to change. Those residing in hot countries have larger noses, wider nostrils and flatter ones than those residing in colder climates. Therefore, the shape of the nose is governed by racial and isothermal boundaries. The Anglo-American nose is a combination of the Roman and Grecian with just a turn of the Jewish. Such a nose was possessed by Dr. Ambrose Pare, Chief Surgeon and nose mender of Francis IX (Ninth) of France. Society probably owes little to the snub nosed individual. Still Kosciusko, the great Polish liberator stands out as the one important historical character posessing a snub nose.

The size of the meatus (anterior opening) of the nose is regulated first by the respiratory and olfactory necessities of the individual. However, observers report that these functions have been somewhat lost in the growth of the human race. The dilator fibres have lost their function and there is no doubt that in the higher races, olfaction (smell) is not so acute as in the lower types. In most mammals olfaction is much more developed than sight. In the low forms of life, olfactory sensibility is closely related to the tactile sensibility, and in the ascent, olfaction becomes subordinated to taste and sight. In the savage race, for self-preservation olfaction is quite as essential as sight and hearing. Many races of men have characteristic body odors. The Negro tribes of Africa and the South American Indian emit a peculiar and typical odor like that of a goat, which is quite easily detcted by the white man. According to Havelock Ellis, many Chinese can detect by the sense of smell when a European has been in the room. The odor from the Caucasian is said by Negroes and Chinese to be that of death, a heavy flat smell. The literal translation for the wor "foreigner" in Japanese, is animal smelling. Americans and Europeans travelling in Japan will avoid much offense to sensitive Japanese by discarding woolen garments for it is probably the odor from the wool which is so repulsive, rather than the body odors. Some odors excite and others repel. The mthod of salutation by rubbing the noses together or touching the hand to some part of the face, common among many tribes in Africa, India and the South Sea Islands, is classed by Ellis as an attraction by personal odor. Smelling by contact is possibly the earliest known salutation.

The nose is important as a diagnostic guide in general disease. The saddle, notched and eroded nose is suggestive of syphilis and scar tissue, with or without structural change. A thin and very pointed nose with thin lips or a thick nose, thick lips and red hair, are objective symptoms of a tendency to general pulmonary tuberculosis. Hemorrhage from the nose or mouth in the new born usually occurring within three days after birth, suggests the following causative factors, according to Tulley. Journal American Medical Association Dec. 26, 1908: "Prematurity, imperfect dilitation, deformity of the heart, persistent formain ovale or ductus arteriosus, ulcer of the stomach and intestines, the latter due to venous stasis, fatty degeneration of the small blood vessels, congenital hemorrhage, and with great changes taking place in the circulation incident to birth and with a mortality of over sixty per cent.

Diseases and deformities of the nose vary in races. There is probably a gerater multiplicity of diseases in the higher than in the lower races, and one form of disease may be more prevalent in one race than another. It is said that the Apache Indian probably the greatest warrior in point of endurance that the world has ever known, always breathes with the mouth closed, the ideal way.

The Jewish nose is characteristic of the Israelites, Syrians and Arabs, and to them we attribute commercial, aggressive and intellectual qualities. When combined with the Grecian and Roman, such a nose is the ideal nose of achievement. The nose is described by Riley the poet as being alike to a "Bartlett Pear" indicates Seborrheic Eczema. The tendency to pick the nose is symptomic of an unstable nervous system.

Pour into greased muffin tins and bake in a moderite oven (375 degrees F.) for 20 minutes. If sweet milk is used instead of sour milk, omit the one-half teaspoon soda and use three teaspoons baking powder. Raisins or dates may be added to the muffins if desired.

Baked Beans.—One quart beans, one-fourth pound salt pork or one-fourth pound corned beef, boiling water, one and one-half teaspoons salt, one teaspoon mustard, one-half cup molasses. Noodle Ring Filled With Lobster.—One package noodles, two tablespoons butter, four eggs, three-fourths cup milk, salt and pepper, creamed lobster. Cook noodles in boiling salted water, drain. Beat eggs slightly, add milk, salt and pepper and melted butter. When noodles have drained thoroughly mix with the egg and milk. Pour into a well-buttered ring mold and cook in a pan of hot water in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) thirty to forty-five minutes. The ring is thoroughly cooked if a knife put into it comes out clean. Loosen the edge of the mold with a knife and turn out on a hot platter. Fill the center with creamed lobster and mushrooms.

Little Helpers of the Font Roll of St. George's Church with their mothers, numbering about forty-five, assembled in the church basement on Tuesday afternoon for their annual party. The opening hymn was followed by a short service for such occasions, and was conducted by Rev. J. L. Hughes, Rector. The children answered to the roll call, and brought up their mite boxes, the contents amounting to a very satisfactory sum. The rector gave a short talk with special reference to "Children's Day" which was observed last Sunday. The children then had a free time for play with the various toys provided, while the mothers were able to exchange friendly greetings with each other. Senior members of the W. A. gave valuable help, and kindly provided and served very enjoyable refreshments, including milk for all the little helpers. Another very happy party closed with the singing of a children's hymn and prayers, after which candies were distributed to the little ones before leaving.

With the approach of Hallowe'en we thought a few suggestions would not be amiss for entertaining that night. Today we shall give you some nice recipes for your party and tomororw we shall offer some game suggestions.

Black cats and night-riding witches may top any Hallowe'en cake if the cook will only use a little skill. Coconut and chocolate offer a variety of decorations without giving that unappetizing "handled" look to food. Unsweetened chocolate, melted with 1 teaspoon of butter to an ounce square, gives a thin shiny frosting with which to 'write' on smooth white icing.

• • • • • • •

The large figure of a cat, or the old lady on the broom is all that one cake can carry. Ice the cake with seven-minute frosting, then cut out of stiff paper, the figure desired for decoration. Have the chocolate melted and warm. Place the cut-out figure on narrow spatula dipped in the melted chocolate, outline the design quickly and carefully. Lift the cardboard and fill in the outline quickly because the melted chocolate hardens almost as soon as it cools.

• • • • • • •

Coconut in long, moist shreds—southern style, it is called, is tinted delicately for every feast day decoration. For Hallowe'en it may be used in delicate orange tints and heaped on cup cakes to make edible little pumpkins. Toasted to just the right golden shade, it could be used to give any cake a mellow moon appearance.

This chocolate fudge cake is delicious with the double frosting suggested for Hallowe'en silhouettes.

2 cups sifted cake flour; 2 teaspoons baking powder; 2 squares unsweetened chocolate melted; ½ cup butter or other shortening; 1 teaspoon vanilla; ½ teaspoon salt; 1 cup sugar; 1 egg, well beaten; ¾ cup milk.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt and sift together 3 times. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually and cream together until light and fluffy. Add chocolate and blend; then add egg and vanilla. Add flour, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time. Beat after each addition until smooth. Bake in greased pan 8 x 8 x 2 inches in moderate oven (325 degrees F.) 1 hour. Cover with seven-minute frosting and decorate if desired.

SEVEN-MINUTE FROSTING

2 egg whites, unbeaten; 1½ cups sugar; 5 tablespoons water; 1½ teaspoons light corn syrup; 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Put egg whites, sugar, water, and corn syrup in upper part of double boiler. Beat with rotary beater until thoroughly mixed. Place over rapidly boiling water, beat constantly with rotary egg beaten, and cook seven minutes, or until frosting will stand in peaks. Remove from fire, add vanilla, and beat until thick enough to spread.

SILK STOCKINGS WORTH MORE THAN GOLD IN RUSSIA

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (C.P.). — Ursula Parrott, novelist, returned to-day from Europe, said silk stockings would buy more in Russia than rubles would. She traded 48 pairs for different things.

Her six weeks' tour of Russia also proved costly in dresses, she revealed on her arrival here. She returned with only one street frock, explaining she had given all the others she had to American women living in Moscow.

They were unable, she said, to buy the type of clothes they wanted there.

TEMPERANCE WORK PLANS DISCUSSED

Fall Executive Meeting of Peterborough County W.C.T.U. Held in Cobourg.

The Fall executive meeting of Peterborough county W.C.T.U. was held yesterday afternoon in the ladies' parlour of Cobourg United Church Sunday School hall.

The local unions throughout the county were well represented and included Bridgenorth, Gilmour, Peterborough, Cobourg, Plainville, Camborne and Gore's Landing, with Mrs. A. J. Throop, the county president, presiding.

The meeting was opened with a worship period in which Mrs. Rowe of Peterborough and Mrs. Thompson of Cobourg, took part, with all uniting in the Lord's Prayer.

Plans of work for presidents and superintendents were given by the president, and discussion at length with much helpful information and many pertinent suggestions. In presenting the president's plan of work, Mrs Throop said she realized the need of Divine guidance and she stressed the value of definite and regular prayer.

Educational work was urged for both day schools and Sunday Schools. There is a contest on for scientific temperance posters and essays and a medal contest, in which all pupils may enter.

The enrolment of mothers and babies was also urged in connection with the Little White Ribboners or Band of Hope Department. In this, she said to co-operate, wherever possible with Mission Bands. Enlist your young people through the Young People's branch and the Y.W.C.T.U.'s.

The great value of the clip sheet was emphasized and the suggestion made to pass them on to other organizations as a help to the temperance cause.

The study of the annual report and the White Ribbon Tidings, as a source of valuable information was strongly recommended.

An itinerary for the W.C.T.U. field secretary, Miss Rosamond Duff, was mapped out for assistance to Unions and for new organization. This visit will require a month in which to cover the work of the county and great things are hoped from its success.

Other plans and rules which were brought from group discussions at the recent Provincial convention, included: The duties of officers and superintendents; the methods of conducting department work; the object and rules of the W.C.T.U.; business meetings conducted according to Parliamentary procedure and how to prepare interesting and helpful programs how to create public opinion; membership drives; efficient reporting of meetings; the copoeration of local and county organizations with the provincial; how to overcome the lack of leadership; and what it means to pray, work and trust.

Much important light was brought to bear upon these puzzling problems in discussion and the attitude expressed by this earnest group of women is a fine evidence of their intentions for the future of the W.C.T.U. work.

The president brought the successful session to a conclusion, after which the members of Cobourg district dispensed dainty refreshments and an enjoyable social hour was spent.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

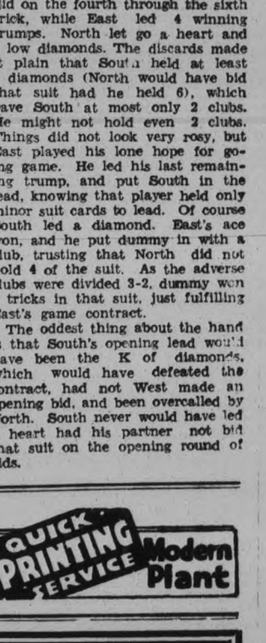
WRITTEN FOR CENTRAL PRESS

By E. V. SHEPARD

.. ..A BAD TRUMP BREAK ....

The odds are about 24 to 1 against finding 5 missing trumps in one hand, as East did. Only luck in the opening lead and fine play on the part of the declarer enabled him to fulfill his game contract, doubled when vulnerable.

Why West made an opening bid is hard to fathom. Unless a hand justifies a pre-emptive bid, no careful bidder ever makes an opening bid on strength confined to a single suit.



Bidding went: West, 1-club; North, 1-heart, which was fortunate for East, as it caused South to lead that suit instead of making an opening lead of a diamond, which would have defeated the contract; East, 4-spades, encouraged by his partner's opening bid; South doubled, ending the auction.

The K of hearts won the first trick. North played the 8, asking another round of the suit. South led the 7, North's J held the trick North led his ace, which East ruffed, removing South's last heart.

The declarer expected trumps to break. Then if clubs also broke game would be a cinch. East stated afterwards that had trumps broken he intended to give opponents a cub trick, to make game more certain. To East's disgust he found that he must give South a trump trick. East watched what North did on the fourth through the sixth trick, while East led 4 winning trumps. North let go a heart and 3 low diamonds. The discards made it plain that South held at least 3 diamonds (North would have bid that suit had he held 6), which gave South at most only 2 clubs. He might not hold even 2 clubs. Things did not look very rosy, but East played his lone hope for going game. He led his last remaining trump, and put South in the lead, knowing that player held only minor suit cards to lead. Of course South led a diamond. East's ace won, and he put dummy in with a club, trusting that North did not hold 4 of the suit. As the adverse clubs were divided 3-2, dummy won 4 tricks in that suit, just fulfilling East's game contract.

The oddest thing about the hand is that South's opening lead would have been the K of diamonds, which would have defeated the contract, had not West made an opening bid, and been overcalled by North. South never would have led a heart had his partner not bid that suit on the opening round of bids.

TORONTO CHOIR GIVES CONCERT AT ST. JOHN'S

Choir of Orthodox Russian Church in Fine Program.

NATIONAL TRAITS.

Series of Slides Descriptive of Russia and People Shown.

Something different in the way of entertainent came to St. John's parish hall last night, when the choir from the Orthodox Russian Church of Christ the Saviour, in Toronto, sang there, and their friend and patron, the Rev. Gordon Hern, pastor of one of the Anglican churches of Toronto, who has lived in Russia and understands something of its customs and language, accompanied them to show a series of lantern slides descriptive of Russia and its people.

The choir, twelve in number, was composed of a group of young girls of 'teen ages, the sopranos and altos of the choir, while older men provided the tenor and bass element. The girls arrived early in the evening, accompanied by the conductor and organizer of the Russian Choir, Madame Nina de Gedeonoff (pronounced Gay-day-O-nuff, with the accent on the middle O), who is a very interesting personage, and who is also head of the musical department at Havergal College, Toronto. Coming to Canada ten years ago with her husband, she was then unable to speak one word of English. Later, she organized this choir, which has been in existence for the past eight years. In its personnel are native-born Russians and several New Canadians with Russian parents.

In the last fortnight of November and the first week of December of this year, Toronto is to have grand opera produced in collaboration by three of its Russian citizens: Madame Gedeonoff, who will act as producer of Tschaikowsky's "Eugene Onegin", (in English), on the stage of Hart House Theatre; Alexander Chuhaldin, who is conductor of the well-known symphony orchestra playing the "Melodic Strings" program over a nation-wide network, who will direct the music, and conduct the opera, and Boris Volkoff, the ballet-master. The cast will include forty-six of the best of Toronto's singers, including Enid Gray, dramatic soprano; Allan Burt, baritone; Pearl Whitehead, contralto, and Lawrence Dafoe, tenor.

Included in the group last evening was Captain Panovsky, the assistant conductor, who organized three years ago in Toronto a male trio of singers well known by the nameof the Russian Trio.

National Traits

Last night, giving a brief introduction of the choir, the Rev. Mr. Hern mentioned two national characteristics of the Russian people: the childlike quality of their natures ("Russians never grow up") and the sacramental character of their life.

"Nearly everything in life leads a Russian to think of the other world. To them this existence is not real; it is but a snare and delusion. The real world is the one that lies in and around and above and beyond us and by some feat, they are able to shut off this world and stay in the other, sometimes for hours at a time.

"A third characteristic is the one that prevents them from giving up. That is the very essence of Christianity and they are wonderful people at keeping on. When the Tartars overran their land, centuries ago, they set out to absorb the invaders, and never stopped for three hundred and fifty years until that purpose was accomplished."

The choir sang first two groups of selections from their church music and then a group of folk songs. "No applause" was requested for the first groups. All selections were in the Russian tongue.

In the church music, they exhibited a quality of intense religious feeling and gave an impressive rendition of chants of a liturgical type. To an ear attuned to the litanies and chanted prayers of the Latin church, it came with a familiar sound. A droning, subdued undertone imbues music of this type and the natural melancholy of the Slav colored much of it. This was especially noticeable in the "Gloria in Excelsis", which, from English throats, even in the Latin tongue, has a triumphant, carefree sound. With these singers, rather than being a paean of joy, it was a darkly-colored chant, remindful of the [illegible] as the central theme in religion, rather than the resurrection.

It was sublime music, beautifully sung, all in the "a capella" or unaccompanied, fashion, with a continuity of graduated, melodic tone, a fine, impressive sentiment and a light touch to the swelling crescendo and the fine diminuendo passages. The church music, of course, was rather more than mere singing. It provided an impression of praise and petition to the Lord, the God of a people who have suffered and mourned much and who look to a hereafter more as a refuge from sorrow than as a reward for well-doing.

This elegiac quality was apparent in the different selections, which included (by Rev. Mr. Hern's request), the Nicene Creed, with quickly-marked words and long, sustained finales, the "Gloria in Excelsis" the "Nunc Dimittus," which was a sombre, mordant chant with a tenor overtone, and verses from Psalm 119.

The folk songs were a decided contrast to the church music, and received plenty of enthusiastic appreciation. They were charming bits of national vocal music, free, vivacious gay, demonstrating the childlike quality of the mind and the other-world atmosphere which creates a fairyland for these people as a refuge from the harsh realities of life.

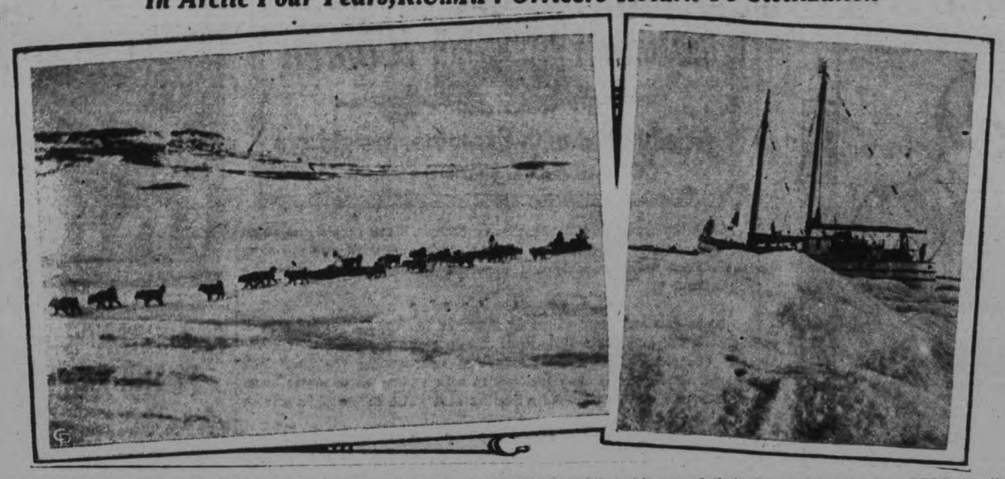
One of the little bright folk songs was favorite composition entitled, "Storona Storonka" ("Our Native Land".. which was imbued with sweeping, beautiful melody, and had a delightful companion in the adorable little song called "Dunlasha" all about the girl who tells her lover that she does not care to go out with him.

The girls of the choir wore dark skirts and blouses with long sleeves, elaborately and beautifully embroidered in real Russian fashion, with interwoven stitching of bright colors, resembling petit point.

After an introduction by Venerable Archdeacon Blagrave, Rev. Mr. Hern spoke briefly and the choir sang. Later, Rev. Mr. Hern showed a series of very interesting lantern slides that depicted in detail the historical background and architecture of Russia, with much of its origin, customs and church ritual.

Before the program commenced, St. John's Orchestra, led by Reg. Dyer, with Jack Marshall at the piano, played some delightful selections.

In Arctic Four Years, R.C.M.P. Officers Return To Civilization



The R.C.M.P. supply ship St. Roch is seen in her Arctic fastness at (RIGHT), while Eskimos and their dog teams are seen (LEFT) as they travelled to the ice-blocked ship to see a movie.

VANCOUVER, Oct. 24.—(By Central Press Canadian).—They spent four years in the Arctic but didn't have any adventure—at least that's the story told by members of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police supply ship St. Roch which has docked in Vancouver after a long spell of duty in the northland.

Civilization looked good to the thirteen members of the crew after four years of ice and isolation, of snow and biting wind, of gales and rain. And one of the first things on their program was a "downtown" meal with huge T-bone steaks smiling cheerfully from their plates.

Four years and two months ago the St. Roch left Vancouver for a tour of duty in the Coronation Gulf under command of Sergeant G. T. Makison and navigated by Sergeant H. A. Larsen, a veteran of the Arctic.

Policed Vast Area.

During those four years they performed the task of policing the vast icy areas of the western Arctic and relieved a tense situation in some of the settlements and police posts of the northland. Supply ships were unable to pass the ice at Herschel Island and had to call on the St. Roch to take in the necessities which they carried. The St. Roch, designed especially for ice work, did the job, suffering only a broken propeller in all her voyaging.

In the summer the officers and men of the St. Roch—a floating R. C. M. P. post—were very busy with the manifold police duties of the north, but in the winter the ship would freeze in at Tree River.

"Then we'd have to make our own entertainment," one of the officers explained. "We had to find work to keep us busy and the most difficult period was just before the break-up."

The mounties gave moving picture shows on board occasionally and invited all the natives who could crowd into the ship. Hosts and guests both enjoyed it.

The St. Roch arrived loaded with scores of empty fuel drums, mute testimony of the miles she travelled carrying her own propulsion. She will go on drydock at Esquimalt for a complete overhaul and then head back north in the spring.

140 EXHIBITS BEEN ENTERED AT HALL TRIAL

Collins Vs. Hall Continues With Basil Hall in the Box.

CROSS-EXAMINED.

Too Much Time Devoted to Bond Business E. H. D. Hall Thought.

Further probing into the circumstances of the creation of the Collins' trust, the choice of Durham, Alexander and Charles Collins as trustees, and the subsequent investment transactions, was carried out by D. L. McCarthy, K.C., as Basil Hall continued in the witness stand at the trial of the Collins-Hall case before Mr. Justice Kingstone in Supreme Court yesterday afternoon and this morning.

With the plaintiffs seeking to have large contracts for purchases of bonds made on their names rescinded and certain damages, the defendants are denying charges of negligence and liability. More than 10 exhibits, all documentary in nature, have now been entered. Acting with Mr. McCarthy for the three trustees is V. J. McElderry, K.C. R. R. Hall, K.C., is acting with R. S. Robertson, K.C., for B. D. Hall and his father, E. H. D. Hall. The end of the trial was not in sight thtis morning.

No Longer Wished Share

Mr. Hall testified that when in 1924, E. H. D. Hall objected to his devoting too much time to the bond business, his father said he no longer wished a share in the bond commissions.

"Did he know that you intended to keep on selling bonds?" Mr. McCarthy asked.

"Yes".

"Did he ever disapprove?"

"He never expressed disapproval."

Mr. Hall said his father never revealed any objection to the bond business other than he preferred to see the time devoted to the legal side of the business. He denied that his father thought the business was too risky.

It was about this time that he embarked in the real estate bond field, the witness said, contining. Previously, most of his bond selling activities had geen in the field of government bonds.

"Did any of these real estate bonds you hanlled live up to their undertakings?"

"200 St. Clair has."

"What do you mean by that?"

"Interest has been paid."

"But it hasn't lived up to the sinking fund?"

"No."

"All the others were failures, were they?"

"Not entirely."

"They haven't lived up to their interest, have they?"

"No."

Mr. McCarthy asked if he thought the Collins estate had any remedy for the condition in which it finds the bonds.

"Yes, I think they have."

"What can it do?"

"They can act with the other bondholders.

In reply to questions, the witness said he looked up authorities which would throw light on the Collins' position in regard to the securities he was selling them. He relied mainly on the Trustee Act.

"Did you speak to your father about it?"

"No."

"He is a man of great experience?"

"Yes."

"Did you speak to anybody?"

"Yes. To Mr. Stevenson."

The late Mr. Collins was the firm's principal client in the bond business, Mr. Hall conceded. He was never charged with commissions. The commissions were paid by the brokers.

Asked if he knew that the father kept a "tight hand" on the financial affairs of the family, the witness said he knew little of the domestic side of the Collins affairs, but that the father handled the investments. To a suggestion that he must have known that Durham and Charles Collins had little or no business experience, he replied that, for all he knew, they had. He knew Durham had been ranching out west and that Charles had a position with a rubber company. He thought Charles was manager of the company.

Mr. McCarthy asked about a one per cent charge levied on Mr. Collins in the arrangement of mortgages.

"Was not the levey a charge for selecting the mortgages?"

"No, it wasn't."

"Why did you collect the commission."

Always Charged

"Because we had always charged it," Mr. Hall replied after considerable questioning.

Mr. Collins paid no retaining fee to the firm, Mr. Hall testified. He was more a customer than a client. They had sold him many bonds, he said.

Mr. Hall said he was motivated purely by a friendly interest in advising Mr. Collins to create a trust for the restof the family at the time a trust for Fred Collins, one of the sons, was agreed upon. It was probably upon his suggestion that Mr. Collins acted. In regard to the selection of trustees, Mr. Hall said he told Mr. Collins he thought the boys were old enough to handle affairs. He said he spoke of the possibility of turning the trust over to the Toronto General Trusts.

"Whose suggestion was it that signatures be required from the firm of Hall, Hall and Stevenson in the administration of the trust?"

"I think Alex suggested it."

"I suggest that it was you who made that suggestion," the questioner asked.

"I say it was Alex," Mr. Hall replied.

Asked how one of the conversations with the Collins trustees in which they asked about the duties of trustees came about, he said they came to his office in answer to a letter.

"Why did they ask the questions?"

"They were concerned about their positions as trustees. They didn't know what trustee securities were."

"Were they not reluctant to accept their positions as trustees?"

"No. They seemed quite willing to take the positions."

SUDBURY MASON DIES IN CRASH

Coppercliff Town Clerk, Driver of Death Car, Faces Charge of Manslaughter.

TWO OTHERS HURT.

SUDBURY, Ont., October 25 (C. P.). — Returning from a Masonic banquet at Espanola, James A. Sharp, 78, pioneer resident of Sudbury and a Past Master of the Masonic Order, was killed early to-day when the car in which he was riding, took the ditch and capsized just inside the city limits on the Coppercliff Road.

The driver of the car, W. J. Hambley, town clerk of Coppercliff, faces a charge of manslaughter

Leslie Ade of Coppercliff, also a passenger in the car, is in Coppercliff Hospital with head injuries, William Tiplady of Coppercliff received hand injuries, and Hambley received minor chest injuries.

According to police reports the car had swerved to the wrong side of the road, travelled along the left-hand ditch for 46 feet, struck a culvert, and capsized, landing upside down 17 feet from the culvert and Astride Road which intersects the Coppercliff Road.

The machine was totally wrecked. Sharp was killed instantly. He was a retired Government sealer, and was predeceased by his wife a few years ago. Surviving is one son Ronald, in Cleveland.

Moore Raps Driving People Into Work

WINDSOR, Ont., Oct. 25 (C.P.).—There are only two ways in which the people of this world can serve each other, in the opinion of W. H. Moore, member of Parliament for Ontario South, and former chairman of the Tariff Advisory Board. People might be attracted into service or driven into it.

"And I'm against people being driven to work," declared Mr. Moore during an address to a service club here last night. "I call the driving of people to work by class public enemy No. 1. Public enemy No. 2 is that in which the State operates industry and that is driving by masses."

The speaker declared in his opinion the day of national socialism was almost ended, and he also foresaw the doom of the Natural Products Marketing Act.

Hugh W. Wolfenden, well-known actuary holding the highest professional qualifications in Great Britain and North America, is to be guest speaker at a joint meeting of the Kiwanis Club and Life Underwriters' Association at Empress Hotel tomorrow.

The speaker's subject is to be "Unemployment Insurance and Health Insurance," and for the convenience of the larbe number of members of both organizations who will wish to hear the address the time of the meeting has been set for six o'clock in the evening.

Mr. Wolfenden's high attainments as an actuary and long experience as an independent investigator led to his being selected by the Canadian life insurance officers a few years ago to make a comprehensive survey of social insurance. Since undertaking that work two books have been written by him: "The Real Meaning of Social Insurance" and "Unemployment Funds: A Survey and Proposal."

He is also the author of a standard text book on "Population Statistics and Their Compilation," and has made numerous contributions to actuarial and statistical journals.

Guards Comb Campus For Co-eds' Slugger

BOULDER, Colo., Oct. 25 (A.P.).—Guards patrolled the University of Colorado campus to-day, seeking a slugger of co-eds, who, Police Chief R. G. Prater said, may be Merton Ward Goodrich, young musician, sought for the slaying of an 11-year-old child in Detroit.

The "hit-and-run" slugger, who opened his activities here last Friday, failed to appear on the campus last night after the case received widespread publicity. Since Friday he had slugged nine women.

Chief Prater said descriptions of Goodrich and the Boulder slugger tallied "pretty closely," and there was a similarity in the methods used by each. Goodrich was reported to have made several attacks upon women in Ohio, which were similar to those here. The women were not harmed and no effort was made to rob them.

COVERING HER MAIN STREET TASK OF WOMAN PUBLISHER

Weekly Newspaper Offers Real Opportunity to Canadian Women.

KEEPS UP INTEREST

By C. FRANK STEELE
Central Press Canadian Writer

LETHBRIDGE, Oct. 25.—To cover "Main Street" and cover it well has been the job of Anna H. Edwards for the past 21 years. This Alberta newspaper woman does not hold with those who insist the field of weekly journalism should be

MRS. ANNA H. EDWARDS

"left to the men." She maintains—and her career bears out her contention—that the weekly newspaper offers a real opportunity to Canadian women of the right sort.

Out in Pincher Creek, deep in the foothills ranching country this energetic and resourceful woman has published more than just another small town weekly. The Pincher Creek Echo has had individuality, distinctiveness, personality. It has, of course, chronicled the day to day happenings of the town and district in a faithful and interesting way.

The Echo has had its columns of cold type warmed by the optimism and good taste of its editor. It has always had an editorial column that said something. It has printed poetry and makes no apology for publishing at times the work of home writers. The Echo has printed fiction also, stories of the west, of the hopes and dreams; the sacrifices and victories of its people. In its columns too have appeared pioneer sketches by men and women who helped to make the west, stirring tales of priceless historical value revealing the life and personalities of a fascinating period in Canada's development. Mrs. Edwards' paper hasn't ventured far into politics or world affairs yet in covering "Main Street" and the homey, interesting bits of news about town, the births, the marriages, the deaths—that deeply moving cycle of man — she has achieved conspicuous success.

Has Traditions

The paper has traditions. It was launched in 1900 by a famous frontier editor, E. T. "Si" Saunders, who in 1885 started Lethbridge's first newspaper, the News. The Pincher Creek sheet was given the high-sounding name of "The Rocky Mountain Echo." H. E. Derrett became the editor of the paper and it was through his failing health that his wife, back in 1913, undertook most of the reporting and much of the business responsibility of the Echo. Mrs. Derrett, now Mrs. Edwards, received a thorough appreticeship in those years. In January, 1920, "Si" Saunders died suddenly in San Diego, California, and strangely enough, Mr. Derrett, his associate in the paper, passed away thirty-six hours later.

Mrs. Edwards encountered no opposition because "she was a woman." Everyone in the community accepted her and backed her up in her determination to give the town "a paper that was different."

Keeps Women's Interests

Her newspaper duties have not detrimentally cut into Mrs. Edwards' work as mother, homemaker and community worker. She is active in the I.O.D.E., teaches a class of boys in Sunday school, is first vice-president of the Red Cross and treasurer of the hospital auxiliary. "One must have a number of interests to be happy," is her credo.

Now after 21 years, Mrs. Edwards has written "thirty" as the newspaper folk say, on her career as an active publisher. She has turned over the business to Mr. Edwards, her husband.

CLUB TO STAGE CLOG DANCING

Entries For Kinsmen's Hallowe'en Carnival Open to Whole District.

CLOSE ON TUESDAY NEXT.

The Kinsmen Club executive met last evening to arrange final details in connection with the big Hallowe'en Carnival to be held under auspices of the club in the Armouries on the last day of the month.

Under chairmanship of Robert Stanley, the Carnival Committee have drawn up a singularly attractive program that is designed to appeal to the city and county people. It includes square and round dancing, boxing bouts, masquerade, and a clog dancing contest.

The latter feature is unique, in so far as local entertainment programs are concerned, but it is a fact that there are several skillful clog dancers scattered throughout the county and district. They are invited to send in their entries to Box 1207, Examiner Office, not later than Tuesday evening of next week. A cash prize award of five dollars is to be given to the best adjudged clog dancer.

A nominal door admission fee includes participation in all the attractions of the fair, as well as a chance to win the special door prize of ten dollars cash.

Other cash prizes are being offered for all sorts of costumes, including ladies' and gentlemen's fancy and comic dress.

Last year, Hallowe'en celebrations organized by the club were extremely successful, and brought out a large number of competitors in fancy and comic costumes. This year plans have been conceived on a much more elaborate scale, and it is expected there will be a number in from the surrounding district.

Grant Gordon's old tyme and modern dance orchestra from Bancroft has been engaged to provide the music for dancing.

Drought Loss To Cost Chinese Over Billion

SHANGHAI, China, Oct. 25. (CP) Losses to Chinese farmers and peasants occasioned by the prolonged drought and record heat wave of the past spring and summer are expected to exceed $1,200,000,000, according to the report issued by the National Famine Relief Commission, based on reports received from the stricken districts.

In the 10 provinces, 263 districts have sent in reports declaring a total of approximately 26,750,000 acres of cultivated lands have been affected by the drought.

When all surveys are completed it is expected the drought losses will reach a more appalling total than even the very pessimistic estimate of the National Famine Relief Commission.

A survey conducted by the Department of Agricultural Economics reveals the damage caused by the drought in the two provinces of Kaingsu and Chekiang alone, is in excess of $528,800,000.

Seeks $3000 Damages Following Accident

A writ was issued by Emmett F. Sheehy in the Supreme Court of Ontario to-day, on behalf of John McIsaacs, father of 6-year-old J. Michael McIsaacs, who sustained a severe fracture of the left thigh bone when struck down by an automobile at the corner of Reid and Dublin Streets on the afternoon of October 17. The amount claimed in the writ is $3,000, against Bruce Parker, driver of the car that was involved in the accident.

"Next to Advertising Matter"

THERE used to be a favorite phrase of advertisers. They asked to have their advertisements placed "next to reading matter" in the belief that such a position would assure more attention.

But to-day the editor might well ask to have his news items placed "next to advertising matter," for very definitely the advertisements have a tremendous reader following. To-day's advertisements win eager attention because they help people buy intelligently, quickly, without waste of time, and get full value for the money spent.

That is the great function of advertising—to guide you swiftly and surely to wise, economical buying. The best advertisement is always the one that gives you the facts you want—simply, honestly, without exaggeration.

GAGNON PAINTS FINE PICTURE OF CANADIAN PRESS DAILY WORK

Gathering of News in Honest, Unbiased Manner Has Led to Enviable Reputation.

DOMINION-WIDE SERVICE

SAINT JOHN, N.B. Oct. 25 (CP)—Henri Gagnon, president of The Canadian Press, yesterday said the nation-wide Association of Daily Newspapers was making a very real contribution to the present and future of the country by its gathering and distribution of the news of the nine provinces.

He told the Canadian Club that the Canadian Press leases telegraph wires from Sydney to Victoria and over these wires by automatic telegraphic typewriters exchanges news from all sections of the country.

"Thus," he said, "it keeps our people informed, the one of the other, so that you in the Maritimes have come to have an intimate daily knowledge of the problems confronting industrial Ontario and Quebec, the farmers of the Prairie provinces and our people of the Pacific slope. We in turn learn of your difficulties and we come to understand and sympathize with your peculiar problems.

"Indeed I would venture to say," continued Mr. Gagnon, who is managing director of Le Soleil, Quebec, "that through this agency of the Canadian Press the bugle cry of Maritime calls right across the continent, wherever Canadian hearts beat.

Impartial Reporting.

"In Ottawa we maintain a large parliamentry staff, covering the news of every variety of governmental activity and during the session of parliament, putting out a report of the proceedings of the Senate and the House of Commons, impartial and unbiased, for of course the first essential of this great news service is accuracy, which means it must be free of any suspicion or taint of partisanship, giving the people of Canada a factul report without opinion, of the doings of their political leaders and elected representatives.

"The same standards are brought to bear on the reporting of the provincial legislatures and of all public affairs," Mr. Gagnon went on. "Indeed its reputation for honest and unbiased reporting is its most valuable asset and it is gratifying to know the slug 'By The Canadian Press' is now a hall-mark generally recognized throughout Canada."

Mr. Gagnon said the Canadian Press directors represented all sections of the country and had come to Saint John from as far off as Vancouver, imbued with the single idea of giving their best service to the business of "this national association, which, perhaps with pardonable pride, we feel is making a very real contribution to the present and to the future of our country.

Weddings

DEVER—HARVEY

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at noon on Monday, October 22nd, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Irwin of Hall's Bridge, when Dorothy Hope Harvey, daughter of Mr. B. F. Harvey and the late Mrs. Harvey, of Toronto, became the bride of Mr. Donald Dever, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milfred Dever of Detroit.

The officiating clergyman was the Rev. Duncan Munro of Bobcaygeon. The ceremony was performed under an arch of evergreens and mountain ash berries, and the decoration of the rooms was carried out in orange and silver crepe paper on a background of evergreens.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a lovely frock of brown silk velvet, with brown hat and accessories and bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums. Her gold necklace was the gift of the bridegroom.

The bride's sister, Miss Mary Dever, was her attendant, wearing a gown of wine-colored velvet and a corsage bouquet of white 'mums.

The bride's brother, Mr. J. Harvey, acted as best man.

The wedding march from "Lohengrin" and the incidental wedding music was played by Miss Mary Nicholls, while Miss Margaret Wilson sang very sweetly "At Dawning."

After the ceremony, a sumptuous wedding repast was served at a table centered by a three-tiered cake and decorated with lighted candles in silver holders. The toast to the bride was proposed by the Rev. Mr. Munro, with response by the bridegroom.

Assistants were the Misses Genevieve Armstrong, Mildred Sage, Margaret Wilson and Marjorie and Betty Thompson.

Suitable gifts were presented by the bridegroom to the bridesmaid, groomsman, assistants and musicians.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. Dever left by motor for the summer home of the bride's father, near Apsley, where the honeymoon will be spent. On their return, they will make their home in Detroit.

The bride's travelling ensemble was of brown, with matching accessories.

The bridegroom is a graduate of the Northwestern High School at Detroit and the bride, for some years a resident in the community of Hall's Bridge, is very popular among the young people.

Among the guests present at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Milfred Dever, Mr. and Mrs. A. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. A. Dever, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Harvey, Mr. and Mrs. James Irwin, Miss Mary Dever, Miss Gertrude Little, Miss Ruth Hicks, Mr. B. F. Harvey, Mr. Clare Harvey, Mr. Jack Harvey, Mr. Claire Irwin and Mr. James Foulton.

MAP COMPILED OF BUSH ROUTE

Bedaux European Sportsman Sure Road Will Be Built in Future.

EDMONTON INTO NORTH.

EDMONTON, Oct. 25. — (CP) — First accurate maps of an overland route stretching from Edmonton to within 200 miles of Telegraph Creek—a distance of 1,100 miles have now been added to the existing charts of the Dominion. A party of 32 headed by Charles E. Bedaux, European sportsman, spent the summer toiling through virtually inaccessible mountain regions in Northern British Columbia to survey it.

Although the party had failed in its original purpose that of completing a tractor dash through the Rockies to Telegraph Creek, Mr Bedeauv said they had made a wonderful discovery and that was a feasible route for an international highway linking the United States, Canada and Alaska.

The intrepid explorer was convinced the road eventually would be built. F. C. Swannell, who, in addition to keeping a log of the trip made maps of the route and these, together with a detailed report, will be presented to the International Highway Commission.

Important business was the discussion of next week's program, which will be a social event in the form of a Hallowe'en party, with the Westwood Young People as guests. The topic on temperance was given by Henry Thistlewaite, superintendent of Elgin Sunday School, and was appreciated by the fifty members in attendance. A short talk was given on the Scripture taken from St. Matthew's chapter. Martin Rusaw gave a reading on temperance, after which Mrs. Newell and Mrs. Gordon Faux gave a pleasing duet. After the closing prayer, which is usually followed by a recreational period, two young men from Toronto gave instrumentals in hopes of securing pupils in Hastings, where they intend starting a studio.

OIL MONOPOLY IN MANCHUKUO

British and American Interests Are Fighting For Their Existence.

DETAILS NOT ANNOUNCED.

By GLENN BABB

(Copyright, 1934 by the Associated Press.)

TOKYO, Oct. 25— Great Britain and the United States have faced Japan in a conflict of private interests providing the first test of whether the "open door" policy will be maintained by Manchoukuo, it was learned to-day.

The controversy concerns the oil monopoly in Manchoukuo, with western commercial interests claiming a violation of their treaty rights.

British and American oil companies, chief among them the British Asiatic Petroleum Company and the Standard Oil Company of New York, face an intensive struggle for existence in Manchuokuo as the government there prepares to establish a state oil monopoly.

It was learned the British and United States' embassies for three months have been discussing the monopoly project with the Tokyo foreign office.

Want Information.

They are seeking information on the monopoly, details of which have not been announced, and are intimating in a friendly and informal manner the Anglo-American conviction that such a monopoly would undermine the whole principle of the "open door," especially violating Article III of the nine-power treaty.

Oil men are convinced their companies, which supply 80 per cent of the refined oil market in Manchuokuo, will be forced to surrender a substantial share of their business to Japanese competitors under the monopoly set-up.

22 Karat Soap

● Just as it is possible to fashion a "gold" ring from part gold and part baser metals . . . so it is possible to make a soap from part pure soap and part substitutes. The karat mark on the ring tells you of its purity, but what mark is there on soaps to guarantee their purity?

● With Sunlight soap . . . the "karat" mark of purity is on every bar. It reads: "Guaranteed Pure."

● Sunlight is the only laundry soap with a standing guarantee that it is all pure soap. Being pure, Sunlight dissolves readily . . . forming plenty of suds very quickly . . . suds which are lively and lasting. They wash more clothes beautifully clean without harm to fabric or colour . . . and Sunlight's pure, gentle suds never could roughen or hurt your hands.

Hardluck Western Gridder

EDDIE JAMES

If Eddie James, dynamic backfielder for Winnipeg's rugby squad holds any records, one of them must be as the game's hard-luck sufferer. Injured severely in the 1932 western championship game and taken to hospital with a badly fractured left arm, Eddie was unable to use the arm until this season. After a season of harvesting he reported o.k. for duty with Winnipegs. On October 8 a leg injury in an exhibition game again put him back on the sidelines. Back in the Winnipeg line, James grabbed the ball, advanced four yards and went down on the slippery turf with opposing players piled on top of him. He was carried off the field, the arm again fractured. Bone grafting may be necessary to make it heal.

INSIDE THE PADDOCK

BY ART MURRAY

THE MARYLAND racing season is in full swing these days with Laurel enjoying large crowds and getting a nice brand of fall weather. We notice where they have changed the once great sprinter Pairbypair into a jumper. If he can learn to negotiate the hurdles he will win a lot of races as he will outrun them all on the flat. Garden Message is down there and is ready for the question any day now. This one is a real race horse and will give a good account of himself in any sort of company. Kindacorn is being given a special prep by his connections with a view to grabbing off a few purses.

With the runners completing their season at Dufferin last Saturday the plant is now being fixed over to accommodate the trotters and harness horses who will open a meeting on November 10th next, and will continue on Saturdays' Mondays and holidays, up to and including New Year's Day. The track has been banked on all corners and made faster for winter racing. Its a peculiar thing but the same crowd who attend the running races, never go near the trotters and vice versa, so for the next few weeks there will be an entirely new set of faces around Little Saratoga.

DISCOVERY the crack three-year-old who belongs to A. G. Vanderbilt has been retired for the season. He failed to recover satisfactorily from an attack of fever he suffered last Saturday after winning the Maryland Handicap. It is too bad as he was expected to have an excellent chance of winning the Narragansett special which has a value a $25,000 and will be decided on October 31. Cavalcade the leading three year old of the year and who won all the important stake races from the Kentucky Derby down, has been on the shelf for some time with a spread hoof, and will not be raced any more this year. It is hoped to have him ready to compete in the Los Angeles $100,000 Derby which will be decided early next Spring.

This seemed to be a tough season on three year olds as our own Horometer, winner of this year's King's Plate has not appeared in a race since early last June and the cause is also an injury to one of his hoofs. Round Table is down at Narragansett and looks to be headed for a winning effort. No doubt you will remember his performances at Long Branch last June when he established a new track record. Well, they tell us he is back in that same good form, and that is plenty of recommendation. Caboose is also at this same track and in the proverbial pink. This one always pays a sweet price, so keep both eyes open for him. One called Vishnu is down at Empire City these days getting ready for a killing. A couple of years ago he was beating the real topnotchers but suffered an injury which kept him on the shelf for a long time. He is in shape to run again and while not quite as good as he formerly was, he still retains enough class to easily defeat the sort of opposition he will be asked to meet at the present Empire City meeting.

Bill Cowley Only Simon-pure to Depart With Birdmen For Missouri.

(By The Canadian Press)

Believing hockey players practice better without crowds of onlookers, Frank Patrick has barred the doors of the Quebec rink where his Boston Bruins are training. The former Vancouver manager has ideas of new formations and mechanical precision in passing and believes he can inculcate them best in comparative seclusion.

Neis Stewart, Johnny Gagnon and Red Beattie will make up Patrick's first string line this season. He has them practising together and also uses Marty Barry, Dit Clapper and Babe Siebert as a trio.

Eddie Shore has not yet appeared at the Quebec Camp, but there is no suggestion of contract difficulties and he is expected to-day. The Bruin star is reported to have signed already.

Ottawa's St. Louis Eagles are on their way to their new home in Missouri to-day without many of the amateurs they had training with them. Of the Simon Pures they signed only Bill Cowley. They also left behind Bill Touhey and Nick Wasnie, both pros with long service records in the N.H.L. They hope to catch on with other big league teams.

Pit Lepine gave notice in a practice game at Saint John last night that he is ready to take over Howie Morenz' job as Montreal Canadiens' first-string centre. He rammed in four goals as the Regulars beat the Yannigans, 10-6, and won $200 from them at the same time.

Working with Aurel Joliat and Wildor Larochelle, the Frenchmen's new star line, Lepine was in great early-season form. Joliat also was sniping well and got two tallies, the same number as Neis Crutchfield, Habitants' recruit from McGill.

Canadiens saw one of their old teammates settled with the announcement Albert "Battleship" Leduce has come to terms with Quebec Beavers, Canadiens' farm, to act as player-manager. He had held out for more salary, and Leo Bourgeault was angling for the job.

N.H.L. officials will be keeping a close eye on International League scores this season to see whether a new rule passed at a Cleveland meeting yesterday eliminates tie games.

Following the American Association's move of last season, International directors decided no points will be awarded for ties. They expect this will eliminate stalling for ties in the latter stage of the games.

Two Points For Victories and None for Ties and Losses, Future Ruling.

REFEREES APPOINTED.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 25. (AP).—Opening up of play in games of the International Hockey League this winter was sought by officials of the circuit yesterday when it was decided in a meeting here to eliminate the awarding of points for tie contests. In the future two points will be given for victories and none for ties and losses.

C. Charles King of Windsor, President of the league, said he believed this arrangement would speed up the games, as he thought the contestants would try all the harder for a victory in contests in which the score is deadlocked near the closing time. No points are awarded for tie games in the American Association and the result is there are few of them played.

Four referees were chosen for the season. They are: Moose Jamieson of Cleveland; Mickey Ion of Brantford, Ont.; Guy Smith of Hamilton, Ont.; and Stanley Jackson of Fort Erie, Ont.

The meeting was attended by representatives of the London, Windsor, Detroit, Syracuse, Buffalo and Cleveland clubs.

NORTH THUNDER BAY DYNAMITE TO BLAST A.A.U. CONVENTION

Slashiong Fees, Accurate Status of Amateur Ball-tossers, Among Fireworks Delegates Will Bring — Need Financial Relief, is Claim.

(By F. W. Edwards, Central Press Canadian Sports Writer)

FORT WILLIAM, Oct. 25—There will be two notices of motion from the Thunnder Bay branch of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada for delegates to ponder at the annual convention in Toronto, November 15, 16 and 17. It is not unlikely that both will be the subject of heated discussion.

One touches the all-important question of due. It presents a sad state of affairs in the smallest yet, at the same time, one of the most active branches in the Union. Finding their burden a bit too heavy to shoulder in these troublesome times, the Thunder Bay governors have seen fit to ask that their dues be reduced in proportion to their earnings, urging a cut of 50 per cent. in their yearly fee of $100.

Finances Depleted

This, no doubt, will be somewhat of a surprise considering the years that the northern Ontario section has been paying in advance. In going over the records, it will be found that the Thunder Bay branch has been a good paying member all along the line, having been the first from Dominion track and field championships and the only branch to meet the $500 sanction asked a few years back for the privilege of staging Dominion boxing and wrestling championships.

Last year it will be recalled they ran into a lot of grief in staging the Dominion track and field championships for the second time, receiving the grant after secondary consideration, their original request being tabled at the annual meeting in Ottawa. A certified quarter-mile cinder track was specified then. Later, when it looked as though the championships were doomed for a year, this barrier was removed and Thunder Bay opened the meet. It would have been a great occasion had the various branches united behind their track and field bodies and sent a few men to the head of the lakes, but the response to the call for entries was so disparaging that Thunder Bay executives feared a severe black eye at their expense.

Thanks to the Ontario Athletic Commission and the Manitoba Track and Field Association, the day was saved. Although it proved a highly successful meet, the gate was such that the branch could not meet the A.A.U. of C.'s sanction fee of $50. Delegates to the annual meeting at Winnipeg last fall warmly censored the governing body for lack of co-operation on the part of its branches, and although they met with sympathy on all sides their efforts to have the debt removed proved futile.

Identical was the plight of the Manitoba branch in connection with staging the Dominion boxing and wrestling championships. They found themselves unable to meet their obligation of a $250 sanction fee.

These are matters of unfinished business that will be doubtless broached by the treasurer, C. C. Robinson, in his annual report.

Want Amateur Ruling

Their second notice of motion promises to bring fire from the Union regarding the early season standing taken by the Ontario Amateur Baseball Association, in which they publicly stated that they were not making it compulsory for their players to take out amateur cards.

This action resulted in the Thunder Bay branch seeking to protect their interests by asking the A.A.U. of C. their stand in the matter. Nothing came of the request, perhaps due to the upheaval occasioned by the splitting of the Ontario branch. It reflected, however, on the pasteboard business of the Thunder Bay baseball League and affected the branch's revenue.

In the notice of motion, prompted by this, the branch asks that a ruling be handed down disposing of the case of athletes who play in other than affiliated leagues, and again those athletes holding cards, playing with or against them. This was long a debatable point in sports such as soccer and golf until they were classified as pastimes.

New officers of the Thunder Bay branch are A. W. Ball, Port Arthur, president, and T. J. McAuliffe, Port Arthur, as secretary-treasurer.

CHIHAWKS FINE GOALIE CHABOT

Thompson, Rommes and Abel May Also Come Under Penalty Unless Terms Reached.

ACQUIRE ERNIE KENNY

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—What price holdout in National League hockey?

In the case of Lorne Chabot, former Les Canadiens' goaler, who refused to sign a contract with the Chicago Black Hawks, it's $50 a day since last Thursday, the deadline for his appearance in the training camp at Urbana.

Advised that the Black Hawks had exercised their constitutional right to levy a fine it was their privilege.

May Apply to All

The imposition of a fine by the Black Hawks management is no precedent, although such a proceeding has been rare in the last few years.

It may also follow in the cases of Paul Thompson, Elwin ("Doc") Romnes and Clarence ("Taffy") Abel, unless they soon make their peace with the bosses.

Owners of the Toronto Maple Leafs, Les Canadiens and Boston Bruins are meeting with similar difficulties with some of their prima donnas, but the Black Hawks lead in the matter of applying pressure to bring recalcitrants to terms.

There is, however, no way to collect such fines, unless the offender plays with a National League team.

Acquire Ernie Kenny

Seeking to reinforce its defense, which was crippled Saturday night when young Tom Coulter was injured in the first intra-club game at Urbana, Business Manager Bill Tobin announced the acquisition of Ernie Kenny from the Northwest Professional League. Kenny stands six feet, two inches, weighs 205 pounds, and led his league in all-around play last season. He scored thirteen goals, made ten assists, and served ninety-one minutes in the penalty box, which indicates Ernie is quite a "bad boy." Manager Clem Loughlin knows the youngster and is glad to get hold of him.

GENEROUS OFFER IS REFUSED BY ASSOCIATION PRESIDENT

Vancouver Service Club Head Tells of Troubles With Dan McKenzie.

DETAILS OF SQUABBLE.

VANCOUVER, October 25. — An offer of the Vancouver Service Club sponsoring the post-season exhibition lacrosse series between Orillia Terriers and St. Helen's to turn over the proceeds of the fifth game to the Canadian Amateur Lacrosse Association was rejected by Dan McKenzie, C.A.L.A. president, D. D. Pratt, Service Club president, stated last night.

Pratt stated that early last spring Mr. McKenzie and Jim McConachy, secretary of the C.A.L.A., asured him of their co-operation if the Service Club should decide to sponsor an exhibition series this fall, the proceeds to go to charity.

"At a second meeting I proposed that the series be played under the supervision and control of the C.A.L.A. and that, subject to the consent of the Orillia Lacrosse Club, a sixth game be played in New Westminster with the Salmonbellies, the proceeds to go to the C.A.L.A., to be handled as that body saw fit," Pratt declared.

The Orillia Club expressed their unwillingness to play at New Wetminster and complained of the treatment they claimed they had received from the president of the C.A.L.A. in not allowing them to play the Mann Cup series in their home town, Pratt said.

"Mr. McKenzie then advised me that he was giving the press a statement that all players and officials taking part in the second game would be banned by the C.A.L.A." he continued.

"At that time I again endeavored to reason with him, pointing out the cause for which we were working, and finally I went so far as to offer him the fifth game of our series here, we waiving all our rights therein. This he refused and insisted that the game would have to be played in New Westminster."

O.B.A.A. May Adopt O.H.A. Tourist Rule

GUELPH, Oct. 25.—Proposals by certain Ontario baseball clubs which may result in the O.B.A.A. adopting a similar plan to that put into force by the O.H.A. in connection with transfer of players will be discussed by the provincial baseball heads in the near future, according to a statement by W. J. Snyder, secretary, of the O.B.A.A. during a visit here.

Although not prepared to say that the O.H.A. system would be adopted in its entirety, Mr. Snyder admitted the ratio of four players for senior clubs and two players for teams of other ratings, would be a fair ratio.

He added that if the proposal is adopted it would be along the same lines as the O.H.A. scheme and the O.B.A.A. would insist that all imports would be regulated under a bona fide employment basis.

Mr. Snyder declared that something must be done at once to build up the senior section of the O.B.A.A. to revive interest throughout the province.

May Be Hockey Truce To End St. Louis War

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—(CP)—President William Grant of the American Hockey Association said today a lease had been signed to insure games by St. Louis Flyers at the Winter Garden at St. Louis this winter.

Grant further said the Garden will be remodelled to increase its seating capacity from the present 3,500 to 5,000 or 6,000.

However, even with this increased seating capacity the Garden will be considerably smaller than the amphitheatre in which the Flyers played to numerous crowds of 10,000 and more last season. The amphitheatre has been leased for the National Hockey League Eagles, which open their schedule Nov. 8.

Grant refused to discuss the assertion by his attorney in St. Louis that the possibility of keeping the National League from operating in St. Louis through injunction proceedings was under consideration.

Something in the nature of an agreement was seen, however, in the statement of President Grant that the lease signed with the Garden called for 18 Sunday games and eight Wednesday games. Such a setup would not clash with the National League schedule, which sets the Eagles' home games on Tuesday, Thursdays and Saturdays.

Simpson Impressed With Smith's Play

OSHAWA, October 25.—"Nakina" Smith, Oshawa, and Snowden and Cronie of Trail, B.C., amateur puck-chasers, who have been trying out with the New York Americans, will not be signed to contracts this season, Manager Joe Simpson stated last night.

"Another season in senior hockey should do all the boys a world of good," Manager Simpson stated, "and we will keep strings on them."

Simpson was especially enthusiastic over the showing of Smith in practice, but added that a year's experience under Bill Hancock's coaching should do much more to improve him than a season in a minor league.

Although he is not certain just who will be carried this year, Simpson has practically decided on a defence of Alex. Smith, last year with Boston Bruins; Al. Murray, "Red" Dutton, and Bill Brydges. Dave "Sweeney" Schriner, who performed with Syracuse last season, has made a decided impression in training and will be given a chance in the major league. Bob Gracie has also performed brilliantly so far in training and will be a member of the team when the season opens. A number of the veterans are sure of positions, but from eight to ten players on the squad will be farmed out. Just who the players are and to which team they will be allotted has not as yet been definitely decided.

Teams Concentrate On New Penalty Shot

WINNIPEG, Oct. 25 (CP)—Arrival of Lionel Conacher fresh from Eastern gridirons, injected a menacing punch into the training workouts of Montreal Maroons here to-day. The big fellow reported to Tommy Gorman to complete the team roster and immediately entered into the serious business of preparing for the five-game exhibition tilt with New York Rangers.

Both Rangers and Maroons concentrated on the newly-adopted penalty shot. "Bun" Cook, veteran wingman, appeared to be all set for one of his greatest ice seasons as he topped Lester Patrick's boys on the new play. There was no standout among the Montrealers.

With "Ching" Johnson and Earl Seibert A.W.O.L. the Ranger coach planned to use "Bill" Cook on defence for the game with Maroons Saturday. He has groomed Cecil Dillon, peppery, dark-haired speedster, for the wing spot alongside Frank Boucher and "Bun" Cook.

SPORTS DAY BY DAY

By E.A.O.

The news despatch emanating from Halifax that the Maritime Hockey Association is seriously considering turning professional has a false ring to it. It is too grave an action, even though the teams down in the Bluenose country are aware that there is little likelihood of the C.A.H.A. granting transfers to that flock of hockey talent that they have imported. The Maritimers have been activey engaged in importing players ever since the game began a few years ago to have a new appeal for fans, but they have been assembling their players on a slightly larger scale this year.

• • • • • •

It is not so many seasons back that right in mid-winter several local players received telegrams from Down East that enticed them to board a rattler in a hurry for the seaboard. Everything was found for them on the trip, but after a few days on the scene they found several things that didn't seem to be on the up-and-up. Then they received a warning word from an Ontario friend that they had better hasten homeward or they were due to lose their amateur cards. They were back here in less than a week and few fans ever learned of their brief absence.

• • • • • •

Rather than take the leap into professional circles, the Maritime Association will probably decide to remain amateur but go outlaw from the C.A.H.A. In that way they can retain their imported stars, have plenty of action and less expense, and still wear the cloak of amateurs.

• • • • • •

Old times in sport, as everything else in the past, are always given an importance which is frequently misplaced. Greybeards wag their heads and speak with grave regret that sport is not what it used to be. Particularly is this true of rugby. Repeatedly the lament is raised that the gridiron game has lost much of its former appeal; its color and its conflict has been lost; that those who bucked and tackled in the autumn days twenty years ago were hardier, stronger-backed athletes—regular hercules to hear the tale told.

• • • • • •

Now and then one meets a fan, who perhaps cavorted about the gridiron in the bygone iron-age of the game, who is not so sorrowful about his slowing step to appreciate the qualities of the game as it is now played. There are several such who cross the bridge these Saturdays to see the local gridiron squads in action. While they can relate full details of those great battles of other days in which Peterborough teams won championships, they also expressed the opinion that their favorite sport has made progress. They maintain that there is more speed, precision, and skill required in the rugby of to-day, and the game is much better both for spectators and players.

The intermediate Petes held another hard drill at King Edward Park last evening in preparation for the game here on Saturday against the heavy Belleville gridiron machine. The squad showed up excellently in the practice...The outsides were doing some terrific tackling, while the passing extension plays of the half-line were clicking nicely. With better timing of their plunges it is expected that the line plays will have even more success here than in Belleville last week. A systematic use of the forward pass has been worked out and there will be a few of these passe going astray in the next contest. The Petes are training for Saturday's game, on which rests the championship of the group, with even greater seriousness than they prepared last week for their successful invasion of Belleville.

• • • • • •

Meanwhile it has been announced in Belleville that Coach Shiels has taken three of the outstanding players form his Collegiate team and added them to his intermediate squad in order to add speed to its play for its final engagement here. The Quinte squad has been turning out to practice regularly in large numbers and they have been milling through drills with renewed zest. Coach Shiels is confident that his team can take the Petes.

• • • • • •

Up in Lindsay, Coach Breese is warning his Collegiate gridders not to be over-confident of victory in their game on Saturday with P. C. I. Coach Famforth put his squad through all their paces yesterday afternoon and trotted out a few new plays to use in the big encounter. It was reported that three of the four regulars who were out of the game last week will play in Lindsay. Marsh's injured knee has responded to treatment, and he will again be a power in the Garnet and Grey attack and defence. Giardino is no longer troubled by his ankle injury, and Wilson is over his spell of "flu." However, it is probable that a badly-sprained wrist will keep Grose out of the fray.

• • • • • •

Oshawa Blue Devils will have to stage a strong attack in their home town on Saturday if they hope to overcome the 22-point lead piled up last night by Mining World, of Toronto, in the first game of their group finals. The Toronto team played inspired football to earn a 25-3 victory over the Motor City crew.

W. J. Snyder, secretary of the O.B.A.A., announced in Guelph last night that the association's executive will study the plan of adopting the same system for transfer of baseball players as is now in force for hockey players by the O.H.A. This action will be aimed primarily at strengthening the position of senior baseball throughout the Province, and, if sanctioned, will permit the incorporation of four senior players and two juniors for each club.

• • • • • •

It is interesting to recall that at the last annual meeting of the O.B.A.A. the Central League introduced just such a resolution. At that time the Central League was also fostering a resolution to change the residence rule from January to March, which was approved by the meeting and written into the O.B.A.A. rules. In a give-and-take arrangement with some of the Western senior leagues, the Central League withdrew its resolution on player imports. Max Swanston, president of the C.O.B.L., said to-day he was pleased to see that Mr. Snyder had realized the need for a change in the regulations regarding the moving about of players.

LEAFS' PILOTS WELL SATISFIED

Condition of Toronto Club Players at Galt is Satisfactory.

BREAK CAMP TUESDAY.

GALT, Oct. 25 (CP)—Manager Conny Smythe and Coach Dick Irvin last night declared themselves well pleased with the training results shown by the Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League. "Busher" Jackson and "Red" Horner have been the standouts so far, but the officials say the rest of the squad are doing great work.

Twenty of the 23 players training here will be signed and from this squad will be selected 14 as the regular club. The selections will be made after a series of exhibition games next week, Smythe said practically all the regulars had signed contracts and he expected to have the remainder of the team signed by the week-end.

Until yesterday the line obtained from St. Michael's College Juniors, Kelly, Mann and Metz, had been kept intact. Yesterday, however, "Pep" Kelly took Charlie Conacher's place on the "Kid" line" as the right winger is suffering from a boil on the leg.

Art Jackson's leg poisoning is a mystery to club officials as there is not even a break in the skin. He is expected to be out for training shortly, the ailment being due, it is believed, to a tight shoe lace.

Phil Stein, who is trying for a place between the goal posts went through a tough session yesterday when he was put in the nets with no defence in front of him and peppered with shots. He showed real ability.

Leafs next Monday will play an exhibition game here and on Tuesday leave for Toronto. On Wednesday they will play a benefit game in Brantford, and the next day they are scheduled to play an exhibition game with Red Wings at Windsor. London Tecumsehs will entertain Leafs in another exhibition match next Saturday, the following day finding them in Syracuse for another match, going to Toronto the next day to appear before home fans.

"American No-Foul" Rule Not Recognized

LONDON, Oct. 25.—(C. P. Cable)—The British boxing board of control today issued a warning to its referees it will not recognize the American no-foul rule, declaring the rule strikes at the very foundation of boxing."

The board issued the ruling in the belief Jeff Dickson, American-born fight promoter, planned to introduce the rule at the Albert Hall Monday. Harry Mizler is defending his British lightweight title against Jack (Kid) Berg that night.

Dickson denied he intended to introduce the no-foul rule under which no title ran be awarded a boxer on a foul. He said, however, the contestants must wear a no-foul protector which gives immunity against an accidental low blow.

The promoter announced if Berg and Mizler did not wear the protectors in the championship tilt they would not fight.

GAGNER HAS SPRAINED HIP

OTTAWA, Oct. 25. —(C P)— A sprained hip, suffered in the practice yesterday of University of Ottawa intermediate Intercollegiate football team, will prevent Roly Gagner from representing the university at the annual intermediate Intercollegiate track and field meet at Montreal next Friday, it was learned tonight.

Wib. Nixon, Jimmy Coutright and John Corcoran, the other university's track representatives, will leave for Montreal early Friday.

"No Gigolio," Says Famous Dizzy Dean

NEW YORK, Oct. 25—Dizzy Dean may be the modernized personification of goofiness, but 'shucks, I'm not goofy enough to pose for pictures with a blonde in scanties."

That's what the eccentric World Series pitching hero of the St. Louis Cardinals said yesterday during rehearsal for a vaudeville act which opens Friday. His pitching brother, Daffy Dean, also is in the act. They came to town yesterday.

Dizzy threatened to walk out on the act when the director and photographers trotted out a chorus gal clad in step-ins. The picture was supposed to illustrate just how the mighty Dizzy received instructions in dance steps.

"Hell, no," said Dizzy. "Nothing doin'. I ain't goin' to have baseball folks thinkin' I'm a sissy. It would reflect on baseball."

"Come, come!" said the director, "don't be silly."

"No, sir," exploded Dizzy. "I won't do it. Besides, my wife would take me to the cleaners if she saw a picture like that."

Daffy rushed to his brother's aid, declaring, "That's right, Diz ain't goin' to have any photos taken lookin' like one of them gigolios."

The picture wasn't taken.

GOLF FACTS NOT THEORIES!

By ALEX. J. MORRISON

Central Press

Number 438

The other morning I had to dig out at 6 o'clock to play with a couple of newspaper men. The grass was heavy with dew and several holes were laid out on marsh land. It was decidedly wet under foot.

One of the men has played golf for 20 years, long enough to know that he shouldn't drag his clubheads along in wet grass. His wood club happened to be made with ivory inserts in the faces. When these club-heads dry out he'll wonder what causes the inserts to loosen.

Wood and ivory have different reactions to moisture. One expands and contracts more than the other, hence the loosening of screws, inserts, etc. To preserve your clubs, keep them dry at all times.

Number 439

Mr. L. H. Green, a reader, writes: "I am six feet tall and weigh 200 pounds. Should I use wood clubs with whippy or stiff shafts and what weight clubs should I buy?"

Whip in the shafts of your wood clubs is a good thing, if most of it is to be found in the lower part of the shaft near the clubhead. A suggestion of whip in the same part of the shaft is good in the No. 1, 2 and 3 irons. The rest of the iron clubs should have fairly stiff shafts.

No matter how big and strong you are, you should not use heavy clubs. Medium weight clubs are best. Babe Ruth found this out after trying to use 20-ounce drivers.

Even light clubs can't hurt your game as much as heavy clubs. Heavy clubs force you to hit instead of permitting you to swing at the ball.

Florida Palm Battle Planned For February

(BY EDWARD J. NEIL)

NEW YORK, Oct. 25. — (AP)— Once more Madison Square Garden is toying with the idea of a big outdoor fight in Florida in February, when the north is snowbound, and people with the time and money to play, head for the southland.

The winter custom Tex Rickard inaugurated in 1929 with a $400,000 match he never lived to see, between Bill Stribling and Jack Sharkey at Miami Beach, didn't turn out at all well last February. Primo Carnera and Tommy Loughran drew barely one-tenth of that for a heavyweight championship match in Miami.

"They tell me down there this will be the most prosperous winter in Florida since the depression hit us," says Jimmy Johnston, the Garden's boxing head. "We've got an arena lying idle in Miami, renovated last winter. There's a very good chance that we'll put on another show there this February."

LEDUC MANAGES QUEBEC

QUEBEC, Oct. 25.—(CP)—Lucien Garneau, president of the Quebec Beavers, of the Canadian-American Hockey League, announced last night that Albert Leduc has come to terms with the officials of the Beavers.

Leduc, who played many seasons for Canadiens, for the National Hockey League, and was loaned to Ottawa last season, will act as playing manager for the Beavers. He succeeds Flat Walsh.

CHAPTER 13

"He doesn't look like a murderer, Inspector." Tim's voice was reluctant.

"I know he doesn't. But I recall someone who told me this morning that Mrs. Reeves was the kind of a woman a man would do a hell of a lot for if he loved her." Lee's eyes twinkled shrewdly.

"I said 'if she loved him.' But let it go. You may be right of course."

"But you don't think so. All right. Let's get on—we'll come back to it later. Personally, I'd rather it was Walker. There's a guy I don't like."

"His students wouldn't agree with you. He's one of the most popular teachers on the campus. And a good one, too."

"I still don't like him."

"O. K. Down for future consideration." Tim grinned. "What did the coroner say besides giving you the devil for permitting the murder to be committed?"

"Holmes says the bullet entered the heart and death almost instantaneous. Time—eight to twelve hours, which means between eight and twelve o'clock the night before. The shot entered from above at an angle. He might have been shot while he sat in the chair."

"But he was shot from the front and no one could get behind his desk to shoot him as he sat there. There's no room," objected Tim.

"It's a swivel chair, you remember. Maybe someone came in that Reeves knew and he just swung around to talk to him."

"And the newcomer killed him instead of talking?"

Lee nodded.

"Maybe so, but I honestly can't believe that a man could walk into a room with a gun in his hands or his pocket, intending to murder me without my realizing that something was wrong. Of course he might have just opened the door and fired as soon as Reeves turned around."

The inspector shook his head. "No. For two reasons. The shot entered from above so he must have been standing over him. And it was fired only a foot or two away."

"Powder burns?" asked Tim.

"Yah. We can't find anyone woa heard the shot. Of course there's nothing on the street except university buildings and a couple of fraternity houses up at the farther end. And the university buildings are deserted at night except for the night watchman. We talked to him but he was over in the buildings across the street and never heard or saw anything."

"What about the boys at the fraternity house?"

"They didn't hear a thing. That's not surpsiging, you know. One shot from a thirty-two wouldn't make so much noise. First of all we've got to find the gun."

Tim nodded his head encouragingly. "I think we'll find it," he said, picking up his check.

They walked toward the door, paid their bills and started across the street to the station. "Did you notice Jamieson's alibi for this morning?" asked Lee. "He could have done just what you suggested. Got into the washroom while Dan went for Callaghan andI gone on through that closed door to Reeves' office, picked up the gun, and got out again while Dan and Callaghan were in the front office phoning. We talked to the waitress in the restaurant where he ate. She says he came in between twenty and twenty-five minutes to eight. He says he walked but if he'd taken the street car instead, he could just about have made it, stopping at the English House first to pick up the gun."

"If he had a key to the door," amended Tim. "When I suggested that this morning, I said I couldn't see why the murderer hadn't taken the gun last night if he wanted it. I still don't see it."

"Maybe not," agreed Lee, as they walked up the broad stone steps to the police station entrance. "But if his fingerprints areon the washroom side of that doorknob will you consider the idea?"

"Why? Are they?"

"I don't know, yet. Cassidy said he'd have his report ready when we came back from lunch."

They took the elevator to the detective bureau and turned down the short corridor which led to Inspector Lee's private office.

The sun hadn't yet struck the western windows and it was cooler in the office. Lee took off his hat, unbuttoned his coat and settled back comfortably in the swivel chair before his desk. Tim pulled up another chair and was spreading out the witnesses' statements on the desk before them when someone knocked at the door. One of the plainclothesmen entered.

"A woman out here in the bureau waiting to see you, inspector. Came in just after you started for lunch. Says it's something about this university shooting."

"What's she like, Moore?" asked Lee.

The detective shook his head. "Not much, inspector. She's maybe about fifty and a regular hatchet-face."

That wouldn't be either the Turner girl or Mrs. Reeves, thought Lee. "Bring her in."

As the woman bustled in, Tim, snatching up a newspaper, offered her his chair. He retired to a window where he could hear but still give the newcomer the sensation of a privat interview.

She settled herself with a rustling of her flowered crepe dress, her hands still gripping a copy of the Sun opened to Tim's story. "Good afternoon, officer," she began. "I am Mrs. Greever, Mrs. Mathilda Greever, and a neighbor of Mrs. Reeves and this poor man." She tapped the paper lightly.

"Yes?" said Lee. He didn't like the unctuous tone in which she spoke of "this poor man."

She leaned forward, resting one hand in its clean tan cotton glove on the desk. "I feel, officer, that it is every good citizen's duty to help the police all he or she can and I really feel that I have information which may help you to solve this despicable crime." Her hard blue eyes gleamed fervently.

"Thank you, Mrs. Greever," said Lee. "The police cannot do their full duty without the help of the people and if you have any information that will help us we shall be very grateful for it."

She looked questioningly at Tim standing near the window with his face hidden in the paper.

Lee caught the glance. "That's quite all right, madam. He's a sort of assistant of mine." Tim choked a chuckle behind his paper.

"The piece in this newspaper," began Mrs. Greever, "says that Mrs. Reeves told you she was home alone all evening." She looked questioningly at the inspector and he nodded. "That's what they told us, Mrs. Greever."

Her voice dropped almost to a whisper. "I happen to know, officer, that Mrs. Reeves left her apartment last night at about nine-thirty with a man and returned alone about twenty minutes after ten."

GOVERNMENT TO HOLD WHEAT MARKET POLICY

OTTAWA, Oct. 24.—(C.P.)—While no official statement on the wheat situation was forthcoming to-day, the view was expressed that there would be no change in the government's policy of supporting the market.

John I. McFarland, selling agent for the Central wheat pools, who has been di scussing the situation with Prime Minister R. B. Bennett, had nothing to say on the matter to-day. He was unable to state definitely whether or not he would have further conferences with the Prime Minister. He may leave Ottawa either this evening or to-morrow.

PHEASANT CHARGES TROLLEY

SIMCOE, Ont., Oct. 24.—(CP)—A ring neck pheasant which tried conclusions with a southbound Lake Erie and Northern Train did considerable damage to train and motorman but paid with its life for the experiment. Apparently blinded by the headlight, the bird crashed through the glass at the front of the car and Motorman Vern Morrow was cut about the face by flying pieces. The accident occurred north of Waterford.

Nitrate shipped from Chile so far this year weighed more than twice that of the same period of 1933.

THREE HOSPITAL UNITS PLANNED

Dr. McGhie Announces Kingston, Hamilton, London as Sites.

2 READY BY JANUARY.

TORONTO, Oct. 24 —(CP)— Designed to relieve congestion in public hospital three psychiatric hospital units will be established shortly in the province, Dr. B. T. McGhie, Ontario Deputy Minister of Hospitals today declared in an address before the 11th annual convention of the Ontario Hospitals Association.

Units at Kingston and Hamilton will be ready by the first of the year even before new legislation to control their work is completed and a third will be established later at London, he said.

Dr. McGhie said the department was also considering the establishment of convalescent homes in Sudbury and the northern district and erection of receiving hospitals for examination of mental cases.

Discusing means of reducing hospitalization costs, he listed four methods: Discharging indigent patients from a hospital to their homes or to convalescent centres immediately convalescence is established; entering into contracts with private hospitals at a lower rate than paid to General Hospitals; lowering the daily rate per patient paid by the municipality and constant checking of accounts to see that only eligibles were treated at municipal expense.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, October 26

The planetary configurations prominent in the affairs of this day must be interpreted as of conflicting or contradictory force. While there are definite benefits presaged, mainly having to do with increased possessions or a stabilizing of the fortunes, probably through the benefices of elderly persons or institutions, yet there are portents of treachery, conspiracy or sinister activities threatening to undermine and betray.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year of some contradictions or reversals in their affairs, with great promise of increased possessions, some concrete good fortune, possibly at the hands of elders as token of esteem and faithfulness, yet there are omens of fraud, intrigue, treachery and sinister undermining of the best aspected affairs. Protect finances, friends, position, employment and name.

A child born on this day may be industrious, hard working and faithful, yet difficult to understand because of its singular or secretive tendencies or curiosities.

10 Days Without Sleep

A New York doctor made this test,
And was many months recovering
From a complete nervous breakdown.
"What am I to do?" You may ask,
"The only relief I can get is from the use of narcotics."
The answer is "Increase your nerve force."
Sleeplessness has been sapping your system
Of nerve force and this must be replaced.
Nerve force is created from rich red blood,
And Dr. Chase's Nerve Food supplies the ingredients
From which nature forms rich, red blood.
There is no question of the benefits
Resulting from the use of this time-proven restorative.
A trial will soon convince you.

New Cubs' President Will Back Up Grimm

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Philip K. Wrigley delivered it straight from the shoulder yesterday as reporters swarmed around him to learn what he plans to do now that he has replaced William Walker as president of Chicago Cubs.

The youthful multi-millionaire, holder of approximately 73 per cent. of the baseball club stock, told the newsmen these things:

"Manager Charlie Grimm will be in absolute command, and I've told him for the emteenth time not to be so damned agreeable. I think we've got the makings of a great manager. Understand, I said the makings. He's too good a fellow.

"Neither Chuck Klein nor Babe Herman will be traded next year, and I am confident both will find themselves. There will be no wholesale breaking up of the club. It may be likened to a powerful car, capable of unbeatable speed, yet unable to reach its maximum because of a couple of greasy valves.

"Grim will have the power to make deals. Grimm will get who and what he wants, I have a lot of ideas and Grimm will get plenty of advice."

IGNORE HEAT, COLD.

30,000 Visitors Watch Opening of Congress—All Reds Ousted.

BOMBAY, India, Oct. 26.—(C. P. Cable via Reuters) — Cheers greeted the arrival of Mahatma Gandhi for the Indian National Congress Assembly today, after Gandhi had been persuaded to come out of retirement and return to the Congress party by the weapon he himself invented—passive resistance.

Gandhi arrived after his resistance was broken down by seven Congress delegates, including two women, who lay stretched at full length on the ground near Gandhi's quarters for 30 hours, despite night chill and midday heat.

Thirty thousand visitors watched the opening proceedings of the Congress, the party pledged to independence for India. An attempt by communists to invade the Congress was repulsed by police, who were forced to use their lathis (sticks). Ten were injured in the course of another communist demonstration near the camp.

In the presidential address, Babu Rajendra strongly attacked the present policy for India, a measure of partial self-government with safeguards, as laid down in the governmental white paper to be discussed in parliament in London shortly.

KIDNAPPERS NAB WRONG VICTIM

Coed Seized at University is Freed After Telling Gang Ransom Impossible.

HELD SINCE MONDAY.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Mary Elsie Waier, 21-year-old coed in Wayne University, Detroit, who was kidnapped Monday, waited today for relatives to take her back to Detroit.

Stepping from a Chicago bus into the custody of St. Louis police last night, the girl said she apparently had been carried off by mistake for the kidnappers' intended victim.

The bus driver had notified police from Champaign, Ill., that one of his passengers was a kidnapping victim. He said that Miss Waier, shortly before, had drawn his attention to an automobile following them, but that the car disappeared soon afterward.

Miss Waier said she was kidnapped from the lobby of the university's children's building about 6 00 p.m. on Monday. Three men and a woman forced her into an automobile and took her to a house on the outskirts of Detroit.

Once in the house, she said, one of

Mollisons Reach Calcutta Undecided

CALCUTTA, India, Oct. 26 (C.P. Cable via Reuters).—Capt. Jim and Amy Mollison, daring British flyers, reached Calcutta to-day, and said they might fly on to Australia in easy stages or else return to England.

The Mollisons were forced out of the Air Derby from London to Australia when their plane developed trouble and they found repairs would take some days. They are staying in Calcutta for a week pending repairs to the engine of their de Havilland Comet plane.

ANGLO AMERICAN RACE PROPOSED BACK TO LONDON

British Team Who Finished Fourth in Melbourne Derby Challenge Col. Turner.

MAY START SATURDAY.

MELBOURNE, October 26 (A.P.).—Colonel Roscoe Turner, American flier, was reported to-day to be seriously considering a suggestion that he race an English plane from Melbourne to England.

The proposal was made by Cathcart Jones, who plans to take off, possibly to-morrow, in an attempt to cut the time made by his fellow-countrymen, C. W. A. Scott and T. Campbell Black, in their record-breaking flight to Australia which won the air derby.

Jones and his co-pilot, Kenneth Waller, finished fourth, while Turner and Clyde Pangborn came in third. Jones' plane is a duplicate of that flown by Scott.

The Englishman said he would take off at dawn to-morrow if his plane can be made ready by that time. He plans to back track the route he followed to Melbourne, but will have the advantage of not being compelled to stop at various control points.

Try to Beat Scott's Time.

"I don't say we shall beat Scott's time," Jones asserted, "that would be saying something. However, we shall have a good try."

The fifth plane in the race to reach Australia, flown by Squadron Leader Malcolm MacGregor of New Zealand, landed at Port Darwin this morning.

Squadron Leader D. E. Stodart of England left Batavia, Java; Lieutenant M. Hansen of Denmark took off from Alor Star, British Malaya, after being delayed by repairs; J. E. Hewett and C. E. Kay left Rambang, Dutch East Indies, and arrived at Koepang. John H. Wright and John Polando arrived at Karachi, India, while C. J. Melrose of Australia reached Singapore, preparatory to hopping for Australia.

TURNER WILL NOT RACE.

MELBOURNE, October 26 (A.P.).—Colonel Roscoe Turner, American flier, denied reforts to-night that he was considering racing an English plane from Melbourne to England.

He said he would go to Sydney on Monday to arrange for shipment to the United States of the plane in which he and Clyde Pangborn flew here from England.

ABITIBI BALKS AT NEGOTIATING WITH STRIKERS

Claims All Camps Are Open to Employees Wishing to Return.

BLAME OUTSIDERS.

SAULT STE. MARE, Ont., Oct. 26 (CP)—Abitibi announced definitely that it would not negotiate with the Workers' Unity League or the Industrial Workers of the World, in regard to strikes in its pulpwood cutting camps. It was also announced:

"All camps are open and will remain so as long as possible. Employees who wish to return to work, and can satisfy requirement with respect thereto, are assured that schedules of contracts governing rates and working conditions will be completed with in every particular.

Mr. Merchant's statement reviews the history of the strike since the time late in September when the company received word that agents representing the W.U.L. and the I.W.W. were active in the camps. It blames the strikes on outside agitators. Before the first walkout there were 868 men employed in 17 camps.

199 Stick to Jobs

Of these 521 asked for a final wage settlement from the company. On Oct. 20 there were still 199 men in camps where there had been no walkout and in other camps.

Following a meeting at Haw Junction, says the statement, demands were presented to various contractors, but no two sets of demands were identical and were "obviously inspired by men of subversive tendencies who were not in our employ."

The statement goes on to review the machinery provided for the men to bring complaints to contractors and to the company, which, it says, the strikers ignored.

Strike picekts were placed to-day outside the entrance to the government employment agency in Courthouse Building. They have not interfered so far with those going in, but make a note of them.

Only 2,000 of the 60,000 freight cars of the Imperial Government Railways of Japan were idle last summer.

Strike In Hamilton Bottles Up Citizens

HAMILTON, Oct. 26. (CP)—Protesting against the new regulations governing pay for civic relief works 30 men went on strike to-day in West Hamilton and left their job of grading Royal avenue.

Their protests are being heard by the Board of Control.

The strike, however, was more troublesome than it appeared at first. The men had lowered the grade of Royal avenue about three feet when they quit work, thus effectively bottling up all the residents. Cars could not be moved from garages, and pedestrians had to climb through a mass of mud and clay.

JAPS PARTIALLY LIFT THE VEIL ON NAVAL WANTS

Admiral Gives British "Pretty Good Idea," But No Concrete Figures.

SCRAP OFFENSIVE TYPES.

Latter Suggestion Likely to Meet With Little Favor By Britain or U. S.

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

LONDON, Oct. 26.—(C. P. Cable)—In renewed conferences at No. 10 Downing Street today Admiral Yamamoto, Japanese naval spokesman, somewhat lifted the veil on Japan's plan for equality in principle with the navies of Britain and the United States.

He departed to a certain extent from the statement of general principles to which the Japanese scheme so far had been confined. He gave details. He elucidated. But he still did not submit any concrete written scheme.

"The Japanese representatives," said the official communique, "furnished further information in elucidation of a number of points in their proposals. A further meeting will be held shortly."

As a result of today's meeting it was intimated in British circles there was a good understanding of the Japanese position. The British have a pretty good idea of what the Japanese actually want.

Maximum 500,000 Tons

Only the vaguest hints were heard of the Japanese figure that was proposed. As the Japanese want reduction and gradual abolition of what they call "offensive" craft, I. E., battleships, aircraft carriers, 10,000 ton cruisers with 8-inch guns, it was surmised the Japanese suggested a maximum tonnage of about 500,000 tons. The Japanese emphasized however Japan has neither set a definite figure nor any method of arriving at this figure.

The 500,000 ton level is about the maximum allowed for Japan under existing treaties, less capital ship tonnage. There was little prospect of its acceptance.

Neither the United States nor Great Britain are liable to take kindly to the suggestion that capital ship classes be eventually done away with; for one thing this entails agreement of many other powers, notably France and Italy, which are still building up to quota strength in these classes.

On the face of it, the Japanese program, in its basic principles, can be considered as practically impossible of acceptance.

LLOYD GEORGE ATTACKS HAIG FOR PASSCHENDAELE SLAUGHTER

None Other Able to Command —Learned Later Dominion General Qualified.

SMUTS OR CURRIE?

LONDON, Oct. 6 (CP) Cable)—An attack on the late Field Marshal Earl Haig, Commander-in-Chief of the British Forces in the later stages of the war, and on the late Sir William Robertson, Chief of the Imperial General Staff from 1915 to February, 1918, especially for the conduct of operations at Passchendaele in late 1917, is contained in the fourth volume of David Lloyd George's War Memoirs, published to-day.

The volume also contains praise for General Jan Smuts, South Africa, and commendation of Sir Robert Borden, war-time Prime Minister of Canada.

Passchendaele of course has peculiar significance to Canada. The Canadian Corps were thrown into the breach there and Passchendaele was finally taken, but with heavy losses.

Lloyd George declares 400,000 British lives were "squandered" in the Passchendaele quagmire in order to satisfy the "vanity and insane egotism" of Haig who, according to the wartime British leader, wilfully and skilfully misled the War Cabinet, withholding facts

PARIS, France, Oct. 26 (CP) Lucien Delforge enjoyed his radio programmes so much he killed his janitor.

For a year Delforge played his radio day and night in his apartment. Neighbors objected, went to court and Delford was restrained from using the radio except during the day.

One day Delforge stood in the hallway of his apartment house and shouted for the tenants to come forth. Only the janitor appeared, and Delforge shot him through the heart.

HENRY SCORES BEER LICENSES TO ROADHOUSES

Criticism Draws Immediate Fire From Hepburn and Odette.

REVEAL TORY PLANS.

Premier Says Former Leader Promised Licenses to "All Restaurants."

TORONTO, Oct. 26.—(CP)—Former Premier George S. Henry of Ontario today criticized the administration of the province for licensing what he described as roadhouses and permitting them to sell beer and wine as hotels.

The former premier drew immediate fire from Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn and Liquor Commissioner E. G. Odette. Mr. Hepburn said he knew 'for a fact' that his Conservative rival in the Ontario election promised in St. Thomas that beer licenses would be given to "all restaurants" if the Conservative government was returned.

Mr. Odette maintained the Conservatives planned a more extensive issue of beer and wine licenses than his office was permitting. He said 941 hotel authorities, 176 club authorities and 27 Canadian Legion Post authorities had been issued from his office.

FINED FOR LACKING RADIO LICENSE

WINDSOR, Oct. 26 (CP)—Three Windsor residents, who pleaded not guilty to a charge of failing to procure a radio license for 1934, were convicted in court to-day and fined a total of $35.50. Fred Thornton, who paid $14.50, the heaviest impost of the three, allegedly refused to admit the Radio inspectors to his home.

Three others were fined $5 when they pleaded guilty to the charge.

Foley's arrest on Sept. 16 was the fourth in a police drive against an alleged blackmail ring in Western Ontario.

His parents, wife and brother pooled their resources so his creditors might be paid. Their summer home at La Sallette was surrendered along with other possessions. The total pool amounted to $34,000.

Minister Refuses to Comment But Names Inspector to Investigate.

TORONTO, Oct. 26.—(C. P.)—A representative of the Ontario goverment will go north today to investigate complaints that settlers in the Cochrane district were being prevented by strikers from working in the bush.

Hon. Arthur Roebuck, Attorney-General, announced that he had received complaints from the district that striking pulpwood cutters were preventing residents from doing their usual autumn work in the bush.

Mr. Roebuck said Thorn Ehn, an inspector of the lands and forests department will leave Toronto to-night and will arrive in Cochrane tomorrow to investigate the complaints and make a report to government authorities.

Until the report was made, said Mr. Roebuck, he did not wish to comment on the situation.

Unemployed Man Lost Sum Of Money

The "Lost and Found" column in to-night's Examiner tells in sixteen brief words the tragic little story of an unemployed man's loss of a sum of money. It was not a large sum of money, yet it represented almost a week of toil at a local factory bench.

The man who has been on much short time in recent years, drew his pay for a few days' work, and was again laid off for a spell. Returning home to his wife and family with the pay that was so badly needed for food, light, rent and fuel, he had the misfortune to lose it somewhere downtown.

Now he is appealing through the "Lost and Found" column of the press in the hope that the finder of the money will notify The Examiner in order that he may recover it. He is at present in the ranks of the unemployed and he has a large family to maintain.

Pheasant Hunter Gets Shot In Face

LEAMINGTON, Ont., Oct. 26.—(C. P.)—Carl Quick, Leamington, was the first casualty to be reported as game bird hunters opened fire on their quarry to start the two day "open season" to-day.

Quick received three shotgun pellets in the left side of his face while shooting in a cornfield with his nephew Roy Hillman. He was taken to a doctor for attention.

Hillman shot at a pheasant, failing to notice Quick in the line of fire. A dozen of the pellets struck him but their force was spent after being deflected by cornstalks and only three entered his face. They were extracted and Quick is expected to be back shooting this afternoon.

Four of the bodies lay in the morgue while two others, those of his young nephews, were being sought in underbrush near Ste. Therese De Beauport where Bilodeau told police he had left them lying after sending .32 calibre bullets into their brains.

The victims included a highly respected and senior official of the Quebec post office, Bilodeau's two elderly sisters, and his niece.

His Pal

DETROIT, Oct. 26 (CP) — Michigan Humane Society officials are holding a fox terrier to-day, which for two days and two nights, without food or shelter, guarded the body of a mongrel pal after the latter had been killed in a traffic accident. Even when a humane officer went to assist him, the terrier, collarless and well past his puppyhood, bared his teeth and snarled at his approach. A can of meat placed before him, was downed in one gulp, and it was only then he permitted himself to be taken away.

TROUBLE BREWS WHILE FUAD ILL

Premier Accuses Acting British High Commissioner of Interference.

ADVICE UNWANTED.

LONDON, Eng., Oct. 26. (C.P. Cable).—Reports from Cairo indicating an Anglo-Egypt diplomatic incident has arisen as an indirect result of the continued illness of King Fuad of Egypt were before government authorities to-day.

The incident caused strained relations between the British residency in Egypt and Premier Abdel Fattah Yehia Pasha. The Premier accused Maurice Peterson, Acting High Commissioner for Great Britain in Egypt, of attempting improper interference in Egypt's home politics. (Sir Miles Lampson, High Commissioner, is at present on leave). The Egyptian constitution does not provide for a regent in the event of the King being incapacitated.

According to reports from Cairo, Yehia Pasha sought the advice of Paterson in connection with the situation arising from King Fuad's illness. peterson consulted the British Government and advised the Premier to appoint a new chief of the royal cabinet and the residency. This post has been filled since 1931.

The advice proved unpalatable to the Egyptian authorities and the accusation by Yehia Pasha of interference by peterson followed. It was further denied Yehia Pasha had sought British counsel.

Neither the Wafdists nor the Liberal appear alarmed at the situation. Neither rallied to the defence of the government in its attack on the Acting High Commissioner.

Further reports from Cairo indicate Ibrashi Pasha, controller of the royal estates, and two friends of his in the cabinet have formed a sort of triumvirate, wielding considerable influence in affairs of state.

OPEN DOOR PLAN NOT APPLICABLE TO MANCHUKUO

Japs Point Out Nine Power Treaty Binding Only on China.

DODGE ON OIL MONOPOLY.

(By Glenn Babb.)

TOKYO, October 26 (A.P.). — A spokesman for the Japanese Foreign Office said to-day the Nine-Power Treaty, guaranteeing the "open door" in China, is "inapplicable to Manchukuo."

"Various pledges made by Japanese and Manchukuan leaders to maintain the open door in Manchuria were unilateral declarations lacking the binding force of treaties," he continued, "and hence may be withdrawn at any time."

Thus he indicated protests by Great Britain and the United States against a Manchukuan oil monopoly would do them little good. Both claimed violations of the Nine-Power Treaty.

In the first place, the spokesman said, Japan is unable to "receive representations which should properly have been made to Manchukuo.

Apply to Nanking.

"However, since foreign Powers do not recognize the independence of Manchukuo, insisting it is still a part of China, their representations logically should have been made to Nanking."

The Japanese press has been forbidden to mention the oil monopoly.

Washington despatches said Joseph C. Grew, American Ambassador to Tokyo, had objected in a series of representations against Japan's petroleum industry control law, giving the Government control of the oil business in Japan and Manchukuo's plan to establish a Government oil monopoly.

Grew said the monopolies, it was reported, would harm American companies, including the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, the Standard Oil Company of New York, and the Texas Company.

The Netherands was reported to have protested along lines similar to those made by London and Washington.

ENOUGH OF GIRLS BOLEZCZUK SAYS AS HE IS FREED

Crown Prosecutor Acknowledges Case Again "Mit" Was Obviously Weak.

MAN IS DISCHARGED.

Plans to Return to Saranuk Family With Whom He Had Been Living.

COBOURG, Oct. 26.—Acquittal of Dmytro Bolejczuk of the murder of Peter Rogouski in Manvers township on July 29 was officially unanimous when the jury yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock returned a verdict of not guilty without leaving their seats.

Fred C. Richardson of Cobourg, defence counsel, had argued in the temporary absence of the jury, when the Crown had completed its case, that there was no evidence whatever to connect the accused man with the crime; Mr. Justice Jeffrey reviewed the salient points which the Crown had endeavoured to establish into a chain of accusing circumstances and concluded with the statement: "I don't think there is sufficient evidence on which to ask a jury safely to convict this man; and finally the Crown Prosecutor, J. Douglas Peck of Gananoque, acknowledged that the case was obviously weak.

Then, when the jury was recalled and was informed by His Lordship that he felt it his duty to bring in a verdict of not guilty, the foreman stated: "We are in agreement with what you say."

Mr. Justice Jeffrey then wrote: "Not guilty" on the indictment, endorsed it and proceeded to discharge the prisoner.

After he had walked out from the tenuous shadow of the gallows, Bolejczuk shook hands with some of his compatriots from the Manvers neigborhood, and shortly afterwards walked across the street to a hotel for "a couple of beers."

He was planning to return to the Saranuk family with whom he had been living last July, but there was some question about the means of his immediate transportation to the township. The witneses had been driving down to Cobourg together in a Bowmanville bus that had been chartered for their accomodation, but after the trial the driver declared that he was afraid Bolejczuk might get into a fight with several of the witnesses on the way back.

And meanwhile, Patsie Romanic, a fourteen-year-old witness, missed by an inch being run down by a

CHICAGO GRAIN

Sharp breaks in grain values took place yesterday notwithstanding earlier slight upturns that were associated more or less with President Roseveits address to bankers.

Failure of wheat buying to assume broad volume led to augmented selling pressure and to execution of numerous stop-loss orders from disappointed holders. Ensuing downturns of wheat prices were accelerated by a reaction in foreign markets.

After a maximum fall of 2¼c, wheat closed weak, 1⅝c to 2c under Wednesday's finish; May, 96¼c to 96⅝c; corn, ½c to 1c down; May, 76¼c to 76⅝c; oats, ⅞c to 1⅛c off, and provisions exactly unchanged

WINNIPEG WHEAT.

WINNIPEG, October 26. — A flow of bullish news into the Winnipeg Grain Exchange yesterday failed to prevail against the depressing effect of sharp declines at Chicago. Wheat futures prices here closed ⅝c to ¾c lower, October at 75⅝c, December 76⅝c to 76½c, and May 81c.

Chicago values "broke" as much as two cents at one period, resulting in heavy selling here. Firmness at Liverpool and some buying against small export sales of Canadian wheat failed to rally the market, and at the finish prices scraped bottom levels.

Outside news was generally bullish, with Argentine wheat shipments for this week estimated at only 1,750,000 bushels, and only 320,000 bushels exported from Russia. Too-light frosts were reported from Argentina, with northern sections reporting too much rain.

Lightness of offerings in cash grains restricted sales of high-grade wheats, which were again in good demand. Spreads closed fractionally higher. Trading in coarse grains futures was dull, prices turning lower with wheat.

WEEKLY LIVESTOCK REVIEW

TORONTO, Oct. 26 (C.P.). — A combination of factors at widely separated points pushed hogs higher on the Toronto livestock market this week and gave that division the feature spot in an otherwise drab trading session. Firm bacon prices in England, higher prices throughout the Dominion and light runs at Toronto all combined to send the price 20 cents higher. Lambs showed the only other gain of the week, selling five cents higher on the bulk, while sheep and calves held steady.

One head was the difference in this week's and last week's cattle runs. Trading was sluggish for the four days with very little price variation. Weighty steers were hardest to sell, while stockers went against the general trend of the division, selling fairly actively. Western cattle in the run numbered 1,100 and 600 more went on through billing, mostly to Ontario farm points. The holdover from the previous week—400 head—remained unchanged at the close of trading Thursday.

Best heavy steers sold at $4.50 to $5, with common steers going down to $2.75. Common to medium butcher cattle ranged from $2.25 to $3.75, while closing tops were at $4. Butcher heifers sold at the week's top on opening day, going at $4.35. Boners sold from $1.75 to $2. Cows, after a firm opening in which tops went to $2.75, closed slightly weaker with few above $2.50. Canners and cutters held steady at $1 to $1.50 cwt.

Bulls moved within a range of $2 for bolognas to $2.25 to $2.75 for heavy exports. Choice fed calves moved readily at $6.50 to $7, but common kinds were slow at $4.50 to 6. Milkers and springers held unchaneed at around $45 for tops. Pick of the stocker supply went up to $2.75 and $3.25, while a few lots of flishy feeders made as high as $3.50. Plain stocker were slower at $2 to $2.65 cwt.

The calf run included 900 heavy westerns of which 100 were unsold at the close. Vealers were active and steady at $6.50 to $7 for choice, with occasional tops at $7.50. Common vealers sold down to $4, while eastern grassers moved at $2 to $2.75. Best of the westerners sold to killers at $3 to $3.50, with others to stockers at $2.50 to $3.50.

Though the division lost 10 cents on Wednesday, hogs closed with a gain of 20 cents. Bacons went on Thursday, the last day of trading, at $7.60 f.o.b., $8 off truck and $8.35 off car. Indications were that the market would remain firm next week, cables from England reporting no drop in Canadian bacon prices there.

Despite heavy receipts, lambs were firm to five cents higher. Good ewes and wethers ranged from $6.25 to $6.40, with several loads of Ottawa valley lambs at the higher level. One top load moved to the week's high of $6.50. Heavies and bucks sold at $5.25 to $6, while culls changed hands at $5 to $5.50. Sheep trade was slow under a heavy offering, the majority going at $1 to $2.50. Some good, light ewes brought $3 and some good yearlings made $3.

Grand Jury Scores Ventilation System

COBOURG, Oct. 25.—Two persisting defects in the counties court building here, lack of lavatory accommodation for the public and of proper ventilation in the main court room were again cited by the Grand Jury in their presentment to Mr. Justic Jeffrey yesterday afternoon.

The report was read by the foreman, John H. Davidson of town, approving the conditions found by the Grand Jury in the counties House of Refuge, jail and also the Children's Shelter at Port Hope.

"I shall see that your recommendations are sent to the proper authorities", His Lordship said in dismissing the Jury, "and let us hope that they wil be more productive of results than probably other suggestions of the same nature which I have no doubt been brought out on other occasions."

Owing to inadequate ventilation the air became 'putrid' Mr. Justice Jeffrey remarked, and it was very evident that public lavatory accommodation was deficient for a counties town of the importance of Cobourg.

BANK ROBBERY SUSPECTS HELD

Pair Nabbed in Montreal Blamed for Jobs in Blackstock, St. Clement.

BOTH CARRYING GUNS.

MONTREAL, Oct. 26. (CP). Police quizzed John Goodrich and Alfred Baker to-day while awaiting word from Ontario police as to what is to be done with the pair, suspected of having taken part in several hold-ups in Ontario and one in Quebec.

The men, believed to be from Toronto, failed to offer resistance when taken into custody by Montreal detectives although they were said to have been carrying revolvers at the time.

They are wanted for a $2,000 hold-up at the St. Clement, Ont., branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce Oct. 12; hold-up of the Blackstock, Ont., branch of the same bank in June when $4,000 was taken, and an attempted hold-up at Guelph, Ont. They are also charged with stealing automobiles in Kitchener and Toronto.

Ontario police are expected to send a man to-day to escort the pair back to Toronto. Meantime Montreal detectives investigated to find if the men were two who held up a branch of the Bank of Montreal here Oct. 4 and made their getaway with $4,000

Trelle's Wheat Yields 50 Bushels

EDMONTON, October 26 (C.P.). —Wheat yielding about 50 bushels to the acre and oats about 100 bushels is this year's record on the farm of Herman Trelle, Wembley wheat wizard, who arrived here yesterday.

"It is one of the best crops I ever had, and averaged 10 per cent. better than we had estimated before cutting," said the former world's wheat champion. "I was lucky enough to complete harvesting just two days before the bad weather, which played havoc with farmers' hopes, struck the Peace River district. The poorest of it will grade Number 1 seed."

Mr. Trelle's grain, so Wembley buyers told him, was the only dry grain marketed there this season.

JUNIOR FARMERS HOLD FIELD DAY

Sixty-two Juniors Attend Annual Durham County Judging Competition.

PRIZE WINNERS.

The Durham County annual home economics competition for the girls and the live stock judging competition for the boys was held at Hampton reently. Seventeen girls and forty-five boys took part.

At 6.30 p.m. 74 sat down to a sumptuous supper which was capably served by the Hampton Women's Mission Society. The program was more or less informal and several of the stock breeders were asked for short addresses. Among these was a veteran farmer of Darlington, Mr. Thomas Baker, who very interestingly reviewed past experiences and gave the young people excellent advice which, if followed, will save them much worry when they take the responsibility of operating a farm or any other business. Mr. Cruickhank, one of our up and coming young Holstein breeders, announced the records made by the cows the boys had judged on his farm. One cow as a four-year-old had given over 20,000 pounds of 3.67 milk on twice a day milking—a very creditable record indeed.

Miss Hopkins of Lindsay was in charge of the girls' competition, and was assisted by Miss Petty of Toronto and Miss Bayroft of Aurora. E. A. Summers had charge of the day's program, with the following taking classes of live stock with the boys: A. D. Runions, Peterborough; M. Gordon, Peterborough; F. J. Webster, Picton; A. H. Martin, Brighton; W. M. Corkery, Uxbridge; James Brown, Bowmanvile; Walter Reynolds, Port Hope; Mr. Graham, Lindsay.

FIVE OF VICTIMS ARE RELATIONS

All through the night search parties scoured the woods seeking the Gauvin boys, who have been missing from their Quebec City homes since yesterday morning when they were invited by their uncle to take a drive with him.

Shoots Boys First.

According to his own story, told after he had been seized in the Post Office, Bilodeau took the boys to the woods and shot them. He left their bodies there, drove back to Quebec, and invited his sisters and niece to go for a drive.

He headed his automobile in the same direction. At a spot near where, he said, the boys met death at his hands, the women were shot. Then he sped back to Quebec and made his dramatic appearance at the Post Office on Buade Street.

A fusillade from his revolver dropped Fiset, Morin and Jolicoeur bleeding to the floor. Clerks brought Constable Patrick Horrigan who jumped on Bilodeau as the man was mumbling into a telephone. He was taken to police headquarters and questioned.

Tells Halting Story

Police stated he was obviously demented. He hesitatingly told a story of having slain five members of his family and offered to take police to the scene. A fast drive to Ete. Therese ended at a spot on a narrow pathway through the forest where lay three women. Bilodeau's sisters were already dead, while Miss Gauvin's injuries were so critical she died within a few minutes.

Bilodeau was unable to take police to the exact spot where, he said, his nephews were killed. He was brought here and returned to jail while reinforcements of constables returned to the woods to begin their all-night hunt. Darkness made their task difficult, but at daylight this morning the search was intensified.

Bilodeau is a veteran of the Great War, having been badly gassed in France, and has been ill repeatedly from effects of the poison. He was well liked by neighbors, but was described as highly nervous. During the past two years, following his dismissal from the post office where he had been employed as a mail carrier, he had travelled throughout the province as a prospector.

Campbellford Youth Suspended Sentence

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 26 (By Examiner Correspondent). Appearing before Magistrate Campbell at Cobourg on Thursday, charged with theft of a sum of money, a seventeen year old Campbellford youth was given three months' suspended sentence, ordered to dispose of the car he has been driving, attend church regularly every Sunday, repay by labor the equivalent to the money involved, report to Chief Constable George Hardy (for a period of one year) every Saturday night, and given a severe reprimand by Magistrate who told him very plainly what would happen should he fall from grace again. The lenient view taken by the magistrate was due to the appeal made by friends who promised to see to the lad's future good behaviour. Information was laid by Chief Hardy who had received numerous complaints from merchants of sums of money being taken from shop tills, the largest sum being approximately $20.00.

BELLEVILLE REPORT IS READ TO BRANCH

Seymour West Women's Institute Meets at Home of Mrs. Gordon Shearer.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, October 26.—On Thursday, October 18, the Seymour West Women's Institute, met at the home of Mrs. Gordon Shearer. A full truck load of ladies from the Trent River branch attended also; in all over 60 persons were present. Mrs. Robert McCulloch, first vice-president, occupied the chair as the report of the Belleville convention was given by the president, Mrs. Howard Clark. The meeting opened with the Ode, with Mrs. H. Brown at the piano, followed by the Lord's Prayer in unison. The roll call, "A Preventive of Colds," showed the members to be in thriving condition, seemingly, as few preventatives were given.

After the reading and adopting of last month's minutes, the following business was dealt with. It was decided to pay $2.00 into each of the four schools of the community for prizes in the oratoricals to take place shortly; home and school committees were requested to send in list of refills for the first aid kits; outstanding bills were ordered to be paid; material was donated for some bedding for relief; a letter from Seymour East Branch was read, discussed and it was decided talk this over with their president, Mrs. John Thompson. The November meeting, scheduled for Mrs. Ernest Fairman's, may take the form of a social evening or entertainment of another society; this was left in the hands of a committee to decide and plan for. A new minute book is to be asked for as the old one is almost full. A letter from T. B. Association was mentioned and left over. Mrs. Martin McArthur requested that her thanks be expressed for the beautiful bouquet sent her as a grandmother from the last meeting. This was done. Exhibits were two, made from hemp sacks, a knitting bag and a rug.

Mrs. G. Dart of Trent River, very kindly favored the gathering with a humorous solo, "The Tune the old Cow died on." A rather full and lengthy report of the Belleville Convention was then given, from which some points for future porgrams and work may be gathered. Mrs. A. A. Lewis also added a little to this report, after which the National Anthem was sung, and a very bountiful lunch served by the hostesses. The executive wishes to thank all who helped in any way.

A NEW RAILWAY ERA.

There is no use attempting to disguise the fact that the record-breaking cross-continent dash of the Union Pacific Diesel-engined, stream-lined train which cut the record from Los Angeles to New York to less than 57 hours is the dawn of a new era in railway transportation.

This exploit has tremendous significance to Canadians in its relation to our railway problem because it indicates a startling transformation in railway equipment and operation.

That the new type of train is here to stay is obvious.

The change cannot be made overnight, but it is coming; already the Union Pacific has announced plans to operate a stream-lined train service weekly from Chicago to the coast as soon as the arrangements can be made, and if the patronage of the super-speed service comes up to expectations daily trains of the new type will follow as quickly as the equipment can be manufactured.

Most certainly other railway companies will have to fall in line, and the Canadian systems cannot be left at the post; this is the age of speed, and if new methods revolutionize railway conditions south of the international line, there will apparently be nothing left for the Canadian roads to do but adopt those methods.

The speeding up of railway transportation, accompanied as it is by the two important factors, safety and comfort, may prove a life-saver for the railway business.

IT IS TIME FOR A CHANGE.

In the absence of any explanation from ex-Premier George S. Henry as to the servicing of his own family car by the Government garage and his failure to pay the bill until the provincial auditor got after him on the instructions of Premier Hepburn, the public has a right to believe that if there had not been a change of Government this bill for repairs, gas and oil, amounting to $3,000, would have been another item in the provincial overhead.

The incident should also prove the last straw in regard to Mr. Henry's leadership of the Conservative party.

No political organization that retains as its chieftain a politician who was apparently willing to take advantage of his position to secure services to which he was neither morally nor legally entitled can hope to win its way back into public confidence.

Coming on top of the record of laxity, ineptness and disregard of the people of the province that characterized the last few years of the late Government's regime, this latest revelation should result in a demand from the rank and file of the Conservative party for a complete house-cleaning and a change in command that will enable His Majesty's loyal opposition to face the Government during the next session and the country at all times with stout hearts and unbowed heads.

There is work for a live opposition to do and excellent service in the public interest to be rendered, but obviously there can be neither effective work or worth-while service under the present discredited leadership.

The Conservative party in Ontario must provide itself with a commander who will not be satisfied with talking about straight furrows, but who will plow one.

AID FOR FARMERS.

Putting into effect the legislation passed at the last session of Parliament, a fund of $70,000,000 is being created for the Dominion Farm Loan Board, out of which it will assist Canadian farmers in their financing and a cut of 1 per cent in the interest rate on mortgage loans to farmers.

The farm loan plan is complementary to the Farmers' Creditors' Arrangement Act under which receivership boards and courts are set up through which the farmer can secure adjustment of his mortgage.

A farmer applying to the Loan Board for assistance may be given a first mortgage loan up to 50 per cent. of the appraised value of his lands, plus 20 per cent. of the value of buildings (the appraisal to be made by the board), and if this is not sufficient for the consolidation of his liabilities he may be given a further loan up to half the amount of the first mortgage loan, the additional loan being secured by a second mortgage on the real estate and a mortgage on livestock and chattels.

The total of the advances must not exceed two-thirds of the value of lands or buildings or be more than $7,500 in any case.

Factors which will guide the board in making loans will be the productive value of the property and the recorded capabilities of the farmer.

Loans will be granted only where the amount advanced is sufficient to consolidate completely the farmer's existing liabilities. Under the Farmers' Arrangement Act the farmer who is paying in excess of 7 per cent. upon his mortgage may tender the mortgagee the principal and a bonus of one-quarter year's interest and compel the acceptance of this settlement, or in alternative, continuance of the mortgage at 5½ per cent. The credit of the Farmers' Loan Board will enable him to make this approach.

The Government will further loan to mortgage and insurance companies for one year amounts up to 25 per cent. of the face value of first mortgages, these mortgages to be passed on to the farmers for working capital requirements.

A FRIENDLY CRITIC.

The Toronto Star, a staunch supporter of the Hepburn Government, evidently believes that a real friend is one who does not hesitate to criticize when criticism may prove useful.

The Star has been viewing with evident alarm some of the recent dismissals made by the new administration, and declares with some force that "the suggestion that a subordinate should be punished for the policy of his Minister seems to us to be all wrong."

"The Hepburn Government," says the Star, "might consider whether it is not sometimes a little too quick with its trigger finger, shooting from the hip, point-blank, without aim as if firing were in itself an aim and an end worth while."

Then again, to the same effect, the Toronto paper says: "Some one ought soon to tell the Hepburn Government that the capture of a political city is a more heroic undertaking than the sack of it."

This warning is undoubtedly necessary, for while in its promised drive for economy the Government has done much for which it deserves credit, it has been guilty at the same time of some serious mistakes that on the face of them indicate too little consideration and too much haste in arriving at decisions.

All civil servants cannot be regarded as supernumeraries, everything that the last Government did was not wrong and every change need not necessarily be an improvement.

When such men as W. B. Roadhouse, for twenty-five years in the public service and a civil servant whose fidelity to his trust was never called into question, as the Star points out, are thrown out of jobs on what seems to be a mere pretext, then a protest from a friendly critic would seem to be desirable.

As the Star itself expresses it, "There has been courage in the way the Hepburn Government has tackled its job, but 'off with his head' is not in itself, we think, a sufficient philosophy on which to erect a better order of things."

WHEN DICKENS WAS A REPORTER.

The Times has been recalling events of 100 years ago, when Charles Dickens was a reporter in London. When readers of the Times-Journal realize that news of an important event on the other side of the ocean is published within a few seconds of happening, with an extended report appearing within half an hour or so, it is interesting to learn that the great London daily prided itself on the promptitude of its reports before the days of the telegraph, trains, steam printing, typewriters or the telephone. Its reports at home and abroad relied on a sort of "pony express" system, being told to spare no expense either as to the number or quality of the horses.

Referring to an important speech by Lord Durham at Glasgow in 1834, it is recorded the Times sent down to Glasgow two of its best parliamentary reporters; and in order, at the same time, to do all that could be done to get the report of Lord Durham's speech brought as speedily as possible to the Times office, relays of postmen and horses—there being no railways at the time—were stationed at convenient distances between Glasgow and London. The journey from Glasgow to London—400 miles—was performed at the rate of 15 miles an hour. The result was that the speech of Lord Durham appeared in the Times at full length a day before it otherwise could have done. The expenses amounted to £200; but the unprecedented achievement created a great sensation throughout the country.

During a by-election in Devonshire Dickens was up against the Times' hang-the-expense service, and made several journeys between Exeter and London, a distance of some 170 miles. On one occasion when they were approaching Honiton, about 16 miles on the way, Denison of the Times, who was more familiar than Dickens with the country and the way of innkeepers, told his postboy to run into the Golden Lion yard by the back way, knowing that a pair of horses would be ready harnessed in the yard, with the postboy waiting for a job. Denison reckoned that thus he would get possession of the horses before his colleague alighted and came in at the front door. So it proved; Denison got the horses and took the lead.

During this same by-election Dickens was more fortunate against his rival on another trip, for he chronicles that:

> "At the second stage the Times and I changed horses together; they had the start two or three minutes; I bribed the postboys tremendously and we came in literally neck and neck—the most beautiful sight I ever saw."

Charles Dickens was a zealous and able reporter on the Morning Chronicle, and in one of his writings states that probably no other reporter in England spent so much time rushing across country in post-chaises. In 1865 he told a newspapermen's banquet that:

> "I have often transcribed for the printer, from my shorthand notes, important public speeches in which the strictest accuracy was required, and a mistake in which would have been, to a young man, severely compromising, writing on the palm of my hand, by the light of a dark lantern, in a post-chaise and four, galloping through a wild country, and through the dead of the night, at the then surprising rate of fifteen miles an hour."

Through all the ages the reporter seems to be destined to be the Man Who is Always in a Hurry.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The air record from England to Australia, the railway record from Los Angeles to New York and the flying speed record have all been shattered this week. The world may be in bad shape, but, friends, she is certainly moving.

The price-spread probe goes on, and undoubtedly, to the disappointment of some people, Hon. H. H. Stevens will continue as chairman of the investigation.

The Ontario Marketing Board is passing out of the picture. It has been of help to the farmers of the province, but must suffer the fate of other services which have been wiped out in the new administration's economy drive.

Several Liberal members are complaining that private members of the Legislature are not being consulted by the Cabinet in the moves that are being made. There are times, however, when the public wonders if the members of the Cabinet even consult one another.

So long as there are incidents like the dismissal of P. D. Ross, of Ottawa, it will be a difficult task to convince the public that the Hydro has really been taken out of politics or politics taken out of the Hydro.

Up on the French River a prize has been awarded for the largest maskinonge of the season, a specimen weighing 31 pounds. Experienced St Lawrench lunge fishermen would sniff at such a minnow.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

Canadian exports to St. Pierre last month were valued at only $26,000, compared with $1,288,000 a year ago. The island must have adopted prohibition. —Woodstock Sentinel-Review.

JAPAN
Windows Into the Inner Life Of Japan

Our first look through a Japanese window is from the within of a school room. The school is Christian. It is a mission school. The children in the school seats are under thirteen years of age. Opening exercises are being conducted by the missionary. He has just now read the words of Jesus, "They that take the sword shall perish by the sword." On the school ground outside the school room young men with guns in their hands are responding to the raucous commands of the drill-master. They are very young men. Every student in Japan over thirteen years of age is required to take military training. Why? It is considered "spiritual." What is meant? What is the purpose? Japanese authorities do not purpose to make of these boys in their teens disciplined soldiers immediately. Purposed it is however that they shall catch the military spirit. A Christian conception has been degraded to express the military idea. The military spirit is spoken of as, "The holy spirit of the Japanese army."

The teacher in charge of the opening exercises that morning asked himself the question, "Does the saying of Jesus, 'I ask myself', have any more meaning in a Christian school than it does elsewhere?" The teacher in that school could not keep back and out of his consciousness a most searching question. "Have we made so complete an adjustment to our environment that our temperatures don't even rise when we come into contact with such a really fearful prophecy?"

Many nations feel secure when surrounded with the most up-to-date war weapon. This security sense is an illusion. There is no security behind war munitions. "They that take the sword shall perish with the sword." What do these words of Jesus mean? Do his words ever fail?

THE JEWS IN RUSSIA
The Biro-Bidjan Republic

Jews can dwell in safety in Moscow. Before the revolution they dare not. Pogroms were frequent. Whenever the Jews rose to prominence in the towns, or cities, pogroms scattered them to the ends of the earth. Hundreds of thousands of Jews were coldly murdered during the regime of the Czars. But now the Jews are safe in the Soviet Union. Formerly, rich business men and prominent literary authors were shining marks for the desperado who cared to kill. All that is now of the past.

Jews in Russia can boast of great living authors. Markish the poet is a Jew. His place is among the great. His poems are read by both Russian and Jew. Many of his compositions have reached the world reading public. Mikhail Goldony is both Jew and Russian. The Jewish race loves the drama. An operatta, The Witch, by Goldfarb, is classed as brilliant.

Will Russia become a home for Jewish refugees? That seems possible. Biro-Bidjan has become a homing place. On May 7, 1934, the Soviet government declared Biro-Bidjan an autonomous Jewish region. The Jews of the world have acclaimed that the next step will be for this region to become an autonomous Jewish Republic. That certainly heightens every day. A sense of safety has come over the Jews, already, there. A new gleam is in every face. Joy has taken the place of gloom. Two thousand years of sadness have left their mark on the whole Jewish race. Have you ever seen a perfectly happy Jew? At times he may smile and be jolly. Be with him day in and day out and you will find sadness such as you have never discovered elsewhere. No, I have never seen a Jew in the deeper self bright with joy. His inner life gives the impression of both anticipation and disappointment.

JAPAN
Psychoogy Of Our Schools

Somewhat as it is in Japan, so it is in the United States and in Canada. The public school is the product of peace. It came up out of the church. The church has never been an agency of war. Peace is the heart of the gospel. That is the reason why the gospel is good news. And yet the utmost effort of munitions-for-war advocates is made to perpetuate a psychology and a social order which are exactly antithetical to the purpose for which they exist.

The time now is for the people to neutralize the war sentiment in our public schools, and in other educational institutions, by the teaching of the New Testament ideals of peace. The danger in the present situation is that the war-minded and the war profiteers are determined to hold the schools in their hands with a power that is relentless and absolute. In Japan military training is required in every Christian school. The Japanese government demands that every Japanese child be given military training in every school whether Christian or otherwise. The church has no voice in the matter, military training is compulsory. The Japanese Government would close all schools daring to resist the order.

In the Toronto Globe of this morning is the story of the peril, and persecution of ministers and church members who have refused to bow to the dictatorial commands of Hitler thus to make the state supreme. Notable men of the pulpit and university in Germany chose to go to prison and death, if need be, rather than bow to Nazi paganism. In Japan the conditions are but little better. The militarization of Japanese youth is not a system initiated by the administrators. It was inaugurated by the army and navy and the National Japanese Board of Education. No protest was uttered by the Christians!

Wide Awakes Group Meets In Millbrook

MILLBROOK, Oct. 26. (Examiner Correspondence). — The Wide Awakes group Canadian Girls in Training met for its regular weekly gathering on Wednesday at 7.30 p.m., twelve members present, and the president, Beatrice McDowell, in the chair.

Business items discussed included the decision to have a "group scrap book" in which will be preserved poems, short stories, etc., which the members will be constantly on the lookout for as worthy a place in the book; such contributions will be read at the regular meetings and then pasted in the scrap-book. A second book for biographies will also be kept, and to this likewise members will bring contributions. Barbara Sisco and Bryan Edmunds were given charge of the two books, and also have the task of securing a suitable cover-piece for each.

The membership was divided into six groups under three convenors—Joan Deyell, Marjorie McDowell, and Jean Burnham—for the purpose of raising funds to meet the group's budget of thirty dollars, each leader to choose her own list of girls from group roll. Barbara Argue was appointed to present the current event at the next meetin which will be on Thursday, November 1, instead of Wednesday, owing to Hallowe'en falling on the latter date.

The invitation extended by Eleanor Bigelow for a group hike, and party on Saturday, October 27, was gratefully accepted, the girls to meet at the Waverly at 3.45 p.m. and proceed on the hike together, followed by supper in the open air. The devotional period, with a talk on "Three Cheers of the Bible" was followed by a sing-song from the C.G.I.T. song sheet, during the social hour at the close.

What's in The NAME

of Canadian Cities and Towns?

By FRANK H. WILLIAMS

MELITA, MANITOBA

First settlement of this town was effected in 1879 by homesteaders and by 1884 the residents became seized of the necessity of having a post-office. They decided on the nae Manchester, but postal officials refused to grant them the use of this name as there was already a place by that name in Canada.

A list of available names was enclosed in the letter of refusal and a meeting of citizens was called to select one from the list. Among others was the name Melita and one citizen drew attention to the fact that the Sunday School lesson of the previous Sunday referred to St. Paul having been shipwrecked on the island of Melita. This coincidence resulted in Melita being chosen as the name for the new town.

ALL OF US

(By Marshall Maslin.)

WE MAKE OUR OWN IMMUNITY

If you have a cold and come into my office and cough and sneeze and spread your germs around, I shall not make a great fuss and open the windows and shoo you out of the place in trembling and fear that I might catch your cold.

And I'll tell you why,

Because I know I'll not catch your cold. I never do. I walk through those cold germs as if they were harmless butterflies. They live in me, for all I know, without afflicting me....I sit in drafts. I get my feet wet. I eat what I shouldn't...But I don't catch colds! I'm immune. Somehow this body of mine has built up a resistance. Perhaps my blood has developed a serum. I may have phagocytes inside of me that leap triumphantly on any germ that invades me, and tears it to pieces.

I have nothing to do with my immunity. I'm not responsible. I cannot take credit for what happens.....My blood does this, despite of me. All I can do is to be grateful for my good fortune, for my resistance to those annoying persistent germs. And hope it will last.

Neither, I think, can a man fairly take all credit for his immunity to many other dangers. But if a man is honest, decent, fair-minded, abstaining from theft and violence and treachery of all kinds, the chances are great that he has in his own way built up his own immunity against these enemies of his happiness and security. He has refused time and again to yield to them and has created in his spirit a mysterious serum that protects him from disaster....He has abstained and conquered in little skirmishes with his more violent self and has gained strength to win greater victories with apparent ease. Men say of such men, "They are note tempted. They lack the stronger impulses and appetites against which we fight in vain."... And sometimes that may be true, but often I believe a man wins today because of what he did yesterday.

I repel a cold with effortless ease and hardly know I have won the victory....But I do not win those victories without scars and bruises and the knowledge that I have been in a battle.

ON THIS DATE

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

WHERE IS THE CHATEAUGUAY FLAG

On this date (October 26) in 1813 deSalaberry and a handful of raw militia saved Canada from aborption by the Americans. Historians have not laid stress upon the part played in this historic battle by the militia of Montreal, but now their lineal military descendants are claiming that it was the Montreal militia which "won the war."

No. 1 company, Montreal Militia, was placed by de Salaberry on the north side of the river. When the American light brigade forded the river it met with strong resistance. It first encountered Captain Daly's company of the 3rd Battalion Militia, but Daly, much outnumbered was unable to stop the invaders. He himself was wounded as were also all officers. Then deSalaberry ordered the Montreal militia under deTonnancourt to take over. This they did in "the most gallant fashion" and stood so firmly that in combination with deSalaberry's clever ruses General Hampton ordered a retreat and the American troops went home.

The battle was won. deSalaberry himself admitted that if the Montreal Militia had not held fast the Americans would have got behind his (deSalaberry's) position and made in untenable. Sir George Prevost, the commander in chief, who came up after the battle was over, and was so impressed with the bravery of the Montreal militia that he requested the Prince Regent to award colors to these battalions. The request was granted and in due course the colors came from England and were presented with due ceremony.

But they have disappeared, like the gold medal which was struck in London for the brave deSalaberry. No trace of either can be found and the descendants of the men who saved Canada at Chateauguay, mostly French with a few Scots, have to be content with the record of the printed page. Perhaps some day the colors will turn up in an unexpected place. Let's hope so anyway!

SAYS NEW STREAMLINE TRAIN RECORDS POSSIBLE

Mechanic States Motors Can Be Built With Four Times Power

NEW YORK, Oct. 26 (AP)—Take it from Charles Francis Kettering, who calls himself "just an automobile mechanic," Diesel-engined trains can be built whenever wanted with four times the power of the M-10001, which broke the transcontinental railroad record.

But, says the noted automotive engineer, the streamline train which rolled into New York yesterday could have:

Made the entire 57-hour trip from Los Angeles without refueling;

Come from Chicago to New York in 12 hours, instead of more than 17, and Started back within an hour on a breakneck, non-stop run to the Pacific Coast.

The M-10001 has a 900-horsepower, 12-cylinder, V-type Diesel engine.

Hogsett got the first cock bird and Bridges the second when the "open" season on pheasants started this morning.

The ball players were in the same party with Fred Munson, Detroit, George Jaquemain, Ray Hooper and Vern Degeer, sports editor of the Border Cities Star. All but Mr. Jaquemain attained their quota of four birds and were the first to arrive back at the island's only hotel.

Director of Estimates and Assistant Secretary to the Treasury Board, and R. B. Viets, Solicitor to the Treasury.

Dr. Clark and Mr. Viets were named chairman and secretary respectively of the Provincial Directorate. The latter body will remain in office until replaced by the directors duly elected by the shareholders and will serve without remuneration.

Discuss Organization

At yesterday's meeting discussions centred on matters of organization, relating chiefly to arrangements to be made for carrying out the provisions of the act and the by-laws in regard to nomination of directors.

In a statement issued today, the minister said:

"The date (Jan. 23, 1935) selected was based primarily on the requirement that shareholders in order to vote at such meetings must have stock registered in their names for at least three months before the date of the meeting.

"The board authorized the immediate issuance of nomination papers to all shareholders. These nomination papers must be returned to the bank not later than Dec. 5.

A covering letter will be sent to all shareholders explaining in simple terms the procedure governing nominations and the shareholders in making eligibility of directors. To assist shareholders in making nominations a list of all persons to whom shares were allotted as a result of the original offering of stock will be sent to all shareholders. It is the intention to make provision shortly for the issue of interim stock certificates which will be transferable on the books of the bank."

Perdue said in part, "We would like to express to Mr. Goodnough, and through him to the management of our company, our sincere thanks for the honor shown us by remembering our long service in such a thoughtful manner.

These beautiful service buttons we have received are but another proof of the harmony or personal feeling that has always existed between all members of the Quaker Family, from the president all down the line to the humblest employee; something not always found in large corporations.

These buttons we will surely cherish and they will always remind us of pleasant associations together and mutual co-operation in our undertakings and efforts in our company's interest.

We older members at this plant have seen many changes, many come and go, and from our experience if we had a message to pass on to beginners we would say "Make the company your company. Do your work as you would have it done. Be loyal to your company and its products in season and out." When your time comes to sit around a banquet table as we have here to-night, to celebrate a quarter century of continuous service you will have a feeling of duty well done, service appreciated and a prosperity from your labors not always found elsewhere.

I hope that 25 years hence we will again meet here to celebrate another quarter century of membership in the Quaker Family."

Another former member of the Peterborough organization, Mr. P. M. McCarrell, now superintendent at Saskatoon, will receive his service button this week also. It was forwarded to him by mail yesterday by Mr. Goodnough.

ENO'S "FRUIT SALT"

Brings inner cleanliness and clear complexion

His Reward

JOLIET, Ill., Oct. 26 (CP)—The man who walked 2,000 miles so he could go to jail is free today.

More than a year ago, Admiral Walker wrote Joliet Penitentiary authorities from California that he wanted to serve his term for the slaying of two men in a card game there several years before.

The Joliet police chief replied that it would be too expensive to send for Walker, promising him a term if he would come back. Walker returned under his own power, and entered the prison.

To-day he enjoyed liberty again; freed on parole.

MORALE OF GIRLS MUST BE KEPT UP

Girls Are Becoming Graver Than Those of Ten Years Ago.

"Girls are becoming graver than those of ten years back," declared Mrs. Percival Foster, Field Secretary of the Y.W.C.A., in an interview with the Peterborough Examiner today. "They are bewildered by the baffling problems they must face daily, and they inwardly rebel against the times.

"The average girl feels that she is not needed at home; there appears to be no niche for her in the business or industrial world, for jobs are still terribly scarce; she has too much time on her hands, and 'no place to go.' Her young spirit naturally rebels against the aimlessness of life and she has the conviction that 'all is not right with the world'—however poets may rave.

"The task of the Y.W.C.A. today is to keep up the morale of girls," said Mrs. Foster. "They are the most precious things we've got so we strive through our different departments to adjust them to present-day conditions, to fit them more adequately for jobs during their enforced leisure and to encourage them to participate in all wholesome sport and recreation available in the community. Fun, laughter and 'good times' are the rightful heritage of youth surely.

"Our aim is to develop an all-round girl—strong, independent and dependable. To every girl the Y.W.C.A. says 'know yourself, know your community, know the world in which you live so that you may intelligently play a worthy part with other girls round the world in ushering in a new social order with justice and equality of opportunity as its corner stone'."

In Peterborough, as in other local Associations across Canada, there has been greater emphasis during the past year on Adult Education. The classes in Health, Arts and Crafts, Music, Dramatics and Public Affairs have increased in numbers and interest, and our Social Welfare work, including case work, family adjustments and employment services, has grown by leaps and bounds.

The Canadian Y.W.C.A. has laid great emphasis on the following: development of leadership through conferences, and training and refresher courses; co-operation with other agencies realizing that only by collective action can results be achieved; promotion of public affairs, programs including studies of minimum wage laws, proper hours and conditions for women and girls in industry; and a determined effort to arouse women and girls everywhere to a sense of their responsibility in maintaining international peace.

"It is true we are living (and suffering) in a man-made world. Is it not high time that women aligned themselves with men in a combined effort to bring order and security out of chaos — to build a better world motivated by Christian ideals of duty to God and to one's neighbor?"

Princess Attempts Save Royal Theatre

YORK, England, Oct. 24 (C.P.).—Much interest is being taken by Princess Mary in the effort of York citizens to save their Theatre Royal from following so many others and being converted into a picture-house. The Princess Royal has demonstrated her sympathy with the proposal to run it mostly for the sake of dramatic art and in no sense as a purely commercial proposition.

In company of Princess Helena Victoria and her Lady-in-Waiting, Miss Dorothy Yorke, Princess Mary recently witnessed the opening performance of "Richard of Bordeaux" in the theatre

The city took advantage of the occasion to perpetuate an interesting ancient privilege As the royal party ascended the stairs to the royal box it was preceded by the Mansion House butler wearing his Cap of Maintenance, the original of which was presented to the city in 1396. There was a peculiar coincidence in this, inasmuch as the Richard of the play, Richard II., presented the city not only with his Cap of Maintenance and its Sword of State, but also with the dignity of a lord mayoralty.

B. N. A. ACT TO BE MODERNIZED AFTER 67 YEARS

Provinces and Federal Government Face Six Major Problems.

BE HELD IN CAMERA.

Present Drive For Reform Owes Its Existence to Depression.

By WILFRID EGGLESTON
Centrall Press Canadain Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Oct. 23.—In this 1934 wonder-world of aeroplanes, radio communication, automobiles and wireless telephony Canada is still using her early Victorian model of constitution, the British North America Act, 1867.

Constitutions are like the laws of the Medes and Persians, and it has taken Canadians many years to overcome their awe of the "Fathers of Confederation" who framed the existing constitution.

But now, in a few weeks, the representatives of nine provinces and the federal government will gather in historic assembly at Ottawa to consider the re-modelling of the B. N.A. act in accordance with 1934 ideas.

While they are at it, our statesmen will also see if they can't remedy a flaw which the "Father of Confederation" permitted in the famous document they drafted. Unlike any other self-governing country in the world, Canada cannot amend her own constitution.

The B.N.A. act is a British statute, and the only place under the present scheme of things where it can be changed is in the British parliament at Westminster.

The Ottawa conference will probably change all that.

Now that Canada has attained the status, under the Act of Westminster, of a member of the British Commonwealth of Nations on the same footing as all the others, some machinery is bound to be devised by which her constitution can be revised without application even to the Mother Country. At least that is the view of the more advanced constitutional authorities here.

To Be Held In Camera

The Ottawa conference to be held before the end of the year will be more notable for its significance than for its popular appeal. It will be held in camera and the effect of its deliberations may take some time to get abroad. The very word "constitutional" frightens away many newspaper readers, and the authorities themselves have always succeeded in wrapping up in deep fog the whole matter.

In simple terms of the house and the street, this conference will take a crack at the following six problems:

1. How can double or duplicate taxation be avided in future—such as a provincial as well as a Dominion income tax? Can a basis be worked out by which the Dominion keeps itself to one field of taxation and the provinces to another?

2. How much do the provinces want to surrender to the Dominion government any rights they possess or think they possess over such social legislation as old age pensions, unemployment insurance, hours and wages?

3. Should the British North America act be re-written in the passages which deal with health and agriculture, so that instead of the present duplication between federal and provincial governments, each knows what the other is going to do, and keeps to its own field?

4. Can the dominion and provinces come to some agreement so that they carry out their research work in future in such a way as to eliminate expensive duplication?

5. In what way can the Dominion and provinces co-ordinate their machinery for the gathering of statistics?

6. What form should amendments to the British North America act take, and how should they be undertaken?

Machine Imperfect

The present drive for reform of the constitution owes its very existence to the depression. The past four years have shown how imperfectly the existing machinery works in a crisis. The Stevens revelations into sweat-shop conditions and exploitation of various kinds remind people that while the federal government can uncover these abuses, there is some doubt as to whether they have any power to correct them.

Similarly, the federal combines investigation machinery can lay bare monopolies and restraints of trade, but once they are disclosed, the federal government is powerless. All Ottawa can do is to pass along the information, and hope that the provincial attorney'sgeneral will prosecute the offenders.

When it comes to a discussion of amendments to the British North America Act, it will nearly all focus on two sections, namely, 91 and 92. The others, for the most part, are not the subject of any controversy or difference of opinion.

Section 91 says what matters are to be governed by the Ottawa or federal government.

Section 92 indicates the exclusive field of the provinces.

The Stevens inquiry illustrates how one section of the first of these seems to clash with a section of the second.

In the first, the federal government is given exclusive power to deal with "trade and commerce."

But in the second the provincial governments have exclusive rights over "civil and property rights" within the province.

Provinces Lean on Government

The Stevens inquiry will probably end up with a federal commission to regulate trade and eradicate the abuses in wages and working conditions.

Under Section 91 the Ottawa supporters of the measure will say that the federal trade commission is for the regulation of trade and commerce, and is therefore a federal matter.

Opponents will retort that it is obviously an attempt to control civil and property rights, and is therefore an infringement of provincial rights.

For a long time the Privy Council decisions seemed to favor the province in every dispute which came up between Ottawa and the provinces, but recently the tide has set in the other way.

Since the depression set in the provinces have had to lean quite heavily on the federal government for financial support, and this has been a factor in the change of attitude.

One snag the Ottawa conference has to get over some way is the theory someone developed a few years ago that the original constitution was an agreement between the various provinces, and that therefore it cannot be amended without the consent of all.

Such a view, according to the savants at Ottawa, would make effective revision of the constitution forever impossible, and it will have to be abandoned.

Labor Takes Tory Seat At Swindon

SWINDON, England, Oct. 26 (CP Cable).—The Labor Party scored its second capture of a traditional Conservative seat since the general elections to-day, when Dr. Christopher Addison, former Labor Minister of Agriculture, was elected in the Swindon by-election by a small majority over W. W. Wakefield, Conservative.

The vote was 20,902 for the Labor man and 18,253 for the Conservative, a majority of 2,649. In the last general elections Sir Reginald Mitchell-Banks, Conservative, who was recently elevated to the bench, polled a majority of 4,794 over Dr. Addison.

Addison held the Swindon seat for Labor from 1929 to 1931, but Swindon is traditionally Conservative, like East Fulham which Labor captured last year. In addition, Labor has recovered six seats lost to Conservatives in the general elections. Thirty-eight other by-elections since the general elections have resulted in no change.

Charles W. Irons Most Interesting Visitor to Peterborough.

DELIGHTS IN TRAVEL.

An interesting visitor to Peterborough this week was Charles W. Irons who left the city to-day en route to Boston where he embarks early next month for Bermuda for a brief stay before returning to his home in Northampton, England.

Mr. Irons, who is seventy-five years of age visited here with Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Piper, renewing a friendship that began twelve years ago with a chance meeting in a railway carriage at Crewe—one of the largest junctions in the world on the London, Midland and Scottish Railway.

The old gentleman who is just concluding one of his many trips across Canada, is not only an ardent amateur photographer, but an enthusiastic world traveller. In all his visits across Canada and other parts of the world Mr. Irons seeks out Northampton people, to carry to them a real message of happiness, in stories of their old "home" city.

He is an active man, who radiates energy and vigor, and he has enjoyed a remarkable freedom from illness of any kind that would bring envy to men many years younger.

When at home, Mr. Irons is a travelling boot salesman, a trade in which he has spent a lifetime. "I have been in the boot trade for 65 years, starting in as a lad of eight years of age. I started as a rivetting boy. I used to make children's shoes in my boyhood days and was paid the magnificent sum of 'tuppence ha'penny per pair. Times have changed since then. Sure we're much better off now than when I was an apprentice in the business, but that is besides the question. What I want to do right now is to get some photographs around this locality to add to my collection."

He takes photographs wherever he goes, and he has a wonderful collection, marked by an artistic appreciation of picture value that enhances the beauty of the pictures.

Nine years ago he undertook the longest and most ambitious of his trips, when he covered, 35,000 miles and visited many parts of the far flung British Empire. He has crossed Canada five times, and among other countries he has visited are included the United States, Alaska, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, Norway, Denmark and Switzerland.

He has other hobbies besides travelling and photography, among them being cycling and skating. He clings to both sports with all the enthusiasm of one who never grows old.

McADOO MARRIAGE PLANS POSTPONED

U. S. Senator Would Disinherit Daughter if She Marries Actor.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Marriage plans of Ellen McAdoo have been "postponed for the present," the 19-year-old daughter of Senator William Gibbs MacAdoo said today after a spokesman for her father announced she would be disinherited if she married Rafael Lopez de Onate, actor.

"We are not going to get married right away," said Miss MacAdoo. "But that does not mean we have given up hope or that either of us is backing out."

County Clerk D. G. Clayton of Riverside county reiterated he would not grant a license to Miss MacAdoo and De Onate until the 38-year-old actor proves conclusively he is Spanish and not a Filipino.

De Onate, who was born in the Philippine Islands, indignantly denied there is Filipino blood in his veins. Both his parents, he said, Basques. California law forbids marriage between Caucasians and Orientals.

SQUIRREL TRICKS

CHICAGO, Oct. 26 (CP)—Professor Ott F. Bond of the University of Chicago puzzled over something of a mystery.

Four mornings in succession he found the telephone wire in his office severed. Then came the solution—he found one of the campus squirrels chewing on the wire.

- Surprise Soap always does a thorough washing. The rich, penetrating lather foams up easily and quickly, yet the gentle suds are so pure and mild that the most delicate garment cannot possibly come to any harm.
- Dainty fabrics and exquisite colours are always safe with Surprise Soap because it washes so quickly and with so little rubbing. And this helps clothes to last longer, too, for this easy washing keeps them shapely and unfaded.

"Quality First" was the policy adopted when the first bar of Surprise Soap was made in St. Stephen, N.B., 49 years ago. This policy has never been altered and the quality has improved with advancing knowledge, keeping pace with modern requirements.

EXTOLS BRAVERY OF FRENCHWOMAN

Madame Lebrun Performed Act of Courage World Will

WINDSOR, Ont., Oct. 26 (C.P.).—"Brave Madame Lebrun". The Border Cities Star uses this caption in speaking of the wife of the president of France, who has gained for herself a place in history.

"Pinch hitting for Queen Marie of Yugoslavia, Madame Lebrun rode through the streets of Paris offering herself as a target to any potential assassin with designs on the widow of the murdered King Alexander. While Queen Marie was smuggled from a train and taken quickly by a back route to the Jugoslavian Legation in the French capital, Madame Lebrun pulled her heavy veil closely about her face, set her lips and steeled her heart for the formal drive from the station to the Legation.

"As spectators bowed and paid her compliments thinking she was Queen Marie, Madame Lebrun must have been in a high state of nervous tension. The French thought other terrorists might be out to get the Queen. Proud of her France and willing to sacrifice herself, Madame Lebrun volunteered to pose as Marie and ride through the streets. She offered herself as a hostage.

"It was an act of courage the world will not soon forget. A brave woman is always appreciated by a populace which admires anyone who will face danger with a smile."

Scoop That Failed

Picture story of what happened when six men flew 600 miles to sea to meet liner Washington in an attempt to bring in the first newreels of the assassination of King Alexander of Jugoslavia. Five of the six were rescued after the aeroplane was overturned by a giant wave as it came down to pick up the pictures.

First Prize In Great Air Derby

Here is the gold cup that will be presented to the winners of the England to Australia air race, along with a cash prize of $50,000. The prizes are presentations of Sir Mac pherson Robertson of Melbourne, Australia.

The Youthful King Of Jugoslavia And The Royal Family

Uneasy lies the head that wears the crown! The king of Jugoslavia is dead, felled by an assassin's bullet; the crown thus passes to an 11-year-old youth, Crown Prince Peter. A regency will, of course, be elected to administer the law in the troubled nation. The young king is shown (RIGHT). He is now in the same position as his youthful cousin, King Michael of Roumania. The other photo shows the family of the late king. LEFT to RIGHT: Queen Marie (daughter of Queen Marie of Roumania); Prince Peter (now II), Prince Tomislav and Prince Andreja. The future of the royal family is uncertain, clouded as it is with threats of disorder in their own country, and complications in the international scene as a direct result of the assassination, which also took the life of Louis Barthou, French foreign minister. Prince Paul, uncle of King Alexander, has been named one of the regents. The above photos are the most recent taken.

Assassin's Assignment Is Rewarded By Death

Beaten to death by Marseilles police and a mob, the body of Petrus Kalemen, assassin of King Alexander of Jugoslavia and France's Foreign Minister Louis Barthou, is shown stretched on the sidewalk near the automobile in which the king and minister were mortally wounded.

Wind Blows Curls Forward

Some of the new season's coiffures.

RINGLETS ARE NOW POSED HIGH ON FOREHEAD IN BANGS OR SWIRLS, BOBS SHORTER BEHIND OR LONG ENOUGH TO PIN UP

(Courtesy Harper's Bazaar)

TURN LAST year's coiffure back to front, and you have the very latest fashion, it seems.

The wind-blown curls are wafted forward instead of backward, the wind having shifted from front to back.

If you have been wearing curls covering the back of your head, just transpose them to the top and you'll be all set. They'll sit there proudly in the form of bangs, or, if your face won't stand bangs, in swirls or fluffs.

The hair at the back o the head starts very flat. Short hair is cut shorter. Long hair is allowed to grow so that you have ends long enough to pin in place with barrettes or clips.

Curls which do not get quite to the brow are clipped in a pile, so to speak, Recamier-like, at the top of the head.

Tiaras are out, but you see an occasional fillet on heads dressed for medieval clothes.

Six Lives Snuffed Out As Blast Wrecks Halifax Home

Six lives were snuffed out when a mysterious blast wrecked this home in Halifax. Police are at a loss to account for the explosion which killed two mothers and four children. The owner of the home is being questioned by police, but to date no clue has been forthcoming as to what caused the tragedy. The above scenes show the wreckage and firemen fighting the blaze.

Stripes In Gay Hues

Printed velveteen is comparatively new, and may be very colorful. The evening frock pictured is gay in bright regimental stripes. The high-cut neck, extended shoulders and peg top skirt, which trails slightly, are important fashion details. The belt is solid color.

Plan Flight Australia To U.S.

Becomes a Power In Jugoslavia

Princess Paul, an attractive social favorite in Europe, who comes into the political spotlight now that her husband, Prince Paul, has been appointed one of the three regents who will guide little King Peter II, aged 11, of Jugoslavia, until he takes the sceptre in his own right.

Canadian Wilds Too Tough For Elaborate Expedition

Plodding a weary trail back to Hudson's Hope, through the wilds of northern British Columbia, the elaborate expedition of Chas. E. Bedaux admitted failure in their attempt to find a new north trail across the Rocky Mountains. The expedition was forced to halt 200 miles from their destination, Telegraph Creek. Hoof disease which took its toll of the 120 horses, and an outbreak of accidents to their tractors, held back the party. Bedaux, however, says he will try again. The expedition is now returning to Edmonton. The layout shows (UPPER LEFT) Mrs. Charles Bedaux who was accompanied by Mme. Alberta Chiesa (LOWER LEFT). Bedaux is shown (RIGHT) and again in one of his tractors at top. Map shows route and point where party forced to stop.

VIOLENT PAST OF HIS FAMILY FORBODES UNHAPPY LIFE FOR YUGOSLAVIA'S KING

Karageorgevitch Line of Kings Always Meet Bloody Ends.

PRINCE A MURDERER

[The gloomy future with which Peter II, the boy king of Jugoslavia is faced, is dramatically pictured by a world traveller and authority on Balkan affairs in a special dispatch written for Central Press Canadian and The Examiner].

By JOHN O. CAHILL
(Central Press Canadian Writer)

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—On a hot July night a little more than 117 years ago, a band of cut-throats sulked through the musty corridors of Castle Brankovitch at Semendria on the Danube.

They entered a vaulted stone chamber and crept close to the bed where lay a huge and fearsome black-bearded figure. The leader of the invading party raised a sharp scimitar, its shining blade emblazoned with mystic symols in the Cyrillic alphabet, and brought it down on the neck of the sleeping man.

The shaggy head of Kara George Petrovitch, "Black George" the first independent ruler of Serbia, thumped to the floor, and a moment later triumphant horsemen sped across hill and valley to Belgrade, carrying their bloody prize with them.

Was Peasant Born

That was the end of Kara George, and the beginning of the endless series of barbarous assassinations which have splattered with blood the throne to which 11-year-old Peter II, direct descendant of the illiterate peasant's son who freed Servia from Turkish domination, now ascends.

Kara George founded his dynasty in a bath of Turkish gore and lost his throne in another. Since his appearance on the scene at the beginning of the nineteenth century, the crown has jockeyed back and forth between his descendants, all called Karageorevitch (son of "Black George") and those of Milosh Obrenovitch, a former underling who succeeded him when the original boss of the country surrendered power rather than disarm his nation.

Since that night when Kara George lost his head in the pretty Danubian town whose other chief claim to fame is that its vineyards were the first to produce the world-famed Tokay wine, not one of his descendants has died a natural death while a reigning monarch. Few of the Obrenovitches, for that matter, have escaped the violent death which Serbia apparently has set aside for its rulers.

Seized Throne at 17

The little King Peter's own father, and with him the Kara-Georges, won the throne by the most brutal and frightful slaughter in recent history. Alexander, murdered at Marseilles, became heir to the thone when his father, Peter I, was chosen as king following the murder of King AlexanderObrenovitch and his consort, Queen Draga.

Obrenovitch, a brilliant ruler and a shrewd political strategist, ascended the throne under a regency at the age of 13, upon the abdication of his father, King Milan. Alexander was supposed to attain his majority at 18, but one year short of this age, he staged a dramatic coup d'etat, dissolving his cabinet and dismissing his court, and set himself up as absolute monarch.

His action won immediate popular support, and for seven years he reigned happily and wisely. But in 1900 he took as his wife Draga Mashin, a widow and a former lady-in-waiting to Queen Natalie, his mother, and the country turned against him when rumors spread he planned to name one of her unpopular brothers heir apparent.

Plots and conspiracies stewed and simmered against him, but he resisted them successfully for three years. The curse of the Serbian throne was upon him, however, and in June of 1903 a group of army officers, headed by Queen Draga's brother-in-law, entered the royal palace.

Murdered in Bedroom

Alexander and Draga were alone in their bedchamber. They had returned from a state ball only a short while before, and when the assassins broke into the damask-walled room, the king was still in uniform and Draga was partly undressed.

With demoniac fury, the officers slew them with sabres, and, flinging their dead bodies across the bed, hacked and mutilated them until blood covered the chamber from wall to wall. Then Alexander's corpse was hurled from the third-floor window to the garden below, where it was further mistreated and left unrecognizable in its blood for hours. A gardener, risking his on life to pay a last tribute to his royal master, covered it with a burlap sacking. The body of the queen, with a sheer yellow stocking still on one of her legs, was almost dismembered and left to the none too tender mercies of those who carried it to an unhallowed grave.

Less horrible but as effective was the effacement of Michael Obrenovitch, assassinated in 1868 by factions who opposed his regime. Thus four, including the late King Alexander, of the rulers of Serbia have been murdered on the throne. One was overthrown by revolution. Another was forced to abdicate by vote of parliament.

Nor are assassinations the only stains upon the escutcheon of the ancient nation now known as Jugoslavia. The late King Alexander's own elder brother, who should have succeeded to the throne is imprisoned at the royal palace at Nish, a veritable "man in the iron mask," deprived of his throne by his own ungovernable temper which caused his father to have him incarcerated as a madman.

Prince a Murderer

This Prince George Karageorgevitch, uncle of the present King Peter, in a fit of terrible rage, administered a blow to a servant which sent the fellow tumbling down a flight of stairs, inflicting injuries which later caused his death. A similar incident a few years later, which fortunately did not result fatally, resulted in his incarceration.

Thus there can be no more joy in the life of little Peter. What lies ahead of him is preparation for governing the most conglomerate and unruly of the world's countries. As he grows older and becomes better acquainted with the history of his country and of his family, it is inevitable that forebodings of a dreadful fate will haunt him.

The past haunts the future of Peter II.

BRACKEN PLANS REHABILITATION IN DROUGHT AREA

Would See Farmers Settled on Real Agricultural Land.

FOUR-FOLD PROGRAM.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 26.—(CP)—Approval of a plan to rehabilitate the dried-out area of the western prairies was forthcoming today from government heads of British Columbia and Saskatchewan. A 4-fold program to alleviate drought conditions in the west was outlined by Premier John Bracken of Manitoba here, Thursday.

Premier T. D. Pattullo, of British Columbia, said his government was heartily in sympathy with the proposals. The plan, to be discussed at the forthcoming Dominion-Provincial conference, provides for the setting up of a central coordinating body by the Dominion government to direct reclamation of drought areas, reclamation of farms, moisture conservation and land development.

"I am told that some farmers have settled on land that should be classified as grazing land," Premier Pattullo said. "We must recognize farming as a basic industry. Many farmers if settled on real agricultural land would at least be able to keep off relief and be glad of it.

"Where good agricultural land has been mined instead of farmed, I believe it is the duty of the Dominion government, in co-operation with every provincial government, to see that the worked-out land is resuscitated. The government of British Columbia will lend its closest co-operation in any scheme that will result in farm land being farmed scientifically and grazing land set aside for "stock raising."

Premier J. G. Gardiner, of Saskatchewan, expressed the opinion Mr. Bracken's policy "as far as outlined, is very sound. It appears to be a very reasonable program." He preferred to give the proposals closer study, however, before commenting at length.

LLOYD GEORGE ATTACKS HAIG

which would have prevented the futile destruction.

Gambled and Lost

After promising there would be no heavy losses, Haig gambled on the chance that the Germans would break rather than confess his failure to the politicians who had deposed Sir John French for a less stupendous error of judgment at Loos, says Lloyd George.

(At Loos in 1915 no ground was gained, but the British suffered heavy glosses).

Lloyd George says that Haig should have been relieved of General Command early in 1918 because he was inadequate for his gigantic task.

He said, however, there were no more efficient substitutes available but that since the war he has been told by men whose judgment he values, that the only soldier on the British side possessing the necessary qualities was a Dominion General, whom he does not identify except to say he was a civilian soldier at the outbreak of the war.

This led to considerable speculation to-day, when it was recalled that Smuts, as brilliant a soldier as he was a statesman, was a civilian soldier in 1914; so was General Sir Arthur Currier, Commander of the Canadian Corps, who died recently.

Who Was Steve Brodie? Lawyer Asks; Purchaser Took Chance on Bond

Steve Brodie, Brooklyn's dare-devil of the Gay Nineties, is dead, but his fame lives on. His name popped up unexpectedly, and went into the official court records during evidence-taking in the Supreme Court sitting here just yesterday.

The witness in the box was telling of a purchaser's decision to buy some bonds. The purchaser said he would "take a Stev Brodie" on $1,000 worth of the bonds, the witness related.

"What did he mean by that?" asked the cross-examining lawyer. "Who was Steve Brodie?"

"I don't know. I think he meant he'd take a chance."

"Come, come, gentlemen!" interposed Justice Kingstone, on the bench. "That's a common expression. Don't you know who Steve Brodie was?"

"He jumped off Brooklyn Bridge, didn't he?" the witness offered.

"I didn't know who he was until I asked," the cross-examiner said. "I know a Steve Brodie, but he doesn't take any chances."

Beggars

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 26. Louis and Joseph Drainhaus, street mendicants, don't mind being arrested so much—but they want to be dignified.

They protested yesterday when Detective Miller seized them and wanted to take them away in an ordinary patrol wagon.

Instead, Louis called a taxi. And Miller says that Louis not only paid the fare but he gave the driver a tip when the party arrived at the police station.

Miller says the beggar-brothers use taxicabs daily. Joseph, 32, is an invalid, wears dark glasses, and is pushed about on a wheelchair by Louis.

Detectives took Joseph to a hospital to determine whether he is blind. Louis was held for a hearing.

Y'S MEN HEAR REV. BLACKBURN

Northern Ontario, Especially Moose Factory Area, is Described.

GREAT POSSIBILITIES.

The Y's Men's Club met last evening in the dining hall at thea Y.M.C.A., with the Rev. Mr. Blackburn as guest speaker.

Mr. Blackburn gave the club an interesting talk on his work at Moose Factory, where he has been stationed for over four years as a missionary of the Anglican Church. Besides performing the services of a missionary preaching the Gospel, he was also school principal—at a school of over 100 Indian boys and girls, and the community dentist and doctor.

When he went into the north in 1930, the railway extended only to Island Falls, fifty miles north of Cochrane and the remaining 150 miles, through the wilderness could only be negotiated by canoe in the summer months and by dog sled in the winter time. Freight arrived into the missionary post once a year, coming in 3,000 miles around Hudson Strait from Montreal.

Almost the entire population of the district is composed of Indians. Moose Factory is an island at the mouth of the Moose River with an area of two square miles and is so situated that a clear view may be obtained in all directions. It was a trading post back in the seventeenth century and has changed hands with the British and French a number of times.

The country has great possibilities, Mr. Blackburn believed, especially in lumbering, mining, fishing and agriculture. He told of transacting over $4,000 worth of business in a year, and not using a cent of money.

It was part of his work to see that the settlement was properly provided for in regard to food and many anxious times were had when the fishing was bad, or the caribou and moose did not migrate as expected.

Last year the railway was extended to Moosonee on James' Bay and Mr. Blackburn with his family came out to Cochrane at a cost of $15 in sharp contrast to the $400 it had cost them to get in by dog sled and canoe.

On behalf of the club, Roy Lewis thanked Mr. Blackburn for his very interesting talk.

THAT DEPRESSED FEELING IS LARGELY LIVER

Wake up your Liver Bile —Without Calomel

You are "feeling punk" simply because your liver isn't pouring its daily two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels. Digestion and elimination are both hampered, and your entire system is being poisoned.

What you need is a liver stimulant. Something that goes farther than salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum or roughage which only move the bowels—ignoring the real cause of trouble, your liver.

Take Carter's Little Liver Pills. Purely vegetable. No harsh calomel (mercury). Safe. Sure. Ask for them by name. Refuse substitutes. 25c. at all druggists. 63

FINED FIVE CENTS FOR GRAPES THEFT

But This Was a Dancing Festival and Magistrate Had a Busy Time.

BLENHEIM, Ont., Oct. 26 (C.P.).—A New Canadian night was arranged recently by the Blenheim Rotary Club. Modern and old-time dancing was enjoyed for the earlier part of the evening, then an European grape harvest dance was staged. The dance floor was covered over by hanging grape vines with bunches of grapes ond apples within reach of the dancers.

Dancing during the grape harvest was free, but those who danced stole the grapes and other fruit. Wherever one was caught stealing they were fined five cents. A full dressed policeman was in one corner of the floor acting as magistrate and he handed out many a fine during the dance, the thieves being brought to him by his squad of plain-clothes men, who were stationed around the edge of the floor. A large sum was netted for the Rotarians due to the finest imposed on the dancing thieves.

The crowd was cleared off to make way for a special Czechoslovakian folk dance, the "Beseda," put on in the native colored costume of the romantic Slavic people by eight expert dancers. An eight-piece Czechoslovakian band from Windsor attended. These dancers were all from the district surrounding Blenheim and Chatham.

Men and women were dressed in the colorful native costumes of their homeland, the ladies wearing hoop-like dresses with tight fitting waists and a kerchief over their head. The men had high leather boots, bulging knicker trousers, white blouses and vests with full sleeves. The dance was a brilliant spectacle.

Costumes were worn to represent Belgium, Holland, Bohemia, Czechoslovakia, Poland, Russia and other European countries.

ENOUGH OF GIRLS BOLEZCZUK SAYS AS HE IS FREED

big truck in front of the Court House. Running across the street, she dodged a west-bound automobile, and didn't notice the big truck. Its fender brushed her dress as she jumped back from the path of the van whose hydraulic brakes stopped it in half a length with a grinding noise that attracted the dispersing crowd.

Judge's Remarks

Addressing the jury after they had been recalled Mr. Justice Jeffrey said: "A motion by defence counsel has been considered while you were out that the case should be taken from you on the ground that there is not sufficient evidence on which you could safely convict. I have come to the conclusion that there is not sufficient evidence on which you could safely convict this man. I cannot take the case from your hands. It is your duty to try him, but I may advise you that there is no evidence directly connecting the accused with the killing of Rogouski.

This being a murder case, I may properly, with your consent, endorse a verdict of not guilty."

Point by point, His Lordship dealt with the Crown's evidence. He said that witnesses had testified that the accused and Rogouski had been on friendly terms. As to the movements of Bolejczuk about the time the murder was believed to have been committed, the Saranhuks had sworn that the accused had supper with them and operated the cream separator at about that exact time.

"The girl Patsie was called for the purpose of testifying that the accused had promised to buy her new shoes if she would not tell that she had been talking to him on Sunday afternoon. He had been denied the Romanic house because he had seduced the girl Olive, and he had been told that the parents did not want the girls to talk to him any more. Patsie said he offered the shoes if she would not tell that she had been talking to him, and not that she had seen him in the neighborhood of the swamp where the body was afterwards found.

There has been a great deal of evidence about him having been seen in that neighborhood, such as when he was picking berries when the girl spoke to him, and later in the afternoon. But, after all, that was his neighborhood because he was staying with the Saranhuks. It was not as if he were a stranger lurking about the place.

Evidence was given about a piece of rope found in the swamp, and again that was not connected with the prisoner. Then there was the $20 bill. If it had been identified as the property of the deceased that would be an entirely different matter, but it was just a $20 bill which the accused passed at Mrs. McMahon's store in Pontypool. But, was it the same $20 bill which the deceased man had?"

Mr. Richardson—The evidence was that Rogouski got the $20 bill in April, but there was no evidence whatever that he had it the day of his death.

His Lordship—There is no doubt Rogouski was killed and robbed, but how can we connect the accused with that crime. A lot of work has been done on this case, and maybe the half has not been told.

Mr. Peck—Probably not, My Lord.

His Lordship—In a case of this kind the prisoner is presumed to be innocent. I cannot see any evidence against this man at all.

His Lordship said that the police had done all they could, but possibly some witnesses had not told all they might know.

Prisoner Discharged

To Bolejczuk, Mr. Justice Jeffrey said, in part: "You have been given a fair trial. The jury has found you not guilty of this offense. There is no evidence at all on which they could safely say you were guilty. You are a foreigner. You have been in this country six or seven years, long enough to appreciate that we have laws which must be obeyed, and it was because the Crown authorities had come to the conclusion that you had taken a human life that you were placed on trial.

I trust that from this time on you will have respect for the law, and also appreciate our high regard for the administration of justice, for though the law is vigilant in bringing a man to trial, it is equally careful that the trial shall be a fair one, and that no innocent person should suffer.

The jury has found you not guilty. You know in your heart of hearts whether or not you are guilty, and if you are or if you had any connection with the taking of human life I can only leave you to your own conscience. You are discharged."

"Mit" was asked after the trial if he might marry Olive Romanic.

"I've had enough trouble from girls," he replied.

His main concern in talking with Mr. Richardson was as to what had become of his cap, which had been left in the Bowmanville police station.

Evening classes in London this winter have 250,000 pupils and 7000 instructors.

Apsley Young People Present Play At Eden

MOUNT JULIAN, Oct. 26 (Examiner Correspondence)—On Tuesday evening the play "Pickle Fortune," was presented by the Apsley young people, in aid of the Eden United Church here. Each part was exceedingly well taken and very much enjoyed by all those present and the kind generosity of the Apsley people in presenting the play here is greatly appreciated.

The time between acts was pleasantly occupied by the sale of delicious homemade candy.

BOOK OF REMEMBRANCE IS ADVANCING STEADILY

OTTAWA, Oct. 23 (C.P.)—Satisfactory progress is being made with the Book of Remembrance which, when completed, will be deposited in the altar of the memorial chamber here the work is being carried out by James Purves, whose studio is in the national research building here.

About 68,000 names will be inscribed in the book, these being the names of Canadian men and women who gave their lives in the Great War and who died from war injuries from the opening of the conflict up to April 30, 1922—the date on which the last member of the overseas military forces of Canada was demobilized.

Additional pages will be inserted in the book, containing no names but remembering those who, subsequent to that date, died from war causes and all Canadians who served in the armed forces of the empire and the allies.

YOUTH NOT CRAZY FOR MOTOR SPEED

Survey Indicates Junior Drivers Strong on Advice for Safety.

MONTREAL, Que. Oct. 23 (C.P.)—The young people of this country can hardly be called "speed crazy" to judge from the information obtained by automobile research experts.

"We form this opinion," says an official, "from our analysis of owner reactions, gathered during the past year through the mailing of questionnaires to car owners in all sections of the country. A breakdown of the data on an age basis makes it possible to compare the tastes and desires of youth with those of adults.

"Our analysis shows that the younger generation wants a top cruising speed only three and seven-tenths miles per hour greater than that voted for adults. It is interesting, too, to note that the general subject of safety was stressed more frequently by youth than by the grown-ups, although the point was frequently made by both groups that an extra margin of speed and pick-up is essential to safety in coping with modern traffic conditions."

KINSMEN GAIN 2 NEW MEMBERS

A. R. Piper is Guest Speaker at Dinner Meeting—Discusses "Democracy."

VISITOR WINS PRIZE.

Two new members were accepted into the local Kinsmen Club at a dinner meeting of the organization held at Empress Hotel last evening, under presidency of C. Alex. Sollitt. They were: Dr. Robert Knott and Bert Lacey.

The meeting, which was well attended, embodied many interesting features, chief among them being the masterly address delivered by A. R. Piper as the guest speaker. Mr. Piper discoursed on the subject of "Democracy," providing a distinction between the ancient and modern forms of government, and discussing the two main principles of democracy, namely, liberty and equality.

The seed of democracy, Mr. Piper stated, was first sown in the world through Christianity. Christ taught the sacredness of human personality and vindicated the moral right of the individual. This influence, he thought, had greatly moulded English expression in literature, art and politics.

There were a number of guests at the meeting, among them being Charles W. Irons of Northampton, England. The old gentleman, whose chief hobbies are world travel and photography, took part in a "believe it or not" contest, in which those present were asked to contribute brief stories from their personal experience, and was adjudged first prize winner.

He related that while in New Zealand he had actually caught fish from one stream, and had been able to swing his catch over into another stream, of hot water, and cook the fish without taking it off the line.

Fire Department Answers 400th Call

The Fire Department answered its 400th alarm a few minutes before six o'clock last evening, but it was far from the most important of the 400 alarms. Some burning leaves on Westcott street were the cause of the run.

A carelessly discarded cigarette butt is believed to have started the blaze in the leaves. Citizens are asked by Fire Chief George Gimblett to take care in disposing of their butts now that the street gutters are full of leaves.

FARMERS CLOSE BRANDON RALLY

Committee Named to Revise Organization Constitution —Set New Objectives.

J. S. WOOD NEW HEAD.

By SAM G. ROSS
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

BRANDON, Man., Oct. 26.— (C. P.)—With the 1934 convention ended, the United Farmers of Manitoba to-day were launched on a program of stock-taking and consideration of new conditions prevailing throughout the west.

The convention ended last night after a special committee was appointed to work in co-operation with the executive in revising the constitution and ascertaining the objectives upon which the organization should concentrate. The resolution was in line with the declaration of J. S. Wood, Oakville, newly elected president, that consolidation of members and increased activity should be sought.

Debt adjustment, drought, livestock marketing, war and peace, social legislation, education, Provincial and Federal legislation of many phases and a score of other questions were debated by the delegates of the 7,000 members who attended the three day gathering.

Important speeches were heard, including an address by Premier John Bracken on the drought situation in Western Canada.

Roy McPhail, president of the Manitoba Co-operative Livestock Ltd., and retiring president of the U. F. M., declared during discussion of livestock marketing, that Manitoba breeders were not favorable to any compulsory plan of marketing through any organization of a monopolistic nature.

VISITOR HAS NEAR CALL AT COBOURG BREAKWATER

COBOURG, Ont., Oct. 26.— (C. P.)—Falling into the icy waters of the lake last night, Morris Young of Detroit, narrowly escaped drowning.

He clung to the east breakwater until his gradually weakening cries were heard by Jerry Harris, who looks after the foghorn and pier lights. Haris ran out and found it impossible to hoist Young, who is a very heavy man, over the edge of the breakwater. Holding tightly to his arms, he called for help and his cries were heard by Walter McAnerin and Elmer Kidd, who came out to the pier and assisted Harris to get him out of the lake. Morris, who was visiting relatives in Cobourg, is recovering from the effects of exposure to the cold water.

Barcelona Football Club of Barcelona, Spain, has elected a woman, Ana Maria Martinez Sagi, as director.

PROMINENT LABORITES APPEAR WITHOUT RING FOR THEIR WEDDING

"Simply Do Not Like Them," Says Noted Jenny Lee, About to Marry Aneurin Bevan.

KEEP MAIDEN NAME.

LONDON, Oct. 26 (CP Cable).—No wedding ring was used when those two stalwarts of British Labor, Aneurin Bevan, M.P., and Jenny Lee, former Labor member of Parliament, were married yesterday at the Holborn Register Office.

The proceedings were entirely informal. The bride and bridegroom strolled along together to the office, in everyday dress. Both were hatless, and neither wore gloves. They were surprised to find the office full of newspapermen and photographers.

Asked why they were not using a wedding ring, the vivacious Jenny replied: "Why should I? I don't know that I shall ever wear one. I simply do not like them."

There is a difference of opinion among clergy as to whether the ring is essential to marriage in the church itself. One clergymen of a fashionable church considers the ring an external token of betrothal rather than actual marriage. But another declares the words which accompany the giving of the ring are an integral part of the service.

Keeping Maiden Name

Jenny intends to retain her maiden name, too, so far as her political career is concerned at any rate. There are of course stout precedents for this. The wife of Baron Passfield, former Secretary for Dominions, is still better known as Beatrice Potter or alternately as Mrs. Sidney Webb, the latter being the name by which she is listed in Who's Who.

Jenny Lee is 29 years of age. She was Labor member for North Lanark from 1929 to 1931 and is well-known as a lecturer in Canada and the United States.

Beven is 36. He has been Labor member for Ebby Vale since 1929. Both are the children of coal miners.

Ascends To Throne

KING PETER II

This new picture of Jugoslavia's new King Peter II reveals appealingly the boyishness of the 11-year-old monarch who looked down sadly from a hastily-built throne in Belgrade to where the body of his assassinated father, King Alexander, lay in state. During the burial services the boy's sobs could be heard outside the Topolo mausoleum where thousands stood.

LUTHERAN CHURCH PLANS CLOSER RELATIONSHIPS

By Robert Bunnelle.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Oct. 26—(CP) The United Lutheran Church in America plans overtures for closer relationships with other Lutheran Church bodies of the country to consolidate against the "forces of evil in the social order."

The convention here, the church directed its president, Dr. Frederick H. Knubel of New York, to appoint a commission of clergy and laymen to conduct discussions on a closer church unity and to invite other Lutheran groups to confer on the subject.

The resolution authorizing the move declared that "crime has become a business" and that "there are organized and active groups which openly proclaim their purpose to secure in our land the establishment of a godless state because upon an utterly materialist theory of life," warning that the time has come to turn against such influences which "if unchecked and unopposed will involve our whole social fabric in destruction."

ENCOURAIGNG REPORTS READ AT BONAR LAW

Women's Auxiliary of Hastings Deanery Holds Annual Conference.

INTERESTING TALKS.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

BONARLAW, Oct. 26.—The annual conference of the Women's Auxiliary of Hastings Deanery was held at St. Mark's church, on Wednesday, October 17th, morning and afternoon session.

There was a celebration of the Holy Communion in the morning, with Canon W. G. Swayne, Rector of St. Mark's church, as celebrant. Rural Dean A. B. Caldwell of Marmora, read the Gospel, and Rev. F. Beazer of Roslin, the Epistle. Rev. A. S. McConnell of Stirling, and Rev. E. N. Grant of Bancroft, were also present in the chancel. The sermon was preached by Rev. Grant and was very inspiring. He compared the members of the W. A. to the Bible character Dorcas, who was full of good works, and whose chief characterizations were good works, alms-giving and service.

The ladies served a delicious luncheon at noon in the Sunday School rooms to about 150 persons.

The afternoon session opened at 1.30 p.m., Mrs. Sweet of Rawdon, secretary of the Deanery, in charge.

The meeting was opened with prayer by Rev. Canon Swayne, and Mrs. Swayne gave an address of welcome, which was replied to by Mrs. C. Vance of Stirling. The secretary made mention of the fact that Mrs. John Brown of Bonarlaw, who was appointed Deanery Secretary at the last Conference has since passed to her reward.

Most encouraging reports were received from various branches including, Stirling, Tweed, Bancroft, Thomasburg, Roslin, Rawdon and Bonarlaw, members being present from all these branches.

The Diocesan President, Mrs. Lowe, gave an interesting talk and spoke of the recent Dominion annual held in Winnipeg. She also spoke of the great need in Southern Saskatchewan again this year.

Mrs. George Clark of Tweed was appointed Deanery Secretary.

The offerings of the day amounted to $15.45, of which $12.00 was donated to the Jubilee Fund, and Dorcas Secretary.

A vote of thanks was tendered Rev. E. N. Grant for his inspiring sermon, Mrs. Lowe for her interesting address and the Bonarlaw ladies for their kind hospitality.

Other members of the Board present were Mrs. Coleman, Prayer Pardner, Secretary, and Mrs. Huyck, literature secretary, who also spoke.

The meeting was closed with prayer by Rev. Canon Swayne, after which tea was served.

AT THE REGENT

"WHOM THE GODS DESTROY"

This is one of the very 'real' pictures that happen once in so often, and it gives Walter Connolly, who hasn't done much except in the way of 'heavy' support in previous pictures, a prime opportunity to show his stuff. And can he act! He does the 'father' role in such a marvellous fashion that it makes one hold the breath, wondering if he can sustain such a sincere presentation of the longing of a man who approaches his own son under a cloud of anonymity and what he considers to be disgrace.

There is nothing artificial about this feature with the strange title, the tag of a phrase: "Whom the gods destroy, they first make mad." The title itself doesn't seem especially appropriate, only in so far, perhaps, as it relates to the frenzy which seizes John Forrester on the sinking ship, with a resultant action that dims all his after years.

The story revolves about that episode on the ship and the effect it has on the lives of John Forrester, famous playright-producer (Walter Connolly), his wife, Margaret (Doris Kenyon), and their son, John (Robert Young).

Directed by Walter Lang, the impressiveness and reality of the dramatic story is dimmed to a certain extent by the fierce action, almost approaching frenzy, of the thoughts of the central man figure, whose mental processes are depicted on the screen in a series of vague, whirling scenes and faces. The repetition dims the effect to a certain extent.

It is a feature that holds the attention with its gripping sense of reality and underlying pathos that lightens, eventually, to a half-realization of happiness on the part of the victim of his own momentary weakness. The stage plays a prominent part in the story, all, however, from the front of the curtain.

—Jeanette.

AT THE CAPITOL.

"CLEOPATRA"

This is another in the series of historical pictures which the season is bringing forth. It is a massive and spectacular affair, with scenic grandeur and expensive beauty covering an innate weakness of theme and handling.

For Cleo is not the dark beauty of the Nile, "brow-bound with burning gold," as Tennyson described her. On the contrary, she is a slender, rather demure lass, who seems almost entirely devoid of sex appeal, and who relies on gorgeous dresses and a lot of colorful surroundings to get her men. The cast is ideal, however. Warren William and Henry Wilcoxon, as Julius Caesar and Marc Antony respectively, are not any more like the ordinary conceptions of these Mighty Romans than Claudette Colbert is like the siren of old Egypt. If you want to enjoy this picture to the full, and there is plenty to enjoy, throw away all your old conceptions of the story, and watch the modern unfolding and the modern language that clothes the spectacle.

It is a typically lavish DeMille production, with every last detail—men in armor for the war episodes, dancing slaves for the entertainments; white peacocks and poisoned roses, and ostrich-feather couches—carried out in the DeMille approved fashion. Perhaps the warmth of one love scene could hardly be expected to be anything but be denatured when it is remembered that Antony and Cleopatra wore one hundred and eighty five pounds of clothing while engaged in it.

It has some splendid moments and also some exceedingly cheap ones, like the gooey bit where Antony murmurs "Empress," while stepping into his chariot, and Cleopatra comes back, quick as a flash, "Emperor." And what could be querer than the little scene where Marc and the King of Judea get chummy over the wine cups.

But it is a massive and mighty spectacle at most times, with some extraordinary sequences in the fighting scenes.

The togas of the ancient Romans do not add to the impression of virility and strength associated with them. Take C. Aubrey Smith, at most times a dignified and formidable character. And watch him being dramatic in the early Roman manner while engaged in a little talkfest with Marc, to whom he is bidding farewell.

Beryl Mercer goes early Roman also in this feature. In fact at moments one wonders whether the whole thing was not filmed with a tongue in the cheek. Could it be possible that they are guying that immortal love story? At any rate, they made a good job of it, and one actor, at least, Ian Keith, as Octavian, maintains an impression of real sincerity throughout.

Preceding the feature is a delightful little bit of Betty Boop cleverness, with the little cutey portrayed as Cinderella, in some beautifully colored representations of the old nursery tale.—Jeanette.

REGAINED APPETITE AND WEIGHT WITH KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN

Cereal Relieved His Constipation

If you are a sufferer from headaches, loss of appetite and energy, sleeplessness, or any other of the frequent effects of constipation, read this enthusiastic letter from Mr. McIntyre:

"For a long time my system was not in very good working order. But since eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, I have regained my appetite and my lost weight. And my system is in good working order. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN sure does the trick."—Mr. J. A. McIntyre (address furnished upon request).

Tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides the "bulk" needed to relieve ordinary constipation. It also contains vitamin B and iron for the blood.

You'll enjoy this delicious and healthful ready-to-eat cereal. Serve it with milk or cream—or use often in cooking.

Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily. Chronic cases, with each meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is all bran with only necessary flavoring added. It contains much more needed "bulk" than part-bran products. Made by Kellogg in London, Ont.

Your Health
By DR LOGAN CLENDENING

The substance of what I have been saying this week is the simple statement that people are fat because they eat too much. Exactly how are you going to reduce because you eat too much?

To reduce, calculate your ideal weight by multiplying the number of inches over 5 feet by 5½ and adding 11. (If you are 5 feet 7 inches without shoes, multiply 7 by 5½, equals 38½, add 110. Your ideal weight is 148½).

Your diet should contain 15 calories per day per pound of your ideal weight. During the first weeks of reducing it is probably better to calculate 10 calories per pound of your ideal weight.

Fattening foods are butter, cream, fat meats, fried foods, oil (such as olive oil), nuts, ice cream and pastries.

Thinning foods: The three foods which are pre-eminently thinning in the sense that they contain very few calories in proportion to their bulk and, therefore, satisfy the appetite without adding to weight, are grapefruit, watermelon and bananas.

Other thinning foods are 5 per cent green vegetables (that is to say, they contain 5 per cent of carbohydrate) and they are lettuce, cucumbers, spinach, rhubarb, endive, marrow, sorrel, sauerkraut, celery, tomatoes, watercress, cauliflower, egg plant, cabbage, radishes and string beans.

The easiest way to calculate foods is in 100 calorie portions. Below are some common foods with the amount which contains 100 calories:

Breakfast foods: Two heaping tablespoons of farina, cream of wheat, grapenuts, hominy; one small cup of cooked oatmeal; one shredded wheat biscuit.

Fruits: One apple, banana, one-fourth cantaloupe, small bunch of grapes, average sized orange.

Bread: One slice, 3 x 4 x ½ inch.

Vegetables: Asparagus, 20 stalks; beets, six heaping tablespoons; lima beans, three heaping tablespoons; cabbage, one pound; carrots, one pound; cauliflower, one pound; celery, one pound; canned corn, two heaping tablespoons; lettuce, 1¼ pounds; two large onions; peas, three heaping tablespoons; one medium-sized potato; 10 potato chips; spinach, two cups; two large tomatoes; turnips, one pound.

Eggs: An average-sized egg contains about 80 calories.

Milk: Three-fourths of a glass of milk (five ounces); buttermilk, one large glass.

Fish: On the average, three ounces.

Bacon: Three slices.

Meat: Beefsteak, two ounces; roast beef, three ounces; chicken, one and one-half ounces; one frankfurter sausage; lamb chops average 150 to 300 calories; ham, one-half ounce; turkey, one and one-half ounces.

Mohammend Ben Moulay Amor, a cousin of the Sultan of Morocco, was drowned recently while swimming at Meagan, Morocco.

Workmen have unearthed at Kilcaldy, Scotland, a stone coffin containing the skeleton of a woman over six feet tall who is believed to have lived about 1800 years ago.

France's exports of sparkling wine in the first half of this year were 50 per cent greater than in the corresponding period of 1933.

Indigestion, Worn Out

YOU lose vital nerve force if you allow your stomach to distress you. Acid stomach, indigestion, gas or biliousness, and "costiveness," cause the blood to be poisoned and eventually destroy health and nerve force. This is what Mrs. Jesse Thompson of Route 4, Dorchester Station, Ont., said: "For years Mr. Thompson (see picture) suffered from indigestion and constipation. He was bothered with bloating in the stomach after eating. He used Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for about three months. It has been a year now, and he hasn't had the slightest sign of that trouble since. Why shouldn't I praise Dr. Pierce's remedies?"

The annual reception of students at the Normal School by members of the staff was a pleasant event of last evening at the School, when the principal, Dr J. A. Bannister, and members of the teaching staff, received the students formally. A brief address of welcome was made by Dr. Bannister, and the guests listened with appreciation to several vocal solos by Mr. M. H. Park. A program of dancing and games was enjoyed and refreshments were served in the library and lower hall, where Hallowe'en decorations were attratively arranged, in streamers, novelty cutouts, candles and pumpkins, all in the black and orange of the season.
